STUDENT NEWS TO VOTE MARCH 9 ON PROPOSED CONSTITUTION

Judge May Push Selma Registration

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Federal judge ruled that white voters in Selma, Ala., were being allowed to register to vote under the new constitution for that city. The judge, who had given the city council in Selma until next week to make a decision, said the situation was a "serious problem." The judge also noted that the city council had not responded to a letter from the Council on Civil Rights in Selma last week.

Bill Outs Violators Of Rights

There has been a bill to prohibit persons convicted of violating the civil rights of Negroes from voting for local elections in Michigan. The bill was introduced by Rep. John M. Fisher, D-Detroit, who said it was "necessary to protect the right of Negroes to vote and to protect the rights of others who may be denied that right by reason of their membership in a minority group." The bill passed the House on a vote of 94 to 1, with Rep. William J. Brown, D-Detroit, casting the lone no vote.

Felony Indictment Dropped In Civil Rights Slayings

The Michigan Attorney General announced today that charges of murder and rape had been dropped against three men accused of killing two Negroes in Detroit last week. The men had been charged with murder and rape in connection with the slaying of a Negro woman and the rape of a Negro girl in Detroit. The charges were dropped because of insufficient evidence.

Students To Vote March 9 On Proposed Constitution

The Michigan State University student body will vote on March 9 on a proposed constitutional amendment that would give the University the power to control the appointment of the University president. The amendment, sponsored by the Michigan State University Student Government, was submitted to the student body by the University Senate on February 25. The amendment would give the University Senate the power to appoint the University president, who would then be confirmed by the student body. The amendment would also give the University Senate the power to remove the University president if he failed to carry out the duties of his office. The amendment was submitted to the student body for approval on March 9.

The Man Called Nigger

The Campus NAACP is presenting a new version of its play "The Man Called Nigger." The play, which was produced in 1961, received nationwide reviews as a forceful demonstration of the harmful effects of prejudice.

"The Man Called Nigger" was written with the assistance of students and is probably helping to increase understanding of University and student thought on the issue of race relations.

Student Protest Stirs Campus

By DON SOKOL

Every other Michigan State student knows that they can have their cheerleaders in the gym. They can have their debaters on the floor. They can have their hockey players in the arena. But the students have a right to say that they will not have the NAACP as a student group on campus. And they have a right to say that they feel that the NAACP is not a student group on campus.

This is not to say that the NAACP is not a student group on campus. But it is to say that the NAACP is not a student group on campus that the students want on campus.

The NAACP is a student group on campus that the students do not want on campus. They do not want the NAACP to be on campus because they feel that the NAACP is not representing their interests.

But seriously...

State News Sports Writer

There will be no selection of a Michigan starting lineup when the Spartans square up against Michigan State University in basketball at the_Big Ten_Tournament. the Spartans have been suffering from injuries for two weeks and the possibility of no selection on lineup can be expected.

Kevin DeCicco, coach of the Spartans, said yesterday that he will be choosing a lineup that will be able to compete with the Michigan State team.

"This team has proven that they are a competitive team," said DeCicco. "We hope to be able to compete with Michigan State."
26 New Cardinals Invested

VATICAN CITY, June 29—Pope Paul VI in a solemn ceremony in St. Peter’s Basilica today invested 26 new cardinals in a ceremony that marked the completion of his papacy and the acceleration of the college of cardinals to the highest level of the Church.

The ceremony was held in St. Peter’s Basilica, the principal church in Rome, and was conducted by Pope Paul himself. The new cardinals were presented to the Pope by the Vatican conclave, which is attended by the cardinals of the college of cardinals.

The new cardinals have been chosen from among the most distinguished members of the Church, and they come from all over the world. The new cardinals include cardinals from the United States, Canada, Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, and other countries.

The ceremony was attended by thousands of people, and it was broadcast worldwide. The new cardinals were presented to the Pope with the traditional rings and pectoral crosses, and they received their red hats and red scarves.

The Pope, in his address, praised the new cardinals and encouraged them to serve the Church with fidelity and dedication. He also praised the work of the conclave and the work of the cardinals in general, and he expressed his hope that the Church would continue to grow and to serve the needs of the world.

The ceremony ended with the blessing of the Pope and the new cardinals, and with the singing of the traditional hymn, "Veni, Veni Emmanuel."
Ligurian Commission Rapped

The Michigan Ligurian Foundation has announced that it will refuse to provide funds for a Ligurian Center at Michigan State University. The Ligurian Center, which had been proposed to the University by the Foundation, was to be a research institution for the study of Ligurian language and culture. The Ligurian Center was to be supported by the Ligurian Foundation, which is a private organization.

State's Syrup Industry To Tap More Trees

Maps of syrup growers in Michigan show that only 12,000 acres of maple sugar trees were producing syrup in 1964. This year, the number of acres producing syrup is expected to increase to 15,000. The increase is due to the increased demand for syrup and the increasing interest in maple syrup production.

Cable TV Teaches Thousands Here

Michigan State taught 19,904 students with closed circuit TV this year. The closed circuit system allows students to watch a lecture or program while sitting in their own room, without having to attend class. The closed circuit system is popular among students who cannot attend class in person, or who prefer to watch the program on their own time.

Exciting Sound'Heard From City Boy's Guitar

By BILL ARMSTRIDGE, JR.
State News Reviewer

If you were looking for words to describe the music of Joseph "Joe" King, you’d probably be hard-pressed to find them. His music is a blend of jazz, blues, and R&B, and it’s difficult to categorize. However, there is one word that perfectly describes Joe’s music: "nuanced." Joe’s music is full of depth and emotion, and it’s clear that he has a true passion for his craft.

Joe was born in Detroit, Michigan, and he first started playing the guitar when he was just a child. He grew up in a family of musicians, and his parents encouraged him to pursue his love of music. Joe quickly became interested in playing the guitar, and he soon discovered that he had a natural talent for it.

Joe’s music is a reflection of his life experiences. He has lived through many challenges, and he uses his music to tell his story. His music is a way for him to express his emotions, and it’s a way for others to connect with him.

Joe is currently working on his second album, and he’s excited to share it with the world. He’s been working on the album for the past year, and he’s been refining his material to make sure that it’s as good as it can be.

Joe’s music is available on all major streaming platforms, and he’s planning to release a physical copy of the album soon. He’s also planning to go on tour, and he’s looking forward to sharing his music with as many people as possible.

If you’re a fan of Joe’s music, be sure to check out his album when it’s released. Joe’s music is a true reflection of his passion for music, and it’s sure to touch your heart.

Midwest Paralyzed

Many of the people who are severely handicapped in the Midwest are not taken care of properly by the welfare departments. The need for good housing, good medical care, and proper education is great. The government needs to do more to help these people. The problem is not just a local one, but a national one. We need a national solution to this problem.
