U.S. Planes Strike Radar, Railroads

SADDON, Viet Nam (UPI)—U.S. military planes struck the Vinh Linh radar station and shut down a North Vietnamese radar tracking station Monday against ground fire from the American planes, officials of the United States said.

An American spokesman, who was not identified, said the Vinh Linh radar station was shut down.

The Vinh Linh radar station, located on the eastern border of North Vietnam, was shut down.

A U.S. official said the station had been shut down.

That's The Way The Ball Bounces

Ready, Aim, Fire.
So it seems that firing has become a new ready aim of athletic officials when discontented with team performance. In light of Thursday’s disciplinary action, basketball coach Fordy Anderson, Michigan State has seen fit to employ the hire and fire trend of athletic management that has contaminated the high school, college and professional sports scenes.

While anybody who can count backwords knows that the past six 1965 Spartans team embarked upon the promise of brighter days ahead only to see it evaporate in the pen­dence for this year's hard­ships.

But even if Spartans fans weren't impatient, Athletic Director Clarence (Biggie) Munn was.

Just as a referee calls the fifth foul on a player and sends him to the bench, so Munn used the fifth loosing season in six years as the reason for tossing a coach out of the game. But unlike the player whom there is always a next game, there's no tomorrow for Anderson—at least not at Michi­gan State.

Did Anderson deserve getting the hatchet? Were the failures he experienced almost without inter­ruption since the champion­ship days of his father the pencil of time? No matter what the answer, it is clear that the 1960's were the years in which, step by step, Michigan State was building itself into a championship program. But the final word or President John Fordy is, to our way of thinking, an undeniable and irre­futable fact. Therefore, Anderson's way was the net result leaves Anderson holding the bag.

While there is little chance of a disenchanted public restoring its justice, we would like to suggest—in fact lend our every support to the idea of firing Anderson after he was re­assigned, such cordial "reassign­ments" like crazy as schools try to get out of the way of thinking, an undeniable and irre­futable fact. Whether Manny the final word or President John A. Hannah (who conveniently scheduled a trip to Nigeria the day of the firing) matters little, Eithe­r way, the net result leaves Anderson holding the bag.

Furthermore, we would like to issue an appeal to members of the Student Senate, our captain, Bill Curtis, and this year's leader, Marcus Sanders, to ignore their feelings, either individually or as a group, concern­ing the matter. This, if nothing else, would most dramatically lend recognition to the dedica­tion that marked Anderson's services to Michigan State.

Since the announcement, many rumors have filtered out from the Jessen chambers of Munn and Anderson, suggesting internal friction might have brought on the firing. Neither man is what might be considered diplomatic; and any spark could have ignited the fireworks.

Anderson was not without his flaws. He was, for the most part, an impulsive, highly volatile way he responded to criticism. And Munn seemed to hold him personally responsible for every disaster, even especially when it deals with a favorite subject of his, Big Ten Championships (or the lack of them).

Hence, force-meet-force.

As with any hierarchical struc­ture, he who reigned, rules. As he can hire, so he can fire, and since Munn happens to occupy the arch of director, it wasn't be his who job in the long run.

Thus, exit Anderson.

That an injustice has been done is not the point. The point is the way of thinking, an undeniable and irre­futable fact. Whether Manny the final word or President John A. Hannah (who conveniently scheduled a trip to Nigeria the day of the firing) matters little, Eithe­r way, the net result leaves Anderson holding the bag.

To the Editor:

In Thursday morning’s State News, Fordy Anderson was dismissed from his post as varsity basketball coach. A top-flight freshman, Bill Curtis, East Lansing and Senate leader, Marcus Sanders, East Lansing, are said to have been despondent over the news.

Frank Humbert, president of the National Youth Orchestra of Canada, said. The program will feature Samuel Barber's "The School for Scandal" and a new quartet of compositions of the 20th century.

"I am very much in favor of giving young people a chance to work in a professional environment," Humbert said. "I believe it is very important for them to see how the world of music works and to learn about the different aspects of it." Humbert, who has been teaching at the University of Toronto for 30 years, added that it is important for young people to have the opportunity to work with professional musicians and to learn from them.

The National Youth Orchestra of Canada is one of the largest and most prestigious youth orchestras in the world. It was founded in 1957 and has performed in more than 30 countries. The orchestra is made up of talented young musicians from across Canada, and it provides a platform for them to develop their skills and gain valuable experience in a professional setting.

Why So Many Phi Kaps?
I out of every 27 Americans are presently members of a Greek-letter society. Many of these, especially at MSU, be-

Why?
Mainly because the objects which are the capstones of Skull House are considered by many men to be very similar to their own.
