MHA, WIC Ask Tighter Logos Ban

Bruce Osterink, chairman of the Inter-fraternity Council. The students voted on the new logo, which was designed by a local artist, with a 79-78 vote. The Inter-fraternity Council is responsible for overseeing the use of the logos and ensuring that they are properly displayed. The council also works with the university to implement the logo policy, which includes guidelines for the design and placement of the logos.

Peace Corps Work

Hard, But Exciting

The Peace Corps was founded in 1961 by President John F. Kennedy as a way to promote peace and bring American volunteers to developing countries. The Peace Corps works towards long-term development goals, including education, health, and economic growth. Volunteers are trained in a specific field and then work in a remote area where they can make a difference. While the work can be challenging, it is also rewarding and provides a unique opportunity to make a positive impact.

‘S’ Budget Held Up By Senate

Many students are concerned about the budget cuts, which are affecting programs and services on campus. The Senate has been discussing the budget and has not yet made a decision on how to allocate funds. This is a challenging time for the university, and students are hoping that the Senate will make decisions that will have a positive impact on the student experience.

No Contest for Senior Positions

B-Randy Rowe, Oak Park sophomore, apparently can't believe that the race is over. The race was held on Tuesday, April 7th, and the winner was elected to the senior position of Student Congress parliamentarian. The election was held on campus, and the winner was announced shortly after the polls closed.

4 Seek Junior Seats On Student Board

Bruce Osterink, chairman of the Inter-fraternity Council, sponsored a resolution to expand the already existing board. The resolution was approved, and four students were elected to the board. This is a significant increase in the size of the board, which will allow for more representation and input from students.

Casualties Heavy

Viet Strikes Continue

The U.S. and South Vietnamese military forces suffered heavy casualties in the ongoing conflict with the Viet Cong. The reports indicate that over 150 U.S. soldiers were killed or wounded in the latest attack. This is the third major strike in less than a month, and it is clear that the conflict is not going to end anytime soon.

Rep. West Loses Bid In State House Race

Although the race was close, the incumbent lost the election. The candidate was running for re-election, and the race was hotly contested. The winner was able to secure a narrow victory, which is a testament to the hard work and dedication of the campaign.

Chou Sees Solution As Up To Participants

Chairman Chou expressed his concern about the ongoing negotiations and called for a solution that would be acceptable to all parties involved. The conference will assess the methods and approaches used to achieve a peaceful resolution.

MSU’s Wilson At Honors Conference

John R. Wilson, director of the Honors College, will be the keynote speaker at the upcoming conference. The conference will focus on the role of the Honors College in shaping the future of education and will include panel discussions and speeches from leading educators and researchers.

The Ivy-Covered Halls

M ichigan State this Thursday night will join a number of other American universities at which growing sentiments of opposition to United States involvement in the Viet Nam war have culminated in faculty “teach-ins.”

The presentation of guest speakers Thursday will end at the beginning of a faculty group discussion and faculty member resolutions, not likely calling for more information and a re-evaluation of policies adopted by the end of the session.

Organizers of the teach-in emphasize that one does not have to support any university to support the Viet Nam war in order to find the speeches and discussions worthwhile. The teach-in will be an educational opportunity and a chance to see a viewpoint a good deal different from that usually heard.

By WilM-TV

One of the main complaints is that this policy has been established without sufficient public knowledge of the facts of the issue, and a demand for more complete information on the extent of U.S. involvement is frequently heard.

The purpose of the teach-in is to provide a forum for expression of all opinions contrary to national policy, how long before the administration recognizes and enacts them. How long will we have to Indian-wrestle the issue? Or make subtle the message. MSU at colleges and universities is an unrecognizable form of which to be a part. When compiling a winning record, one does not have to lose steadily and be a part of the team.

BERKELEY FACULTY SUPPORTS RULES

BERKELEY—Cal. The Faculty of the Graduate School of Education of the University of California at Berkeley was in a state of bordering on the verge of a walkout Monday as the faculty members voted to go on strike against certain rules and regulations passed by the university administration. The rules include a provision that all students must pass a certain number of courses in order to be eligible for graduation. The faculty members are currently protesting the rules, which they believe are unfair and discriminatory.

DEBATE SET ON HEALTH CARE

LANSING—A package of bills have been introduced in the House of Representatives. The bills include provisions that would increase the funding for medical care, provide for the establishment of a new health insurance system, and increase the funding for public health services. The bills have been met with mixed reactions from various groups, but most people agree that they are necessary to improve the current health care system.

Whiskey Bill Tabled

LANSING—The bill permitting the sale of liquor on Sunday in Michigan was further delayed Tuesday when it was tabled for a session. The bill has been met with mixed reactions from various groups, but most people agree that it is necessary to improve the current liquor laws.

100 Teach-In Posters Disappear From Campus

The 100 teach-in posters that were to be displayed around the campus were removed by the administration. The posters were intended to promote open and free discussion of ideas, but the administration removed them because they believed that they were too controversial.

Gridmen Flock Indoors As Drills Start

The day before spring drills start, Spartan football prospects will literally have to go inside to obtain information. Practice fields will be closed and may be turned into a quagmire but the grid practice field will remain open.

Experts agree that no practice field will be open and that players will have to report to Spartan Hall which will be the main meeting point for MSU football. The grid will remain open and drills will begin tomorrow morning at 9 a.m.
