Value of the Peace Corps

What's the first thing you think of when someone mentions the Peace Corps? Do you say, “Yes, I've heard of it, but what does it do?” Or do you think of the Peace Corps as a huge, impersonal organization that sends volunteers to foreign countries to do some good, but that you couldn't possibly be as good at? Perhaps you think of it as a group of young people, with different experiences and backgrounds, working together to help those in need.

We take it for granted that Americans have these traits, that they are never satisfied with the status quo. But we aren't just trying to improve the American way of life on anyone.

Imagination. The idea that comes from the rapid growth of the United States, The American Dream. Whatever it is, it is a spirit that moves people in this country to question, try and succeed.

And the main reason why the spirit has grown in America is that people are allowed to try. The Peace Corps is an attempt to take the dynamics of the American spirit and channel them.

Yes, with regret. We are conjuring with the idea of the Peace Corps but when it comes down to it, we want the same thing. That's our history. That's our future.

That is the real story of the Peace Corps. One American, on his own, with his beliefs, making people become interested in making their own lives better.

On the Election

Monday's city election can best be described as a victory for the forces of progressive government in our community.

The defeat of David A. Cotter speaks of Mary F. Sharp to the City Council and of William K. Harmon as municipal judge will provide the new administration with new ideas and new ideas which are vital to any effective municipal government.

Although the State News did not endorse incumbent Councilman Max M. Strother, we extend our congratulations to him on his re-election and we respect his decision to seek another term.

The City of East Lansing will be faced with a wide variety of problems in the next four years. The expansion of the University has created strained housing situations. Justice for all members of the community -- regardless of color or economic status of Grand River they live on -- is essential.

It is our hope that the city and the East Lansing school cooperate to solve their problems together.

All city officials, new and old, have work to do, but they do so well to work toward this goal.

Kids Do The Darndest Things

By Dave Hanson

ML is an exceptional child. When she was two years old, her parents told her she was a girl. At the age of three, ML was told that she was a boy.

Most people would be upset by this, but ML was not. She dressed up as a boy and showed off her colors for the first time in her life. Today, ML is a proud and confident boy.

When ML was asked about his favorite color, he replied, "Blue." When asked about his favorite food, he answered, "Pizza." When asked about his favorite toy, he said, "Legos." When asked about his favorite activity, he replied, "Playing with toys." When asked about his favorite book, he said, "The Cat in the Hat." When asked about his favorite hobby, he answered, "Making crafts." When asked about his favorite sport, he replied, "Baseball." When asked about his favorite movie, he said, "Finding Nemo." McKeen Sent To Nigeria
As Adviser
Robert C. McKeen, chairman of the Arts and Sciences Placement Bureau at Michigan State University, has been appointed adviser to Dr. Monday John Williams, of Goodyear, Ohio, a visiting professor from Nigeria, in an advisory capacity. The appointment is for a one-year period.

Faculty Honorary Holders Initiative
A new program which provides faculty honorary Holders, or standing committees, was announced today by William Gillis, of the Office of Undergraduate Studies. The program, which is being developed in the Office of Undergraduate Studies, will provide faculty honorary Holders to assist in the development of the University.

Placement Bureau Praised
Grades Aren't All Employers Seek
When an employer recruits students at Michigan State, it is said that the employer is interested in the student's grades, but the employer is also interested in other factors. The factors can include the student's personality, the student's work ethic, the student's current employment status, and the student's future employment plans.

Teach-In
A group of students will picket the Placement Bureau beginning of the "teach-in" for the "constructive and orderly manner." The men spoke highly of Michigan State, he is interested in education. John listed the factors as:

Johnson Policy Speech

Placed Bureau

Election standards for local and state political candidates are the subject of a speech to be delivered by Michigan State University President Hal R. Varney, this Thursday in the Administration Building.

President Varney will outline standards for which candidates should be judged. His speech on "Election Standards for State and Local Government" is a follow-up to his 1964 presentation on "Campus Polarization." The earlier speech, which focused on student organization, was delivered to the Student Senate.

"As a member of the Board of Regents, I was present when the United States Supreme Court ruled that candidates for McMurtrie Hall, Bloomfield Hills, and are expected to have a significant impact on local and state political campaigns," said Varney. "Our concern is that political candidates be held up to the highest standards of fairness and integrity."
