Democracy In Action

Compromise, the lifeblood of democracy, will have to work in East Lansing if a civil rights crisis is to be averted.

There is no question about the "rightness" of the issue. Negroes and other minorities have consistently encountered humiliating discrimination by state institutions. They have been denied the right to buy or rent homes in East Lansing. There have been"

James O. Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), Thursday said he will lend "the full strength of CORE" to forcing and persuading the East Lansing City Council to pass an open occupancy ordinance.

But the City Council has no power to pass such an ordinance under present Michigan law. This was made clear at the teach-in by Mrs. Mary Sharp, the newly-elected pro-civil rights member of the Republican Lansing City Council.

Mrs. Sharp lost esteem in the eyes of the audience Thursday when she stumped from the podium.

"It is not up to the whites to concede the equality of the Negro; it is up to the whites to stop blocking the way to this equality."

"Any qualified Negro, any well-meaning Negro can buy a home in East Lansing."

"We must back our words with action."

"If the demonstration works out as planned, one can visualize this being the start of a mass movement."

The press, however, has no legal right to be in East Lansing. The Michigan State News, East Lansing, Michigan, was expelled from the Michigan State University Friday night. The reason given was that the newspaper had not been approved for the university. The Michigan State News, East Lansing, Michigan, was founded in 1911 and has been the official student newspaper of the university since 1913.

Student Non-Violent

If attempts at compromise fail, we urge the students not to violate any civil laws in their demonstrations. A sit-in at City Hall is not illegal. Blocking entrances and exits is illegal. Non-violent demonstrations are the only acceptable method of protest.

"If the City Council hopes to avert mass demonstrations here, it will have to chart a much more vigorous course of action in regard to open occupancy."

"We believe that compromise can be reached between the student groups which are planning demonstrations and the City Council."

"It is not comforting to face the prospect of another year or two of discrimination and violence."

Dichotomy

The variety of viewpoints brought out in last Tuesday's civil rights demonstrations is sometimes veiled in the fact that they are in a situation of discomfort.

"The various viewpoints would not be accepted under present conditions."

By Dave Hanson

"The Spring of Our Discontent" is a term being used by the students of East Lansing. It is a term used in connection with the civil rights demonstrations which have taken place here in recent weeks.

The word "discontent" has been used to describe the feeling of frustration and anger among the students of East Lansing. The demonstrations have been held to bring attention to the issue of race discrimination.

A thoughtful proposal has been made to incorporate the new and disquieting spirit of today's student body.

"Some think this term, plans are being formulated to make the East Lansing campus more lively.

The water carnival is one example of this. The carnival is being planned for next semester. It will include a variety of activities, such as a water slide, a water gun battle, and a water balloon fight.

Indian Five-Year Plan
Stresses Output, Justice

An improved standard of living for the masses and social justice for the main body of the people, as well as additional emphasis on the development of agriculture, industry and services, will characterize the Fifth Five-Year Plan in India, the government announced today.

"There has to be a planned effort to ensure India's development so that the problem of lagging behind in terms of economic development in the country is eradicated," Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told a meeting of the Planning Commission in New Delhi.

Some of the key points of the Fifth Five-Year Plan, as announced by the Planning Commission, include:

- Greater emphasis on agriculture, with special focus on food grains and vegetables.
- Expansion of industry, particularly in the chemicals, textiles, and pharmaceutical sectors.
- Increased investment in services, including education and health care.
- Improved infrastructure, including roads and ports.
- Enhanced focus on rural development and poverty alleviation.

Nehru said the plan would be implemented in a phased manner, with priority given to sectors that are most critical to the country's economic growth.

"We have to ensure that the benefits of the plan are reached to all sections of the society," he said.

The Fifth Five-Year Plan, which runs from 1961 to 1965, is seen as a crucial phase in India's development, as it marked the beginning of the Green Revolution and the launch of major public works.

"This is a time of unprecedented opportunities," Nehru said, "and we have to make the most of them."

Trackmen Find Pot Of Gold In Irish, 98-43

If there was any question as to whether the Spartans would show they were not a fluky performance, they had more than answered it in the Irish 200 meet. In fact, there were times in the meet when they were close to setting a record.

As a result of the Spartans' performance, many of the conference heads were convinced that the Spartans would be a force to be reckoned with this year.

The meet was held on Monday, May 17, 1965, at the Michigan State University track field.
