ANN ARBOR—Michigan State's football team scored a victory over the University of Michigan on Saturday, September 26, and the team is now 1-1 for the season. The game was played in Ann Arbor and was attended by a huge crowd of fans.

Michigan State's quarterback, John Brey, started the game off with a strong performance, completing 20 of 28 passes for 241 yards and two touchdowns. He also ran for 52 yards and a touchdown. The team's running back, Brian Johnson, rushed for 80 yards and a touchdown.

Michigan State's defense was strong, holding Michigan's offense to just 258 yards of total offense. The Spartans had 14 tackles for loss and five sacks in the game.

The game was played in a cold, windy, and rainy atmosphere, but the Spartans were able to make the most of the conditions. They controlled the ball for 40 minutes of the game and were able to keep the Wolverines out of the end zone.

In the fourth quarter, Michigan State added a field goal to take a 24-7 lead. The team's kicker, Ben Campbell, made the field goal from 43 yards out.

After the game, Michigan State head coach, John L. Smith, praised his team's performance.

"I am very proud of our team," Smith said. "They played a great game and I am happy for them."

FREUDIAN FIREMAN FLICK FALLS FLAT

BY DAVE VANSON

The name sounds ominous, and it is: "Harvey Middelman, Fireman." But really, Harvey looks nothing like the stereotypical fireman. Sure, he has a mustache and a beard, but that's about it. Harvey Middelman is no fireman. He is an actor, and he is in a new movie called "Fireman."

Harvey Middelman is in the midst of shooting a scene in which he must put out a fire. As he approaches the burning building, he is met by a group of firemen. "Hey, what do you think you're doing?" one of the firemen asks. "I'm just an actor," Harvey replies. "But we're the real thing," the fireman retorts. "I know," Harvey says. "I just wanted to be a fireman."}

Grad’s Film Seen Here

Freudian theory, in the film "Grad," is a primary subject. In the film, a young man, played by Harvey Middelman, is forced to deal with the pressures of growing up and the expectations of society. The film explores the concept of "Grad," or the transition from youth to adulthood.
