U.S. Coverage Of Africa Poor

By LINDA BOYLE

State News Staff Writer

American press coverage of African news often plays into political and entertainment interests rather than exploring peaceful developments. Former U.S. Secretary of Defense, Robert McNamara, said in a recent speech that the U.S. should be more interested in Africa than it currently is. He said that the U.S. has a responsibility to engage with the African continent and help it develop.

The speech was part of a broader initiative by McNamara to raise awareness of the importance of Africa to the U.S. economy. He said that the U.S. should be investing more in Africa in order to create jobs and promote trade.

McNamara's comments come at a time when African countries are becoming increasingly important economic partners for the U.S. For example, sub-Saharan Africa is home to a growing number of U.S. companies, and many African nations are looking to the U.S. for investment.

Despite these positive developments, McNamara said that the U.S. is not doing enough to support Africa. He called for increased diplomatic engagement and investment in the region.

The Michigan Board of Registration in Medicine conducts the examinations to determine the doctor’s fitness to practice medicine in Michigan.

In addition to passing all the exams each applicant must show the Michigan Board of Registration in Medicine, this means each applicant must pass a constructions test and a surgical history test. The Michigan Board of Registration in Medicine, said Swanson, must pass the medical board.

These examinations are also administered in each of the four states where the Michigan Board of Registration in Medicine, said Swanson, must pass the medical board.

Committee Accuses Klan Members Of Mishandling Funds

WASHINGTON — The House Judiciary Committee, in a report on its investigation of the Ku Klux Klan, has accused the organization of mishandling funds and violating the law.

The report, released today, states that the Klan has been engaging in illegal activities, including embezzlement and tax evasion. The committee also found evidence of Klan members using their positions to influence elections and to suppress political opponents.

"The Klan has been a force for hatred and division in our country," said Chairman John Conyers, D-Mich., who led the investigation. "We have uncovered clear evidence of criminal activity by the Klan, and we will not tolerate it."
