Romney Stalks Out On Ferency

LANSING, Mich.--George Romney, former Michigan Governor and Democratic nominee for U.S. Senate, has resigned as board chairman of All-Campus Radio, a station that plays a significant role in the student government's operations.

Romney, who is also one of the state's chief officials and open doorknob workers who come to talk to students, received a letter Wednesday, March 1st, from the student government, reporting that they had decided to replace him. The letter was addressed to Romney, who is also chairman of the Michigan State University Alumni Association.

The argument envisaged would involve the Michigan State University Board of Trustees, which is responsible for the station's operation. Romney said that he did not want to be associated with the station's activities.

The station is a small local office of the Michigan State University Alumni Association (AWS), and it is also the home of the student government's Public Relations Committee.

In 1966, the station was presented to Miss Seidman, who also submitted a letter to John Soviety, Finance Minister, in the Soviet Union. The 1966 budget was disclosed in presentation of the Soviet plan. Zolton Ferency was also present.

France Shows DeGaulle That Age Is Important

French President Charles DeGaulle recently received the first popular rejection of a French President from the French Revolution. When asked why DeGaulle might easily lose the nation the next time he faced the people, the President said between the two conditions the French Revolution had not made a difference which caused a revolution. As DeGaulle to have been studied the political science which he had not.

In any case, the first Popular French President has made a legal decision which is not the choice of his own life. The legal decision is that he cannot be re-elected. The political decision is the one which is made by the French people. The political decision is that the French people have chosen a new President.

Income Tax Vs. Politics

The State Democratic Central Committee recently passed a resolution of immediate tax reform, which it said would be incorporated in the next session of the Legislature. This is the latest effort to enact a major tax reform law.

The resolution states that the state income tax is currently under-received, and that the state needs additional revenue to support its services.

Abortion Laws Stupid

To the Editor:

As an end program, religious laws as well as all other political decisions are subjected to public review. This is the time to review all political decisions, including the abortion laws.

The abortion problem is much more complex than it appears on the surface. The law as it stands now is an attempt to regulate the practice of abortion, rather than to prohibit it.

The law does not provide for adequate birth control information, or for the training of doctors to perform abortions safely.

The law also does not provide for the education of women and their families about the consequences of abortion.

The law is not a solution to the problem of abortion. It is a part of the problem. The law should be reformed to reflect the needs of women and their families.

To the Editor:

In regard to the controversy over the quality of the journalism practiced by the current management of the Ann Arbor News, I suggest that the student body should take the matter seriously. The Ann Arbor News is a respected newspaper, and its current management does not have the resources to support its editorial policies.

Parties Rates Thanks

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the members of the Student Board for their help in planning the Christmas party. The party was a great success, and the members of the Student Board worked hard to make it a success.

The students were very happy with the setup of the party, and they were grateful for the hard work of the Student Board.

Board Stiffs Original Idea

One of the most original ideas to come before the present student government was recently rejected for reasons of feasibility and cost. The idea was to have a student-produced newspaper that would be distributed on campus.

The project would have required the formation of a student newspaper organization, and the funding of a student newspaper staff. The idea was rejected because it was too costly and impractical.

Further apartment building construction in East Lansing by DeGale has been halted by the East Lansing City Council and many businesses in town are being forced to downsize as a result of the surge in demand for apartments. DeGall has said that he will continue to build apartments in the area, but that he will need to do so at a slower pace.

DeGall, the owner of DeGall Apartments, said that he was forced to halt construction due to the high demand for apartments in the area. "We have been in the business for a long time, and we have never seen anything like this," he said. "We are building as fast as we can, but we are still not keeping up with the demand."

The Planning Commission in East Lansing has also been forced to revise its plans for the area, as the number of apartments needed is much higher than originally anticipated. "We are working on a new plan that will allow us to accommodate the demand," said the Planning Commission's chief, John Smith. "We are working hard to make sure that we can provide the necessary infrastructure to support the development."

The deadline for announcing the new plan has been extended to December 15, as the commission is still reviewing the data. The new plan will be presented to the City Council on December 20, and it is expected to be approved. The City Council will then have to approve the plan, and it is expected that construction will begin in January 2016.

DeGall said that he is optimistic about the future of the apartment market in East Lansing. "I believe that the market will continue to grow, and we will be able to meet the demand," he said. "We are still building, and we will continue to do so, as long as there is demand."
Michigan State University has in interest in the monorail system plan now being presented for several cities. The plan, which involves the construction of a monorail system, is being studied by a group of engineers and executives from Booth Newspapers, Inc., of East Lansing, Michigan.

"We are interested in the proposal because it promises to bring a new dimension to urban transportation," said Booth Newspapers President E. R. Booth. "It is a concept that could revolutionize the way we travel in cities and suburbs."

The monorail system, which would operate on a track suspended from cables, would provide a rapid and efficient means of transportation. The system would be able to carry large numbers of passengers over long distances at high speeds, without the need for extensive road construction or expensive infrastructure.

Booth Newspapers has arranged for a series of workshops and seminars to be held on the Michigan State University campus, beginning next month. The workshops will focus on the technical aspects of the monorail system, including design, construction, and operation. The seminars will cover the economic benefits of the system, as well as its potential impact on urban development.

The workshops and seminars are open to anyone interested in the monorail system. They will be held every Monday from 8:00 to 10:00 AM in the Michigan State University Union. For more information, please contact the Booth Newspapers office at 517-355-2222.

Medieval times live again at Michigan State. At 167, while Johnson and Radford are State last Saturday. Cook received a bad cut on his ear when he fell on the referee's hand. Points can only be scored with the point of the blade, through him. The Spartans draw the entire body. The use of the epee discouraged the medieval time’s interest in fencing, with the exception of court sword once used. Rules and regulations? Without the openness of the modern foil, the saber, the third type of fencing, discouraged the interest of spectators. The modern foil is a 35-inch long weapon with a small, sharp blade. It is used for the fastest, most aggressive type of fencing. Saber, the third type of fencing, is considered a fast, aggressive style.試試看看。
LASTING FRIENDSHIPS REASON WHY PEOPLE GO GRECO

By JO BUMSBARGER
State News Campus Editor

Why do people remain in fraternities and sororities? Is it merely the social aspect and parties, or are there more meaningful reasons that also keep people involved? Many students see the Greek system in college as a community, where they can find friends with common interests and share common experiences. The social aspect is undoubtedly important, providing an avenue for meeting new people and forming lasting friendships. However, the Greek system also provides opportunities for personal and professional growth. By engaging in activities such as philanthropic work, leadership positions, and academic involvement, students can develop skills and experiences that will serve them well in their future careers.

Dean Turner is critical of the process planning the growth of student organizations. "...we are currently working on a return to the Greek system to the university."
Sees Love Origin In Ice Age

By O. C. KNICKERBOCKER

State News Staff Writer

Lone and mar's ability to love may have originated during the Ice Age, according to an archeologist who used M. Miller, professor of geology and member of the American Geological Institute, who told the newspaper, "Man apparently became a thinking being during the Pleistocene Ice Age." He added, "The specialist in arctic and ice-experts said that the Ice Age started about 15 million years ago and ended about one million years ago."

Miller said that the Pleistocene Ice Age formed man from the earth's crust as well as a part of the atmosphere, in the same way that the earth's crust forms man from the atmosphere.

MSU Jazz Band's Sound Big, Smooth And Swinging

By R. ANDY HAREIN

State News Reviewer

The impressive MSU Jazz Band presented a swell and smooth performance on Saturday night in the State Union Auditorium. The well-organized and carefully rehearsed ensemble was composed of a 19-member band under the direction of Bob Curnow of East Lansing High School.

The band's sound is similar to that of MSU's other jazz groups, but it has a unique character of its own. The group's sound is characterized by a smooth, melodic, and rhythmic style that is both pleasing to the ear and entertaining to watch.

The MSU Jazz Band is a major attraction on the Lansing music scene. The band's major selling points are its ability to handle changing moods and meters, and the variety of the performers.

The band's performance on Saturday night was a testament to its talent and professionalism. The band's sound is sure to please anyone who enjoys jazz music.
