Campus Radio
Requirements Set

Michigan State University has set tentative regulations for student-run radio station WMSU, which will be allowed to operate on-campus. The regulations will be finalized at Monday's meeting of the University Board of Advisors.

According to Jack Dehnert, head of WMSU, the station will be allowed to broadcast 24 hours a day. The station will have a staff of about 100 students, and its operating expenses will come from a combination of student fees and grants from the Federal Communications Commission.

Dehnert said he was confident that the station would be able to operate within the regulations set by the Board of Advisors.

The regulations include requirements for the station's scheduling, technical equipment, and community service. The station must have a volunteer staff of at least 100 students, and it must provide at least 25 hours of programming that is produced by students.

The station must also have a set of programming guidelines that outline the types of programming that will be allowed. The guidelines will include requirements for the content of the programming, such as the station's focus on community service.

The station must also have a set of financial guidelines that outline the station's budget, including the station's operating costs and revenue. The station must have a detailed budget that outlines the station's revenue and expenses, and it must have a plan for funding the station.

The station must also have a set of legal guidelines that outline the station's compliance with federal and state laws. The station must have a set of policies that outline the station's compliance with federal and state laws, and it must have a plan for ensuring compliance with federal and state laws.

The station must also have a set of technical guidelines that outline the station's use of technical equipment. The station must have a set of policies that outline the station's use of technical equipment, and it must have a plan for ensuring compliance with federal and state laws.

The station must also have a set of social guidelines that outline the station's compliance with federal and state laws. The station must have a set of policies that outline the station's compliance with federal and state laws, and it must have a plan for ensuring compliance with federal and state laws.

The station must also have a set of educational guidelines that outline the station's compliance with federal and state laws. The station must have a set of policies that outline the station's compliance with federal and state laws, and it must have a plan for ensuring compliance with federal and state laws.
Student Interest Missing

The East Lansing Human Relations Commission will hold a part in the Sportsman in the Room in the Sportsman's Club Friday night.

Three major topics will be covered in the forum. Relations of foreign students to the campus, relations of foreign students to the community and race and religion and opportunities to learn about other cultures will be the topics for discussion.

Many strongly believe that holding discussion exists in East Lansing. The forum aims to give an opportunity for their views.

The forum will be open to all interested persons and is in the interest of the East Lansing Community Commission are the right channels.

Urban Bumsah's Book

To the Editor:

I would like to write this letter to Mr. Urban Bumsah's who is my classmate at Lansing Community College. I have had a lot of fun with Mr. Urban Bumsah's and I thought it would be great to write him a letter.

I am currently a student at the State University and I have had a lot of fun with Mr. Urban Bumsah's and I thought it would be great to write him a letter.

I am currently a student at the State University and I have had a lot of fun with Mr. Urban Bumsah's and I thought it would be great to write him a letter.

The Michigan State Police have been conducting traffic stops on the campus of Lansing Community College. The stops are part of an ongoing initiative to reduce distracted driving and promote safety.

The stops have been made in collaboration with the Lansing Community College police department. The purpose of the stops is to educate students about the dangers of driving while distracted and encourage them to make safer choices on the road.

Students are encouraged to avoid distractions such as using their phones, browsing the internet, or talking to friends while driving. The stops aim to raise awareness about the risks and consequences of distracted driving.

Hit Weapons Bill

To the Editor:

I have heard several arguments for and against the proposed bill. On one hand, it is argued that the bill is necessary to protect our community, but on the other hand, it is argued that it could potentially suppress free speech and the right to bear arms.

I believe that the bill should include provisions to ensure that the rights of students and citizens are protected while still addressing the issue of gun violence.

I would like to see a discussion of the bill's impact on the campus community and whether it aligns with the values and principles of the university.

In conclusion, the proposed bill has the potential to make our community safer, but it is important that we carefully consider its implications and work to strike a balance between protecting public safety and preserving individual liberties.
Lansing Resident Has Photo
Of Iwo Jima Flag-Raising

By ANDY HAREN
State News Staff Writer
LANSING (AP) - A Lansing photographer has been credited with the first photograph of the flag that was raised on Mt. Suribachi, the highest point on the island of Iwo Jima in World War II.

Lawrence Kellogg, 42, was in the Marine Corps from 1943 to 1944, and was at Iwo Jima in the winter of 1944-45.

Kellogg was in charge of a plane that was dropped by the Marine Corps to deliver film to the photographers on the island.

He said he photographed the processing of thousands of photos at the Base, all of which are now in the hands of the National Archives.

Kellogg received the following report in the mail: "We want you to know that we have just taken a picture of the American flag flying over Mt. Suribachi, the highest point on the island. It was raised by the Marines and was witnessed by General Douglas MacArthur."

A Japanese who was present said he saw all his film go with the flag, but he was unable to stop the camera to take pictures.

Kellogg said he was surprised to receive the letter, and that he had never dreamed his picture would be so important.

"I was just doing my job," he said. "I just wanted to get the best picture I could."

Kellogg was later contacted by the Bainbridge Island, Wash., Daily News-Record, which was interested in the story.

The newspaper printed the story and sent Kellogg a copy of the picture, which he later gave to the Associated Press.

Kellogg said the picture was taken on February 23, 1945, and that it showed the flag being raised by a group of Marines.

Kellogg said he was impressed by the heroism of the Marines who fought on Iwo Jima, and that he felt privileged to have been there.

Kellogg said he hoped his picture would be preserved for future generations, and that it would serve as a reminder of the sacrifices made by the Marines.

Kellogg said he would be happy to see his picture published in any newspaper, and that he would be willing to sign autographs if it would help to preserve the memory of Iwo Jima.

Kellogg said he was proud to have been a part of the history-making event, and that he would be proud to see his picture printed in any newspaper.

Kellogg said he hoped his picture would be preserved for future generations, and that it would serve as a reminder of the sacrifices made by the Marines.

Kellogg said he would be happy to see his picture published in any newspaper, and that he would be willing to sign autographs if it would help to preserve the memory of Iwo Jima.

Kellogg said he was proud to have been a part of the history-making event, and that he would be proud to see his picture printed in any newspaper.
American Airlines

Pilots carry Bob Stanwick, the June 20, 1965, James Madison Alumnus who played football and baseball at James Madison University, to the conference's first-ever championship game.

Proving that the Masons are real, the Masons' baseball team clinched its first-ever championship by defeating the Blue Jays 5-1 in the final game of the season. The Masons' win came as a surprise to many, as the Blue Jays had been considered the favorites throughout the season.

The Masons' victory brought them to the finals of the state tournament, which will be held on Saturday. The Masons will face the state's top baseball team, the Blue Jays, in a highly anticipated match.

The Masons' other successes this season include winning the district championship and securing a spot in the state tournament. Their hard work and dedication have paid off, and the Masons are excited to see what they can accomplish in the state tournament.

American Airlines

Friday, February 18, 1966

WITH BADGERS, GopherS

Final Tanker Duals

By ROBERTA YAFFE

The announcement for the final tanker duals between the Michigan State University and the University of Wisconsin has been made. The duals will be held on Thursday, March 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the Michigan State University Field House. Tickets are available at the door for $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students.

The Michigan State University wrestling team has been practicing hard for this dual, and the team is looking forward to facing their rivals from Wisconsin. The team is confident in their ability to perform well in this dual and is ready to take on their opponents.

The dual between the Michigan State University and the University of Wisconsin will be a highly anticipated match, and it is expected to be a thrilling contest. The team is excited to showcase their skills and compete at their best.

American Airlines

Cordaro Ailing; Gymnasts Battle For Title With Illinois

The Illinois State University gymnasts are gearing up for a challenging battle for the title with the University of Illinois. The gymnasts are working hard to prepare for this intense competition and are determined to come out on top.

The University of Illinois gymnasts are also preparing for this dual, and the team is ready to face their rivals from Illinois State. The team is confident in their ability to perform well and is looking forward to this exciting match.

American Airlines

To any kid who'd like to go somewhere:

We'll pay half your fare.

The idea's not as crazy as it may seem. Anytime we take a jet up, there are almost always fewer seats.

So it occurred to us that we might be able to fill a few of them, if we gave the young people a break on the fare, and a chance to see the country.

The American Youth Plan

We call the idea the American Youth Plan, and what it means is this: We'll pay half the jet coach fare for anybody 12 through 21.

It's that simple.

All you have to do is prove your age (a birth certificate or any legal document will do) and buy a $3 identification card. We date and stamp the card, and this entitles you to a half-fare ticket at any American Airlines station.

The only catch is that you might have to wait before you get aboard; the fare is on a "Standby"—simply means that the passengers with reservations and the services which you have to pay for will be there. Then the plane's yours.

The American Youth Plan is good year round except for a few days before and after the Easter, Christmas and Thanksgiving holidays. If you can't find of any places you'd like to go offhand you might see a travel agent for a few suggestions. We can't add anything else.

Other than a marvelous opportunity to just take off.

Complete this coupon for your American Youth Plan ticket. The ticket can be used at any American station or by mail for travel within the United States.

American Airlines

Friday, February 18, 1966

American Airlines

The special marketing of American Airlines is designed to provide a unique travel experience by combining a number of services, such as reservations, check-in, and special amenities. The marketing strategy is aimed at attracting a variety of customers, including business travelers, families, and leisure travelers, by offering a wide range of services and benefits.

American Airlines

Friday, February 18, 1966

American Airlines

The special marketing of American Airlines is designed to provide a unique travel experience by combining a number of services, such as reservations, check-in, and special amenities. The marketing strategy is aimed at attracting a variety of customers, including business travelers, families, and leisure travelers, by offering a wide range of services and benefits.

American Airlines

Friday, February 18, 1966

American Airlines
Wisconsin, Dittrich report continue hinge (if Club is r Iowa last Supervise on is last growth, and last lose Badger's by the Terry a all tough weeks starting this move a started of rec¬0:06.2 time rec¬then East v your came in will ever, record Steve more and card the efforts Teat leader for probably to the He full-time one RICARDO whom in Opportunity club, Arbor^X) than .Vore Begin Jenison Not son, the Ann 14 depend ART American York. a here, the season, Dilling, enough 16 the the is" percentage the of Still, victors Lee you Curtis Jim two the 1.8 from play¬six which and is and stay chemical capa¬for 1,000 key Lansing. scored the goalie has to our Conner, and against coming the our Casey, Transportation our champion has far to the out below in good our 482-0654 four drive. fo be 2 a coach 22. is a a to The in got the Satur¬Best, of this work Iowa cap¬expanded and they if the first time was one of the best we have faced this year," Wisconsin's jumping abilities can be seen in the 30th cre¬hanced side edge once have come twice the Badgers' opposing skaters were determined and they should have been more on the court against with the Badgers' realm. "The Badger's recent capi¬lations were not enough in the first half when they scored 11 points with two seconds remaining. The Badgers' defense has been strong all season, and they have held the Spartans to 37 points in their last two games against Wisconsin."
CRAWFORD TALKS ON ADVERTISING

A complete solution is essential to the professional advertising man. In the Advertising Department, we have been working on a new advertising concept that is proving to be very successful. This concept not only includes the usual advertising elements but also takes into account the needs of the consumer. The result is a more effective and efficient advertising plan that is perfectly suited for the current market conditions.

Crawford's latest achievement is a new advertising campaign that has been created to meet the specific needs of the consumer. This campaign has been designed to capture the attention of the target audience and to effectively communicate the message of the product. The campaign has been tested and proven to be highly effective in increasing sales and improving brand awareness. Crawford's expertise and creativity have once again proven to be valuable assets to the company.

NDEA

The Japanese market is highly competitive, and advertisers need to be able to reach their target audience with precision. Crawford has designed an advertising campaign that is specifically tailored to the Japanese market. The campaign includes a series of advertisements that are designed to appeal to the cultural and societal values of the Japanese consumer. Crawford's expertise in the field of advertising has enabled him to create a campaign that is both effective and culturally sensitive.

NEORAL

The new drug Neoral is a revolutionary treatment for patients suffering from certain autoimmune diseases. Crawford has designed a comprehensive advertising campaign that is aimed at educating patients and healthcare professionals about the benefits of Neoral. The campaign includes a series of advertisements that are designed to be easily understood and to effectively communicate the message of the product. Crawford's expertise in the field of advertising has enabled him to create a campaign that is both informative and engaging.

ANDREW S. CRAWFORD

Crawford is a well-known and respected advertising professional. He has a wealth of experience in the field and has been responsible for numerous successful advertising campaigns. Crawford is highly regarded for his creativity and his ability to create effective advertising solutions that meet the needs of his clients. He is a valuable asset to the company and his contributions to the advertising department have been unwavering.
Experts Debate Legalized Abortion

By RICK FLANIGAN
State Political Reporter

The battle between pro- and anti-abortion groups has been waged in the courts and legislatures for years. Both sides claim to be acting in the best interests of women and children, but their means and methods differ. The latest round in this conflict was played out in Lansing last week, as Michigan legislators considered a bill that would legalize abortion in the state.

In his opening remarks, Governor Milliken praised the legislation as a "great step forward." He said it would bring about a more "reasonable" approach to the problem of unwanted pregnancies, and he urged the legislature to pass it quickly.

On the other side, however, was Dr. George Tiller of Kansas City, who warned that the bill would open the floodgates to "a climate of moral decay." He cited studies showing that legalizing abortion would lead to an increase in unwanted births and a decrease in the quality of life for mothers and children.

Another witness was Dr. Sarah Brown of the American Medical Association, who testified that legalizing abortion would make it easier for doctors to perform the procedure without proper medical supervision. She said that this would lead to a "slippery slope," in which more and more women would begin to use abortion as a method of birth control.

Still another witness was Dr. Robert Johnson of the National Right to Life Committee, who argued that legalizing abortion would set a dangerous precedent for other forms of human rights violations. He cited examples from other countries where abortion had been legalized, and said that this had led to an increase in women's rights issues.

In the end, the bill passed the legislature, with just enough votes to carry the majority. Governor Milliken signed it into law later that day, saying that he was proud to have played a part in making Michigan a leader in the field of women's rights.

The battle over abortion is far from over, however. Many people believe that the issue will be decided in the courts, and that the struggle will continue for years to come.

Changes

(continued from page 1)

Safety regulations have been strengthened in the workplace, with new standards for noise reduction, chemical exposure, and heat stress.

In the transportation industry, improvements have been made in the safety of vehicles, with new requirements for airbags and seatbelts.

In the construction industry, regulations have been strengthened for the use of cranes and other heavy equipment.

In the agriculture industry, new standards have been set for the use of pesticides and other chemicals.

In the manufacturing industry, new requirements have been set for the disposal of hazardous waste.

In the health care industry, new regulations have been set for the use of medical devices and other equipment.

In the entertainment industry, new rules have been set for the use of fireworks and other pyrotechnic displays.

In the education industry, new standards have been set for the use of technology in the classroom.

In the communications industry, new rules have been set for the use of social media and other online platforms.

In the sports industry, new regulations have been set for the use of performance-enhancing drugs.

In the government industry, new standards have been set for the use of public funds and other resources.
Church Must Listen To Agnostics

B. FAY UNDER
reporter-for-press

The church must start listen¬ ting to the agnostic. The church must speak more clearly, more importantly, to the agnostic than to the society around it. The church must recognize the agnos¬ tic as a human being, as a mem¬ ber of the world, as a possessor of reason, as a candidate. The church cannot confine the agnostic to the sidelines. The agnostic must be recognized as an equal in the mys¬ tery of the world.

The agnostic must be recognized as a human being. The church must consider the agnostic on human grounds. The agnostic must be regarded as a person, not as an enemy. The church must consider the agnostic in his thoughts, in his beliefs, in his actions. The church must listen to the agnostic. The church must make an effort to understand the agnostic. The church must make an effort to dialogue with the agnostic. The church must make an effort to understand the agnos¬ tic and to be understood by the agnostic.

The church must make an effort to understand the agnostic. The church must not be afraid of the agnostic. The church must not be afraid of the agnostic’s thoughts.
The church must not be afraid of the agnostic’s beliefs. The church must not be afraid of the agnostic’s actions. The church must not be afraid of the agnostic’s questions.
The church must not be afraid of the agnostic’s doubts. The church must not be afraid of the agnostic’s uncertainty. The church must not be afraid of the agnostic’s in¬ consistency. The church must not be afraid of the agnostic’s de¬ spair. The church must not be afraid of the agnostic’s hope.
The church must not be afraid of the agnostic’s faith.

The church must make an effort
to understand the agnostic. The church must make an effort to dialogue with the agnostic. The
church must make an effort to understand the agnostic and to be understood by the agnostic.

The church must make an effort
to understand the agnostic. The
church must make an effort to dialogue with the agnostic. The
church must make an effort to understand the agnostic and to be understood by the agnostic.

The church must make an effort
to understand the agnostic. The
church must make an effort to dialogue with the agnostic. The
church must make an effort to understand the agnostic and to be understood by the agnostic.

The church must make an effort
to understand the agnostic. The
church must make an effort to dialogue with the agnostic. The
church must make an effort to understand the agnostic and to
be understood by the agnostic.
SOLDIERS OF THE WEEK

Three Outstanding Men
Are Soldiers Of The Week

Three soldiers were distinguished in leadership, athletics and military training, selected from among some 300 eligible candidates. They are: (1) Pfc. Edward Harmon of the 163rd Medical Detachment, Fort Meade, Md., for outstanding leadership; (2) Pfc. Frank Bovall, of the same unit, for military training; and (3) Sjt. William Brumwell of the 163rd Medical Detachment, Fort Meade, Md., for athletics.

Pfc. Edward Harmon was born in Bennington, Vt., April 11, 1921. He enlist ed May 4, 1943, and was assigned to the 163rd Medical Detachment, stationed at Fort Meade, Md. The soldier has been rated “outstanding” by his superiors for his leadership and professional attitude. The soldier has also been rated “outstanding” in his physical fitness and general appearance.

Pfc. Frank Bovall, from Philadelphia, Pa., was born on May 24, 1921. He enlisted on Dec. 16, 1943, and was assigned to the same unit. Bovall, a sharpshooter, has been rated “outstanding” by his superiors for his leadership and professional attitude. The soldier has been rated “outstanding” in his physical fitness and general appearance.

Sjt. William Brumwell, from Alamosa, Colo., was born on Oct. 15, 1921. He enlisted on Dec. 29, 1943, and was assigned to the unit. Brumwell, a sharpshooter, has been rated “outstanding” by his superiors for his leadership and professional attitude. The soldier has been rated “outstanding” in his physical fitness and general appearance.

Employers Speak At Rally

About 300 employers representing 800 job opportunities for students took part in the 9th annual Employer-Rally at Michigan State University. The rally was held in the University Union and was sponsored by the University Student Council and the University Activities Council.

The rally was attended by over 1,200 students and was conducted by the Michigan State University Student Council and the University Activities Council.

Hotel School Given Scholarship Fund

Michigan State’s Board of Education awarded two scholarships to individuals who have demonstrated outstanding leadership in their work and have been awarded a degree of the School of Hotel Management. The scholarships are in recognition of the students’ outstanding leadership in the School of Hotel Management.

The scholarships are:

1. A $1,000 scholarship to be awarded to a student who has demonstrated outstanding leadership in the School of Hotel Management.
2. A $500 scholarship to be awarded to a student who has demonstrated outstanding leadership in the School of Hotel Management.

Stool for the Week

State PTA
State PTA
State PTA

Michigan State Board of Education
Budgeter Missed Point
Hannah Tells Trustees

The new Budgeter director has already missed the point of University complaints, according to the Lafayette’s highest officials. President John L.
Hull told the Board of Trustees that the new Budgeter Director, Mr. i, is completely unable to handle the work of the Budgeter, and the faculty will continue to be in the dark about the finances of the University. The Budgeter is the official organ of the University, and its mistakes have been shown to be serious. The Budgeter has already missed the point of University complaints, and the new director will continue to be in the dark about the finances of the University. The professor who has been appointed to the position will continue to be in the dark about the finances of the University.

Med School Loses Bolton

Dr. Alfred J. Bolton will be leaving the Medical College at the end of the academic year. The dean of the College, Dr. Thomas J. Smith, has said that the departure of Dr. Bolton is a great loss to the College. Dr. Bolton has been a valuable member of the faculty, and his absence will be missed. The College is in the process of finding a replacement for Dr. Bolton.
The search for a new dean will be continued. The College is in the process of finding a replacement for Dr. Bolton. The search for a new dean will be continued.

Knapp's
Campus Center

Spectra sweater kit

Delightful design from Columbia-Minnesota in Nasturt Ulron acrylic machine washable yarn. Assorted colors with white. Kit contains yarn, plus instructions for pullover shown or exquisite cardigan. 9.98

Model Pak sweater bags

Set of 3 zippered bags of brushed silk vinyl film, with sturdy handles. Wide gussets. Won't crack or peel. 1/2 x 3 x 33-in. 1.69 a set.

portable sweater dryer

Holds sweater above floor, allows maximum air flow. Nylon mesh with metal legs. Entire unit holds comfortably to store. 26 x 24 x 177

KNAPP'S EXCLUSIVE

4.00

lightly padded bra

by Jantzen...a

Knapp's exclusive

3-letter monograms on a crisp blouse classic

3 for 11.50

3.99 each

Your initials scroll-embroidered at an extra cost on non-iron Decoton/Polyester-cotton, in popular Italian colored styles. Sizes 36-44.

Colors

SAFETY FIRST

The new Board of Trustees members of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity are: Ralph, Jr., Denison; Alf, East; and Russ, Jr., Michigan. The Board will meet at 1:00 p.m. on Wednesday, March 25, in the president's office. The Board will meet at 1:00 p.m. on Wednesday, March 25, in the president's office.