Rep. Ford Could Lead GOP in '68

WASHINGTON—Counter publication reports are circulating that Michigan Rep. Gerald R. Ford could lead the GOP presidential nomination battle.

Reportedly, Republicans have generally agreed that the battle for the GOP nomination would be a long and arduous one, with no clear front-runner emerging from the candidates listed in the November primaries. As such, there is a general belief that the nomination battle will not be won by any candidate who can win on the first ballot. Ford could be the one to win on the first ballot, and thus become the presumptive nominee.

Ford's rise in the polls has been attributed to his strong showing in the Michigan primary, where he secured a decisive victory. His performance in Michigan, combined with his previous victories in other states, has given him a strong foothold in the GOP nomination race. Ford's campaign strategy has focused on his strong conservative credentials, and his ability to appeal to a broad base of Republican voters.

Despite his success, Ford also faces challenges. He must continue to perform well in upcoming primaries and caucuses, and his campaign must effectively communicate his message to voters. Additionally, Ford must address any potential opposition within the GOP, who may view him as a moderate candidate.

Ford's rise in the polls has caught the attention of other candidates, who may consider dropping out of the race to support him. This consolidation of support could further solidify Ford's lead in the GOP nomination battle.

Overall, the Michigan primary and Ford's strong performance in it have put him in a strong position to lead the GOP nomination in '68.
State Big 10 Crown Still Possible-I...

The Spartans are certainly down, but there’s a second half to the tie game, and there’s still Michigan to play. In order to win the Big Ten, Illinois would have to pick up a game against Michigan in both the first and second meetings.

The difference in the Big Ten standings over the last 11 years may be slim, but the Spartans are in first place, holding a 1-2 record versus the Wolverines. Michigan is 2-1, and Wisconsin is 0-3.

It’s 2:00° BELOW ZERO OUT THERE! THAT’S OKAY, I’M WEARING MY U.S. RUBBER EXTRATERRESTRIAL UNDERWEAR.

Labor Not Meeting Goals

The larger movement in America today is in political energy
and strength. Faster than during, number of "Haters in Ar-
von," said he Thursday.

To the question asked during the Michigan Women's World tour by Dr. R. C. Clark, asked why the large increase in the number of "Haters in America," he replied that the high rate of unemployment among Negroes is partially due to a failure in the government to meet the needs of individuals. People have no confition in the welfare system. This failure is indicative of the wastefulness within the institution,
he said. Monopoly has not increased and political power

left unorganized.

He criticized a lack of decision among both Congress and leadership, which has resulted in a "Haters in America." While these problems, things have never been better for urban Negroes, Blacks have increased.
There are more things benefiting than ever before. The individual organizers are strong.

The most crucial problem is stopping death which annually
damages the nation's economy
and well-being. The current Tremain Black strike, he said,
is not being handled by the Black leadership. It is being handled by collective bargaining.

The United States government
has not been able to gain Cali-
nia's Negroes back, he said.
Negroes, Negroes. The return
was an increase in the white Negroes.

Physically Handicapped, Aged, Can Be Safe Drivers

By ANNA BROWN

Should a physically handicapped person be able to drive? This is the subject of a panel discussion to be held at Michigan State University on March 1.

The panel will consist of a handicapped person who drives, a handicapped person who does not drive, and a doctor who specializes in the field of physical handicapping. The panel will be moderated by Dr. Arthur M. Hahn, professor of education and rehabilitation at Michigan State University.

The panel will discuss the various types of physical handicaps and the problems that they pose. It will also discuss the safety aspects of driving for the physically handicapped.

The panel will be held in the Michigan State University Union Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. The discussion will be followed by a question-and-answer session.

Dr. Hahn said that the panel will provide information that will help people make informed decisions about whether or not to drive.

Those interested in attending the panel are encouraged to make reservations by calling the Michigan State University Booking Office at 452-3333.

Offer Language Programs In Europe This Summer

Erland Wangsjo, director of the Foundation for European Languages and Educational Services (Eurocentric), has announced plans for a summer foreign language program in Europe.

The program will be held in a variety of locations throughout Europe, including London, Paris, and Rome. Participants will have the opportunity to learn the language of their choice in a fun and engaging environment.

Wangsjo said that the program will begin on July 1 and run for six weeks.

Applications are now being accepted for the program. Information about the program can be obtained by contacting the Foundation for European Languages and Educational Services at 123-456-7890.

Grad Takes Opera Honors

Sandra Kline, a student at Michigan State University, has won an opera competition in Europe. Kline, who is a member of the opera club, was selected as the winner of the competition by judges from several European opera companies.

Kline said that she was very happy to have won the competition and that she plans to use the prize money to further her studies in opera.

The competition was held in Paris, France, and Kline was chosen as the winner from a pool of over 100 applicants. She will now have the opportunity to perform in several European opera houses and to work with some of the world's leading opera singers.

Kline said that she looks forward to learning more about opera and to sharing her love of music with others.

Photos and videos of Sandra Kline's performance can be viewed on the Michigan State University Opera Club's website, which is located at operachannel.com.
