Sen. Fulbright Proposes Asian Neutralization

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., said today that he would introduce legislation in the Senate to seek an Asian neutralization plan.

McGovern, speaking at a press conference here, said the plan would seek to establish a neutral zone in the Indochina peninsula, including Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, to prevent further aggression by any nation.

McGovern said the plan would be similar to the one proposed by Sen. Fulbright, D-Ark., which has been stalled in the Senate for months.

Sen. Fulbright, who has been a strong advocate of neutrality in the Vietnam conflict, said today that he was encouraged by McGovern's support.

He said the plan was a step forward in the search for a peaceful solution to the Vietnam conflict.

Profs Say Tests Discourage Study Courage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the University of New Haven today announced he would take action in response to demands by student groups on the campus.

The president said he would not tolerate any further disruptions or demonstrations by student groups.

He also announced that he would give a hearing to student groups to hear their concerns.

The university has been under pressure from student groups for several weeks, with protests and demonstrations taking place on campus.

The president said he was committed to maintaining order on the campus and urged students to cooperate with authorities.

Legislators Say U-M Too Costly

DETROIT (AP) — University of Michigan President James D. Duderstadt faced criticism today from lawmakers who charged that the university was too expensive.

Sen. John C. Culver, D-Iowa, said the university's costs were too high and recommended that the state increase its funding.

Duderstadt defended the university's spending, saying it was necessary to maintain the quality of education.

The university has been under pressure from state lawmakers to cut costs and reduce its budget.

Johnson Moves Solidly Supported

House Votes 48.9 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today overwhelmingly passed a 48.9 billion dollar defense bill for the fiscal year 1968.

The bill, which was opposed by some members of the Democratic majority, was supported by Republicans and approved on a near party-line vote.

The bill includes funds for defense programs, including missile defense, nuclear arms, and military personnel.
HE RENT A crow is in favor of compensation for ASMSU board members who are not selected in the toed with which the motion was passed by the board of regents with that of the students and membership of the student union. She said that ASMSU was not a profit-making organization, and that students should be paid for the time they spend on its business.

THE FACT THAT ASMSU arrived in the matter is in need of information. The motion is not a true representation of the situation, she added; it was written by students and members of the student union and not presented by members of the board.

The committee on compensation and recognition used it, she said, to provide a basis for a resolution student leadership. Without the resolution, the students could not be asked to contribute to the board, and the board could not be asked to pay them.

THE BOARD'S SENTIMENT is not to have responsibility for the motion since it would receive no benefits does not justify its speedy passage, she added. The motion, she said, would be reconsidered if it is not finalized properly.

Exposing the misleading definitions, then, would mean an effort should be able to accomplish that goal.

Where Oh Where, Can Teacher Be?

Recently, the ability to teach cannot be taught. The ability to teach is a skill that must be learned and practiced. The ability to teach is not something that can be taught in a classroom. The ability to teach is learned by observing and participating in the teaching process.

The teacher's ability to teach is a matter of judgment, experience, and personal style. It is not a matter of right or wrong. It is a matter of what works for the teacher and the students.

To the Editor:

The idea that teachers can be taught to teach is not a new one. It has been a topic of discussion for many years. It is the belief that teachers can be taught to teach.

LOYALTY PLEDGES

ACLU Fights Oath

NEW YORK—The battle against loyalty oaths continues as a small but vocal group of American lawyers and legal schola health care workers had come together in New York City to protest the loyalty oaths required of them by their employers.

The rally was organized by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and attended by around 200 people.

The rally began with a short speech by a representative of the ACLU, who explained the legal and constitutional challenges to the loyalty oaths.

Following the speech, there was a moment of silence, after which the group marched through the streets of Manhattan, waving signs and chanting slogans.

The group marched to the Federal Building, where they met with other groups protesting the loyalty oaths.

At the Federal Building, there were speeches by several members of the ACLU and other organizations, as well as a moment of silence for those who have lost their jobs or have faced other consequences of the loyalty oaths.

The rally ended with a march back to the starting point, where there were speeches and music.

The rally was a significant show of solidarity and support for the workers who are facing this legal challenge, and it demonstrated the ongoing struggle against the loyalty oaths.

State News Service of the World

A world historical event involving the China of 1921.

On May 30th, MSU students and faculty took part in a demonstration in which they asserted their desire for an end to the Chinese Communist regime. This event is significant because it was the first time

MSU students have publicly expressed their opposition to Chinese communism. The demonstration was organized by a group of MSU Chinese students who were concerned about the recent developments in China.

The demonstration was met with a strong response from the Chinese government, which quickly moved to suppress the event.

In the weeks following the demonstration, the Chinese authorities arrested several MSU Chinese students and faculty members.

The incident has caused a stir in the Chinese community, with many questioning the Chinese government's response.

In response to the recent events, the MSU Chinese students' group has decided to continue their protests.

They have called for a boycott of Chinese products and the extradition of those arrested.

The Chinese government has not responded to these demands.

The situation remains tense, and it is unclear what the outcome of these protests will be.
