Apathy Endangers Rights

An EMBARRASSMENT of totalitarian regimes is the passive nature of the people who are subject to them. With no one to criticize or resist, the people are forced to accept the laws of the regime without question. Similarly, in the United States, it is the apathy of the people that allows the government to pass laws without question. The government can do whatever it wants, as long as the people do not protest or question it. This is why it is so important for people to be educated and informed. If people are not aware of their rights, they will not be able to protect them. It is the responsibility of the government to protect the rights of its citizens, and it is the responsibility of the citizens to exercise their rights. The government should not be able to do whatever it wants, without question. It is the responsibility of the people to make sure that their rights are protected, and that the government is not able to do whatever it wants, without question.
The Means And Extremes Of Cage Season

By BOB HORNING

Remember three months ago when those annual basketball games? The Spartans lost to Michigan on Monday night. The next opportunity to see them was in five days.

Monday night they played against the state's No. 2 team, Michigan. The two teams had been our best boys for over a year and a half.

The game was over before it started. The Spartans were outrebounded by the Wolverines, 41-34. They were outscored in the second half, 48-39.

The final score was 100-71, the biggest defeat of the season for the Spartans.

The game started with a bang. The first basket went in, and the crowd roared. Then the second basket went in, and the crowd roared even more. The game was over before it started.

The Spartans' defense was a disaster. The Wolverines scored 71 points in the second half, the most points scored by the Spartans in a home game in the history of the school.

University's Computer Sets Production Mark

Michigan State's 2,900-computer set is the production record for the month of February with an average of 1,000 jobs per day during the month. The computer was purchased by the Central Data Corp., completed at a cost of $25,000 in January, according to Clarence Overholt, registrar of students. It is more than twice the January figure of 1,000.

Walter H. Miller, research professor for the period covered by the computer, purchased the computer for $20,000, and the equivalent of 200 rolls of microfilm of $500 of the rolls was included in the purchase. This represented 18,000 of the rolls. The computer was SOMERD—Dan Strange, Michigan junior, broke an NCAA record and tied an American record in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 59.6. Strange, a member of the 1966 NCAA champion swimming team, was the only Michigan student in the Olympic trials. Strange's time of 59.6 was the same as the American record set by John Nunn in 1965. Strange's time was also 0.1 second faster than the previous NCAA record of 59.7 set by Jack Connolly in 1964.
