MSU Deserves Praise

For Merit Scholar Program

MSU's acceptance of more Negro students is as significant a step forward as any other school in the country for the further completion of the dream of Brown v. Board of Education.

By their presence, the Merit Scholars are showing the world that they are in charge of their own destiny, that they are determined to make the dreams of the past a reality for the Negro student.

STILL, MANY PEOPLE complain that MSU does not have the cultural atmosphere they desire in a small school. There are some Negroes who feel that an MSU education is not as good as it could be.

The Merit Scholars and Honors College are indications of a change and not the end. The more Negro students that can be attracted to the university, the more Negro students that will feel the need to be educated there.

The total number of these activities across all MSU schools is increasing. The University is working hard to improve the educational opportunities for all its students.

The Real Proposal

THE CONTROVERSY over providing MSU Scholars with financial compensation is a matter of principle. The idea of compensating students is not new. Students are paid for their courses and their work is recognized.

In an attempt to rectify this misperception, the proposal was reviewed and any compensation program for ASMSU students will be submitted to a referendum in the near future. This is a step in the right direction.

The function of the referendum is to approve the principle of financial compensation of students. Any compensation program of MSU, the present proposal would allow many more factors and ensure the possibility that the vote would not be critically altered.

THE PROPOSAL, which will come before the second biennium, does not provide for a compensation program for all students. It is designed to make students who are capable of contributing more to their society.

Unhappy Scholar

Cut out all the hoopla and the annual Honors Day ceremonies. I say, no one should be given the title of "Scholar" if he has not accomplished at least a small amount of work. Only the best students should be considered. The committee should be responsible for selecting these students.

The Problem of Besiege Strikers

Struggle In Mississippi

BY JANE CLOUSE (Second of Three Parts)

STATE UNIVERSITY at Starkville, Miss., where they are back at work, is the only institution in the state that is not operating. The work is going strongly because of the absence of the strike. Only black students have left college, and Negroes are also needed to instruct the Negro students. The state universities are finding their methods of working and their students are learning.

The state universities are finding it necessary to hire Negro students to help with the work. This is a step in the right direction.

The University of Mississippi is also striving to provide Negro students with opportunities to learn. The state is making a move to provide Negro students with a higher education.

Bishop Calls For 8-Church "Unification"

WASHINGTON (UP)-Bishop Leslie Robinson Jr., Episcopal bishop of Lansing, Michigan, has called for the "unification" of eight churches in Lansing and the surrounding area.

Robinson, addressing a meeting of the Michigan Episcopal Diocesan Convention, said that the eight churches, which include the First, Second, Third, and Fourth Presbyterian Churches, the First Baptist Church, the First Methodist Church, and the First Congregational Church, should be merged to form a single church.

The bishop said that the move is necessary to "deal with the economic, social, and spiritual needs of the area." He added that the current situation is "unsanitary and unhealthy for the spiritual life of the community."

Schayes was fired after a disappointing start to the season. The 76ers are currently 10-11 and have lost four of their last five games. Schayes was scheduled to coach the 76ers in their next game on Sunday against the Boston Celtics.

Philadelphia—The Philadelphia 76ers are considering using their star basketball player, Earl Schayes, in a movie. The NBA team is negotiating a contract with a major film studio to use Schayes in a role similar to that of a movie star in the movie "Bull Durham." Schayes, who is considered one of the best players in the NBA, is being targeted by the studio as a possible leading man.

The 76ers have expressed interest in the project, which would allow Schayes to gain more exposure and potentially increase his popularity. The team is exploring different ways to utilize Schayes’ star power, including endorsements and appearances in other media.

Hire Robinson To Manage Football Team

Boston—The Boston Celtics have hired Don Robinson as their new football coach. Robinson, who has been an assistant coach at several colleges, was chosen over several other candidates for the position.

Robinson, who is known for his defensive-minded approach, will take over a team that struggled last season. The Celtics finished 4-10 and missed the playoffs.

The Celtics are hoping that Robinson’s defensive focus will help turn around the team’s performance. Robinson’s hiring is seen as a step in the right direction for the franchise.

New Direction for Negro Colleges

When the Negro colleges and universities recognized the need to improve their educational facilities, they were faced with a daunting challenge. Many of the schools were located in rural areas, and the facilities were often inadequate. The president of the Pennsylvania State College of Education, Dr. Fred Danielson, recognized the need for a new approach to education for Negroes.

By a miracle of their own, the Michigan men are not the only ones who have experienced the thrill of the win. The amazing Michigan win was sealed by a last minute touchdown pass by Bob Steel, who shipped the ball to Tim Houghton, who caught it and suddenly the game was over.

The team went on to win the championship, and the Michigan men should be proud of their achievement. The victory was not only for themselves, but also for the University of Michigan, who have been struggling for a long time to break through the wall of success that has been placed in front of them. The Michigan men deserve a big round of applause for their victory, and the University of Michigan can be proud of their team.
