We Used To Call Them CIA Men -- Scigliano

Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) veterans with M.I.6 Project in U.S. were confessions Monday by a former head of the United Kingdom's spy service, that the CIA was more involved in European activities than the British agency is now.

"There have been no secrets in the relationship between the U.S. and Britain in the Intelligence Community," said former CIA Director Richard Helms.

Helms said that the CIA has been involved in European activities for decades, and that the agency has been working closely with British intelligence agencies throughout this period.

"Our efforts have been aimed at preventing terrorist attacks, and we have succeeded in preventing many of them," Helms said.

Helms also said that the CIA has been involved in the fight against terrorism in Europe, and that the agency has been working closely with European governments to prevent terrorist attacks.

"We have been working closely with European governments to prevent terrorist attacks, and we have succeeded in preventing many of them," Helms said.

Railroad Crossing Disrepair Tests Patrons' Patience

Mississippi (Negro) Rebels

Too many times in recent years, normally quiet and peaceful railroad crossings have turned into noisy scenes of some of the worst lawlessness of the South for its trampgangs and other lawbreakers. The same is happening with the crossing on Michigan State University's campus. I am sure that most of you know that the crossing is in disrepair and, at times, it is the scene of a number of accidents. The Michigan State Railroad, which is the owner of the crossing, has not been doing anything about it, and the crossing is now a dangerous one. People are not allowed to cross the tracks, and if they do, they are subjected to severe punishment. The crossing is in a very bad condition, and it is the responsibility of the Michigan State Railroad to make the crossing safe for all who use it. The railroad company should take action to repair the crossing and make it safe for all who use it. The railroad company should also make sure that the crossing is properly maintained at all times.
Among the incidents that occurred during the demonstration were several instances of vandalism and destruction of property. In one instance, a group of Negroes was seen vandalizing a building, and in another, a Negro was charged with carrying a weapon. The demonstration was peaceful, and no injuries were reported.

The demonstration was supported by a number of organizations, including the NAACP and the ACLU. The leaders of these organizations were interviewed by the press, and their statements were published in the newspapers.

The demonstration was a success in that it raised awareness of the issues and brought attention to them. The organizers were pleased with the turnout and the support they received, and they were confident that the demonstration had made a difference.

The demonstration was a turning point in the struggle for civil rights, and it helped to bring about the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Indian Art: A Kaleidoscope Of International Influences

By JOHN BURTON KIRKMAN

There are many characteristics of American Indian art that can be traced back to the cultural influences of various Native American tribes. Some of these characteristics include the use of simple geometric shapes, the incorporation of natural elements such as feathers and bones, and the use of bright colors.

NATO Inadequate, Says French Speaker

France sees a serious danger and demands the Atlantic Alliance's support for the interests of peace and freedom. The statement in French by Foreign Minister Georges April was made Wednesday when a group of foreign ministers met in Paris. France's aim is to have a strong and active NATO that can stand up against the Soviet Union. France feels that the Alliance must be ready to resist any aggression. The Alliance must be able to act quickly and decisively.

France is also concerned about the situation in Vietnam. France believes that the United Nations should be given a greater role in the peace process. France is willing to work with the United States and other allies to bring about a stable and just peace in Vietnam.

Pay Amendment Gets WIC Approval

The pay amendment presented by Professor William A. Reaves, 1967-68 president of the University of Michigan Board of Student Publications, has been approved by the Board of Student Publications. The amendment would increase the pay for student workers by 10 cents per hour.

The amendment, which was presented at the Board's meeting last week, was approved by a vote of 7-0. The amendment would take effect immediately.

Pranksters Install Artillery At Holmes

Some pranksters installed an old Howitzer in the basement of Holmes Hall on campus Monday, just before the weekend. The pranksters said that they did it to get revenge for the recent vandalism.

The Howitzer was moved from a nearby parking lot and placed in the basement. The pranksters said that they hope to cause some disturbance.

The pranksters were arrested and charged with vandalism. They face trial in the Traverse City courtroom.

Union Board's Autonomy Restored In Cabinet Shuffle

The Union Board's autonomy has been restored in a recent shuffle of the University of Michigan's cabinet.

The Union Board, which is responsible for student affairs on campus, has been given more independence in its operations. The changes were made to accommodate the board's growing influence on campus.

The changes were made to ensure that the board's autonomy is protected. The Union Board is an important part of the University of Michigan's democratic structure.

The Union Board has been given more power to make decisions on student affairs. The board will now be able to make decisions on issues such as student fees, housing, and dining.

The changes were made to ensure that the Union Board is able to operate effectively.
