TV Audience Sees Stormy Viet Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower called in a U.S. policy to end the Viet Nam conflict. In a statement to the State Department, the President said he would seek a "substantial" peace settlement. "We are not going to get anything by being在北京," he added. "We must be willing to talk things over, and to seek a peaceful solution, and not to "start another war.""

Makes Mockery of Democracy

OUT OF THE CONFUSION and hemorrhage over the issue of the minimum parking permits for University students, all other public issues in the city have been submerged. The fact of the matter is that the University students, who are by far the largest group of city citizens, have not been heard in this sense. The issue, as the student body sees it, is the all-important issue of a public policy that affects the majority of the students.

In the abstract, such a situation would call for the interest of the majority of the citizens, but there is a certain group of people who are interested in the student body; and there are those who do not care, who have no interest in the matter. The student body feels that they are being treated like a third-class citizen, not only by the city officials, but by the other citizens as well.

To those who ask, "What can the student body do?" We reply, "They should demand an equal vote in the city council, and they should demand a right to have their views heard in the council meetings. They should demand a say in the social and political life of the city. They are a part of the city, and they have a right to be heard.

It is time that the student body made its voice heard in the city council. It is time that the student body demanded an equal vote in the city council. It is time that the student body demanded a say in the social and political life of the city.

Shaw Swing—In Hawaiian

Drivometer, the device that measures total gasoline consumption in a vehicle, is currently under development by the Ostrander Company in the automobile industry. The unit is designed for use in a vehicle and is intended to provide the driver with a comprehensive data base regarding the vehicle’s fuel consumption.

The device is comprised of a series of sensors that monitor various aspects of the vehicle’s operation, including speed, acceleration, and braking. This information is then transmitted to a central processing unit, which calculates the vehicle’s fuel efficiency and provides this data to the driver through a display panel.

The Drivometer is expected to be available for public use in the near future, and it is anticipated that it will become a standard feature in new vehicles. The device is expected to be highly beneficial to drivers, as it will allow them to monitor and improve their fuel efficiency, which can result in significant savings on gasoline costs.

ON DETROIT FREEWAYS

Skin Test To Record Driver Tension

DETROIT—A test to determine the stress level of drivers has been developed by the Michigan State Police. The test is based on the premise that increased levels of stress are associated with increased levels of traffic incidents. The test involves the use of a skin resistance monitor, which is placed on the driver’s hand and measures the electrical resistance of the skin. This resistance changes as a function of the stress level of the driver, and the readings are recorded and analyzed.

The test has been used in several locations on the Detroit freeway system, and the results have shown that drivers who exhibit high levels of stress are more likely to be involved in traffic incidents. The test is currently being evaluated for use in other locations where high levels of traffic stress are anticipated.

Directory Lists Ways For Farm Recreation

Farmers interested in exploring more diversified recreation activities on their farms can find assistance in the Farm Recreation Directory, a new publication of the Michigan State University Extension Service. The directory includes information on a wide range of activities, from simple and inexpensive activities to more expensive and time-consuming activities.

The directory includes information on activities such as fishing, hunting, hiking, and biking, as well as more specialized activities such as bird watching, photography, and painting. It also includes information on where to find recreation areas on farms, as well as information on how to create your own recreation areas. The directory is available for free, and it is recommended that farmers interested in exploring new recreation activities on their farms should obtain a copy of the directory.

Two MSU Students Nabbed With Dope

Two MSU students were arrested this weekend for possession of narcotics. They were stopped by officers near campus for a traffic violation, and during the course of the stop, officers found a small quantity of marijuana in the car. Cassius 'Humble' In London

LONDON — Heavyweight champ Cassius Clay is being modest about his upcoming tilt with the soon-to-be retired Sonny Liston. The former world champion is now being called Cassius Clay Jr. by his fans and world leaders.

Clay has been preparing for his upcoming fight against the towering Liston for the last two years. He has been training in the Catskills, New York, where he has been sparring with the likes of Mahlon Anderson, Jim Brown, and Thaddeus Coburn.

The upcoming fight is scheduled for June 8th at Wembley Stadium in London. Clay is favored by many boxing experts, but Liston's many fans are optimistic about his chances.

Clay's manager, Bob Arum, is confident that his fighter will emerge victorious. "Cassius is in top form and ready to make a statement," Arum said.

On the other hand, Liston's team is not taking any chances. "We are prepared for a fight," said Liston's trainer, Marciano."It will be a hard-fought battle, but Liston will come out on top.

The fight is expected to break all attendance records, with tickets selling out within hours of their release. The event is expected to gross over $5 million.

Stickmen Lose Pair, Gain Forfeit From U-M

ANN ARBOR — The Michigan State University Stickmen, a group of student-athletes who perform at football games and other events, lost two games this weekend but gained an unexpected victory.

On Friday, the Stickmen were defeated by the University of Michigan's Blue Devils, 21-14. The team was led by quarterback Jim Larson, who threw two touchdowns.

On Saturday, the Stickmen faced off against the University of Notre Dame Fighting Irish, but were unable to gain any points. The team's performance was hampered by a series of turnovers and penalties.

Despite the losses, the Stickmen were awarded a forfeit against the Ohio University Bobcats, who were unable to field a team due to a scheduling oversight.

The Stickmen, who typically perform at games, can now use the additional practice time to prepare for their upcoming schedule.
