Buddhists Warn Ky Of All Out Fight
Michigan Week: A Time For Pride, But...

PARADISE, SPEECHES, govern- ment, economics, and the like. It all plays a part in the making of Michigan a progressive state. The Week is a time for all Michiganders to think about the state that they love, and to act accordingly.

AND IN THE last few years, great problems have come into being as an outgrowth of this progress- ing state. But Michigan Week should be a time for all Michiganders to think about the problems that face them and to act accordingly.

PROBLEMS LIKE these must be faced, and they must be faced head-on. But in the meantime, we must continue to work for the betterment of our state. We must continue to work for the betterment of our country.

The Week is a time for all Michiganders to think about the problems that face them and to act accordingly. But in the meantime, we must continue to work for the betterment of our state. We must continue to work for the betterment of our country.

Solution For Pollution: Federal-State Cooperation

GOVERNOR ROMNEY'S RECENT announcement of the beginning of the serious phase of the statewide water pollution control campaign is an indication of the seriousness with which the pollution problem is being treated in Michigan. The Week is a time for all Michiganders to think about the problems that face them and to act accordingly.

CRAICLY, FEDERAL AID is the key to the solution of the pollution problem. The federal government is the main source of the funds that are needed to cope with the pollution problem. The Week is a time for all Michiganders to think about the problems that face them and to act accordingly.

We need an all-out program similar to the present federal-state high- ways program for the solution of the pollution problem. The Week is a time for all Michiganders to think about the problems that face them and to act accordingly.

The FEDERAL GOVERNMENT will continue to support the states in their fight against pollution. The Week is a time for all Michiganders to think about the problems that face them and to act accordingly.

Phase For Miss.

THE WEEKLY PRO TION in the Monday sex. high school boys, girls, and teachers who are participating in the project will be announced. The Week is a time for all Michiganders to think about the problems that face them and to act accordingly.

SAIGON (UPI) -- South Vietnamese guards storm through a major Viet Cong base camp southwest of Saigon Monday, killing 100 and driving 500 more out of their trenches. A 3,000-man attack, the largest since the 1967 Tet Offensive, was launched in the wake of recent U.S. moves to tighten the 12,000-mile perimeter of Saigon.

The 1234th Base Command, an estimated 13,000 strong, including about 12,000 Viet Cong, were caught by surprise Monday morning in a command post raid.

The attack was launched after a 24-hour artillery barrage and a 30-minute rocket attack. Guardsmen fired from trenches and bunkers on the command post and main supply center.

The Viet Cong were reportedly taken by surprise and the American forces were able to capture the command post and main supply center.

Additional details about the attack are not available.
Historian To Lecture On Social Conscience

William H. McNeill, chairman of the Department of History at the University of Chicago, will lecture next week in the auditorium of the School of Science and Engineering.

McNeill will address the question: "Has the American campus gone to pot?"

The lecture will be held on Tuesday, May 11, at 8 p.m.

McNeill is a leading authority in the field of social history and is the author of several books, including "The Birth of Europe" and "The History of Civilization in the Middle Ages." He is known for his emphasis on the role of geography and environment in shaping human history.

New Consciousness Theory

By Tom Walker

Stark News Staff Writer

Edward Sanders, a 20th-century philosopher, developed a theory of consciousness that he called "personal identity." This theory posits that consciousness is a continuous, unfolding process that is not limited by the boundaries of the physical world.

In his lecture, Sanders will discuss the implications of this theory for our understanding of the mind and its relationship to reality.

Has the American campus gone to pot?

The question of whether the American college campus has become a "watered-down" environment for students has been a subject of much debate in recent years.

Some argue that the current emphasis on practical skills and vocational training has diluted the traditional liberal arts education.

Others maintain that this is a natural evolution of higher education, reflecting the changing needs of society.

The lecture will explore these issues and consider the implications for the future of higher education.

Death of Karna Begins Tonight

"The Death of Karna," this summer's Shakespeare production, will open Thursday evening.

The play is a classic drama of ancient India, featuring the tragic figure of Karna.

The performance will be held at the University of Michigan's Power Play Theatre, located on the campus.

The play will run through Tuesday, June 25.

The cast includes well-known actors from the University of Michigan's Department of Drama.

"Death of Karna" is considered a masterpiece of ancient Indian theatre, and is widely regarded as one of the greatest plays ever written.

The play will be accompanied by a series of lectures and discussions on ancient Indian culture.

The lecture will provide an overview of the play's themes, characters, and style, and will place it within the broader context of ancient Indian literature.

The lecture will be held at 7 p.m. in the Power Play Theatre.
