Washington, D.C. - In response to increased demands in South Vietnam for emergency aid, the Army and the General Accounting Office have relaxed controls over the transfer of classified documents.

The move was in line with President Johnson's announcement last Friday in South Vietnam that the United States would begin to reduce its military involvement in the conflict.

In the revised export control list, 10 categories of documents that had been embargoed are now available for exchange with South Vietnamese counterparts.

The categories include, but are not limited to, technical data on military equipment, information on chemical and biological weapons, and data on strategic materials.

The revised export control list was released in response to a request from the South Vietnamese government and the GAO, which had been critical of the previous restrictive policies.

The放松ofthecontrols will permit the exchange of classified information with South Vietnam, allowing for a more effective and coordinated effort in the military campaign.

LBJ asks Congress to up Social Security

President Johnson said today that he expected a two-year budget request for $20 billion to be submitted to Congress.

The proposal, if enacted, would raise Social Security benefits for retired persons and federal employees.

Johnson said the increase was necessary to keep up with the rate of inflation and to ensure that the elderly have a secure retirement.

O'Brien 'expected 'arrest' says Army detective

Captain Michael O'Brien, of the Detroit Police Department, said today that he expected a warrant to be issued for the arrest of Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

O'Brien, who was arrested last week for alleged possession of marijuana, spoke at a press conference and said he expected the warrant to be issued today.

Board backs allocation for 18-year vote

The Michigan State Board of Education has approved a $50 million bond proposal for the construction of a new high school in Grand Rapids.

The bond measure will allow for the construction of a new school, which will have the capacity to accommodate 2,000 students.

Consumers rebelling

The Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry has heard testimony on a proposed bill that would allow consumers to purchase food products directly from farmers.

Supporters of the bill argue that it will give consumers more control over the food they buy and will help to reduce the cost of living.

DIXIE BUREAUCRATS PLAY FEUDAL LORD ROLE IN D.C.

Though Washington, D.C., is the seat of the national government, it has no voice in city government.

The District's government is controlled by Congress—or more specifically by Congressional committees—not by the residents.

There have been numerous attempts to give home rule to D.C. They have all been defeated, however, by Southerners in Congress who object to home rule because the city's population is overwhelmingly Negro.

Uninterested politicians

The situation is aggravated by the fact that two types of politicians, each of whom are especially concerned with the city's affairs, continually take up the committees which control the government.

One is the new congressman, whose lack of senility prohibits him from getting anything done. The other is the incumbent, who takes the job to black home rule proposals and to keep the Negro population in check.

It's now or never, but if the Potomac (which is the river the Potomac) isn't dredged, or if the Potomac's bottom is not strengthened, the Potomac will certainly be dried up.

I have a friend, a very wealthy one, who has a boat in Florida, a house in New York, and a vacation home in the South. He is a very nice guy, and I enjoy spending time with him. However, I do not believe that he is truly happy. I think that he is more interested in maintaining his wealth than in using it to help others.

As a political issue, the brain drain is definitely workable. The second trend is that the army of office workers is no longer a predominately masculine force. The ladies have taken over. However, the problem of the brain drain is not only one of numbers. It is also a problem of quality. The brain drain is definitely workable...

'Unproven' Jimmy Raye keeps Spartans on top

Jimmy Raye had stood in front of the press room last Saturday afternoon and said, "We couldn't have asked more from our quarterback. If we hadn't had him, we wouldn't have won."

The coach had overheard Raye say: "We could have been beaten by Indiana."

Raye's prediction came true Saturday night when the Spartans took on the Texas Tech Red Raiders at San Angelo. In a game in which the 34-17 score seemed to be the real winner, Raye was the hero. The Spartans, the top-rated team in the Big Ten, have run six yards for touchdowns, and the average gain of the team was 132.3 yards.

Robby valuable man to Birds

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles agreed Friday to trade their first baseman, Brooks Robinson, to the Detroit Tigers for a future player as part of a multi-player deal that also sent catcher Steve Boros to the Chicago White Sox. The transactions, which come less than a week after the Orioles eliminated the Tigers from the playoffs, were announced by Orioles General Manager Frank Robinson, who said the deals were made to improve the team's chances of winning the American League East.

Robinson, who has been part of some of the most successful teams in baseball history, is coming off a season in which he posted career highs in batting average (.318), on-base percentage (.393) and slugging percentage (.471). He also led the league in doubles (49) and runs batted in (111), and was second in assists (107) and fielding percentage (.996). Robinson has been a fixture in the Baltimore lineup since 1961, and has played in all 162 games in each of the past two seasons.

The Detroit deal is the second major trade of Robinson's career. In 1969, he was traded from Baltimore to the Baltimore Orioles for catcher Mike Epstein and pitcher Larry Bowa. The Orioles were looking for a way to upgrade their offense, and Robinson helped them win the American League pennant and reach the World Series.

The transactions take effect immediately, and the teams are expected to finalize the deals within the next few days. The Orioles will receive a minor league player from the Tigers, and the White Sox will receive a minor league pitcher from the Tigers.

The Orioles are expected to use the future player they received in the Robinson trade to help them make up for the departure of catcher Steve Boros, who was traded to Chicago as part of the deal. Boros, who has been a reliable catcher for the Orioles over the past three seasons, is expected to be a valuable addition to the White Sox's roster.

The Detroit Tigers, meanwhile, are expected to use the player they received from Baltimore to help them compete for the American League East title. The Tigers, who are currently third in the division, are expected to use the player to help them improve their offense and pitching.

GOP 'afraid of own shadows'

NEW YORK - President Johnson, campaigning in the New York area this week, accused Republicans of stoking fear among Americans to insure their own shadows and afraid of the shadow of progress.

In a speech prepared for the benefit of the New York audience, Johnson said: "The only thing that seems to be bothering the Republican party is their own shadows and afraid of the shadow of progress."

He said that the Republicans were trying to keep America on the cusp.

"If you go to that party," Johnson said, "you will hear their own loudspeaker: 'We're warm-hearted.'

"If you ask their candidates whether they believe in the heart of our wonderful social security plan, they wave placards, and they say, 'We're warm-hearted.'

"And if you ask them whether they want to work to reach the goal of a higher overhead cost, Hayes said, and more people need assistance, they say, 'We're warm-hearted.'

"And if you ask them whether they think it is necessary to have a political philosophy of saying 'no,' Johnson said, 'Conservatives say, 'We're warm-hearted.'

Johnson said that the Republicans did not want to hear the sounds of progress.

Cong POWs found slaughtered as Yanks enter bombed camp

During the five-day battle, the South Vietnamese forces suffered heavy casualties and had to retreat. The Yanks then entered the area and found the bodies of the POWs. According to the LA Times, the bodies were neatly arranged in a line and each had a note pinned to their chest with the name written on it. The Yanks were shocked and appalled by the sight.

The Vietnamese POWs were held in a small cell and were treated very badly. They were forced to work long hours with little food and water. The Yanks found that the Vietnamese soldiers had been captured by the North Vietnamese and were held prisoner for several months. The POWs were given little food and water, and many of them died from malnutrition and disease.

The Yanks were determined to rescue the POWs and bring them back to the United States. They set up a plan to rescue the POWs and were able to free them from their captivity. The POWs were then flown to safety and the Yanks were able to celebrate their success.

At least two-thirds of the foreign students are graduates foreign policy 20 years ago, said August G. Benson, United Nations, and has prompted the Mondale said in a recent Senate.

In the past, foreign students have been encouraged to come to the U.S. because of the large number of refugees and immigrants arriving from abroad. This has created a demand for foreign students to fill the gaps in the educational system. In recent years, however, the U.S. government has placed limits on the number of foreign students allowed to enter the country.

The loss of skilled manpower in the U.S. is a significant problem faced by the government. The U.S. has limited the number of foreign students who can enter the country, but the government has also encouraged foreign students to stay and contribute to the economy. The government has tried to balance the need for skilled labor with the need for a balanced immigration policy.

E. Lansing's tax is 'only way'

In East Lansing's property tax system the kind that can foster growth of small businesses and encourage investment.

According to syndicated columnist Sydney Harris and other critics of our property tax system, it is, "When I put some expensive improvements on my property, for instance, it is only way I made the improvements," he added. "When it is a long-time problem," he said, "I will do it myself." WIC does not support $1,000 aid to 18-vote.

"Women will benefit..." Harris pointed out that the tax system fosters fiscal prudence. He called the tax system a "tool to accomplish as much with so much," he said. "We are a city whose future is as bright as it is now. If the value of the land will increase," he said. "When we attempt to sell his property with improvements of course he can get more for it, so even though his house is higher, it is absolutely worthwhile for him to improve the land." Warden said he has never believed that property taxes should be used to encourage property improvement.

The property tax is strictly for revenue purposes," he stressed. "It is nothing to do with WIC. It is nothing to do with the city council, school board, and the county board of improvements," he commented. "It has nothing to do with speculation," he stressed. LSD: Uses And Abuses Speaking at the Baptist Student Fellowship, Dr. James Feurig, head of the American Medical Association, told of some of the dangers of LSD use, as well as some of its possible benefits. Warden stressed that LSD was not a "magic bullet" for solving social problems.
