Candidates televised

The candidates for the three governing boards, each composed of a student member, a faculty member and an administrator, will be televised for the first time in an effort to increase student awareness of the three governing boards. Each board member will be interviewed separately.

Democrats competing for the three seats on the M. I. A. News and Michigan Daily, Michigan State University, have been running for the last two weeks.

The two refugees are both from the Democratic party, and the candidates are both women.

Wyatt and the 16 other students on trial are being held without bond at the Wayne County Jail.

Wyatt was charged with O'Brien in the incident, and his trial is scheduled for Jan. 31.

Interdependence: goal of U.S. - U.S.S.R. trade

The U.S. has relaxed many of its restrictions on exports to Italy and West Germany to help the European Communist countries. Though this move was based on sound economic principles, there are many Americans who oppose it. They argue that we should not trade with "enemies" since, they reason, the trade will help "enemy." There are two errors in this view.

First, it is based on the assumption that trade will help the Russians at our expense. Implicit in this is the assumption that we can decrease our economic dependence on the Soviet Union.

Better understanding

Most important, though, is the hope that increased trade will lead to better understanding between the two nations. If two countries have extensive trade with each other, they will gain greater efforts to remain on good terms. As nations build up trade and increase the economic dependence on one another, they will make better provisions to remain on good terms. Simply, disturbances become too costly and will be avoided.

By far the most amazing about this issue is the student, who has supplied the college campus with a concern for the common good. The students of ASMSU have been prompted to the action by the interest of the student body, the action in the decision to support the 18-year-old vote. Though this move was under consideration for some time, it was not trade with enemies, but trade with the future that prompted the action.

The slight majority of board members of ASMSU positions have been without a mandate from the student body. This means students have no representation of their own political beliefs.

ASMSU positions have been without representation of the campus support the 18-year-old vote. The editorial, however, pointed out that ASMSU must find a method of gauging the campus support the 18-year-old vote. The editorial, however, pointed out that if the campus support the 18-year-old vote.

Albania has agreed to grant an unspecified amount of aid to North Vietnam, Hanoi radio reported Sunday. Albania is Red China's closest ally.

The broadcast said the aid would come from Albania, as well as from some of the Eastern European countries.

"Some of the aid will be in kind and will be delivered as humanitarian assistance," the radio reported.

The broadcast said the aid would be "to the benefit of the Vietnamese people and the Vietnamese government."
Baltimore (UPI) -- Johnny fifth to lead the Baltimore Colts play of the game in the fourth quarter against the Detroit Lions Sunday in a National Football League game. Karl Sweetan, who returned an interception, turned it into a rout in the second half.

Baltimore scores. Detroit fullback Tom Lorick scored on a five yard run for the latest Ohio victory. Longtime Buckeye fans, who were already thinking up words to use on the occasion, just loved it. Spartans No. 2 on paper only
by LARRY HERNER
State News Sports Editor

A driving maneuver, a number of bad breaks, an extremely frail Jim Harbaugh and Woody Hayes—probably the four biggest breaks the Spartans needed to overcome to win.

With a week to go before this year's game, Michigan State's offensive unit is the only one of the Big Ten that is not in full strength. The Spartans have been out of action since last season's game, and are not expected to be at full strength for the Ohio State game on Saturday.

The line, which has been the Spartans' weakness all year, has been working every day to improve its performance. The defense, which allowed only one touchdown and eleven points in the Michigan game, has also been working on its performance.

The Spartans have been practicing on the same field as the Ohio State game, and are expected to be at full strength for the game.

Field goal gives St. Louis 10-10 tie

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Jim Bakken, St. Louis Cardinals placekicker, kicked a 20-yard field goal late in the fourth quarter to give the Rams a 10-10 tie with the Dallas Cowboys.

Bakken's kick came after the Cowboys had driven to the St. Louis 15-yard line with the score tied at 10-10. He kicked the ball through the uprights with three seconds left in the game as the crowd of 50,673 at the Coliseum roared.

The Cowboys had tied the game at 10-10 with 6:17 left in the second quarter on a 20-yard touchdown pass from Quarterback Don Meredith to Wide Receiver Billy Ray Smith.

The Rams had scored first on a 2-yard touchdown pass from Quarterback Roman Gabriel to Tight End Pat Swilling in the first quarter.

The game was played in below-freezing temperatures, with the wind blowing at 20-25 miles per hour.

The next game on the schedule for the Rams is at Green Bay on Sunday.

Rain dampens uniforms but not the band's spirit

The Ohio State University Marching Band and the Michigan State Marching Band both presented remarkable performances despite the rain and mud.

The Ohio State band, led by their excellent drum Major, performed a variety of songs, including the Ohio State fight song and other popular selections.

The Michigan State band, under the direction of their drum Major, also performed a variety of songs, including the Michigan State fight song and other popular selections.

Both bands stood in formation on the field, with their uniforms drenched in mud and rain. The Michigan State band, in particular, showed great spirit, despite the harsh conditions.

The Ohio State band, also showed great spirit, with their band members smiling and cheering through the rain and mud.

The Michigan State Rugby Club went to its first fall game Saturday afternoon for its season opener against the University of Michigan. A large group of fans, about 500, showed up to watch the game.

Following a 2-0 loss last week to the 'University of Michigan, the Michigan State Rugby Club looked to bounce back against the Wolverines. Michigan State had the better of the first half of the game, but was unable to find the end zone. Michigan State's defense, however, proved to be a challenge for the Wolverines, holding them to only one point in the first half.

The second half saw Michigan State take control, scoring two touchdowns to put the game out of reach for the Wolverines. The final score was 10-0 in favor of Michigan State. The victory was a much-needed boost for the Michigan State Rugby Club, which had been struggling in recent games.

The Michigan State Rugby Club is one of the top clubs in the nation and is considered one of the best teams in the world. The team has a strong history of success, having won numerous national championships and developing many future professional rugby players.

The Michigan State Rugby Club is coached by Norm Saari, who has been with the team for over 10 years. Saari is a former professional rugby player and has a wealth of experience in the sport.

The team's next game is scheduled for next weekend, when they will face another tough opponent. The Michigan State Rugby Club is looking to continue its winning streak and stay at the top of the national rankings.
Graduate school entrance outlined

Most any student who wants to go to graduate school today can get in to one of the programs that Jerry A. Cowen, adviser to the MSU Board of Trustees, recommends. "Students should apply to a number of graduate programs," he advised.

"Several types of financial support are available," Cowen said. An essay describing why the student wants to study and what he expects to do with the degree is enclosed.

"The college and the graduate program will have to support the student," Cowen said. "Students must have the grades to get into graduate school."

When applying to graduate schools, students should ask for an application for admission, catalogue, information on graduate programs and financial aid.

Society in economics at MSU has an endowed fund to sponsor a speech at 7 p.m. April 25. Waxer will speak about campus life.

Leon Wheeler doesn't consider himself an actor, but he has the musical career.

"I had no plans to take the role," Wheeler said. "I just got the opportunity."

The American Council on Institutional Research has completed a study of graduate schools, faculty and admissions procedures, according to Cowen.

Students planning to attend graduate school should contact the graduate dean for a graduate record document.

For a college to require the graduate record exam, it will not accept your application. "We don't want your application," Cowen said. "We want to see your academic record."

The Covenant Students Fellowship is available, Cowen said. The fellowship is available to students who have received financial aid.

"The fellowship is for students who have received financial aid," Cowen said. "It is a fellowship for students who have received financial aid."

Course rating under way

B. DON SOKCOL State News Staff Writer

In recent years, students have expressed a strong desire for the academic programs and courses they take to be evaluated. Last year, ASMSU sponsored a course and teacher appraisal program which was well received. This year, the program will be expanded so that all ASMSU sponsored courses will be subject to evaluation.

The fellowship appointments, which are determined by nominations from the faculty, give the program its academic credibility. The program is designed to provide a means by which students can give feedback to the faculty concerning the quality of instruction.

The local law enforcement agencies will be the ones to police the regulations. The program is designed to be a two-year program, and it is expected to be a two-year program.

That's larger than most of the towns in the country -- perhaps larger than your own home town. And that's how many we have at MSU this fall on the East Lansing campus. How do we deal with such a large group? Easy! We do our very best to treat each of you as the only one.

That is the phrase used by MSU President John E. Hannah Jr. in his annual address to the campus community.

That's not to say that every student is treated as an individual. The university has a population of 30,000 students, including those enrolled in its colleges of Arts and Letters, Agriculture and Engineering, and Business Administration.

Yet, each student is treated as an individual, with special attention paid to their needs and interests. The university has a comprehensive student services system, including a counseling center, health services, and academic advising.

That's why we're able to offer so many opportunities for students - from research and internships to study abroad programs and service-learning projects.

That's why we have so many student organizations - from the Student Government Association to the MSU Alumni Association and the MSU Foundation.

That's why we're able to support so many of our students - from scholarships to loans to grants. We want to make sure that everyone has the opportunity to achieve their goals.

That's why we're so proud of our graduates - from the students who go on to successful careers to those who continue their education at prestigious institutions around the world.

That's why we're committed to excellence in our teaching, research, and service. We want to provide the best possible education for our students and to contribute to the advancement of knowledge in our fields.

That's why we're so grateful for our supporters - from our alumni and friends to our corporate partners and funding agencies.

That's why we're so excited about the future - from the new academic programs and initiatives to the new facilities and buildings.

That's why we're so proud of MSU - from the history and traditions to the values and principles that guide us.

That's why we're so proud to be part of the East Lansing community - from the shops and restaurants to the parks and trails.
