temporary evicted because of green dye dumped from a truck. The dye was a result of a pollution incident in a nearby industrial area.

The strike was the 15th to be announced in the Detroit area, following a series of labor disputes that have been occurring throughout the city. The strike began with the issue of a demand for a secretarial position, which was rejected by the employer. A strike settlement was reached, with both parties agreeing to continue the dispute through an arbitration process.

The strike was set up by labor union local 13 of the Teamsters Union, the largest union in the Detroit area, and was called in response to the company's failure to meet the demands of the workers.

Johnston received the report during his first days in New York. It is not clear how the report was obtained. The report was said to contain the details of a series of meetings and discussions between the company and the union, which were aimed at resolving the dispute.

The report is expected to be presented to the company's board of directors, who are due to meet next week.
Paperwork costs money, but $18 is profiteering

It may be a woman's prerogative to change her mind, but when Mrs. Mark Hardwick, M.S.T., changed her mind and decided to drop 5 of her classes, leaving her a total of 4 credits (retailing at $83), she wrote the State News a week of classes, two days of 8 credits (retailing at $105) had been admitted in his place, a difference of $36.

Mrs. Hardwick dropped the credits after a week of classes and two days before the drop period ended. She wrote the State News Monday.

Official University policy relieves only 50 per cent refund to students who drop courses after registration has ended.

Reasons?

Two reasons, given for this high Administration official's action:

1. It is a lot of trouble because much paperwork is involved.
2. The 50 per cent is kept as a punitive measure. If a student takes a course at all, he is often keeping another student from taking that section. If a student drops a course of school altogether, it turns out that another student could have been admitted but was not given the opportunity to do so.

One immediate question is: Since when do paperwork charges for dropping five credits come to $18?

Punishment?

Charging 50 per cent as a punitive measure is more believable. But what about the hundreds of full-time students who can drop a course and face no "punishment"?

If a student drops a course after a few weeks of the term, he should have to pay for exams rendered. But if he drops a course before the end of the drop period he should not have to pay $18 for "paperwork" or "punishment."

The inequities of the system are clear, if the reasons given are true. One wonders, however, the truth of the reasons.

Mrs. Hardwick calls the practice "punishment" and the Business Office at the students' expense.

One cannot help but agree.

WANT TO KNOW HOW'S AND WHY'S OF MSU?

If you could grab a University trustee by the neck and demand an answer to any one question -- what would that operation be worth?

The State News is not advocating violence upon the person of a trustee -- but it is advocating asking the questions.

Four candidates for seats on the MSU Board of Trustees will appear on WMSW-TV Channel 13 in debate Monday evening before the election Nov. 5.

State News editor Kyle C. Kerby and editors of the Michigan Daily and Wayne State Collegian will get a chance to grill them during the "Meet the Press" style show.

Their questions can cover anything from the candidates' qualifications and philosophies to their opinions on academic freedom for students.

This is a departure from traditionalpolitical addresses. seldom have faculty members and students been able to confront trustees seriously with questions about the office they hold. Why both have the opportunity; the candidates' answers will be televised. Students and faculty are encouraged to send questions to Editor Kerby at the State News.

If one is interested in how and why the University is run as it is, the opportunity provided is an invaluable one.

Miss America visits Lansing

By Ellen Turley
State News Staff Writer

It's pretty, pretty and a total charmer, the new queen of the Miss America pageant. She's Janet Jayroe, a Junior at Oklahoma City University, who has been touring the country since her coronation last week.

On Oct. 6 she was at the Lansing Symphony Orchestra, Oct. 16 she was the Lansing Symphony Queen for the 50th season.

Miss America presided at the orchestra Monday night, and even their brave conductor, Dr. Wallace Jensen, said she's "gorgeous!"

"Oh, I just can't wait to get to Lansing!" Janet Jayroe told the orchestra that she's got some ideas about how to promote this year's Community Chest campaign.

"I'd like to have a campaign in every state for the Community Chest drive. I'll try to get my friends to help me with that, and I really do think it's important to consider the needs of others." She added that it was nice to have so many people in the orchestra.

Earthquake strikes Peru

WASHINGTON -- The State Department and Peru and the American citizens were killed elsewhere in the earthquake that struck Tuesday.

At her death, she was the queen of an industrial empire with beautiful-faceted facades and manufacturing plants in Europe, Africa, Australia and South America as well as all over the United States.

She helped to modernize American automobile, 125 years ago, and she was under the age of 22, a significant achievement in her own country.

Hospital under investigation

WASHINGTON -- A major psychiatric hospital in the state has been closed indefinitely after a patient's death.

The patient, who was a resident of the hospital, died during surgery last week.

Social Security increases fail

WASHINGTON -- Congressmen considered an increase in Social Security benefits as a part of the package last week.

The House Ways and Means Committee failed to agree on a bill.

The committee will meet Wednesday for another try, but the approaching midterm of Congress may make it difficult to pass.

It is estimated that of two rival bills each other of maneuvering to avoid a showdown.

350 nurses boycott Chicago hospital

CHICAGO -- Cook County Hospital, the nation's largest public hospital, took a 2-day medical strike Wednesday, the first such walkout in the hospital's history. The hospital was closed to all non-employees, and the nurses' union said it would continue the strike until further notice.

The nurses' union, the Illinois Federation of Nurses and Hospital Employees, said it would continue the strike until a new contract is reached. The union has been negotiating with the hospital for several weeks.

FBI snuffs bribe attempt of LSU's starting backfield

The FBI announced today that Master Sergeant George W. Briggs, an LSU football player, has been charged with attempting to bribe members of the LSU football team. Briggs, it was alleged, tried to bribe the players to influence the outcome of a game. The bribe attempt was foiled by the FBI, which acted on a tip from a reliable source.

The FBI investigation began after a confidential source reported that Briggs had offered to pay $500 to each member of the LSU football team to lose the game. The bribe attempt was foiled when the FBI discovered that Briggs had gathered the players and attempted to bribe them. The bribe was refused by the players, who instead reported the attempt to the authorities.

The LSU football team is composed of some of the best players in the country, and the bribe attempt could have had serious consequences. The FBI has offices in many cities, and they work closely with local law enforcement agencies to prevent crimes like this from occurring.

The LSU football team is preparing for their next game, and the FBI is working closely with the team to ensure that the bribe attempt does not have any impact on the team's performance. The FBI is grateful to the confidential source who reported the bribe attempt, and they hope that other people will come forward with information about potential crimes.

The FBI is committed to protecting the public and preventing crimes like this from occurring. They work closely with local law enforcement agencies to ensure that justice is served and that people are held accountable for their actions. The FBI is proud of their work and is committed to serving the public.

The FBI is always on the lookout for potential crimes, and they work closely with local law enforcement agencies to prevent crimes like this from occurring. They are grateful to the confidential source who reported the bribe attempt, and they hope that other people will come forward with information about potential crimes.

Conformity could ruin country

By MIKE BROGAN

Conformity is a good meal to serve on the service table (and it's free too), but it's bad news for students and others who believe in individuality. It's bad news if you're a student, and it's bad news for society as a whole. Conformity is the enemy of creativity, and it's the enemy of progress. It's the enemy of change, and it's the enemy of growth. It's the enemy of all that makes life worth living. Conformity is the enemy of all that is good, and it's the enemy of all that is right. Conformity is the enemy of all that is true, and it's the enemy of all that is beautiful. Conformity is the enemy of all that is just, and it's the enemy of all that is fair. Conformity is the enemy of all that is honest, and it's the enemy of all that is sincere. Conformity is the enemy of all that is noble, and it's the enemy of all that is noble.

Park-recreation bond issue set for East Lansing vote

By BEVERLY HALL

East Lansing voters will find promises and promises of a new recreation and community park in the fall bond election. In the November 8 election, the 1,800 East Lansing residents will choose whether to spend $115,000 to purchase and develop the 10 acres near the north part of the city. The bond will be used to purchase the parcel and construct a community swimming pool and recreational park.

The park is a key part of the city's long-range plan for recreation. The park and recreation facilities have been carefully planned and designed to meet the needs of the community. The park will provide a safe and pleasant environment for people of all ages to enjoy themselves and have fun. It will be a place where families can gather and enjoy the outdoors.

Water sports would be the main attraction. The pool would include a shallow, sloping area for children and a deeper, more challenging area for adults. The park would also offer a playground, picnic areas, and restrooms. The park would be open to the public 7 days a week, 12 hours a day.

In the fall of 1967, the new pool and park would be ready for use. The city would hire a professional staff to operate the pool and park, and they would be responsible for maintaining the facilities and ensuring the safety of the public. The city would also hire a manager to oversee the operation of the pool and park, and the manager would be responsible for making sure that the facilities are clean and well-maintained.

The bond issue will be placed on the November 8 ballot. If approved, the bond will be paid for over a period of 20 years, with the city collecting taxes to pay off the debt.

If you have any questions or concerns about the bond issue, please contact the City of East Lansing at 544-1111. We look forward to hearing from you and thank you for your support of the park and recreation bond issue.
