Congressional conflict
on tax-paid campaigns

WASHINGTON -- Approved by Congress and signed by the President, the most recent tax cut is designed to benefit upper and lower income groups alike. For those who don't yet have income taxes to pay, it will save them from the twisting gears of the tax code.

The actual savings will depend on how they are taxed, but upper income taxpayers will benefit more than lower income taxpayers.

The Senate has already favored the measure but the House has not yet acted on it.

Lawmakers on tax-cutting legislation

WASHINGTON -- President Johnson signed the legislation, although the House of Representatives did not all like the tax cut. honorable members were opposed to the Senate's version.

The administration, in its official letter to the Senate, praised the Senate's version, calling for the immediate fullness of the full credit.

The Senate, in its version, added that the Senate's version was more generous than the House's version.

The Senate version also included a provision for the extension of the tax cut if the economy improves.

In addition to helping a man map out his career, the Army said the program held the promise of better health care and increased education opportunities.

The new option will be available starting in January.

Four demonstrators convicted last March of breaking in to the White House in Washington, D.C., were released from the United States Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, and were freed.

The sentence in the case was one year in prison and a fine of $250.

In电路 Court decision

WASHINGTON -- Last summer's sharp rise in retail bread and milk prices was caused by federal policy and private actions, said a federal judge in circuits.

But not all the rises were caused by federal policy and private actions.

The judge found that the price increases were caused by both federal policy and private actions.

Supervised housing blocks progress

A student committee will begin to check, gather, opinions and attempt to determine whether supervised housing blocks should be revised or eliminated. The study is expected to last two terms. The committee's findings will first go to the Off-Campus Council, then to ASMSU and finally to the Faculty Committee on Housing.

For some time now, the problem of what to do about the off-campus housing situation has plagued the Student Affairs Office. Some believe that the blocks do not and could not possibly check all such facilities. It stopped. It did not. TheDashaes approval and simply labeled themselves supervised, according to the landlord's word. Generally, much of supervised housing now is not.

There was a great deal of discussion and opposition. The $1,000,000 is for the campus activity, which is the upgrading of the residence halls. To understand the proposed managers was hired. Little luck had been, however, in finding other apartment owners to talk with the same plan, and since then, no other plan for improving supervised housing has been conceived.

Liberalize rules

Considering this poor state of supervised housing, the best solution to the problem is to liberalize the off-campus housing rules, supervised housing should be eliminated and regulations governing unsupervised housing relaxed.

We doubt that all students from sophomores up would push off-campus if the rules were liberalized—especially when the student action takes effect. In reality, the situation of the rules two years ago did not, produce, initially, this much confusion or fear. Secondly, while the dormitories have certain limitations, their other better qualities will continue to attract students.

It was hoped that student government, by its well-reasoned representation to the Michigan Legislature receive a forthright stand, a pioneering step into a new era of student government activities (which they don't), desire to have a direct voice in all student matters to be conveyed to the board.

But the board did make a genuine attempt to communicate with its constituents by a now ancient deed, which has been conceived.

Jury selection slow in Sheppard retrial

CLEVELAND, Ohio — The state ended with 48 prospective jurors in February after hearing arguments on the retrial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, but still had no jury in March. The final selection process is expected to conclude in May, leaving Sheppard in prison for the rest of his life.

Sheppard, who was convicted of murdering his wife, Marilyn, in 1954, has been in prison ever since. The state and federal courts have twice overturned his conviction, but the Ohio Supreme Court declined to hear his latest appeal.

Dear Abby,

Ladies, what time do I call my girl, she's either "hot in" or "not interested.

Last week I called her 25 times and couldn't even make a coffee date. I'm sort of hard to pin down, when I started dating a guy who owns a Dodge Coronet. Now she goes to parties with him, dances, football games, etc. Do you think I should call her again, or should I forget her and break her heart?

I have yet to tell a football game where the intensity of the action 40 yards below me wasn't broken by a heaven sent 40 yard field goal.

"Number 20, please call your exchange immediately!"

You can turn the action of a match into a theater. Fourth quarters, big plays, and overtime games are the favored fare at the International Center.

Two weeks ago, the action was an empty shell. The score had moved to Columbus, Ohio, and those who didn't know what to plan were concerned. The elements would have a significant impact.

MSU's fantastic soccer defense is comprised of, from left to right, Tom Belloli, Peter Hane, Bert Jakobies, and Nick Wiry. They have allowed six goals in 30 games. They could break the NCAA record of six goals allowed in a season.

The game will take place at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, October 26, 1966, in the MSU Indoor Soccer Stadium.

Soccer defense shines; two goals in six games

By DENNIS CHASE

The second home game of the season saw MSU's soccer team in action against Eastern Michigan University. The game was played on the MSU Indoor Soccer Stadium.

The match was played in front of a capacity crowd of 5,000 fans. The temperature was 60 degrees, and the humidity was 80 percent.

The game was scored by Eastern Michigan University's Greg Martin, who scored both goals of the game. The first goal was scored in the 14th minute of the game, and the second goal was scored in the 43rd minute.

The MSU soccer team is led by coach Jack Adams. The team is currently ranked 16th in the nation.

The MSU Indoor Soccer Stadium is located on the campus of Michigan State University, in East Lansing, Michigan. The stadium has a seating capacity of 5,000 fans.

The MSU soccer team is one of the top teams in the nation, and they are always a tough opponent.

Olympics for U.S. birthday?

The government's interest in the Olympics has been discussed in several meetings. The government has been considering whether or not it should support the U.S. in the Olympics.

Some have suggested that the U.S. should support the Olympics as a way to promote national pride and unity. Others have argued that the U.S. should focus its resources on other priorities, such as education and healthcare.

The government has not yet made a decision on whether or not it will support the U.S. in the Olympics. However, the government has indicated that it will consider the issue further.

Sailing Club wins regatta

The MSU sailing team won the regatta held at the University of Michigan. The team consisted of six members, including two coaches.

The team worked hard throughout the season to prepare for the regatta. They practiced every day, and they were able to bring home the trophy.

The team's success is a testament to their hard work and dedication. They are a model for other teams to follow.

Physicians take Board exams

Today's physicians Kashmiri training in Michigan will complete 20 hours of medical lectures to become their licenses to do so.

The exams, which began March 1, were given by the Board of Examiners to letters for the Michigan Board of Medical Examiners, in Detroit, Michigan, for the purpose of licensing doctors in the state. The Board of Medical Examiners is the licensing body for doctors in Michigan, and its purpose is to ensure that doctors are qualified to practice medicine in the state.

The exams were given in four parts: a written examination, an oral examination, a practical examination, and a case study examination. The written examination is given to all physicians, while the oral and practical examinations are given only to physicians who are not yet licensed. The case study examination is given to all physicians, regardless of whether they are licensed or not.

There are strict rules concerning these exams, including a 10-day notice before the exam, a 30-day grace period after the exam, and a 90-day period after the exam before any further action can be taken.

Physicians who fail the exams must reapply for licensure and take the exams again. They may also apply for exemptions or waivers of the exams, depending on their circumstances.

For information about the exams, contact the Michigan Board of Medical Examiners at 313-432-3137.
British professor 'visiting' in history

By DIANE DURRCHER

Applying for the "magny-"sensitive"x-ray generating electron to deliver the beam to impossible heights, English-major English, that is, a very British accent, goes to Oxford, to deliver a lecture on Greek and Roman history.

"I'm in Oxford, where the students are very serious about their studies," the professor said. "And they're very serious about their uniforms." He was wearing a three-piece suit, with a red tie and a yellow handkerchief.

In Oxford, the professor is a regular at the "Analytical"—a coffee shop that doubles as a lecture hall. He often delivers his lectures from behind a whiteboard, with a black marker in his hand. The students, he says, are "very sharp" and "very passionate." He also enjoys the "analytical" aspects of the lectures, such as the "logical" arguments and the "rigorous" proofs.

The professor is also known for his "unorthodox" teaching methods. He often uses "imagery" and "metaphors" to explain complex concepts. For example, he once described the "origin" of the universe as a "huge, hot, dense ball of gas," which he called the "Big Bang." The students, he says, "loved it."
