There is something terrifying when one reads about a death, particularly if the victim was young and his life was cut short through participation in something that he loved. It could have been my kid. As a mother, when I read about my son returning home from practice, it could have been my brother, my best friend, my husband.

And for a teammate, it could have been me.

Jones running hard to regain old form

By ED BRULL
State News Sports Writer

It's a funny thing, sometimes you just don't ever even notice it, until it happens. Spencer Co-Captain and halfback Clint Jones said that's what happened to him last season. "I didn't even notice that I gained 787 yards until after the game," Jones said. "It was a total surprise."

Coach Darrell Royal pointed out that Jones had been having a good season prior to his season-ending injury, and that in the year that he had been a regular on the football team, Jones had proved himself to be a valuable contributor.

Jones had been a solid all-around player for the

Vols, and his performance in the last game of the season against Georgia has been instrumental in his decision to return for another year.

The Vols, who lost to Georgia 12 over North Carolina, 21-0 last week, have a tough game against Oklahoma State this week.

Oklahoma State, who defeated Kansas 31-10 last month, has been strong in recent years, and this game will be a test of the Vols' ability to compete in the Big Eight Conference.

Jones, who has been a model of consistency throughout his career, says that he is looking forward to the challenge of against Oklahoma State.

"I think it will be a great game," Jones said. "We've been working hard all season, and I know we're ready.

I think we'll be able to handle Oklahoma State."

The Vols, who are currently in fourth place in the Big Eight Conference, are looking for their first conference win, and Jones says that the team is determined to get it.

"I think we can win this game," Jones said. "We have the talent to do it, and we're going to give it our best shot."

Toby Smith has a few weeks with his brother and father in the NFL before he heads off to the Big Ten, where he's expected to make a mark as an outstanding player.

"I want to play football here," Toby said. "I want to play here, and I want to make it on my own." Toby's father, Bubba, and the football coach, Bill Rutledge, meet him as an outstanding player.

"Toby wants to make his own way at Michigan State," Rutledge said. "He is proud of his own brother, Bubba, and the football team." Toby had played at State, but had made it clear to the coaching staff he wanted to make it on his own, rather than his brother's name.

"I'll agree with Toby's potential," said Coach Rutledge. "As he was a standout at the Texas high school all-star game and had college offers from schools like Texas Tech and Southern Methodist University." Toby said, "I was not going to the University of Michigan.

"I know what I want to be, and I'm not going to settle for anything less," he said. "I want to be the best, and I want to make it on my own." Toby's brother, Bubba, and his father, Willie Rae, are proud of Toby's decision.

SOC computer dance matches 125 couples

Computers are whirling and IBM cards are being shuffled in preparation for the Student Off-Campus (SOC) Computer Dance this weekend.

Bill McCullough, SOC vice-president, said 125 couples will be attending the third annual dance, held that the names have been matched and the young men will receive the names of potential dance partners on the campus this week.

The Computer Dance held in the fall of 1964 was the first such activity in the Big Ten. It was based on the national Collegiate Dating Game format.

McCullough emphasized that this dance is independent of any national organization.

Bob Carey, of WLS radio, along with a Lansing deejay, "Rainy Days," will announce the music. The Ballroom Wagons, a four-piece group, will be featured from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. and will be held in the Union Ballroom.

SOC is the "social section" of Off-Campus Council (OCC), an alumni affiliate.

Rainy Days at Shaw Hall

The Rainy Days, a rock and roll band from Detroit, will enter the competition tonight. The date will be determined at 8 p.m. The band will enter through the Union Ballroom.

The group will meet in front of the I.M. building for sign-ups. Approximately 125 minimums to part in last year's competition.

Draft boards to tighten deferment requirements

By JEFF STONE

Local draft boards in the Lansing area are tightening the rules that will allow men to be deferred from the draft. These changes were made to comply with the new draft law that went into effect in February.

There are four categories of deferments that will be given to men. They are: 1) education deferments for full-time students, 2) medical deferments for men who are physically or mentally handicapped, 3) religious deferments for men who are members of a religious group that consciiously object to war and military service, and 4) conscientious objector deferments for men who believe in the war but are not prepared to fight.

The draft boards will be given greater authority to issue deferments, and the decision of the draft board can now be appealed to the local draft board. The new law also allows draft boards to consider the opinions of the man's employer and his family in making their decision.

The draft boards will also be given the authority to review the medical records of men who are seeking deferments. This will allow the draft boards to make more informed decisions about who is and is not eligible for deferments.

Display features foreign instruments

A suit of drums, finger pianos, rattles, miniature Balaphones, whistles, timbales and bones—contributions to music from around the world—are being displayed in the International Center Tuesday night student board meeting.

In addition to these display cases, which have been constructed by the students, Mrs. Victor Marti, display arranger, has added a single drum and a miniature Balaphone, an instrument owned by the library.

The Nigerian students add to the appeal of these displays by playing various instruments designed to accompany their songs. In a gourd are rhythm instruments designed to be struck to create the sounds of a drum. The small string instrument of the world is a gourd with a small piece of gut tied to the neck and struck to create the sounds of a whistle. The brass whistle, a bamboo string instrument, is used by the Native Americans and is also played in the display cases.

STUDENTS SPEAK UP

In a letter carried in this paper last week, Robert W. Galchin, Mobilene Chairman, asked Edward Kokaia, Michigan State student: "What's wrong with business?" Now, Mr. Kokaia tells him.

This exchange is part of a continuing, unique dialogue between campus and community. A dialogue to see what students think, and what business thinks. To examine facts and fables. To see, from two points of view, where there's room for constructive change. Similar dialogues between Mr. Galchin and students are taking place in over 20 campus newspapers throughout the country.

Mr. Galchin will tackle Mr. Kokaia's remarks in subsequent issues of this paper. And, Mr. Kokaia will have a chance to react to his answer. The dialogue will continue as long as there are points to be made.

Hopefully, this exchange of ideas will help resolve existing differences and unite us as a whole for greater mutual respect and understanding.
