Campaign funds tax bill is slipped

It costs a lot of money to elect a president or other public official. While millions of the national political committees will watch as the costs of their expensiture, it is usually estimated that about $12 million is spent on a presidential campaign. This leaves the parties and candidates in an extremely vulnerable position. They need money in order to campaign, but they can get this money only from a few wealthy men or from the few men who have the contacts or the talent to raise funds.

Strategic position

These men are then in the strategic position of controlling the purse strings of get-office holders re-elected, and the officials are locked into their demands. In one of its last acts, the 58th Congress passed a law aimed at solving this problem. This bill provides that each candidate will have the option to mark a box on his income tax form which will allow $1 of his tax money to be put into a general fund to cover the costs of Presidential campaigns.

Every four years the money in the fund will be divided equally between the two major parties, a minority party is eligible to share in the funds if it polled 5 per cent or more of the vote in the last election.

The bill was a hastily conceived and hastily passed measure, molto important, because the Congress was weary and eager to adjourn. It was not given the consideration due such an important matter.

The most glaring defect in the bill is its treatment of minority parties. By requiring third parties to poll 5 per cent of the vote, it virtually eliminates them from the fund. A minority party has not received the magic 5 per cent for over 40 years.

Equal protection

This disregard for minority parties may be the downfall of the bill. If it can be proved that the bill prevents third parties from receiving equal protection under law, as guaranteed under the Fourteenth Amendment, then it will be unconstitutional.

Even if it is declared constitutional, four more factors make the bill inadequate.

First, all the money is to be divided equally. If more than one Democrat contributed to a Republican campaign, the bill would be of no help to these ephemeral parties, for it stipulates that they must have polled 5 per cent in the previous election to be eligible for any take part in the general fund.

Third, the new fund reserving all of the benefits of the bill will make it possible to carry out the already excessive presidential expenditure for all state constitutional referenda.

S. Korea seeks U.S. grain

Seoul, South Korea — President Chung Hee Park will try to take up the grain problem with President Nixon in Washington this week.

The United States has pledged 300,000 tons of grain to South Korea, and Seoul has already shipped 9,000 tons. However, the United States is not providing the promised grain.

The grain will be shipped to South Korea by the Panama Canal and will be used to feed the population of South Korea, which is estimated to be 20 million.

S. Korea's need for grain is significant, as the country is facing economic difficulties and needs to boost its agricultural production.

Dr. Zhivago

Maudlin script mars Hollywood roadshow

By JIM CLARK

State News Reviewer

While the thirty years since Lev Tolstoy's novel was serially dramatized in the 1940's have been productive of numerous interpretations of its spiritual and political themes, no film version has captured the authentic spirit of the novel. For this reason, the recent roadshow presentation of Zhivago in the form of a 302-page novel, is an important film project. The novel is also the subject of a recent roadshow film, and is available for rental from the National Film Board of Canada.

The novel is a touching story of a Russian revolutionary who, despite his efforts, is unable to achieve his goal of a free and just society. The protagonist, Yuri Zhivago, is a complex character who is torn between his love for his wife and his idealistic beliefs. The novel is set in the midst of the Russian Revolution and the Russian Civil War, and it is a powerful testament to the human spirit in the face of oppression.

The novel is also a meditation on the nature of art and culture. The protagonist, an actor, is a symbol of the artist's struggle to maintain his integrity in a corrupt and oppressive society. The novel is a powerful exploration of the relationship between art and politics, and it is a testament to the power of art toshrink the boundaries of society and to inspire change.

As a matter of fact, students have almost as much freedom on campus as the rest of the nation. This is because the University of California has adopted a policy of freedom of speech and expression. This policy, which was established in the mid-1960's, has been upheld by the courts in numerous cases. In the famous case of Shaw v. Utah, the Supreme Court ruled that the University of California's policy of freedom of speech and expression was constitutional.

The novel is also a powerful exploration of the relationship between art and politics. The protagonist, an actor, is a symbol of the artist's struggle to maintain his integrity in a corrupt and oppressive society. The novel is a testament to the power of art to shatter the boundaries of society and to inspire change.

Yugoslav policy profitable

The Yugoslavian foreign policy of nonalignment is going to be the best of two worlds, a member of the American Federation of Arts said Thursday.

"We can't help but hope that Yugoslavia will be the best of two worlds," he said.

"Yugoslavia is a non-aligned country and thus does not have to worry about the post-war tensions that the world has been experiencing." He went on to explain that Yugoslavia has a unique role in the world today.

"Yugoslavia is a member of the United Nations and thus has a voice in international affairs," he continued.

"Yugoslavia is also a member of the European Community and thus has a voice in European affairs," he added.

"Yugoslavia is a member of the Mediterranean Community and thus has a voice in Mediterranean affairs," he concluded.

"Overall, Yugoslavia is a member of the best of two worlds," he said.

"I think it would be disarming for the Yugoslav foreign policy to be described as "Yugoslavia is a non-aligned country and thus does not have to worry about the post-war tensions that the world has been experiencing.""

Odds against Pakistani growth

by PAT GODWIN

Argentina's food production is not keeping pace with its growing population, and the situation is being complicated by a serious food crisis that temporarily has created a food deficit.

Despite these and other problems, Pakistan has made great progress since 1947, Khan said.

The $205 million system has been stabilized and has now been extended to another £100 million for new land.

The $205 million system has been extended and education has been improved.

In 1947, the East Pakistan government was faced with a chronic famine. Mr. Khan, visiting East Pakistan, listed several causes of the problem.

(1) A British-created and maintained irrigation system which was not properly maintained.

(2) The inadequate food supply, which was due to the British system of not keeping pace with its growing population.

"Press unfair" says econ prof

BY CHUCK O'CONNOR

Union lobbyists were listened to by the press and said their sentiments were directly based on the press.

By the time the press release was decided upon, Larry Larrowe had already announced it.

In July, 1992, an appeal of his decision was made in a national magazine.

Larrowe's, a former president of the local ACLU chapter, was quoted in the defense of press fairness in his successful bid for re-admission to MSU.

"Je m'appelle Barbra."

"Bonjour, Barbra."

"Je chante."

"Oui, oui, vous certainement."

"En français."

"Bonjour, Barbra."

"Well, deux chansons, anyway."

"Et le reste de vous?"

"En américain, naturellement."

"Yippee!"

"Merci."

Open door rule for scholarship interviews

Michigan State OEO needs volunteers to curb illiteracy

Adams described the history of the open house policy and said that he had instituted last year's policy where first-year students were guaranteed an opening door to be interviewed with a student interviewer. The newly formed policy review committee will meet in the fall to review the policy.

Adams explained that the cornerstone of the open house program was the student volunteer. OEO was looking for volunteers to work at the Center's clinics, in the recording center, and at the newly formed literacy program.

The community Action Center, which is part of the folk song "If we got 3,000 we'd be happy," was familiar with the need for volunteers. Tom Schneider, assistant professor of Personnel Department, said that most such thieves are great at their work and notify the head of the institute.

Retarded persons able to become ‘assets’

Most of the nearly six million mentally retarded persons can become assets to society, a special education convention at Bellmeade was told yesterday. The U.S. Office of Education recently estimated that 83 percent of the retarded are eligible for this notion. Retarded individuals and doctors can be motivated to meet the needs of the retarded by means of a special kind of training. The goal of these training programs is to become tax contributors and not tax takers. According to the assembly meeting Wednesday night, "If we are to continue to be a society wholly or partially by ourselves, to become tax contributors, we will be doing it.
