CHAPMAN recommends
library fines increase

Faculty members selected by Chapman, the committee's chairman, to solicit opinions for the recommendations. Chapman said he was pleased with the results of the study.

Library director Robert A. Chapman recommended to the Student Senate Committee that a study be made to determine if the present fine per day per book overrun due to inflation should be increased and that students be charged 25 cents per day for a book.

Watts new in dresses

By BOB IMLER

The electric sheet, according to report fashion news articles, are reserved for the men. Women not so fortunate. Thus, with the interest and interest and interest in winter fashion, the women are left waiting, wondering what will be the hottest trend this winter.

The high-necked blouse is a bit bulky, but not unattractive in the world. And as you can see, the "fawn" or "gray" of the season is quite attractive. The short, simple style of dress will make a big hit this winter.

These are the words of the fashion experts. They are forecasting a future where women will no longer be limited to the same old style of dress. It will be a time where women will be able to show off their individuality and style. They will be able to express themselves in the way they want.

It's a new era in fashion, and the women are ready to take on the challenge. They are ready to show the world that they can be as fashionable as men. They are ready to be themselves and express their individuality.

Let's hope that this new era in fashion will bring about a change in society. Let's hope that women will be able to express themselves freely and without fear of judgment. Let's hope that this new era in fashion will bring about a better world for women everywhere.
Hepatitis cases continue to decline

By LAUREL PRATT

Two more hepatitis patients have been discharged from the campus hospital, bringing the total of students hospitalized earlier this week, and there were no other hepatitis patients. According to Dr. James S. Flanagan, university health officer, there have been no cases of hepatitis at the university since 1966, triggered by letters of withdrawal from Food Stores, Foods and Dormitory Services and the sanitation service of the university.

Benington gets the tip in '67

Michigan State coach John Benington had the following to say about Saturday’s game with Michigan State.

"It was anti-climactic because the Wolverines had already clinched the title. This year, even though things are already looking bad for the Spartans, their best man is still going to play. TheCoreApplication

The Spartans' All-Americans will probably face Dilley in the 50 free and a host of Michigan Staters. Glick and Ken Walsh, in the freestyle, will have a close race. Craig Brown and Carl Rauch in the breaststroke will have a close race. Overshadowed by the bigger performers in the 50 free and breaststroke and in the IM, they must be considered a serious threat. They'll use power in the breaststroke, and they may be the ones to win the 200 IM. Michigan State's biggest threat is in the backstroke. Bob Sullivan was elected by the team as their best backstroke man. Michigan State had already clinched the title in this event, and they probably won't be able to score a point or two in the 200 free. The Spartans took two in the breaststroke and two in the IM, and they'll probably be able to score a point or two in the 200 IM. But in the 200 free, Michigan State has a strong chance. They'll probably bring in a very good swimmer in the 200 free. Michigan State has a strong chance in the 200 free."

Michigan State Coach had the following to say about Saturday's game:

"I expect the University of Michigan to use guard and man and zone defenses from Michigan. They're a hard team to beat. They have a lot of depth and a lot of experience. They're a good team."

Spring concerts still indefinite

With the semester ending on May 1, ensembles and orchestras are still looking for spring concert programs. The next three weeks are full of opportunities for various musical groups to perform alone or in collaboration with other music departments.

The Michigan Choral Society will be performing on April 19, 1967, in the Michigan Union at 8 p.m. The program will feature the world premiere of the Vincent Persichetti Mass, "Corpus Christi" (St. John) and "Stabat Mater."

The Michigan Symphony Orchestra will perform on April 27, 1967, at 8 p.m. in Hill Auditorium. The program will feature the Richard Strauss Salome, Act II, and Mahler's Symphony No. 3. A second performance of the Strauss Salome is scheduled for May 4, 1967, at 8 p.m.

The Michigan Opera Company will perform on April 28, 1967, at 8 p.m. in Hill Auditorium. The performance will feature "Carmen," Bizet's opera, with a cast of local talent.

The Michigan Wind Ensemble will perform on April 29, 1967, at 8 p.m. in Hill Auditorium. The program will feature works by composers such as Copland, Stravinsky, and Martinu.

The Michigan Jazz Ensemble will perform on April 30, 1967, at 8 p.m. in Hill Auditorium. The program will feature works by composers such as Gershwin, Ellington, and Armstrong.

Music rush set Sunday

All music majors and minors with a C (2.0) or better average will be eligible to attend the music rush. The music rush will be held at 8 p.m. on Sunday, April 15, 1967, in the Michigan Union.

The rush party will feature live music by the Michigan Jazz Ensemble and the Michigan Wind Ensemble. Food and refreshments will be available. Music majors and minors will have the opportunity to meet and socialize with other music students.

Goodman stresses 'professionalism'

By PHIL VAN HUSEN

Paul Goodman, author, social critic, and "professional" pseudoodle, spoke before the University College Be-stimulates, Wednesday night with a production of his insights to the professionals and the public alike.

"Being myself is the pursuit of this accursed discipline," and

"But I think I'm more of a social critic and self-described''moderately professions-

al" than of a professional, Goodman reasserted. However, when asked to define the limits of professionalism, he responded that it must include a recognition of the importance of discipline.

 Sparrow packages: "But

you can't have an open

party," adding that

"The attitude of the Republicans, I feel, is not healthful for the party,"

Goodman said.

He said that he was certain

he would not participate in any anti-war efforts, either

as a professional or as an individual, and added that

"I'm going to get away from professional involvement.

But you can't have an open party," he said, "and I'm not going to have anything to do with the election of a government that I feel

is "virtually dead.""

Goodman suggested that his attitude was grounded in his belief that the professional

world is "starting to make a mess of itself," and that "It has gone too far to the right, and it is now on the way back to the left."
