The race for the two senior member-at-large seats on the ASMSU Student Board represents a selection of three well-qualified candidates. Two of these candidates are V.C. Blanton and Greg Hopkins, outstanding students who are interested in student government and in the off-Campus Council (OCC). Hopkins currently is a member of the board as president of OCC.

Blanton is well-known and well-expected on campus, for his work in promoting student rights through United Student Organizations and his campaign for student freedoms and academic rights. He is interested in student government as a way of promoting responsibility and in attaining rights. And he feels that he can make the student more aware of what is happening to him.

Kahn was found unique qualities. Kahn was to be found in Penny College lecture given Monday afternoon. After her previous commitment. As a student important enough to stand up for himself, Kahn presented her platform, followed by a series of questions from the audience. Kahn believed he would be able to stand up for himself, but to come before her peer group of his position, "can make the student more aware of what is happening to him."

The third candidate, Rees Mast, is currently involved with student government, as president of Emmons. He has neither the great familiarity with campus issues nor the promise to turn thoughts into actions that his competitors show. The issue involved in this race, an Blanton phrased it, is, "who is going to come through?" We feel that Greg Hopkins and V.C. Blanton are two involved, intelligent, and informed candidates who deserve to be observed. They will, indeed, "come through."

Humphrey meets antipathy in Belgium

Humphrey has met substantial opposition in the Buddhist areas of Southeast Asia, which have traditionally supported the United States. In recent visits to Vietnam and Cambodia, he was greeted with protests and heckling, which have made it difficult for him to express his views on the war. The opposition has been fueled by rumors that Humphrey is planning to visit North Vietnam, which is not the case. The anti-war sentiment is strong in the region, and Humphrey's visit has been met with anger and frustration.

Spring football practice must rebuild defense

By JOE WATTS
State News Sports Writer
It has been almost magical football training camp defense in a bigger year than most.

One of the big initial gains made by the Spartans in the 1967 defense has been the addition of four former Michigan State University football players on the coaching staff. One of the new assistants is John Daugherty, who has been hired as the new defensive coordinator.

Daugherty, who was a former Spartan star, is expected to bring a new and fresh approach to the defense.

The new defense will be an important part of the team's success this year. The Spartans have high hopes for the upcoming season.

Why don't you ever hear nostalgic stories about "the good old days" before Tampax tampons?

Just think what women had to go through before tampons were introduced. If you don't believe us, just ask your grandmother or your mother about their personal experiences.

Tampax tampons have been around for over a century, and have revolutionized women's personal hygiene. They were first introduced in the late 1800s, and have since become an essential part of women's lives.

The introduction of tampons was a significant milestone in women's health history. They have made periods more comfortable and manageable for millions of women worldwide.

So why don't you ever hear about these "good old days" before tampons? It's probably because tampons have become such a normal part of women's lives that we take them for granted.

And the best part is, you can still find tampons in just about any drug store or supermarket today. So the next time you're feeling nostalgic, just reach for a tampon and remember how far we've come!
Batsmen only split, but find two starters

By GAYEL WESCH

MUNCIE, Ind. — MSU's third baseman lost a game but found two starters Wednesday night in a doubleheader split with Ball State.

Dr. James Darlington pitched the first game, a 9-4 victory, and Mel Behney pitched the second game, a 3-1 conquest.

Darlington allowed four hits, walked five in his five innings and fanned two. He was relieved in the top of the sixth inning by Dick Kenney, who pitched the final four innings and allowed only two hits.

Behney allowed two hits and no walks in his five innings.

Darlington's only blemish was a two-out single to start the third by Ken Young, a former Ball State star. But Darlington, a tall right-hander, walked the next two batters and got out of the jam.

Behney allowed two hits, including a deep liner to right by Steve Rymal, but shut Ball State down after that.

The Spartans were in control of the opener from the start. Darlington allowed only two hits, both singles in the third, and two walks, both on balls, before the Cardinals scored two in the inning.

Kenney walked Mike Moritz to open the sixth and then allowed a single to John Bray, a two-run homer to Mike Lohmann and a fielding error by shortstop Gayle Franks to score another two runs.

In the second game, the pitcher's duel lasted five innings. Behney allowed only two hits, one double, and no walks and fanned two.

Ball State's only base runner was Jim Dargurz, who singled in the fourth and reached to third on an infield error by catcher Jim Cumby. Dargurz then scored on a sacrifice bunt by Mark Rymal.

Spartan right-hander Bob Peterson, who pitched the opening game, also worked seven innings in the second game. He allowed four runs on five hits, including a two-out double by Steve Rymal in the first, a two-out double by Mike Reilly in the fifth and a two-out single by Steve Pack in the seventh.

Spartan left-hander Steve Sandstrom pitched the first three innings of the second game, allowing two hits. Behney then came in for three innings of scoreless relief.

Behney's only blemish was a two-out single by Milt Pleas to start the fourth. Behney got back-to-back groundouts to end the inning.

The Spartans scored home runs in the fifth and seventh innings, both on wild pitches. Behney allowed only two singles after that.

With the win in the opener, the Spartans took the doubleheader.

Parents lack power in raising children

Parents will have the responsibility of raising their children, but to a greater extent they lack the power or opportunity in doing so, said Howard C. Bronfenbrenner, professor of psychology of children, who delivered the last of this year's Provost Lectures. "The home, said Bronfenbrenner, "is a social unit, a community, or the 'Cardinal Family Society,' or 'The Card for Society,' depending on what you mean by the term. Children in the U.S. are brought up by their parents and in this society, they are brought up by the whole community, said Bronfenbrenner.

Now the community has come into a place in our lives, and now the laws. Parents have responsibility of bringing their children to the streets and other communities and the more groups of the children into law in the law against the children more a responsibility of the community, he said. Parents are responsible for bringing the children, but the children are more of a responsibility of the society than of the individual, he said. The children are more of a responsibility of the society than of the individual, he said.

There is a trend in the United States to place the children in the community, and this can be done by the society. The society must take responsibility for the children, he said. The society must take the responsibility for the children, he said. The children are more of a responsibility of the society than of the individual, he said.

Frequent housing of guests during the academic year is "a distinct privilege which can be excepted by association with their less sustainability," said Bronfenbrenner. The new policy has been accepted by MHA and is being revised, House said. "The new policy doesn't differ from the old policy, but it is revised in order to provide more explicit information and to speed up the procedures for approval of contracts," House said.

The new policy also provides for a coordinator to assist in the process of housing conference delegates, instead of the War Conferees Council (WIC) was unable to agree upon the wording of the new policy. This is mostly in the problem of general security, and it can be changed in the future, to provide more explicit information and to speed up the procedures for approval of contracts, House said. Carny the year’s major event

The Carny this year will be the largest in the history of the University. The Carny is a student-run event that is held every year to raise money for the Student Services Fund. The organizers are hoping to raise $50,000 this year.

The Carny will feature a variety of events, including a carnival, a concert, and a fireworks display. The carnival will feature rides, games, and food. The concert will feature a popular band, and the fireworks display will be the highlight of the event.

The Carny is expected to draw thousands of people, and the organizers are working hard to make it a success. The Carny committee has been meeting for months to plan the event, and they have been working with the police and other officials to ensure that the event will be safe.
