High-scorer Harris leads 'S' booters against Pitt

By NORM SAARI

"I'm not really pleased with my kicking game, but I hope it can come along as the season progresses." So said Trevor Harris, a sophomore and leading goal scorer on the MSU soccer team. But the statement seems a bit out of order. Against Purdue last Saturday, he made his varsity debut by scoring five goals. Last Tuesday against Calvin College he scored three more and added an assist. Still he isn't satisfied. "It is difficult playing now because I'm in a position (outside left) that I've never played before," Harris said. "I have to change my style of kicking. When you kick from a wide angle, you have to put more curve on the ball to fool the goalie." Harris, a native of Kingston, Jamaica, came to MSU with a dream that he would someday be able to play alongside high school teammate Tony Keyes. As a senior in high school, Harris and his coach, George Thompson, kept in constant touch with Keyes and MSU Coach Gene Kenney. He was given the opportunity to attend MSU and accepted an athletic tender. The Jamaican influence on the team will continue, as Keyes recently recruited two more freshmen, one a goal-tender and all-star goalie.

Harris is joined by another starting sophomore, Ernie Tuchscherer, who has scored once in each of the two opening games. Tuchscherer, from Chicago, never played high school soccer but participated in the amateur city leagues. Last spring, he was chosen a member of the Olympic Team and picked for the U.S. soccer team for the Pan-American Games this past summer. He scored one of four goals the Americans had in the Pan-American Games.

In the amateur league and the Olympics, he was selected to play right wing and center forward but has started both games here at outside left.

"It changes kicking style since now I have to put some spin on or dip on the ball," Tuchscherer said. "You lose power but the adjustments aren't that difficult." Against the University of Pittsburgh this Saturday, Kenney feels the MSU defense will be pressed more than it was in the opening two games.

"Pitt has seven of last year's regulars back," Kenney said. "And we have never yet gone to Pittsburgh and had an easy ball game. This year should be no exception."

Starting on defense will be Terry Sanders and Tom Belloli at halfbacks, Barry Themen and Bert Jacobsen at fullbacks and Joe Baum at goalie.

Along with Harris and Tuchscherer on offense will be Guy Baskin on center forward, Keyes at inside right and Gary Schmid at right wing.

"We have been using different combinations these past two games," Kenney said, "and it looks like we have real good strength on the bench. The follow line has been moving the ball real well and the timing is improving. The defense is experienced from previous seasons but they have not been seriously challenged yet."

Pittsburgh is the first of a four game schedule that Kenney feels will tell how powerful the Spartans are this year.

That group really gives you the cold shoulder.

So fight ice with ice. Bribe them with a bottle of ice-cold Coca-Cola. For Coke has the refreshing taste you never get tired of. That's why things go better with Coke, after Coke, after Coke.

Scholar-athlete Brenner masters grid lessons too

By MIKE KOWALSKI

A couple has frequently been seen pushing a stroller with a little boy inside Spartan Stadium. The little boy is Rob Brenner and his parents are the Allen Brenners.

Al Brenner is a 6-1, 202-pound junior from Niles who plays end for the Spartans.

"Daddy plays football with Duff," his little son said.

Brenner played 321 minutes last year, more than any other Spartan letter winner. He also caught 22 passes for 357 yards and was 11th in the Big Ten in receiving. Against Houston he grabbed six passes.

Brenner also was third in the Big Ten and 17th in the nation in punt returns, including a Big Ten record of 95 yards against Illinois.

"Punt returning is probably the most hazardous job on the football team," Brenner said, "because when you're looking up to catch the ball, you're left vulnerable to the oncoming tacklers.

Spartan coaches believe that Brenner is a great receiver with exceptionally good hands and has the ability to make the right moves.

"Before his first game last season," his wife Phyllis said, "he was really nervous, but now it's more of an excitement with each game."

Brenner is a political science major with a 3.77 GPA. After graduation Brenner plans on going to a midwestern law school.

On Brenner's desk is the Big Ten All-Academic plaque, that he received last year for outstanding scholarship.

"Being married," his wife said, "and having a son to think about gives Al an extra responsibility. Therefore, he works harder to get good grades.

"Sometimes practice will be a little rough," Brenner said, "and I'll be beat, but I believe that you've got to keep up with daily assignments to get good grades.

"As for this season," he said, "a 9-1 season won't be that bad."

Last week London Bridge fell down.

Not only did it topple on Texas and Alabama, but also on the Spartans. Texas lost to a strong Southern Cal team while Alabama somehow managed to tie 37-37.

There was nothing strange about the Texas - USC game. Southern Cal just plain outplayed the Longhorns. Alabama however was a different story.

Florida State, a team who was beaten by Houston the week before 33-13, took an early lead and managed to hold against the Crimson Tide until late in the game. Finally Paul "Bear" Bryant and his boys scored and took the lead.

Florida State scored again and made it 37-36 in favor of Alabama.

Not to be outdone by Arza Parseghian, the Florida State coach played for the tie and kicked the extra point.

The "Bear" is still probably wondering how his team could score so many points and still not win.

It will be interesting to see how the tie affects Alabama's rankings at the end of the season.

Top-ranked Notre Dame rolled over California 41-8 and is picked by 13 points over Purdue this week. The game will be played at Lafayette, Ind., and should give some indication of just how strong the Irish really are. Purdue won last week over Texas A&M 24-20.

The Trojans from Southern Cal who are ranked number 2 by the Associated Press and number 3 by United Press International, invade East Lansing this week. Laced by halfback Lil Simpkin the Californians, coached by John McKay boast more speed and size than the Houston team which defeated the Spartans 37-7. Even though USC is considered a great team the odds-makers rate them only one point better than MSU.

Elsewhere, UCLA plays Stanford and State should have no trouble winning a third straight game. Fourth-ranked Houston takes on Wake Forest in the Astrodome and 13th place Georgia visits Clemson.

Moving westward, Colorado (2-0) has the week off and Wyoming the week before rolling it out of the fire, enters Colorado State at home. In the Big Ten, Ohio State will play its first contest against Arizona. Northwestern after beating a good Miami (of Florida) team will have another tough opponent in Missouri. Michigan squeaked by Utah last week 13-12 and will be traveling to Lincoln, Nebraska to play an undefeated Nebraska.

Duffyisms

Catch Duffy DiPietro was asked what he thought of the new rule which permits players to come to the sidelines at anytime for conferences.

"I think it's great," he replied. "It might be a little embarrassing, though, if they choose to confer with the girl cheer-leaders instead of me."

'Robby' tapes 25 miles of hurt

By TOM BROWN

Twenty-five miles of tape. That's what Head Trainer Gayle E. Robinson uses in the annual pursuit of a job that knows no off-season—the task of keeping the green tide rolling out of the Water Wonderland.

A physical education graduate of MSU and a former coach, Robinson calls on the knowledge he has gained throughout the past 22 years, in addition to training wisdom gleaned from his former mentor, Jack Heppinstall. Heppinstall, the only other head trainer the Spartans have had, served for 45 years before retiring in 1959.

Robinson recognized his debt to Heppinstall by noting that as knowledge increases and new techniques are discovered, so too old procedures are also revived. The trainer's education consists of gaining knowledge through experience. "That's why we have assistants," he said.

Robinson's department, consisting of two assistants and five student trainers, is housed in an office deep within the catacombs of the Field House. Its primary function is to prevent injuries. "We ask one of two Ruggers to host Windsor clubs MSU Rugby Club will host two games with Windsor, Sunday. The A-team will play at 2 p.m. and the B-team at 3:30 p.m. "They're big, tough and fast," said captain Ron Bacon, "a real depth of numbers.

The probable line-up for Sunday's game is forwards, Kirk Lewis, Mike Appleford, David Lecce, Mike Auer; Toms, Howard, Jim Mortarity, Kent Hurtles and Rick Schemer; and backs, Bruce McGilly, Mike Edgeworth, Rick Allen, Ron Bacon, John Harvey, Jim Woodward and Bob Helf.

The club lost its first game of the year last weekend to Windsor Black Rock, 16-3.

second-ranked Southern Cal in a game, is 6-1, 202 pounds, and was described by Daugherty as a big Warren McVic. "He's not a track man who came out for football. He's a football player who also runs track," Daugherty said.

Jim Lawrence, USC's right halfback must give Simpson competition in the team's options. Lawrence covers 100 yards in 6.5 and has averaged 13.5 yards per carry in the first two games. Fullback Mike Hull is the slowest man in the backfield, but he's 6-4, 228. Hull has been timed in 4.7 for 40 yards and was Southern Cal's outstanding back last year.

NCAA hurdle champion Earl McCullough, another member of the 440-relay team, operates out of the split end position to complement USC's worries.

"We thought Gene Washington was fast and he ran 11.7 for the high hurdles," Daugherty said.

McCullough's winning time was 11.2.

Besides McCullough, Sogge will have Ron Droke to throw to. Droke set the single season record for receptions at USC last year with 53.

The interior offensive line averages 235 pounds, and is anchored by All-American Ron Yary at right tackle.

Defensively the Trojans have been stingy. Washington State and Texas averaged just 26 yards rushing and 27 points in the first two games.

The defensive front five averages 223 pounds, and linebackers Jim Snow and Adrian Young and halfback Ty Salser are all lettermen.

Young is mentioned as an All-American candidate.

Experienced halfbacks Bill Jarrecoy and Pin Cushion and safety Mike Battle have held the two opponents to nine first down passing yards.

MSU will need a great defensive effort to contain the Trojans. They must also overcome injuries.

big six conference

coeds tackle guys on gridiron

the huddle exploded with a roar as the line, averaging 5'7" and 100 pounds bounds forward. Another game of the big six football season was underway.

The big six conference, recently organized in Brody Complex plays a new style of foot¬ ball. A few of the more origin¬ ial features are an indefinite number of teams, absolutely no player qualifications, no schedule, and only coeds.

named in honor of the six residence halls in Brody, the league consists of squads or¬ ganized according to hall, floor, and wing. Games are scheduled on the spur of the moment and specific rules are improvised as the game is played.

there are, however, certain regulations.

First, all games must be between coeds (from Butterfield or Rather Halls) and men (from Bryan, Bailey, Armstrong, or Emmons Halls). The men must wear some hobbled device—usually a belt or towel tied around the knees. The women are also given extra downs, and a shorter touchdown distance. More specific rules are de¬ cided by the referees—if one can be found. The position is not ex¬ tremely desirable and is gen¬ erally occupied by some un¬ fortunate resident assistant who joins the game before long.

Games last an hour, with nu¬ merous time-outs and breaks. The favorite playing field is the lawn between the wings of Butterfield Hall and Rather Hall.

Injuries are rare and usually minor. A sprained ankle is con¬ sidered a good attention-grabber by many coeds. And the women generally agree that the game can kill you if it’s a lot of fun.

Perhaps the only complaint voiced by the men is that their rules are too strict.

"How can I take the ball be¬ tween my legs when they’re tied?" one frustrated Armstrong player said.

Yet in spite of all the dif¬ ferences and difficulties, hardly a day passes without a game. One coed feels she knows why. "The girls go out and the guys come flocking."

But then what better way is there to meet someone than with a flying tackle?
Duffy as a player

Before coming to MSU with Biggie Munn as an assistant coach in 1947, Duffy Daugherty was a star at Ohio State. He is shown being blocked by No. 22 against Maryland.

Duffy looks better over 25-year view

Despite Duffy Daugherty’s critics who say he is unable to produce consistently winning teams, the record books show that MSU ranks second in the nation with the best winning percentage in the last 25 years. In a survey conducted for the Associated Press by Bob Hopping, the Spartans own a 150-54-9 record for a .744 percentage, second only to the University of Oklahoma. The records were compiled before last Saturday’s game with Houston. The Sooners have a 150-62-8 record for a .733 percentage.

Partially responsible for the second-place Spartan ranking in the successful 20-year period that Daugherty and Munn worked together as football associates. In that time, MSU suffered only three losing seasons. Daugherty coached seven of those 20 years (from 1948-1954) and had a 48-9 record.

Daugherty has an 82-35-4 record in 13 years. His 19-1-1 mark the last two years honored the Spartans to the No. 2 rank. Admitted to that is the Spartans’ successful record in the Big Ten. Since entering the conference in 1945, MSU has compiled a 58-26-2 record.

Against the survey’s top 50 teams for the 1949-1960 era, the Spartans have been winners, MSU in 14-14 against Notre Dame, 7-0-1 vs. Penn State, 12-1 vs. Ohio State, 12-9-2 vs. Michigan, 14-1 vs. Southern California, and 11-4 vs. Maryland.

This season the Spartans will meet four of those teams—Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State, and Southern California.

Daugherty ranks as the winningest coach in Spartan history with 82. This, his 14th year as Spartan coach, Daugherty will have surpassed Charley Bachman in years of service.

Along with Daugherty’s success as a coach was the successful tenure of his predecessor, Biggie Munn, now athletic director.

Munn had a 28-game winning streak from the fourth game of the 1950 season to the fourth game of the 1953 season, a school record.

The first five years of the 25-year period were coached by Bachman. He had a 20-12-3 mark from 1942-1946 when Munn became head coach.

You'd expect a national champion football team to be overflowing with coaches.

This isn’t true of MSU, however, with one of the smallest coaching staffs in the Big Ten.

But the staff makes up for its lack of size with enthusiasm and loyalty, since all of the eight assistant coaches are former Spartan gridiron.

The football staff has been described as tight knit, with coaches coordinating their activities frequently both on and off the field. Many have played under former head coach Biggie Munn or coach Duffy Daugherty.

Outstanding among the staff members is offensive backfield coach Al Dower. He was an All-American quarterback in 1956, when the Spartans rushed to an unbeaten, untied season and ranked second in the national championship polls. He returned to MSU in 1963 as an assistant backfield coach. This year Athletic Director Biggie Munn returned him to his backfield job after a 10-year stint.

Offensive line coach Gordon Sere is a former three-letter winner for the Spartans, having played with Dower under Munn from 1960-62. His greatest distinction was to be voted most outstanding player of the squad, but coach Sere has given the Spartan line 10 of its most successful seasons. Sere began his coaching career at Arizona State in 1956, and came to MSU the following year.

The defensive backfield, as well as the rest of the team is proud to have coach Vicie Carillet back after almost losing this former State letterman to Georgia Tech. A short stay in the South, Carillet returned to East Lansing, where he coached high school football before being appointed in 1959 to MSU. After a short stint this spring as lineback coach, Carillet was reappointed to his old position as the defensive backfield leader.

Coach Hank Bullough is no stranger to MSU football either. He played under Munn and Daugherty from 1952-54. His teams’ honors include two Big Ten championships, a national championship and a Rose Bowl victory. After graduating from MSU, Bullough played professional football with the Green Bay Packers. His experiences with the Spartans and at Green Bay led to an appointment as defensive line coach in 1959.

Now beginning his third year as defensive line coach, Ed Rutherford is in his second year as assistant coaching fullback. Rutherford played his college football at Wayne State. The record number of MSU’s comparatively young staff, Rutherford is 24.

Beginning his rookie year as coach in Spartan end Dave Smith, Smith, who is an assistant backfield coach, played for Daugherty in the mid-fifties. In 1956 he moved to Wallis Lake High School as head grid coach. After returning from a stint in the fifties, he played under Munn and Daugherty from 1952-54.
