Mao Tse-tung, who gave China's communists power to organize China's history to the present day, is now passing power to the young people of China, according to his three sons.

The Chinese government announced recently that a national conference will be held in the capital city of Beijing to discuss the transition of power from Mao Tse-tung to his sons.

The conference is expected to take place on October 1st, the anniversary of the Chinese Revolution, and is expected to be attended by leaders from all over the world.

Mao Tse-tung, who ruled China for nearly 30 years, is leaving the political arena to his sons, who are now in their mid-60s. The sons are expected to continue his legacy of revolution and development.

The conference is expected to discuss issues such as the economy, foreign policy, and the future of China's relationship with other countries.

Mao Tse-tung's leadership is expected to continue to be felt in China for many years to come.

Is OCC Chamber seat answer to our problems?

Just how much good ASMSU’s seat on the East Lansing City Council represents is something anyone is a question that hasn’t been answered this year.

Certainly there is reason for disappointment with the progress, or lack of it, made on the number of offices nothing has been accomplished by this session of the City Council.

It seems that this simple change will produce nothing but repetitious fights for students. But at least it would bring on the hope of some action as a result of your efforts as a club.

How to solve draft dilemma

It is the larger issue. However, that is not the major point. The major problem is the number of people not in the draft. The number of people not in the draft is much higher than the number of people who have not been drafted.

Cagers' torrid shooting stops Badgers, 87-77

By GAVEL WELCH

MSU basketball fans have not been often been so happy in the second half as they were Thursday night. With a torrid performance on the floor, the Spartans were able to shut down a hot-shooting Wisconsin team 87-77 in the Big Ten opener at the Breslin Center.

But there were little signs that this would be the case. MSU was behind 16-20 at the end of the first half. In fact, for much of the second half, the Spartans were still behind.

The key to the victory, according to Spartan Coach John Breslin, was the fact that the Spartans were able to put on a high-scoring performance in the second half. Wisconsin, on the other hand, was not able to match the Spartans' performance.

"The Spartans were able to take advantage of Wisconsin's weak defense in the second half," said Breslin. "We were able to shoot the ball well, and that gave us the edge."

Loss to lowa-dims gym hopes

By GREG LORIA

The Spartans' 128-58 rout of the Hawkeyes in the first meeting in the series was not as impressive as the 130-66 victory Saturday.

The loss of Bob Byrum was the key to the Spartans' defeat. Byrum, who has been a key figure in the team's success, was replaced by George Gonzales, who did not fare as well. The team showed strength in the epee, but by a score of 5-0.

The Abduction

Success despite hang-ups

If there were Olympic events, Dennis Burkh and John Baldwin, who were in charge of the "Abduction," certainly would score a grand total of gold medals. The first medal would be for sheer nerve in selection of the opera. "Abduction" is one of the most difficult to perform and they weren't spared the cadenzas and the tenor and bass leads. Fortunately, Baldwin kept up the polish and Baldwin's orchestra and singers didn't let the composer down. "Abduction," having just been performed as a benefit gathering in their residence, would have it's last performance tonight at 8 p.m. at the East Lansing High School. The proceeds will go to the East Lansing High School orchestra and choir. The orchestra and choir will participate in the "Abduction."

Lobby leaders ask repeal of aid of idle rule

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Labor leaders, appealing Congress for a repeal of an aid to the needy children rule, accused the Nixon administration of cheating Congress and the public.

"The administration's actions are illegal and immoral," said John L. Lewis, president of the CIO.

Congressional leaders are considering a bill to repeal the "aid to needy children" rule.

The new rule requires that public welfare agencies be able to impose a rule that all welfare recipients must work or train to receive benefits.

The AFL-CIO executive council also demanded that the Nixon administration resign.

"This administration has turned its back on the people," said Lewis.

The AFL-CIO leaders said that the new rule would be "a major violation of the law and the Constitution.

Lewis also accused the administration of using "the specter of the freeze" to cover up its "true intentions.

"I believe that the administration is using the freeze to cover up its plans to freeze welfare payments," said Lewis.

U.S. defendants in Sweden at odds over unity attempt

Stockholm (AP) - American individuality was odd over segregation at the defendant's Swedish trial. One of the defendants was reportedly talking in an estimated 50,000 people, according to the Associated Press.

In December, 1969, seven American former servicemen of the war against Vietnam were arrested in Sweden and charged with liberation of a Viet Cong guerrilla. They said they would have been involved in the activities of the Viet Cong if they had been charged.

The court ruled that the defendants could now proceed with the trial at Uppsala. The trial in this case was on Tuesday.

The major event that led to the Uppsala hearing, the announcement of President John F. Kennedy, according to Molloy, was the establishment of a committee to reexamine the Vietnam War.

Habitual traffic offenders may face driving classes

By JUDITH HELMINGER

The Michigan State News

In an attempt to improve the driving habits of the habitual traffic offender, Michigan has established a program for schools for these drivers, initiated by the Michigan Highway Agency and the professor of counseling psychology, Allan B. Mandelstamm.

The program targets habitual traffic offenders as those who violate traffic regulations on an average of at least three times a year. The program is intended to provide a structured environment where offenders can learn to recognize and correct their driving mistakes.

Correction

In the article, there was a correction needed in the statement regarding the university's policy on student affairs. The correct statement should read: In response to public interest, the University of Michigan is planning to introduce a new policy that will allow students to participate in a questionnaire study related to campus regulations. This policy is intended to gather feedback from students to improve the regulations and ensure they are fair and effective.

MHA proposal

MHA, which stands for Michigan Highway Agency, has proposed a new policy that would allow students to participate in a questionnaire study related to campus regulations. This policy is intended to gather feedback from students to improve the regulations and ensure they are fair and effective.

Ganon on China

Ganon, one of the student leaders, explained that the policy is necessary to protect students' rights and ensure the fair treatment of all students.

Are your contact lenses more work than they're worth?

If you're tired of using two or more separate solutions to take care of your contact lenses, then you might want to consider switching to Lensene, the exclusive lens care system that provides a proper lens hygiene. It has been demonstrated to improve vascularization and promote better lens comfort.

In today’s ivy-covered jungle, if you don’t stay with it, the competition will eat you alive.

Let’s face it. You can’t afford to be drowsy. Not in class. Not on the job. Not at home. So when you feel the grip of drowsiness pulling you down, fight it.

Get out the Headache Kit. It will help you spring back—your brain to alertness, your eyes to focus, your mind to track down that same problem—without being held back. The Headache Kit has a unique combination of energizers and pep-uppers that will get you back on track.

After all, you’re on top, not the tomb.
