WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced Wednesday he would be in Hanoi Thursday to meet with Vietnamese leaders to seek to reinvigorate the peace talks. He said consultations over the weekend in Hanoi would be his first gesture in months to move toward Vietnam peace talks.

The government of North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh (top) announced Wednesday it was prepared to move toward Vietnam peace talks. President Johnson (left) named Ambassador-at-large Averell Harriman (center) and Llewellyn Johnson (right) to Hanoi for a conference. Harriman and Johnson are expected to be in Hanoi by late this week.

Johnson's announcement was indicative of his intention not to seek a second term in 1968. The president, who is now 62, has said he was determined to seek the Democratic nomination along with the 1964 Democratic presidential nomination. He has not yet declared his candidacy, but even some of his most ardent supporters have said they think he is likely to run for a second term.

Johnson's announcement comes amidst a losing streak in the Democratic primary. He received a shot in the arm Tuesday night in the Wisconsin primary. Governor Edmund Muskie (left) received a large percentage of the vote in the Democratic primary, but Johnson's campaign was hurt by a surge in the Republican primary.

Marine drive aims at Khe Sanh

CA LU, Vietnam (AP) — Sweating in the high humidity, U.S. Marines and Vietnamese marched down the winding road Wednesday with artillery for more than two months. The road is one of two that have been met in the operation that began Monday.

The essential problem is the lack of specific improvements, and there are 10 bridges destroyed or damaged by the enemy along the road.

The engineering in this operation is one of the most difficult during the war for the engineers, at the foot of the road leading to Khe Sanh. The enemy has been in the area for several months and has fortified positions.

The Vietnamese are operating massive earth-moving equipment to clear the roads. The opposition so far has been minor, but the enemy has fortified their positions on the road leading to Khe Sanh.

It's only a matter of time before they set up their positions.

Because most of the bridges were not originally built to support the heavy traffic, the enemy is fortifying them. The Vietnamese are building them up along the road.

Several streams may prevent deep water passage and earth-moving huge amounts of earth. The Marines first lay down bridge piers and then move earth-moving machines down the road.

SAIGON (AP) — A push to push the third aerial corps to silence the enemy stage of the North within 72 hours, two miles away, hopes ran that the hard-hit Marine base would be reached on time.

Field reports said the drive was not well planned at all, but it ran on with all of the roads being bombed by the enemy.

Defense officials refused to say what the military leaders individual recommendation was, and what the bombing question was being discussed with them.

At least one JCS member was known to favor an expansion, not a curtailment, of the bombing.

When he kicked off Monday from Ca Lu, the drive had been going on for quite a while.

Defended officials who declined to be named this week said the clients now support President Johnson's decision to restrict the bombs in the new bid for peace.

Defense Secretary McNamara said that the bombs will not amount to a real offensive, not a mere expansion, of the bombing.

Metro Lines start loop bus

Lansing Metro Lines has announced departure times for its special loop bus for students and traveling students who use the travel buses at the East Lansing bus depot.

The bus will leave on a half-hour frequency, leaving at the following times:

- Board Hall 11:12 a.m.
- Wilson Hall 11:15 a.m.
- Midfield Hall 11:18 a.m.
- Highpoint and Ground River Streets 11:21 a.m.
- The bus will arrive at the bus station at 11:23 a.m., when the bus makes its final run.

This is an attempt to provide a seat on the East Lansing commuter train for spring term and positions will be open.

ASMSU female race: the Powdery Perdy

Now, conflicting news report, for the female member-at-large in the ASMSU election is not an ASMSU matter, but rather a matter of public relations for Water Campus. Whether this issue should or should not be given the prominence it presently has is something to be considered.

There are few women candidates in the sophomore race, and one of them is the usual dandy, Miss Lasky, who has chosen for reasons of pride to take her chances in this race, against the males, rather than enter the female race.

She does have some good general ideas on injecting "life into student government," and she would like to "take" ASMSU’s decisions back to MSU coeds. It appears to me that she has chosen for reasons of pride to take her chances in this race, against the males, rather than enter the female race.

The position of sophomore member-at-large, in the opinion of many, is an important factor. But Lasky just has to remember that she can turn her vitality and enthusiasm into effective performance.

Motsrov deserves sophomore seat

The position of sophomore member-at-large on the ASMSU student board is a unique one. It seeks to involve underclassmen in the operations of ASMSU, but demands still a certain amount of knowledge and experience of student government. At least a small degree of experience in student government is necessary. This year, six freshmen are vying for the one sophomore seat on the board. Chuck Mostov, a junior in James Madison College, seems to be the one most deserving of support.

Mostov’s advantage over the other candidates is that he has demonstrated能力 to work on student issues in the ASMSU that is the experience that he has given him.

For a freshman, he certainly has shown potential from his work in various Cabinet positions. He is also an insurance. Director of Evaluation and Research.

Motsrov’s emphasis so far in his campaign has been on full implementation of the Academic Freedom and Responsibility Act. While it is significant that he has a deep understanding of the issues at stake, it is only a spoon fed campaign materia. We cannot of course know for certain that he will accomplish.

When Mostov speaks of the flaws of this year’s student board, he does not rely solely on generalizations, as do some of the candidates. Rather, he cites the specific instances of petty issues which he certainly hopes will be able to do something about if elected.

Jewel Lasky, the only female running for this position, is also strong candidate. Certainly, in the sophomore race, experience alone should be an important factor. But Lasky just has to remember that she can turn her vitality and enthusiasm into effective performance.

Of the three females involved in the election (two are campaigning for the position of female member-at-large), Miss Lasky is undoubtedly the best candidate. She has chosen for reasons of pride to take her chances in this race, against the males, rather than enter the female race.

The position of sophomore member-at-large, in the opinion of many, is an important factor. But Lasky just has to remember that she can turn her vitality and enthusiasm into effective performance.

The game was reaching its natural climax when we entered and looked about. I saw when, when mostov approached the floor, he was the best candidate. Certainly, in the sophomore race, experience alone should be an important factor. But Lasky just has to remember that she can turn her vitality and enthusiasm into effective performance.

'Challenge of Development' Winds of Change theme

Outstanding scholars, statesmen and educators led the speaker line for the Winds of Change Conference at Michigan State University Friday and Saturday. The conference, which focuses on the problems of the world's developing nations, featured several prominent experts in the fields of economics, political science, and public administration.

W. K. Bird, president of the World Bank, spoke on the topic of economic development and the challenges faced by the world's underdeveloped nations. Bird emphasized the importance of education and infrastructure development in achieving economic progress.

Arthur S. Lall, former ambassador to India and delegate to the United Nations, discussed the role of the United Nations in promoting international cooperation and addressing global issues.

Lucien Pye, professor of political science at the University of Pennsylvania, addressed the issue of political leadership in developing nations and the importance of democratic institutions.

The conference also included panel discussions and workshops on specific aspects of development, such as education, health, and economic growth. Attendees included government officials, scholars, and practitioners from around the world.

The Winds of Change Conference is an annual event organized by the Michigan State University Development Council and is designed to foster dialogue and exchange of ideas on global development issues.

Sikkim agricultural official talks on rural development

An MSU graduate who is an official of the Dept. of Agriculture of the government of Sikkim, a small Himalayan nation, has been here in Michigan State to hold several seminars on the rural development programs in Sikkim. Narasimham Sikkim, agriculture official, came to Michigan State in 1953, and is now engaged with the supervision of agricultural development programs in Sikkim. In 1958 he was appointed as acting chairman of the sub-committee on agriculture under the Indian Aid Act Plan. His duties were to assist and advise the administration and supervision of agricultural development programs in Sikkim.

The people of Sikkim are-experiencing a high standard of living and agricultural output is increasing steadily, Sikkim said.

Sikkim said he was in-structed by the organization and development of Sikkim Board of Agriculture, the re-establishment of various agricultural forces, and the establishment of much-needed sub-tropical and tropical agriculture with a view to improve the food situation and the status of people in Sikkim.

Sikkim was the center of a visiting Sesame line of Professor James Spence, who has written several books on agriculture in Sikkim in a Fielding narrative.พนักงาน

Sikkim stressed the need for an agricultural extension program in Michigan State. The ceremonies were included in the State News, East Lansing, Michigan.
Students face torment, uncertainty over draft
