Johnson announces administration shifts

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Two major changes were announced yesterday in the Johnson administration—appointment and a resignation.

President Johnson announced that Gen. William C. Westmoreland has been redesignated as commander of the United States forces in Vietnam and that he has nominated W. Marvin Watson, president of the University of Michigan, for the position of assistant secretary of the interior.

President Johnson also nominated Adm. John DickMcCay Jr. to serve as ambassador to the United States from the Federal Republic of Germany. He has been director of the United States Information Agency.

McCoy is now commander of the United States forces in Vietnam. He is succeeded by Gen. Westmoreland, who commanded American ground forces during the Vietnam war. He will return to command the United States forces in Vietnam.

The new president of the Interior Department is nominated by the president for the position of assistant secretary of the interior. He has been director of the United States Information Agency. He will also serve as ambassador to the United States from the Federal Republic of Germany.

Who j h o p e d , President Johnson is at the present time in the United States and may have been at the hotel where he is located. The government of that country and countries in the area where he is located is not going to be found in the hotel. The South Vietnamese saw the first part of the plan as having been accomplished; they are waiting to see if the rest of the plan is true.

President Johnson, who is said to be in a meeting, is being quoted as saying to the assembled government officials: "We are not going to withdraw. We are going to continue to support the fight against the Communists."

The South Vietnamese seem to have been told by President Johnson that in order to de-escalate the war, the Communists must withdraw from South Vietnam. The President also stated that his strategy would bring the end of the war. The President further stated that the South Vietnamese see the offensive finally as the end of the war.

"The South Vietnamese view the offensive as the end of the war," he said. "They are waiting to see if the rest of the plan is true."
Violence subsides leaving 34 dead

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A week-long wave of racial violence, which followed Dr. Martin Luther King’s assassination appeared to be abating across the nation Wednesday. There were a few remaining trouble spots, however, and the odds were that the tide would turn in the nation’s cities.

For the second day in a row, Level III Grade II troops were in Kansas City, Mo. This time at the predominately Negro Lincoln High School, where the original violence which climax in the killing of four Negro students was reported.

Police officers in the community were reported to have the situation under control.

The New York Times city paper reported that Negroes were rioting in the city.

National News

• U.S. officials said that the presidency of the United States in preliminary talks with North Vietnam is to see whether there would be an end to the military in Laos. But the U.S. has not yet agreed to the idea that the U.S. would be invited to observe peace talks.

• The Seattle City Council unanimously voted to ban the sale of all types of business, including wholesale, retail, and personal service, and to establish the establishment of a national crusade against poverty under the leadership of the National Negro Ministerial Association, which represents all Negro churches in the country.

• A total of 20,000 allied troops, including the 9th Infantry Division, were ordered to the area to maintain emotional control.

• The Michigan Senate passed by a 101 to 90 vote a $1.2 billion school aid bill which was opposed by supporters of the Nationalist Chinese government.

• About 80,000 people were estimated to have been killed or injured in the rioting, and the streets were reported to be littered with dead bodies.

• The Michigan Senate passed a bill by a 20 to 10 vote allowing the sale of all types of business, including wholesale, retail, and personal service, and to establish the establishment of a national crusade against poverty under the leadership of the National Negro Ministerial Association, which represents all Negro churches in the country.

How SN views elections

For the past week and a half, the State News has been following the AMSU student council elections, which were decided in a campus-wide election earlier this week. The analysis and comments of the State News editorial board on the individual contests were presented earlier in separate editorials. Following is a list of all the candidates running for the at-large seats, with endorsements indicated for easy reference.

SN goofed on Boyd

To the Editor:

I understand my disagreement with your stance and evaluation of Jim Boyd as a candidate for senior member-at-large. I have the right to express my opinion, not yours, on the subject of AMSU candidates. I am one of the people who voted for Boyd. My primary reason for voting for him was his strong stand on civil rights. In my opinion, his Civil Rights Program, which was the focal point of his campaign, was a direct answer to the needs of the campus and, more importantly, of the entire nation during a period of national and personal turmoil. The civil rights program in the hands of a Boyd administration would have been a forceful weapon to combat some of the problems faced by the nation at the time. I have heard of many instances where AMSU has failed to fulfill its responsibilities in the workings of the government, coupled with my emphasis on freedom of speech and the press, I believe that the experience I gained in the three years that I have been a student at Michigan would have been an asset in the position of Cabinet, and interested in this action, and hope they shall not be servile to the dictates of the minority. It is my firm belief that the experience that I gained in the three years that I have been a student at Michigan would have been an asset in the position of Cabinet, and interested in this action, and hope they shall not be servile to the dictates of the minority.

The SNiper
Lindsay's summer program prevented New York riots

By STEPHEN MORGAN
State News Staff Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the second of a series of articles by Prof. Robert B. Mather of the Department of History at MSU, who is teaching a summer course titled "The American Experience: 1896-1968," which will meet at MSU this summer.

In addition, he has had a difficult time keeping staff members and some have been charged of corruption within the city's planning commission.

Last summer Lindsay organized a task force on the following issues: to urge his friends to end it and to promote free entertainment and recreation facilities.

The city also put up more signs and signaturs for the summer task force, which led to the formation of the Democratic Socialists of America.

In 1967, after receiving $35,000 more than he expected from the Federal government, MSU's president recommended to the Board of Trustees that the nation's racial problems be addressed.

He also presents a fine sense of humor and one of the automobile's innovations involved a large city. "I want people talking about the most important job of news, " he said. "What does that mean?"

A FORMALITY

Polish Reds change leaders

WARSAW (AP) - Poland's Communist congress opened Wednesday with the official announcement of a new party leadership named by Marshal Mieczslaw Moczar, minister of defense, in the name of the interior and head of the secret service. Communist leaders announced that the group has already been named as the new leadership of the party in a move that marks the first step in a series of major changes in the 13-year-old government. The congress is expected to open formally Thursday. Several more changes are also expected.

Moczar announced that 460 of the 61-year-old marshal of the Polish armed forces was named as the new president of Poland. He is considered a formality. The 460 members of the new party congress are elected by the 10 million members of the Polish armed forces.

The shift of Sosabowski to deputy chairman of the party in Warsaw for his development of Polish arms in World War II.

The presidency is currently held by Moczar. Sosabowski will also head the Council of State which carries out orders dictated to him by the National Assembly.

Communist officials said in a statement that the congress would also name a new leadership for the party in Warsaw, with Sosabowski as the new chairman.

Sosabowski's first prime ministerial background is a good one. J. Jan Kubiak, the premier of the Soviet Union, was an introductory offer for the new leader. The regular congress is expected to name a new prime minister for the country.

Students satisfied with new depot bus

No unnecessary comments were heard from students who used the special service bus to get to and from the Eastern Lansing bus depot, officials of the University's Lines office, who operate the Campus Special said that over 100 students took advantage of the new service on Monday and Tuesday.

The service, which makes a one-way run south to the MSU Board of Trustees building, will be continued at least through May.

On Monday, officials said that the students who used the bus are satisfied with the service.

The service operates on Monday and Tuesday from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. on Fridays and 4 to 6 p.m. on Saturdays.

Payment deficit spurs dollar crisis

The international "dollar crisis" started from a 1 billion dollar deficit in the U.S. balance of payments. This is the measure of all foreign trade and payments in foreign countries. This deficit of 1 billion dollars was reported in the United States for the last month of 1967.

The deficit has been reported in the past three months in the United States. The reason for this is the need to retain gold reserves to pay for foreign trade.

This two-price gold system in the United States means that the dollar is worth more in the gold market than in the world market.

A long-range solution lies in the development of international economic and monetary systems. The U.S. and other countries must recognize the need to build stable international trade and finance.

Red Sox rap Tigers, Wilson in opener, 7-3 "S" await home opener Saturday

DETROIT - State News American League Postseason

DETROIT, Mich. - Carl Yastrzemski is no stranger to the Big Red Machine. The former Red Sox star and current Baltimore Oriole has faced the Tigers many times during his career, but this week it's been a different story.

Yastrzemski, who grew up in Detroit and played for the Red Sox for 21 years, is now facing the Tigers as a player for the Baltimore Orioles. The two teams have faced each other twice this week, with the Tigers winning both games.

"It's a little bit different," Yastrzemski said. "I've been playing against the Tigers for a long time, but now I'm on the other side. It's a little bit surreal."

Grading system approved

(continued from page one) The senate committee of the council gave approval to the 4.5 grade or "A minus" which the report states "shall be awarded for exceptionally high performance." The committee would end the bombing halt with actions matching by restraint in Hanoi and added "the infiltration is continuing, perhaps at an increasing rate of bombing over North Vietnam into the south, advantage of a total cessation of the bombing." The student's enrollment form is due on April 10, 1968.

Police look into possibility radio aided King's killer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - The police department was dropped when King's body was discovered. But in a search for his killer, Frank C. Holleman, the city's police department was called in. The murder of King's killer was a federal crime, but the local police force was called in. The man who killed King was shot down at a local motel and had a severe injury to the head. The killer had been found in the motel, and the search was then turned to the area in which King was shot.

Education key to freedom

By RICK FEINBERG

James D. McKee, professor of sociology at Michigan State University said that "science and technology of the future will make possible, but not guarantee, a free society." Speaking at MSU's 5th Annual Seminar in Continuing Education, McKee said that "we have accepted the idea of a world without war. But the level of education is necessary to bring about a world without war."

The seminar is being held this week for university and college administrators of the United States and Canada who are interested in adult education.

As we recoil from what happened last week, even as we seek to put that into perspective, it is possible to carry such myths into tomorrow's future," McKee said his audience.

McKee said that the aftereffects of the Tet offensive have been on the minds of educators everywhere, "Subjects only in education, and the effect on the students' education. McKee said that for the 21st century, "Here real two are now known and experience the process to continue to a pattern of learning the information that children will learn."
