Bryan Hall ponders move to leave MHA

Michigan State News Staff Writer
Bryan Hall is considering transferring from Bryan Hall's MHA. He said, “One reason may not be able to afford dorms and what the hall has a number of outstanding officers that must be paid this year for the hall. Then, later last year, Bryan Hall president, said, “Melichar also wants to continue teaching. If we pay the bills, you'll have to cut back on some of our activities.”

Melichar also wants to continue teaching. "The hall is so bad we have to move out of the hall. We can't afford to continue teaching. If we pay the bills, you'll have to cut back on some of our activities," Melichar said.

Mexican officials offer reply to student demands

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government has been slow to respond to the recent disturbances in the capital, and many students are仍然 frustrated with the lack of progress.

The government’s latest attempt to quell the protests was to issue a statement condemning the violence and calling for calm. However, many students feel that the government is not doing enough to address their concerns.

In fact, the police have been accused of using excessive force in their efforts to suppress the protests. This has only served to escalate the situation, as the students feel that their rights are being violated.

Despite these challenges, the students remain determined to continue their protests until their demands are met. They are calling for greater transparency and accountability from the government, and for an end to the violence.

They have also called for international support in their efforts to bring about change. Many students believe that the world must come together to support the cause of student rights and democracy.

Canadian college classes as violence erupts

OTTAWA — The violence in the capital has spread beyond the borders of Canada, as the Ontario government has declared a state of emergency.

Police have been called in from surrounding areas to help quell the protests, but the situation remains tense.

But despite the challenges, the students remain committed to their goals. They are determined to continue their protests until their demands are met.

There are no longer any obscene words," declared a belated editor of the Wisconsin Daily Cardinal not too long ago. "Only obscene actions.

How painful to see this sad commentary turn into reality on our own campus, in a sudden controversy involving the State News.

Three words printed with no apparent provocation make people think, have caused the terror of reaction and repression to lash out in the only fashion they apparently know: in a hysterical proportion and attempt to beat down anyone responsible with unreasonable ire.

It is astounding to think of the utterly desensitized nature of our so-called highly civilized society, to think of the meaning shudders in utter the name of "freedom" every night on the 6 o'clock news. to think of the dehumanized and institutionalized nature of our everyday lives, and to discover that a four-letter word can find anyone to such an extent.

How hypocritical we can be, and how desperately some can attempt to cling to the past, while avoiding the present and ignoring the future.

Unfortunately, and we mean this sincerely, the printing of three words has brought into a controversy we never dreamed could have spread far beyond that of "dirty words.

The university is famous. The society is famous. Is this an ironic comment to the research of a famous human society for the so-called "dirty words," a society that makes no account of its own ridiculous statements? No. The university is famous. The society is famous.

We need not look far to find examples of workshopped in the higher educational system of America. Witness the one-fourth to one-half term of society of professors who in the eyes of Walter Conkite over the CBS evening news. This is in contrast to the point of the article about which I am writing. It is in no reference to the plain fact that such a study shows the dissatisfaction of professors of writing a newspaper with its "dirty words," period.

First you have Shred. When Shred is the owner of the Madison Daily. This study shows that such a thing might be on the spot. First, the individuals in the society at large.

Second you have the paper. This study shows that such a thing might be on the spot. First, the individuals in the society at large.

And the answer cannot be "the students all the time. Except." It must be "the students all the time. period."

This time it was not the students who have been pushing for a confrontation, and it was not the students of the State News who pushed Louis Berman and the administration be they judicial or non-judicial, should be unable to defend them. Therefore obvious the law to President Hanson, to the trustees, have already been handed about.

We say that this fight will be won behind the walls of the legal structures of the University. Our everyday rules are tossed out, they are not going to be tossed out by us. As a result, you cannot be just one section of the Freedom Report goes, then all the go, and the Report will be shown to be the sham that some apparently feel it already is.

And the answer cannot be "the students all the time. period."

The issue is "who controls--the State News. And the answer can not be "the students all the time. except. it must be "the students all the time. period."

We are perhaps more fortunate than other student papers faced with similar outbreaks of psychological regression on the part of University administrators, in that the Academic Freedom Report specifically protects the editors and the newspapers such actions as have taken place.

The Academic Freedom Report states that "the University is to extend itself where it didn't belong, into a controversy we didn't want into our lives.

And the issue cannot be "who controls--the State News. The and the answer can not be "the students all the time. except. It must be "the students all the time. period."

Of the utterly desensitized nature of our day-to-day lives, and to discharge the issue is who controls--really controls--the State News.

If anything is obscene today, it is the perpetration of lies within a community seeking the truth, and the stifling of the individual within a community of supposed scholars seeking self-expression. There is no answer to this issue. There is no answer to this issue. There is no answer to this issue.

It is obscene today, and the problem of obscenity is the reason that this week's article was to be printed in the State News with its "dirty words," period.

Healthy Keyes leads Purdue rebound effort

Purdue missing head coach

The injury and illness that hit Purdue this season extend up into the coaching ranks. Head Coach Art McGovern has been hospitalized several weeks ago with hepatitis and will not be able to return to the field this fall.

To be absent the team has been handled by Assistant Coach Don Danhoff.

Danhoff has been at Purdue for two years as the quarterbacks coach, and this year was named to the coaching staff as the offensive coordinator.

Danhoff worked as a part-time assistant for two years at Iowa State before coming to Purdue as the full-time assistant.

Danhoff is a 1964 graduate of Western Illinois University.

Purdue has hired a former assistant coach at Illinois as its new offensive coordinator.

Joe Keyes, who was an assistant coach at Illinois last year, has been named the new offensive coordinator for the Boilermakers.

Keyes was an assistant coach at Illinois last year under Head Coach Joe Paterno.

Keyes has been with the Boilermakers for the last three years as an offensive coordinator.

He has been with the Boilermakers since 1965, serving as an offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach.

Keyes has also been with the Boilermakers as a graduate assistant coach for two years, from 1963-1964.

Keyes has a very dangerous offense, because they have been able to keep the ball on the field for a long time and make it difficult for their opponents to stop them.

For the third straight week, MSU will face a team on the schedule (a team known as Purdue) Saturday.

Keyes and Company (sometimes at Minnesota last Saturday.

A victory could return MSU to the Top Twenty in the national ratings, despite a 13-0 record while Purdue, a national pre-factor, is striving to get back on top.

Purdue will come into the game 9-3 in the Big Ten Conference.

Kickoff is at 1:30 p.m. for the Spartans-Michigan meeting.

Quarterback Mike Phipps has been sidelined with a sprained ankle, but his replacement is quarterback Frank Farley, a sophomore.

Farley has been the starter for the last several games and is expected to start again Saturday.

The Boilermakers have had a very good season and possibly can win the Big Ten championship.

But they will need to play well against Michigan State to have a chance to win the Big Ten championship.

Despite the injuries, Keyes has proved himself to be the nation's top rusher. He has slowed down Keyes this season and possibly cost the Newport News, Virginia, native several hundred yards.

Keyes alone, however, is not enough to give Purdue a chance to win the Big Ten championship.

The Boilermakers are anchored by middle guard Chuck Kyle, a genuine All-America.

Kyle is definitely one of the best defensive linemen in the country, said Danhoff. He has been outstanding all year long.

Kickoff is at 1:30 p.m. for the Spartans-Michigan meeting.

U.S. bishops pass papal ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—atholic bishops, after days of wrangling in some secrecy, reached a general agreement Thursday to back strongly in their own countries a papal ban on all forms of abortion but were far from unity on all issues about birth control.

But a byday after the bishops in Vatican and the draft of their final statement was released, the 49th plenary session of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops opened.

The bishops are expected to contrac the number of 83 million Roman Catholics to their own countries with a vote to reach the vote on the issue by Thursday.

Saturday morning, the bishops, speaking in English, French and Spanish, began their 2,000-mile conference in Rome, Italy, which has been held in Rome in the United States.

The statement said the bishops would adopt the decision of the pope and that they would announce the issue by the end of the conference.

Socialist revolution termed 'inevitable'

RALPH TOPPS
State News Staff Writer

Members of the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) were held to speak twice last week for an inevitable socialist revolution at a YSA meeting Wednesday night. Carol Lipman, editor of the Michigan月末magazine and National Field Secretary of YSA emphasized that the United States is already in the country. The revolution of the capitalist economy as evidence of "organized anarchy."

"Small social sector. Miss Lipman intertwining throughout the system to control the system to test for public opinion."

Lipman said that some students may be reluctant to come to Ottawa for treatment of VC because of behavioral implications. "He said, however, that it is in the interest of the students to help their fellow students fulfill their need for manpower and to give them a better understanding of the United States. Peace Corps volunteers serve in 52 countries as teachers, in agriculture, and in health. Peace Corps volunteers apply for the position and are expected to take a language aptitude test. A volunteer can expect a general area for work and the type desired. The Peace corps will try to comply with this.

"If accepted, the volunteer enters an intensive training program for 4 to 6 months. The volunteers study the language of their country, the living conditions, and the general attitude of the people. Peace Corps volunteers serve usually about 23 years old and 20 percent are women. Although Peace Corps volunteers are supervised, they can get as occupational deprivations for 2 years.

One college does more than broadened horizons. It sails to them, and beyond.

Now there is a way for you to know the world around you like never before. A way to see the things you've never seen, and do what you've never done. The way is a college that uses the Philadelphia as a classroom for the world, one that can take you to Greece, and inequalities in its students. A college that provides a special period before you return to the United States. A college that makes the world a classroom, a college that is Chapman College. It's a part of all that is Greek.
