Harrison wins Dem. chair

Harrison was able to win the nomination and be elected as county chairman. He received 28 of the 55 votes cast, 23 of those from the Ingham County Democrats, while Joseph Kiersey, the leader of the labor faction of the Democratic County Executive Committee, received none of the three candidates the needed votes and Gilbert Hill, who was nominated by Einar Hardin, received four votes.

MSU sophomore uses false name, faces arraignment

Robert Craig, Battle Creek, who is currently suspended from the Michigan State University, has been charged with attempted breaking into the home of a Michigan State University student. Craig, who said he was a member of the Black Students for Socialism, was arraigned in a charge of false personation.

Civic group to fight racism

An inter-racial group met on the sixth floor of Earl McDonald, sponsored by the Morris Community College. The meeting was attended by several students and faculty members of the college. The meeting was organized to discuss the problems of racial segregation and to find ways to overcome them.

The group discussed the importance of education in fighting racism. They agreed that education is the key to understanding the issues and finding solutions. They also discussed the need for more diversity in the curriculum and the importance of including different perspectives.

The group decided to organize a series of workshops and seminars to raise awareness about the issues of racism. They also discussed the importance of working with other organizations and communities to create a broader understanding of the problems of racism.

The group plans to work towards creating a more inclusive and equitable society. They believe that education and awareness are the first steps towards achieving their goal.

Education seminar debates minority group counseling

By DAVE SHORT State News Staff Writer

The Michigan State Department of Education, the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, and the Michigan State University Counseling Center sponsored an education seminar to address the issues of minority group counseling. The seminar was attended by counselors from various colleges and universities across the state.

The seminar focused on the importance of counseling minority groups and the challenges that counselors face in providing effective services. The seminar also discussed the need for more training and support for counselors working with minority groups.

Attendees were encouraged to share their experiences and ideas for improving minority group counseling services. The seminar concluded with a discussion of the next steps for the Michigan State Department of Education and the Michigan Civil Rights Commission to address the issues of minority group counseling.

The seminar was well-received, and attendees left with a greater understanding of the issues and the importance of providing effective counseling services for minority groups.
Four-year med school a necessity for state

While most of us are making our usual, private New Year’s resolutions, Gov. Romney and the legislature may come up with a resolution of great significance in MHS and the state: the approval of a four-year degree program at the College of Human Medicine.

For the past 12 years a struggle has taken place to create a complete medical school at MSU. As far back as 1966 there was talk of another medical school in the state, and by 1964, with the establishment of the College of Human Medicine, the four-year program seemed to be on the way to reality.

But, as so often is the case, money matters have proved more to be the greatest hurdle. The present two-year program has had its difficulties in the financial realm with inadequate funding and inflation major problems.

Now, however, the four-year program may be approved. The MHS Board of Trustees has sent the proposed budget to the State Board of Control requesting over $800,000 for experimentation with the present program.

It is imperative that the request be granted. For a long period of time there has been need for increased training of physicians in Michigan. A large number of qualified students have been denied admissions in educational institutions.

Another unfortunate fact is that the majority of out-state students are not paying full tuition fees. Fatal mistake! I had another professor who was agreeably surprised at the mere fact that I came to school. I had expected that the library would be a place to get coffee. Suddenly it dawned upon me that I could tell them the number of credits I had already taken. The professor then sent me to the registrar’s office and I went over the credits. Shortly thereafter I got a card for the 10 credits.

With Gov. Romney’s support for the new program, in time Michigan may enjoy the personal freedom that is due any adult be it a University student or anyone other citizen.

U’ and me and you

I went back to the Administration buildings and said that I had checked with my advisor and that it was definitely four credits for 10 weeks. I was an advisor to the Psychology Dept., which is a student’s point of view. I saw the advisor and he made it clear that I should get my advisor to sign for the Psychology Dept. I was told that I had to go to the registrar’s office and get a withdrawal form for zero credits and an add card for the 10 credits.

I went there and explained to the registrar that if I was a part-time student I could not get into the Psychology Dept., which is a student’s point of view. The registrar told me that I had to go to the advisor’s office and get a withdrawal form for zero credits and an add card for the 10 credits.

With their first game coming within minutes of each other, fourth-ranked Michigan State faces the inevitable task of preparing for both of them against their rival, the Michigan Wolverines. The Spartans currently sit at 3-2 in the Big Ten, while the Wolverines are at 2-3. The pressure is on both teams to perform well.

The biggest scoring night of the year's early in the season had been for Michigan State. "We had the best shooting night ever," said Benington. "We won 95% of the time with that kind of shooting." Benington was the top scorer with 28 points, and he added 14 rebounds. "It was a hard game," said Benington. "We had to fight tooth and nail to win.

Ticket policy for twinball

MSU's basketball ticket policy is strict, and spectators who show colored ID cards for all admission. Faculty members must purchase general admission tickets.

The role of the shot clock is to limit the number of shots that a team can take. Benington said, "It's still a good defense system.

Peace talks

Santa Claus not welcome at meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Santa Claus was not welcome at the White House Christmas party on Thursday, December 5, 1968, as the holiday season also brought talk of peace talks in Vietnam. President Lyndon B. Johnson said that he would not allow the jolly fighter to come to the White House for the holiday festivities. Among those who supported the president's decision were the Santa Claus Committee, who had agreed on certain undeclared rules for the holiday. The committee held a meeting on the second floor of the White House on Thursday, December 5, 1968, to discuss the rules and regulations that should apply only to the students. The committee was composed of the student affairs staff, faculty, and administration.

Fire rips apartment in Cherry Lane area

A fire probably started by a neglected smoking caused an estimated $800 damage to an apartment in Cherry Lane Wednesday night.

John Bracken, East Lansing police, said the fire at about 11:30 a.m. was extinguished before it could do any further damage.

The fire started in the kitchen area and spread through the hall to the next apartment.

The occupants of the apartment were able to escape without injury.

United States. He urged that the present emphasis be placed on the promotion of racial equality and economic reforms.

Racial equality and economic reforms are critical components of the struggle for social justice. By addressing these issues, we can work towards creating a society that is truly inclusive and equitable for all its members.

The United States must take decisive action to address these problems. The government has a responsibility to ensure that all citizens are treated fairly and that social justice is achieved.

The president-elect has expressed support for the effort to promote racial equality and economic reforms. He has called for a comprehensive approach that addresses these issues at every level of government.
