Notre Dame president to speak at graduation

PARIS TALKS

Tombstone?

State News Staff Writer

The president of Notre Dame University, Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, will address the American Council on Education Thursday in New York City. This is his first visit to New York since joining the Council in 1963.

In his address, President Hesburgh will discuss the role of higher education in today's world, focusing on the importance of diversity, inclusivity, and global perspectives. He will also highlight Notre Dame's commitment to social justice, ethical leadership, and academic excellence.

Hesburgh's speech will be followed by a panel discussion featuring educational leaders from various institutions. The event aims to foster dialogue and collaboration among educators and policymakers to address pressing issues in higher education.

The address will take place from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the ACE headquarters. For more information, please visit the ACE website or contact the organizing committee.

Grads to study stacks proposal

Walt Chappell, Council of Graduate Students (COGS) chairman, announced Thursday the formation of a COGS committee to study the recent undergraduate proposal concerning Library usage to the Academic Council.

This proposal, presented at the Tuesday night meeting of the Academic Council by Jeff King, AIMS senior member-at-large, concerned opening of graduate Library stacks to undergraduates, and that the stacks remain open to undergraduates until March 31.

Chappell said that the reason for studying the proposal was to do "a more through job of preparing the graduate point of view" in order to formulate a formal statement for the next meeting of the Faculty Library Committee.

"I want to make sure that the students in the form of presentations, the students of formulating a formal statement for the next meeting of the Faculty Library Committee.

Chappell announced Thursday the formation of a COGS committee to study the recent undergraduate proposal concerning Library usage to the Library stacks to undergraduates. However, the committee decided that the stacks remain open to undergraduates until March 31.

Representative to the Faculty Library Committee, and Larry McCullough, student member-at-large, all graduate students. Their findings and formal recommendations will be sent to the COGS meeting Dec. 17.

Babcock supported for Cabinet position

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Former Sen. Henry Jackson, six of the senators selected for Cabinet positions by President-elect Nixon, is expected to talk to Nixon about the job when the incoming president arrives at the Republican National Convention in August.

Thirty-one Republican governors and governors-elect, along with re-elected governors, were arriving for the post-election meeting. The meeting was on the agenda of formal meetings beginning Wednesday with in-depth discussions of the political and economic relationships between the states and the federal government at the state of the cabinet level.

Controversial artist to leave LCC

By KEN KROSS

A famous American artist who is known for his provocative works is leaving the Lansing Community College. The artist, known for his controversial pieces, was originally scheduled to stay at the college until the end of the semester, but has now decided to leave after a series of incidents involving his work.

Sneaky Santa

Santa Claus slipped into East and West Yakeley Halls to honor the coeds, but upon closer inspection, the gifts discovered by Stage News columnist Betty Finn and Gabe was only testing his new how-to-get-an-easy-date theory.

That same weekend, Tom Zammitti, East Lansing chief of police, discussed the techniques of shoplifting and its prevention.

The Scholars were getting ready for an airplane so that she could get away from Yakeley. Santa told Mrs. Stauffer, Yakeley Lady, that he was testing his new how-to-get-an-easy-date theory.

Evans Scholars play St. Nick

Quick Service

Evans Scholars, a scholarship brunch held for men, gathered for an evening of relaxation and study, a trip to Pittsburgh for Christmas.

Dudley, manager of financial operations, and family members, invited a group of Evans Scholars to St Nick's private gardens wedding anniversary this January.

Driving there was out of the question due to expected hot conditions in the Mike and mist hiding sections of Pennsylvania during the winter months.

After dinner at the Oakland Free Press, the scholars returned to campus thinking of the Christmas that they have just celebrated.

About two weeks later the scholars are supposed to appear in the Travel Guide column of the Free Press.

In the Yakeley ladies were surprised by Santa's visit and then they realized that Santa was a male.
Michael E. Grost, Lansing senior, and 10-year-old student at Michigan State University, as an undergraduate student, will receive his B.S. degree Saturday as MSU’s youngest graduate. Grost began his college career at age 10, becoming the youngest student ever to enroll at MSU, beginning to maintain a 2.0 grade point average. Grost said that as a 10-year-old freshman, it was not a “serious problem” to adjust to college study early in college study. He audited courses during his high school years and received a C minus in his first college class, in a history major, before his 21st birthday. His biggest difficulty was writing essay answers. It takes time to learn to write essay answers. He explained that his average was somewhat over 3.8. Grost added that as a freshman, he read the stage where grades aren’t important. He don’t lose much stick so closely to the book. He also enjoys reading Agatha Christie, Dostoyevsky, and Fyodor Dostoyevsky. The Michigan State University men's hockey team will begin its season tonight against the University of Wisconsin at 8:30 p.m. at Jenison Fieldhouse. The Spartan hockey team will be playing their first game of the season tonight against the University of Wisconsin at 8:30 p.m. at Jenison Fieldhouse. The game will be the first of the regular season for the Spartans.

The Michigan State University hockey team is coming off a successful season last year, finishing fourth in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association. The team returned all four of its top scorers from last season, including sophomore Paul Gartland, who scored 17 goals and added 31 assists. Freshman Andy Bepple also had a strong season, scoring 10 goals and adding 13 assists.

The Spartans will be looking to build on their success from last year and continue their ascent in the WCHA. The team has a strong roster, with several returning players and some exciting new faces.

State University of New York at Albany holds the NCAA Division II men's hockey championship trophy and is looking to defend their title. The team is coming off a strong season, finishing the regular season with a record of 22-7-0 and finishing as the top seed in the Northeast Conference.

The Boobers, as they are known, are a small college team that has been a surprise success in recent years. They won the Northeast Conference championship last season and then went on to win the NCAA Division II championship.

The Boobers are led by head coach Ken Astin, who has led the team to success over the past few years. They have a strong roster of players, including several returning players from last season.

The Boobers will be looking to continue their success this season and defend their NCAA Division II championship title.

Square dancing: an art

Square dancing is an art that requires a high degree of cooperation and coordination, according to Earle B. Hurst, Lansing, Mich., president of the Michigan Square Dancing Inc., which is sponsoring the square dancing program at the Michigan State Fair, East Lansing.

Hurst said that square dancing is an art that requires a high degree of cooperation and coordination. It is a social dance that involves four people and is performed in a square formation. The dance consists of a series of steps and movements that are executed in a specific order.

The art of square dancing involves the following elements:

1. Coordination: The dancers must coordinate their movements and steps, ensuring that everyone is in sync.
2. Music: The dance is set to music, which determines the rhythm and tempo of the steps.
3. Timing: The dancers must be able to follow the rhythm and tempo of the music to execute the steps correctly.
4. Communication: The dancers must communicate effectively with each other, using hand signals or verbal cues to guide each other's movements.
5. Style: The dancers must exhibit their own style and personal flair, adding their own interpretation to the dance.

Square dancing is a popular social dance that is enjoyed by people of all ages, backgrounds, and abilities. It is an excellent way to socialize, stay active, and have fun.

Salary matters topic of discussion

By PATRICK FOLEY

Does the secrecy about salary matters in MSU endanger quality education?

Should there be a salary scale for the faculty and how should this scale be devised?

Should the faculty negotiate collectively in salary matters?

Is the university in a position to keep their salaries from the general public. Disclosure about their salaries is discouraging to quality education?

Could there be a salary scale based on talent or the general public. Disclosure about their salaries Is discouraging to quality education?

By PATRICK FOLEY

Salary scales are devised for different types of universities. By adopting a salary scale, more competitive salaries could be maintained. Different types of salaries are negotiated by the faculty.

Walter Adams, professor of economics, said that salaries are supposed to reflect talent and academic credentials. Adams also said that the faculty salaries are too close together, which makes it difficult for younger and less experienced professors to get a rise.

Larrowe, professor and labor of mathematics, agreed that a separate scale of pay is needed for each field of study. In this scale, mathematicians who are at the top of the scale could be more competitive. The salaries on different fields of study could be determined by the going market price.

Adams said that the quest for "superstars" could see whether the discrepancy of salaries could be corrected by adoption of a salary scale. Several different types of salaries are negotiated by the faculty.

Several different types of salaries are negotiated by the faculty. For example, associate professors might find the scale too low and not have the chance of advancement. Adams said that the American Association of University Professors does not favor a scale for the faculty. The APUU reads each June in the magazine, the APUU bulletin, the average salary of nearly all members and salaries of the faculty.
