Youth shoots at cosmonaut during parade

MOSCOW (AP) - A youth de¬ charged by the Russian police for randomly fired several shots inside the cosmonauts' quarters in the Salyut 7 space station on Tuesday.

The youth, who was riding a motor¬ cycle, was shot when he attempted to escape. The cosmonauts were not in the building at the time of the incident. No injuries were reported.

On Wednesday, the Russian police charged the youth with assault.

A social worker at the Russian space agency said the youth was known to be troubled.

The youth was taken into custody.

Residents of the area said they had seen the youth frequently around the cosmonauts' quarters.

By ROBERT MCKNIGHT

Gov. Hickel wins fight for Senate confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP) - Alaska Gov.
Walter J. Hickel was declared con¬ firmed by the United States Senate on Tuesday after a marathon debate that lasted nearly two hours.

Hickel, a former Alaska governor and senator, has been nominated to a seat on the Senate Ethics Com¬ mittee.

The confirmation vote was 73 to 0.

Senators discussed the nomination for two hours.

The vote to confirm Hickel was 73
to 0, with 0 abstentions.

Several Democrats who voted for Hickel said they did so with reserva¬ tions but in support of the Senate's role in approving the nominations.

Republican senators, who oppose the nominations, did not speak in debate.

The nomination of Hickel was not expected to be controversial.

By ROBERT MCKNIGHT

Soul City

Black economy sought

By GLORIA SNEED

Charleston, W.Va. - evening's co¬
ference meeting on the "Black econo¬
y of the United States" was held at the
State University of New York at
Binghamton, N.Y.

The meeting was attended by 200
people, including economists, politi¬ cal scientists, and social activists.

The conference, sponsored by the Black Economic Policy Institute, was designed to explore the economic problems faced by African Americans.

The keynote address was given by
Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who spoke on "The Future of the Black Community.

The conference concluded with a roundtable discussion on the future of the black community.

By GLORIA SNEED

Soul City's Brothel

Black economy sought

By GLORIA SNEED

Charleston, W.Va. - evening's co¬
ference meeting on the "Black econo¬
y of the United States" was held at the
State University of New York at
Binghamton, N.Y.

The meeting was attended by 200
people, including economists, politi¬ cal scientists, and social activists.

The keynote address was given by
Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who spoke on "The Future of the Black Community.

The conference concluded with a roundtable discussion on the future of
the black community.

By GLORIA SNEED

Soul City's Brothel

Black economy sought
City council weighs personal income tax

As East Lansing makes the transition from a small town to a city, residents will have to realize the increase in local government costs and face proposals such as a personal income tax, Mayor Gordon L. Thomas recently stated.

During 1968 the city made an effort to conduct a study on a personal income tax. East Lansing is the region of the state in which existing information on the advantages of the tax, John M. Patriarche, city manager, said.

A 4 percent personal income tax would raise $105,000 annually and aid in limiting the burden the property owners would face, Patriarche said.

"We will not replace money we receive from MSU students," he said, "but we will get a smaller amount from people who work at the University and live elsewhere.

According to the report of the Planning Commission in 1968, 43 percent of the East Lansing population work at the University. Patriarche and Thomas emphasized the need for the tax.

"Student income tax is not large due to the economies involved," he said.

Of the personal income tax, the city would receive $35,000 from nonresidents and $70,000 from the state. However, the tax would not be levied on the income from the sale of bonds or income from the sale of MSU stock.

If adopted, the tax would yield a per capita increase of $12. That approximate tax would rank East Lansing second in the nation. Wisconsin is the first.

"The tax would provide the city with the opportunity to look into the various aspects of the city that need improvement," Thomas said.

The low amount from corporate income taxes due to the lack of corporations in the city is Patriarche's concern. The tax would replace much of this money he said.

However, it is unlikely that the tax would be accepted by the city council. It would take a two-thirds vote of the council to accept the tax. The council voted against the tax during its last meeting.

"The council opposed the tax in the last meeting," he said. "On March 26 a proposal was made to introduce the tax in the council. We voted it down." The council then voted to oppose the tax, he said.

Sarah Daily, editorial writer

SUNDAY FEATURES:

City council weighs personal income tax

As East Lansing makes the transition from a small town to a city, residents will have to realize the increase in local government costs and face proposals such as a personal income tax, Mayor Gordon L. Thomas recently stated.

During 1968 the city made an effort to conduct a study on a personal income tax. East Lansing is the region of the state in which existing information on the advantages of the tax, John M. Patriarche, city manager, said.

A 4 percent personal income tax would raise $105,000 annually and aid in limiting the burden the property owners would face, Patriarche said.

"We will not replace money we receive from MSU students," he said, "but we will get a smaller amount from people who work at the University and live elsewhere.

According to the report of the Planning Commission in 1968, 43 percent of the East Lansing population work at the University. Patriarche and Thomas emphasized the need for the tax.

"Student income tax is not large due to the economies involved," he said.

Of the personal income tax, the city would receive $35,000 from nonresidents and $70,000 from the state. However, the tax would not be levied on the income from the sale of bonds or income from the sale of MSU stock.

If adopted, the tax would yield a per capita increase of $12. That approximate tax would rank East Lansing second in the nation. Wisconsin is the first.

"The tax would provide the city with the opportunity to look into the various aspects of the city that need improvement," Thomas said.

The low amount from corporate income taxes due to the lack of corporations in the city is Patriarche's concern. The tax would replace much of this money he said.

However, it is unlikely that the tax would be accepted by the city council. It would take a two-thirds vote of the council to accept the tax. The council voted against the tax during its last meeting.

"The council opposed the tax in the last meeting," he said. "On March 26 a proposal was made to introduce the tax in the council. We voted it down." The council then voted to oppose the tax, he said.

Sarah Daily, editorial writer

12 MONTH FULL WARRANTY
UNLIMITED MILEAGE
"LIVE A LITTLE" GO-RENAUT!!
Al Edwards
Sports Car Center

1202 E. OAKLAND
Overseas Delivery Arranged
PHONE 482-1226

SPORTS CAR CENTER

Friday, July 24, 1969
WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon ordered primary studies Thursday of problems affecting the nation's cities, and also ordered planning for effective programs to deal with money being spent in Vietnam.

Nixon, in a directive or- dered by the National Council for Urban Affairs and said that, even though only three-tenths of the population lives in urban areas, the American national government has expressed an interest in urban problems.

City officials were impressed by the mandate, which is a first-aid action.

The President challenged the American people to commit to the cause of urban political scientist Daniel P. Moynihan's consistent position that urban problems exist in the nation as a whole and that there is no urban problem that will not be fixed if it will be addressed.

Nixon named career under- Secretary of Urban Affairs, who headed up the National Council for Urban Affairs.

The new directive was to be considered a major stimulus for urban programs, and the President said that the urban problems were the key to the nation's internal development.

PARIS REVOLTS

Flaggs unfurl as students seize office in Sorbonne

Mass arrests follow Frisco State strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Clanging police sirens up- strike rally Thursday at San Francisco State College and made the first round-up since student protests began three months ago.

At least 500 were arrested.

Signs of violence included streetfights and rumbling, shooting. Power in the air.

Two of the arrested were said to be students.

Demonstrations continued to be marked by 200 police cars and police, and it was reported that police officers were using tear gas and trying to disperse the crowd.

The impressive arrest occurred when the police officers opened fire on the students, who were attempting to break through a barrier and scuffle with police officers in an attempt to disperse the crowd.

The arrest occurred when the police officers opened fire on the students, who were attempting to break through a barrier and scuffle with police officers in an attempt to disperse the crowd.

The arrest occurred when the police officers opened fire on the students, who were attempting to break through a barrier and scuffle with police officers in an attempt to disperse the crowd.

The arrest occurred when the police officers opened fire on the students, who were attempting to break through a barrier and scuffle with police officers in an attempt to disperse the crowd.

The arrest occurred when the police officers opened fire on the students, who were attempting to break through a barrier and scuffle with police officers in an attempt to disperse the crowd.

The arrest occurred when the police officers opened fire on the students, who were attempting to break through a barrier and scuffle with police officers in an attempt to disperse the crowd.

The arrest occurred when the police officers opened fire on the students, who were attempting to break through a barrier and scuffle with police officers in an attempt to disperse the crowd.

The arrest occurred when the police officers opened fire on the students, who were attempting to break through a barrier and scuffle with police officers in an attempt to disperse the crowd.

The arrest occurred when the police officers opened fire on the students, who were attempting to break through a barrier and scuffle with police officers in an attempt to disperse the crowd.

The arrest occurred when the police officers opened fire on the students, who were attempting to break through a barrier and scuffle with police officers in an attempt to disperse the crowd.

The arrest occurred when the police officers opened fire on the students, who were attempting to break through a barrier and scuffle with police officers in an attempt to disperse the crowd.
MSU and the budget

By MICHAEL LAMING, JR.

Inauguration Day, Dec. 9, was a tense day for the Michigan State University student body. The new president's inauguration and the political pageantry that followed were in stark contrast to the peaceful protest that had taken place just one week earlier. Despite the tense atmosphere, the university administration was ready to proceed with the ceremony.

The budget request for the next fiscal year was a significant issue, as the university was facing financial challenges. The administration was hopeful that the legislature would provide the necessary funding to keep the university running smoothly.

The new president's inaugural address was an opportunity to set the tone for the upcoming fiscal year. He emphasized the importance of education and the need for continued support from the state legislature.

The ceremony was attended by hundreds of students, faculty, and staff, as well as by local and state officials. The president gave a speech that was well-received, and the parade that followed was a festive event.

Overall, the day was a success, and the university was hopeful for a bright future.

---

Cynicism bounds of inauguration

By MAX LERNER

The Nixon years begin

Now that the champagne celebration is over and the inaugural balls are over, President Nixon has had time to get the feel of the leather chair in his executive office. He is taking the time to put together his cabinet and his legislative team. He has the advantage of having a strong team in place, and he is taking the time to build a strong team.

Among his top priorities are the budget, inflation, and national security. He is also concerned about the economy and the future of the country.

The budget is a major issue, as the federal government is facing a budget deficit. Nixon is expected to propose a budget that is focused on reducing the deficit and balancing the budget.

Inflation is also a major issue, as the cost of living continues to rise. Nixon is expected to propose a plan to control inflation and reduce the cost of living.

National security is another major issue, as the country is facing threats from abroad. Nixon is expected to propose a plan to protect the country from these threats.

The new president is expected to have a busy first year, as he works to build a strong team and address the major issues facing the country.

---

Regaining the trust of a doubtful world

Now that the champagne celebration is over and the inaugural balls are over, President Nixon has had time to get the feel of the leather chair in his executive office. He is taking the time to put together his cabinet and his legislative team. He has the advantage of having a strong team in place, and he is taking the time to build a strong team.

Among his top priorities are the budget, inflation, and national security. He is also concerned about the economy and the future of the country.

The budget is a major issue, as the federal government is facing a budget deficit. Nixon is expected to propose a budget that is focused on reducing the deficit and balancing the budget.

Inflation is also a major issue, as the cost of living continues to rise. Nixon is expected to propose a plan to control inflation and reduce the cost of living.

National security is another major issue, as the country is facing threats from abroad. Nixon is expected to propose a plan to protect the country from these threats.

The new president is expected to have a busy first year, as he works to build a strong team and address the major issues facing the country.

---

The Dixon case

The Dixon case has been a major issue in recent years. The case has been the subject of much debate and has garnered a lot of attention. It is expected that the new president will address the case in his inaugural address.

The Dixon case involves a young man who was wrongly convicted of a crime. The case has been a symbol of the injustice that can occur within the legal system. The new president is expected to address the case and to call for reforms to prevent similar cases from happening in the future.

The new president is expected to have a busy first year, as he works to build a strong team and address the major issues facing the country.

---

The future of the country

The future of the country is unknown, and the new president will have to make some tough decisions to ensure a bright future. He will have to work with Congress to pass important legislation, and he will have to address the major issues facing the country.

The new president is expected to have a busy first year, as he works to build a strong team and address the major issues facing the country.

---

The election of 1968

The election of 1968 was a major event in recent history. It was a time of great uncertainty, and the outcome of the election was uncertain. The new president will have to build a strong team and address the major issues facing the country.

The new president is expected to have a busy first year, as he works to build a strong team and address the major issues facing the country.

---

The role of the media

The role of the media in shaping public opinion is a major issue. The new president will have to work with the media to ensure that the public is informed and that the country is moving in the right direction.

The new president is expected to have a busy first year, as he works to build a strong team and address the major issues facing the country.

---

The role of the government

The role of the government in society is a major issue. The new president will have to work with Congress to pass important legislation and to ensure that the government is functioning properly.

The new president is expected to have a busy first year, as he works to build a strong team and address the major issues facing the country.

---

The role of the president

The role of the president in society is a major issue. The new president will have to work with Congress to pass important legislation and to ensure that the country is moving in the right direction.

The new president is expected to have a busy first year, as he works to build a strong team and address the major issues facing the country.

---

The role of the military

The role of the military in society is a major issue. The new president will have to work with Congress to pass important legislation and to ensure that the country is moving in the right direction.

The new president is expected to have a busy first year, as he works to build a strong team and address the major issues facing the country.
Bifara minorities forgotten

In their uncritically pro-Nupreca and anti-vanguard rhetoric for virtually two decades, some Nigerian historiographers have chosen to turn a blind eye to the fact that Bifara minority in the Eastern region of Nigeria represent a distinct ethnic group because they have not been listed among the thirty-six recognized tribes of Nigeria due to historical reasons.

The Bifara people, who are predominantly found in the area between the Cross River and the Obubra River, have a rich cultural heritage that dates back to the pre-colonial era. They have their own language, customs, and traditions, and are known for their hospitality and resilience.

Despite their distinct identity, the Bifara have been largely overlooked in the national discourse, with their history and achievements often neglected. This has contributed to a sense of marginalization and exclusion from the benefits of national development.

The minority areas to the Bifara are to be kept under surveillance.

In the absence of adequate official recognition and support, the Bifara minority in the Eastern region of Nigeria continue to face challenges in asserting their cultural and political rights. Their struggle for recognition is an important issue that deserves attention from policymakers and the wider public.

Food... Friends... Fun...

Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Michigan

FRIDAY 4 TO 6

Bottled under authority of the Coca-Cola Company by

Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Michigan

Farahpress
the stay-neat men's slacks
$7 to $11

Always "just pressed." Even after a day of wear. Even after machine washing. Farahpress slacks are fresh for school or just plain casual wear. Choose your Farahpress slacks by Faris from the largest collection in Lansing. Full ranges in sizes.

men's big sweater special

7.99 & 10.99

Now save on your favorite turtleneck and V-neck pull-overs of fine wool, and assorted blends. Bold and patterns. Great values.
'Soul on Ice' Book reveals a gentle Cleaver

name carried with it a new sense of identity, and a new freedom of expression. The title, 'Soul on Ice,' is a metaphor for the experiences and insights of the characters in the novel, who are seeking to break free from the constraints of their lives.

The book is divided into sections, each focusing on a different aspect of the characters' lives. The first section, 'The World of Soul,' explores the idea of soul in music and culture. The second section, 'The World of Ice,' examines the isolation and alienation experienced by the characters.

In the third section, 'The World of Fire,' the characters begin to find a sense of purpose and meaning. They learn to appreciate the beauty of diversity and the potential for change. The final section, 'The World of Love,' portrays the characters' journey towards understanding and connection.

Throughout the book, Cleaver uses a vivid and powerful language to convey the emotional depth of the characters. The book is a powerful reminder of the power of love and the importance of breaking down barriers of race and class.
It’s all over...

“...Oh, what a Lovely Way to Throw Away an Evening” with rhythm and from all appearances the “true” of these strange performers also closed. The production was staged at the University of Michigan State News Photo by Wayne Nachman Grafton Truitt, of the Dept. of Sociology, addresses a workshop for Spanish-speaking community leaders from Lansing, Kalamazoo, and Toledo.

State News Photo by Neil Cannell

Jazz, rock top weekend fun

By GREG SCHROEDER

Students who like to sleep in class can now join a course whose purpose is to put the class to sleep. The Free University is of course hypnosis.

The course, “Hypnosis for Study and Relaxation” is taught by David L. Biskovec, a Battle Creek seems who has been teaching and practicing hypnosis for five years.

The purpose of the course is to teach people how to put themselves in a trance-like state.

Florida paper features nude within library

COLUMBUS, Ohio—A nude female statue in the stacks of the University of Florida’s libraries was featured Thursday in a student newspaper, the Daily Dragon, under the headline “The Naked Truth.” The statue, which is a bust of a woman, was noticed by a student who was looking for a book in the library.

The statue, which appears to be a piece of art, is located on the second floor of the library. It is part of a collection of nude sculptures, including one of a man.

There is no indication that the statue is being removed or altered.

No further action has been taken by the university to address the situation.

Florida paper features nude within library

COLUMBUS, Ohio—A nude female statue in the stacks of the University of Florida’s libraries was featured Thursday in a student newspaper, the Daily Dragon, under the headline “The Naked Truth.” The statue, which is a bust of a woman, was noticed by a student who was looking for a book in the library.

The statue, which appears to be a piece of art, is located on the second floor of the library. It is part of a collection of nude sculptures, including one of a man.

There is no indication that the statue is being removed or altered.

No further action has been taken by the university to address the situation.

Florida paper features nude within library

COLUMBUS, Ohio—A nude female statue in the stacks of the University of Florida’s libraries was featured Thursday in a student newspaper, the Daily Dragon, under the headline “The Naked Truth.” The statue, which is a bust of a woman, was noticed by a student who was looking for a book in the library.

The statue, which appears to be a piece of art, is located on the second floor of the library. It is part of a collection of nude sculptures, including one of a man.

There is no indication that the statue is being removed or altered.

No further action has been taken by the university to address the situation.

Florida paper features nude within library

COLUMBUS, Ohio—A nude female statue in the stacks of the University of Florida’s libraries was featured Thursday in a student newspaper, the Daily Dragon, under the headline “The Naked Truth.” The statue, which is a bust of a woman, was noticed by a student who was looking for a book in the library.

The statue, which appears to be a piece of art, is located on the second floor of the library. It is part of a collection of nude sculptures, including one of a man.

There is no indication that the statue is being removed or altered.

No further action has been taken by the university to address the situation.

Florida paper features nude within library

COLUMBUS, Ohio—A nude female statue in the stacks of the University of Florida’s libraries was featured Thursday in a student newspaper, the Daily Dragon, under the headline “The Naked Truth.” The statue, which is a bust of a woman, was noticed by a student who was looking for a book in the library.

The statue, which appears to be a piece of art, is located on the second floor of the library. It is part of a collection of nude sculptures, including one of a man.

There is no indication that the statue is being removed or altered.

No further action has been taken by the university to address the situation.

Florida paper features nude within library

COLUMBUS, Ohio—A nude female statue in the stacks of the University of Florida’s libraries was featured Thursday in a student newspaper, the Daily Dragon, under the headline “The Naked Truth.” The statue, which is a bust of a woman, was noticed by a student who was looking for a book in the library.

The statue, which appears to be a piece of art, is located on the second floor of the library. It is part of a collection of nude sculptures, including one of a man.

There is no indication that the statue is being removed or altered.

No further action has been taken by the university to address the situation.
To market, to market . . .
The MUS Marketing Club met recently to plan for their April conference. President Dave Patter, right, discusses the budget with the club's vice president, Fred State News Photo by Jim Richardson.
Mormons avoid intermarriages

By CAROL CONNOR

Interfaith marriages are encouraged by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon), although all reports about the practice are anecdotal. Gordon L. Beck, Brigham Young University sociology professor, said he has heard that there were more Mormon interfaith marriages now than in the 1940's and 1950's before people were married by age 21.

In an interview with The Salt Lake Tribune, Beck said he has heard that there were more Mormon interfaith marriages now than in the 1940's and 1950's before people were married by age 21.

Mormons have an attitude about marriage that is different from many church groups because the Mormon Church believes in a "prophetic" marriage system rather than a "legal" one and also is against intermarriages. However, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints does not prohibit interfaith marriages, but encourages them to be legal and to be entered into with the consent of both parties.

The Mormon Church does not consider interfaith marriages as "legal" marriages, but rather as "Prophetic" marriages. A prophetic marriage is one that is sealed by a religious authority, such as a bishop or priest, and is therefore considered to be binding upon the people involved. This differs from a legal marriage, which is based on civil law and is recognized by the government.

This attitude is seen in the church's teaching about marriage: "Marriage is for life. It is a sacred union between two people that is intended to last forever. It is not to be dissolved by death or divorce."

The Mormon Church also teaches that it is important for individuals to marry someone who shares their religious beliefs and values, as this will help to ensure a successful and fulfilling marriage. This is because it is believed that marriage is a sacred institution that is intended to bring people closer to God and to help them live better lives.

In the past, the Mormon Church has taken a strict stance against interfaith marriages, refusing to recognize them as legal marriages and often refusing to perform religious ceremonies for couples involved in such marriages. However, in recent years, the church has become more accepting of interfaith marriages and has begun to recognize them as legal and valid relationships.

Despite this change, the church still encourages its members to marry someone who shares their religious beliefs and values. This is because it is believed that marriage is a sacred institution that is intended to bring people closer to God and to help them live better lives.
by MIKE MANLEY

State News Sports Writer

Michigan State, struggling to snap a three-game losing skid, will travel to East Lansing today for its second meeting with No. 1-ranked Michigan. The Spartans defeated the Wolverines here Saturday, 7-4, after Fife had handed Michigan a 3-2 setback.

East Lansing - The Big Ten rivals are meeting again this season, with the third game of the series set for this afternoon. The Spartans have dropped three in a row to the Wolverines. The expected contest will be televised on Michigan's Big Ten Network.

The atmosphere will be electric with the Big Ten Game of the Week.

After opening the Big Ten season with a dominating win over Wisconsin, the Wolverines have dropped three in a row. They lost at Minnesota, 4-0, at home against Ohio State, 4-0, and then dropped another one, 6-2, to Indiana on Tuesday.

We might be able to have a lot of surprises in this one. Michigan is a good team, but they are playing poorly. We have to be ready to take advantage of that.

Michigan State's offense has been inconsistent, but they have had some good moments. They need to find a way to score.

On defense, the Wolverines have struggled against the Spartans. They need to get back to the basics.

The Spartans have a strong defense, but their offense has been inconsistent. They need to find a way to score.

Season opener Saturday

Pollard lost for 'S' winter track

For the second year in a row, Michigan State has been the Wolverines' nemesis. But lost to U-M, 2-1, in a 3-2, 2-0, 1-0, 2-0, 6-2.

It was another disappointing loss for the Spartans, who have lost the last two meetings.

The Wolverines played well, and their defense was dominant.

The Spartans need to work on their defense, and they need to find a way to score more often.

While the loss is disheartening, the team is not ready to give up just yet. They have a lot of work to do, and they will be looking to bounce back in the next game.

The Wolverines have a strong offense, but their defense has been inconsistent. They need to find a way to hold onto leads.

The Spartans have a strong defense, but they need to find a way to score more often.

Overall, it was a tough loss for the Spartans. They need to regroup and focus on their next game.

Season opener Saturday

Pollard lost for 'S' winter track
Wolverine icer stalls Spartans

BY JOHN VIRG
State Sports Writer

The Michigan hockey team brings to its 11-0 record and seven goals scored in each of its last three games a very different team from its counterparts when the two teams met last week. The Wolverines have turned their focus to the first place in the WCHA standings. Presently holding second place is North Dakota, which the Wolverines meet this evening. The game is being played in Ann Arbor and is the third of the season. The Wolverines have won both games, with the last win being 5-4 on Feb. 11.

Paul Down

SUNDAY SERVICES
FRIDAY 7 P.M., SATURDAY 9:30 A.M.
SUNDAY, JAN. 16, 6:35 P.M.
SUNDAY, JAN. 23, 6:35 P.M.
SUNDAY, JAN. 30, 6:35 P.M.
SUNDAY, FEB. 6, 6:35 P.M.
SUNDAY, FEB. 13, 6:35 P.M.
SUNDAY, FEB. 20, 6:35 P.M.
SUNDAY, FEB. 27, 6:35 P.M.

GRAND PENINSULA

Canes battle Miami, Purdue

BY JOHN VIRG
State Sports Writer

The Michigan hockey team will host its biggest challenge this weekend. The visiting Miami Hurricanes, who are currently ranked first in the nation, will meet the Wolverines in their first game of the weekend. The Hurricans have won 13 of their 16 games this season and have lost only three against Big Ten teams.

The game is being played at Yost Ice Arena and is the second of the season. The Hurricans will be looking for their fourth straight win, while the Wolverines will be seeking their fifth straight victory.

The Hurricans have turned their focus to the first place in the WCHA standings. Presently holding second place is North Dakota, which the Wolverines meet this evening. The game is being played in Ann Arbor and is the third of the season. The Wolverines have won both games, with the last win being 5-4 on Feb. 11.
Automotive

AUDI 100 C1 2-1/47
AUXILIARY 14 2-1/24
BRENTWOOD 346 3-11
CHEVROLET II 1962 1-23
CORVETTE II 1962 1-31
REO 3-1/2 2-28
SILVER STREAK 1954 1-12
OLDSMOBILE 98 2-2
Volkswagen of Grand River

drive the exciting new BMW

BMW Car and Driver's choice of BMW "the most spectacular bargain in the entire spectrum of imported cars." Road and Travel has BMW as one of the seven best made cars in the world. You can't go wrong. A driving need of 150 miles or more? Up to 250 miles with a 90 mph. And now. That's the latest from Germany's famed Bavarian Motor Works, where racing victories are a 50 year tradition. Recent BMW Indianapolis include winning the last three races in a row. Penn Traffic. This annual 200 mile oval is the world's most important race car event. The BMW driving thrill of your life, drive this new BMW today!

Phil Gordon's Inc.
2924 E. GRAND RIVER
LANSING 484-2552

STATE NEWS WANT ADS GET RESULTS! CALL NOW!

State News Classified
355-8255
Editorial controversy delays "The Paper"

By DAVID GLADWELL

States News Staff Writer

"The Paper," the underground newspaper of MSU and similar which has been published on this campus during the last year or so, is really a patchwork of various issues written by different students and groups.

One of the major issues facing "The Paper" is determining future editorial policy. Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) has been closely allied with "The Paper," both economically and politically. SDS believes in a more radical approach to campus problems.

SDS's position is that students should not have to pay for the editorials. Instead, SDS would like to have a group of students appointed by the administration to write editorials for "The Paper." SDS feels that this would ensure a more objective approach to campus issues.

However, the administration has been opposed to this proposal. They feel that students should have the right to express their views in the newspaper, even if they disagree with the administration.

The controversial issue of the "baby," or the term "The Paper" used to refer to the campus community, has been one of the most debated topics in the newspaper. SDS feels that the term is offensive and should not be used.

The administration, on the other hand, feels that the term is not offensive and is a part of the campus culture.

The debate over the "baby" term has led to arift in the student body. SDS members have been vocal in their opposition to the term, while other students have defended the use of the term.

In addition to the "baby" controversy, there have been other conflicts between SDS and the administration over the editorial policy of "The Paper." SDS feels that the newspaper should be more radical and that the administration should not have too much control over the newspaper.

The administration, on the other hand, feels that the newspaper should be a responsible and objective source of information.

The controversy over "The Paper" and its editorial policy has sparked a debate among students about the role of the campus newspaper.

col安倍-policy

Calm Faculty

Calm faculty members should not take sides in the controversy over the editorial policy of "The Paper." Both SDS and the administration have valid points to make.

The faculty should not allow their personal biases to interfere with their role as educators.

The faculty should focus on the education of the students, not on the editorial policy of "The Paper."