Campus groups organize against violence

Not every group wanted to take over an administration building yesterday as part of the student organization's 11th annual dol¬ or demonstration on campus.

Its college campus across the United States are being organized to oppose violence and in support of resistance to the war in Vietnam with the regular educational programs.

In response to President Nixon's speech at MSU in which he detailed how the United States is involved in the war, the groups that had been sent out to the State of Michigan have been brought together.

The Conquered Students, a group of 13
students led by George Gold, a senior,
was organized to publicly express the "majority's" reaction to the speech.

"We are just trying to get the message across that this is not only the reac¬ tion of MSU students but just interested folks," said one of the organizers.

Base group began circulating petitions
during the Roosevelt administration.
It began the petition state, "It is in the arm of the organized students and faculty at MSU to seek the welfare of all students, the people and the country of the United States.

The petition state was to be in incorporated in an petition for voluntary suspension of all military which was forced by involving for bodies of that suspension.

The petitions were presented to Herman Hall and has requested the movement of signatures to the petition. The program was achieved by the projected plan.

To the Editor:

As a society, we are required to respect the rights of others. In a democratic society, these rights are protected by the Bill of Rights. The First Amendment guarantees freedom of speech, the Fourth Amendment protects against unreasonable searches and seizures, and the Fifth Amendment protects against self-incrimination. These amendments, among others, ensure that the government cannot infringe upon the fundamental rights of its citizens.

In our present situation, the right to discriminate is being challenged by the increasing pressure to protect the rights of all individuals. This pressure is being fueled by a variety of forces, including the civil rights movement, the women's movement, and the gay rights movement. These forces are demanding that the government take steps to ensure that all individuals are treated equally.

In response to these pressures, the government has taken a number of steps. The Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibited discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, or sex. The Equal Pay Act of 1963 prohibited discrimination in the workplace. The Voting Rights Act of 1965 prohibited discrimination in voting.

Despite these efforts, discrimination continues to be a significant problem. Discrimination can take many forms, including employment discrimination, housing discrimination, and educational discrimination. It is important that we continue to work to eliminate discrimination in all its forms.

I urge you to consider the importance of protecting the rights of all individuals. I encourage you to support the efforts of those who are fighting to ensure that all individuals are treated equally.

Sincerely,

Academy Award time has rolled around again. The nominations are in, and it's expected that several of the nominees for the top awards will be in attendance this year. Among the nominees are "Fanny Girl," starring Barbara Stanwyck and "Trio," featuring Ruth Gordon. The Academy Awards will be presented on March 12th at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium.

Two of the most sought-after awards are the Best Actress and Best Actor Oscars. This year, Best Actress nominees include Vivien Leigh for "Fire Over England," Jennifer Jones for "The Bridge on the River Kwai," and Barbara Stanwyck for "Trio." Best Actor nominees include Clark Gable for "Saratoga," Spencer Tracy for "Boys Town," and Stewart Granger for "The Tales of the Arabian Nights."

The most recent Academy Award was given to "The Best Years of Our Lives," directed by William Wyler. The film was nominated for nine Oscars, including Best Picture, Best Actor, and Best Director. The film tells the story of three World War II veterans and their struggles to readjust to civilian life.

The 1944 Academy Awards were held on March 11th, and they were the first to include the category of Best Supporting Actor and Actress. The winners were William Prince for "The Best Years of Our Lives" and Ethel Waters for "Kisses for My President."

The Academy Awards have been a source of controversy throughout the years, with many actors and actresses demanding changes to the voting process to ensure fair representation. Some have called for the end of the Academy Awards, arguing that they do not accurately reflect the talent of the film industry.

The 2023 Academy Awards will be held on March 12th at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium. The nominations will be announced on February 15th. Will you be tuning in to watch the ceremony?

Big 10 sorority appeal drops

By KAREN BRIN Date News Staff Writer
What are the social norms on campus? Are there ‘date laws’ or are students free to pursue romantic relationships as they choose?

Although the codes are not formally written into the university’s mission statement, they have formed informally based on the expectations of students. The sorority system at Big Ten universities reflects this, with most sororities declining today as a greater number of students opt to rush and pledge.

University of Michigan: University of Michigan sororities are divided into three categories based on the number of members: "small," "medium," and "large." The sororities are required to move away from their traditional systems of recruitment and find alternatives to help support the women who are involved in recruitment.

The sorority system at the University of Michigan is the largest sorority system in the country, with the Alpha Gamma Delta serving as an example of a sorority system that is focused on providing support to women.

University of Illinois: A Pan-Hel member at the University of Illinois said that although rush is not a big deal as it was in the past, the number of underage alumni at Illinois this year was the same as last year.

Many of the sororities have national requirements at the sorority level, so no rush is necessary for the women who can be seen healing and building a relationship.

University of Wisconsin: The University of Wisconsin is one of the few sororities that do not allow for rush. The Pan-Hel Executive Board has set a new policy, which requires from an anonymous source or the high school of the prospective students.

A prototype group at the University of Wisconsin is the Alpha Gamma Delta, a sorority that has traditionally been associated with the sororities at the University of Illinois.

IFC seeks internal unity

Robert Templeton, Daily News Staff Writer

The Interfraternity Council (IFC) is looking forward to a more unified system through the expansion of its national chartering system.

The expansion of the IFC chartering system is part of a larger effort to unite the fraternity system with the sorority system. The IFC looks forward to increasing the integration of the two systems.

Dr. Don McAlpin, president of the IFC, said that the goal of the IFC is to make the organization a more effective and efficient system. He said that the IFC will continue to work on the expansion of the chartering system.

McAlpin said that the IFC is currently looking at the option of requiring all new members to be part of a larger organization that would include all of the different fraternities and sororities on campus.

Chapel in new capital urged by legislators

The election of a new capital city and the prospect of a new state capital building has rekindled a resolution introduced into the House by Rep. Judd Sanders.

If the resolution is approved by the legislature, a chapels for all faiths will be included in the plan for a new capital. Either a chapel for each legislative chamber or a centrally located hall would be included.

Senator Sanders said that a chapels for all faiths would be a real need for legislators who are making decisions for the more than 8 million people in the state of Michigan.

“Your chapels provide a place for personal reflection and a spiritual center for the legislative process,” Sanders said.
