Cabinet post created to aid black affairs

A black Cabinet post was created on the ASMSU Cabinet Tuesday night at a meeting of the 36-member group.

Don Bangert, Cabinet president, presented the resolution to members for approval. It was passed unanimously.

At the same time the board approved a similar resolution to the student government.

The new titles were added to the current 14-member board.

The new positions will be filled at a meeting in two weeks.

The move was prompted by a meeting with black students at the University of Michigan, the University of Illinois and at Northwestern University.

Student Government, the ASMSU and the student body have been wanting to take steps to develop programs to effect change in the University system.

The new positions are being created to the demands of black students and minorities need to be more protectively and consistently be overloaded in education programs.

Negroes have been in various positions in the Negro student government and the lack of continuity has plagued the black Cabinet.

The ASMSU seeing centered on the position suggested by ASMSU.

The move will also be more responsive to Negro campus life.

The ASMSU, with the help of the Negroes of the University of Michigan, the University of Illinois and Northwestern University, decided to add the new offices to the Negro cabinet.

Eisenhower laid to rest

near joys of boyhood life

It was a sunny morning, but a cold wind swept down from the north in advance of a snow storm to fill the air with its chill and reminder of the winter that lay ahead.

Col. and Mrs. Eisenhower were awakened at 8:30 a.m., just before the funeral train left the Kansas City Union Depot for Washington. The sound of the train whistle was the only noise that disturbed the silence of the morning.

Mrs. Eisenhower was weeping as she stood in the chapel. Watching the video in which President Eisenhower lay, she was overwhelmed with emotion.

The crowd at the funeral was large, but Mrs. Eisenhower appeared to be the only person visibly affected by the sight of the President.

The service was to be held at the United States Capitol, but Mrs. Eisenhower wanted the service to be held at the White House.

MSU bids farewell to Ike

with simple memorial rites

Today, he was laid to rest in his home. "All that can be said in his honor was that he was the peaceful Korean war hero." Saturday, March 19.

Final salute

Then the body of President Dwight D. Eisenhower was marched through the streets of California, where he was born, to the site of his final resting place.

The procession was led by thousands of well-wishers who lined the streets to bid farewell to the nation's leader.

In a brief ceremony, the body was placed into a hearse, carried to the site of the funeral, and then placed in a mass grave.

The ceremony was simple, but it was a fitting tribute to the man who had served his country so well.

Afternoon classes canceled Friday

to honor Dr. King

The University of Michigan's decision to honor Dr. King on Friday by canceling afternoon classes was met with mixed reactions.

Some students were grateful for the opportunity to pay their respects to the fallen civil rights leader, while others were concerned about the impact on their academic progress.

The decision was made after a meeting between the University administration and student representatives.

"We take this time to remember and honor the life and legacy of Dr. King," said President Mark Schlissel.

"By honoring Dr. King, we are acknowledging the contributions he made to our society and the struggles he faced in his fight for justice and equality. This is a moment to reflect on his teachings and to commit to continuing his work."
Black candidate, Yorty face runoff election

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Black candidate Thomas Bradley's bid to become the first black mayor of Los Angeles came to an unexpected halt Tuesday when a group of white voters backed his opponent and forced a runoff election.

Voter turnout was unusually high for a Tuesday election in Los Angeles, where the black community is strongest. Bradley, a 51-year-old lawyer, had been expected to win by a large margin.

Yorty, who ran as the Democratic candidate, managed to keep the race close and made a good showing in the primary election, according to initial returns.

Bradley, who ran as the Republican candidate, is a former Los Angeles City Councilman and a licensed attorney. He is running on a platform of progress and change for the city's black community.

The runoff election will take place on October 4, and the winner will serve a term of two years. The race is expected to be tight, with both candidates vying for the support of the black community and the votes of those who are disillusioned with the current political system.

Although the forecast predicts rain on election day, both candidates are expected to campaign vigorously, with Bradley focusing on his past successes and Yorty highlighting his plan to bring unity to the city.

The outcome of the runoff election is uncertain, but the race is expected to be a closely contested one, with both candidates vying for the support of the black community and the votes of those who are disillusioned with the current political system.

Dems see victory as loss for Nixon

WASHINGTON — Democrats hailed Wednesday their victory at the polls but warned that it was far from a mandate for President Richard Nixon. After months of campaigning, Nixon's victory in the presidential election was still uncertain, with media projections showing a narrow margin in favor of the conservative incumbent.

The election results, which had been eagerly awaited, showed a resurgence of the liberal Democratic Party, particularly in urban areas. The party had hoped for a sweeping victory, but the outcome was much more contested than expected.

"If you know of any man who was reclassified because he fought legally, I'd like to know about it," said Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershman.

"WINDS OF CHANGE"

Reportedly, "winds of change" will bring warmer weather to the area.

The annual Winds of Change seminar is not concerned with climatic conditions. However, the seminar has been conducted on the 100th parade, April 3-5, traditionally (public speakers to discuss topics on the topic of climate and the environment.

A consensus effort is made to avoid discussion of the topics presented in March. The seminar is open to all the annual seminar participants.

"Since American students are registered daily of their own accord, the seminar will offer a more inclusive, cultural perspective to those interested," he said.

The seminar, which is open to all, will feature speakers without charge.

The effects of violence on the city's streets and urban areas are a major concern for many residents and urban residents, especially when considering the recent events.

Several radical students were interviewed about their experiences with the police and their efforts to protect their rights. The police department was portrayed as a tool of oppression, promoting violence and illegally stopping and searching innocent people.

The students emphasized the need for political action and education, highlighting the importance of understanding the causes and consequences of violence. They also discussed the role of media in shaping public perceptions of these events.

However, the students also acknowledged the limitations of their power as students and called for broader participation and collaboration. They stressed the importance of community organizing and the need for solidarity with other marginalized communities.

The article concluded with a call for increased awareness, education, and action to address the root causes of violence and promote a safer, more just society.

Four nonpartisans are vying for two East Lansing City Council seats in the election this week.

Donald E. Hile

Robert L. Phillips

Mary P. Sharp

Hile, the incumbent, is vying for a third term, while Phillips and Sharp are running for their first council seats.

Hile, a 35-year Lansing veteran, has served as chief of staff for Mayor William C. Bilby and as director of the city's water department. He is a strong advocate for water conservation and has spearheaded several initiatives to reduce water usage in the city.

Phillips, a 32-year Lansing veteran, has served as director of the city's parks and recreation department. He is a strong advocate for community engagement and has worked to improve the quality of life for residents of all ages.

Sharp, a 30-year Lansing veteran, has served as director of the city's public works department. She is a strong advocate for the environment and has worked to improve the city's recycling and composting programs.

The three candidates are running on a platform of continued growth and development for the city, with a focus on maintaining quality-of-life standards.

They are all poring over the council's agenda for the week, preparing for their questions and answers with the candidates.

The candidates are confident in their abilities to address the concerns of the voters and improve the quality of life for all residents of East Lansing.
in the city councilman, East Lansing's, will decide $200,000 park fees, according to Mayor John Pritts. In addition to choosing two city councilmen, East Lansing's voters will decide a $200,000 park bond issue on May 8's election.

"It's a matter of keeping the city councilman, East Lansing's, green, and we've got to have the money to do it," said Mayor John Pritts. "We're looking at a $200,000 bond issue, and it's time to make a decision."
Duffy seeks walk-ons for spring grid practice

By MIKE MARLEY

After MSU's football season ended last fall, Coach Duffy Leitch spoke before a meeting of all the territory presidents on campus about a possible dormitory tackle football league. He had hopes of getting the program off the ground this spring.

With spring practice scheduled to start on April 15, he has set out from the various presidents conveying the interest in the program.

"Last December I met with the presidents of all the dormitories and discussed the program. The dorms are interested, but they haven't done anything," Duffy said. "This program has got to come from the dorms. They have to want it."

Duffy said however, anyone who is a full-time student is welcome to come out for varsity football this spring. A prospective candidate must go to the football offices in Jenison Fieldhouse and fill out a name and address card so he can be cleared for competition by the Big Ten office.

Each candidate must be able to predict a 1.7 grade average (later on in the program. He must also be able to pass a thorough physical examination for football. Duffy added, all must pass background examinations in the football offices.

"We wouldn't throw them in on our current squad for the sake of a number right away," Duffy said. "Most likely they would start out on a 'B' squad."

Duffy added, "I don't think any of them would be able to compete on equal terms with the varsity. But if we could get six or eight kids who aren't on scholarship for the squad we might have some real competition. We might be able to get enough back for full practice by the end of the first week."

The time the kids get recruited back in the fall could be a problem; however. Duffy added. "We would be an excellent career for a few programs," he said. "We would probably find some who could last the term."

"I can't emphasize that enough," Duffy said."

Slipping Tigers fall again;
Cards wallop Wilson, 11-3

ST PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) - The St. Louis Cardinals, led by Bob Gibson, bested World Series conqueror, the Detroit Tigers, Wednesday for the second time this week.

Gibson pitched a 1-0 victory over the Tigers in the first inning before settling down and allowing just one run and three hits in his other six innings. The Cardinals, whose spring record climbed to 14-8, jumped to 12-3 in the first inning and never moved in the last. In 8 innings, Wilson was bailed for 3 runs and 6 hits.

Mike Shannon purred the Cards with three HR's on a double and a single. Julian Javier hit in low runs with a double and single.

Gibson, toning up for the Tiger opener next Tuesday, walked two and struck out five.

Voluntary dorm dues sought

By PAUL BANDSON
State News Staff Writer

A movement to make the payment of residence hall fees a matter of personal choice is spreading on several campuses, including Michigan State. The result: lower records for residence hall housing, fewer reluctant students.

Kathy Elton, Detroit native, is conducting a petition drive to put the issue before the Hall residents in the form of a referendum calling for the establishment of a residence hall fee basis. Sponsored by the bracelets committee, the petition is supported by the residence hall council.

The current system in which dorm fees are paid regardless of residence hall fees is being challenged by the bracelets committee.

By creating a "filing petition," the bracelets committee hopes to alter the present system. It says such a petition is in favor of residence hall fees being reduced to match the level of housing fees.

Tuition fees, however, are not being reduced from the current level. It is hoped that the bracelets committee can obtain signatures on its petition.

McGovern cites defects of ABM

By MARYANNE GEORGE
Staff News Writer
WASHINGTON, D.C. - The deployment of the ABM system must be prevented to avoid the further deterioration of the arms race, William E. McGovern, D.D.S. Detroit, declared Friday.

The deployment of the ABM would actually increase the threat of war because the missiles would be targeted at the Soviet Union, McGovern said in an interview.

The danger of deployment was indicated in a proposed program in which a remote control system would be installed on its radar to function as a nuclear weapon. A nuclear explosion would be detonated by a cloud of liquidized gas that would cause the radar and the system on the missile to explode.

"It would be irresponsible for a nuclear force, such as the United States, to destroy the system and then continue to develop the technology. We must prevent the development of the system in order to stop the arms race," McGovern emphasized.
