A 5-year-old Israeli boy was killed in a bomb attack by Arabs in the Gaza Strip, and two Palestinians were wounded in a separate shooting attack in the West Bank.

The United Nations Security Council said it would meet to discuss the situation in the Middle East.

The United States and Russia have both expressed concerns about the situation.

Guns alter Cornell situation

ITHACA, N.Y. — (AP) — To Ed ward F. Whitfield, the black who spearheaded the takeover of a Cornell University building, guns were necessary for self-defense.

James A. Perkins, Cornell's provost, the spectators of armed black students walking from a building on the Ithaca campus were an act of vandalism.

Saturday afternoon, as white radicals marched below Willard Straight in support of the demonstrators, the Cornell administration ordered the black students to leave. The radicals, however, refused and locked themselves in the building, causing property, disorder and disenchanted Alfred Rockefeller past, tied to the campus to be evicted, and the administration to hurry to change its policy.

When the 10 black Sr. Haggerty agreed to leave Willard Straight, hundreds of white students marched out in ranks of two. The students were denied by the flock of demonstrators in front of Willard Straight.

N. Ireland's prime minister backs 'one-man-one-vote' proposal

BELFAST, Northern Ire land (AP) — Prime Minis ter Terence O'Neill today said he believed civil rights demands were justified and he urged a new kind of Northern Ireland government.

"One man, one vote," is the main battle cry of the civil rights demonstrators who for the past six months have thrown Northern Ireland into political confusion and civil strife. They propose to include women in the voting system, where women are not permitted to vote. The move, if accepted, could lead to several elections, where everyone, regardless of sex, can cast a vote.

The new government would be a "one-man, one-vote" democracy where everyone has a vote in local and national government.

Harrison says move for recall not political

By BUCHI MILLER

James Harrison, Ithaca County Democratic chairman, spoke Tuesday evening on how to get a majority for the referendum on the referendum on the referendum, or "one-man, one-vote," proposal.

He said that under the new "one-man, one-vote" proposal, everyone would have a vote and that the referendum would be held with a threat to resign Wed nesday unless the party took action.

The meeting ended after seven days of discussion.

Psich conflict rekindled

He says that the theories and background material of the Decree present are relevant to the issues, but that public and students are not necessary.

The students included -- a group of 100 students who went to the campus to protest the decision, -- a group of 50 students who were arrested, -- a group of 20 students who were released, -- a group of 10 students who were charged, -- a group of 5 students who were convicted.

Although Garenoza has not been involved with the study group, and even helped organize the study group, the group did not try to be an affiliate of the study group. The group must try to be an affiliate of the study group.

Harrison sees the study group as a way the students can make a demand on the university to allow the students to take it to the next level.

He was happy that the study group was active and that the students were involved in the university and were making decisions that might be part of the "one-man, one-vote" proposal.

Chamberlain case needs thorough investigation

East Lansing’s very own champion of Law and Order, Charles E. Chamberlain, Republican congressman, allegedly struck a blow, March 31, for Truth, Justice, and the American Way. The blow, according to several witnesses at the scene in Washington, D.C., was struck with Chamberlain’s car and received by a police officer who had signaled for the Congressman to turn rather than drive through the intersection.

The brass of the pursuers who stopped Our Man in Washington several blocks later was second only to that of the representative, who was such high brass that not only was he not charged with any traffic violation at the scene, but a later hearing it was decided “not in the government’s best interest” to bring charges against him. And so the officer came undone.

We presume that the brazen traffic officer, who spent several days in hospital from his tumble in the street, will be sent back to school to bone up on the basic principles of law enforcement. Laws apply to everyone equally, especially to everyone with no money or influence to get them off the hook.

The whole question of VIP preferential treatment—i.e., the congressional immunity afforded members of Congress when involved in the perpetration of incidents by the courts and police—is involved here. Why? Some of the local brass hide on this discussion on this topic by insulting the intelligence of the reading community with a whitewashed substitute for the truth is still another question. It is true that some of the facts in this case are rather dubious, but a cover-up only adds an accomplice to the crime.

The recall drive, aimed at removing Chamberlain, initiated by an MSU student, demands at the very least a thorough investigation of Chamberlain’s actions. The latter is a necessity if ignorance is to be replaced by an awareness and involvement on the part of each individual.

Chamberlain’s case lacks justice

To the Editor:

I have not actively participated in political discussions involving MSU, Michigan, or other that voting for my choice, I am totally appalled. I mention this because I have no idea what is going on at our campus, but I am outraged as a citizen and I feel the public in Michigan should be told by their representatives that their votes have been heard and that the people of Michigan are being treated as second-class citizens.

Each PRN has been neglected and has not been given the respect that it deserves. In another word, we have been ignored and have no one to listen to our complaints.

We must unite and do something about this situation.

This is an important issue that is definitely not to be ignored. We need to make sure that all PRNs are treated equally and fairly. We cannot have a system where some PRNs are given preferential treatment while others are not.

To the Michigan State University Press

After my two years in ASMSU

Student government has been fantastic and frustrating, dynamic and disappointing, and in many other strange ways, very consistent. This year, I have been able to take part in many different activities and make many new friends. I have enjoyed being involved in ASMSU and hope to continue being active in student government in the future.

After my two years in ASMSU, I have learned a lot about the importance of student government and the role it plays in the university community. I have also come to understand the challenges that come with being a student leader and how important it is to have the support of others.

As I look back on my time in ASMSU, I am grateful for the opportunities I have had and the experiences I have gained. I hope that my involvement in student government will continue to be an important part of my college career and that I will continue to be an active member of my university community.
Lee cites moving for leaving "U" position

Byname in the wake of decisions, demands, consultations and pleas from students, faculty and administrators who are becoming to והוא. He has been the focus for the movement in the direction of more openness and accountability. He was named emeritus professor in 1968.

The decision to move to the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA) was made last week by the provost, as he announced his resignation from the University of Michigan. The decision was made by a vote of 5 to 1, with 4 votes in favor of the resignation. The vote was taken after a series of meetings with the provost and members of the faculty. The decision was announced to the University of Michigan faculty by President Lee in a letter dated July 1, 1968.

The provost's decision was based on the need to devote more time to the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA) and to the University of Michigan, where he has been associated with the University for many years. The provost has been a member of the University of Michigan faculty since 1960, and has served as a faculty member, department head, and dean. He has been involved in a number of important initiatives at the University, including the creation of the University of Michigan's interdisciplinary program in the humanities.

The provost's decision has been met with both support and criticism. Some members of the University of Michigan faculty have expressed their support for his decision, while others have expressed concern about the impact of his departure on the University's future.

City council stresses need for local street assessment

By MARK SHERER
State News Staff Writer

After a studied meeting between property owners and council members, the East Lansing City Council declared the necessity of a special assessment project for streets, sidewalks, and curbs on Whittlesley Drive and Old Hickory Lane.

A circuit project came before the board one year ago. It was related a necessity and need to by the residents of the area.

No exact action was taken to date the council while the assessment was placed on the tax rolls of the county.

Project modified

The project has since been modified taking in Whittlesley Drive from Abbott Road to Old Hickory Lane and Old Hickory Lane from Abbott Road to the southeast line of Whittlesley Estates.

The assessment cost of the project at $4,771.00 which provides for landscaping and the construction of a retaining wall.

If the 10 people who spoke at the public hearing, only June K. Harkey, Mrs. Whittlesley and chairman of the Steering Committee, would speak in favor of the project.

Safety heard

"I am Whittlesley every morning," said, "We are fortunate that boys have not been killed.

"Once the necessity of this project has been decided, the area has only to be made on the plans for the assessment of the tax rolls.

In other action the council:

- Approved a request from Sigma Delta Tau University to book of M. A. Avenue between Burcham Hills Drive and E. Mission.

- Approved a request from Sigma Delta Tau University to hold a street dance in conjunction with Greek Week, and the 50th anniversary of the fraternity.

- Licensed renewal

- Approved the renewal of license, and police department.

- Approved the sale of bonds for the public park project approved by voters April 7. total of $110,000.

- Set the public hearing on the city budget for the next fiscal year at 5:30.

Chi Omega dedicates 3-story sorority house

Dedication of Chi Omega's new sorority house, 253 Burcham Drive, will be held at 5 tonight following an open house at 4.

The ceremony will include speaker, Mrs. Clarence Mason, former dean of women at Northwestern University.

The Georgian colonial style house was designed by two women who moved from Chicago, Ill., to the campus to design the house for the newly established Chi Omega chapter.

Sorority members will be honored at their annual Christmas dinner to be held at 4 tonight in the Union. Nobel Patterson, Pan Helicore advisor, will be the speaker.

Prof says Biafra new Africa trend

ST. CLAIR SHORES State News Staff Writer

The emergence of Biafra has brought a new type of independence to Nigeria, George Saperstein, professor of government, said. A new chapter of international relations and the question of a possible war in Black Africa is being considered.

"Biafra is the forerunner of a new kind of Africa," Saperstein said.

"The independence has been heralded everywhere in the African continent by many African countries," he continued.

"It has been suggested," Saperstein said. "The African people have been a determined spirit towards maintaining their rights and their nation's sovereignty and have been able to do it.

In the short passage, Saperstein did not mention the critical problems in Biafra. Although Biafra was self-sufficient and had a great deal of food, Saperstein said the food shortage in Africa is too much for the government.

It is not considered that there are still electricity there, and that such things as can be done in the Black section were being manufactured by the Biafra.

And remember that Dr. Sven Fantom counselor, another early summer hit? This was the film that brought Bogey the success that he deserved before he lost Summer. Well, both films actually exist, under the respective realist school's a通知书 pre.

The Real Fifties Group screening grew wild in the WBC, mostly in midweek entertainment as well as the usual fare of weekend fare. And a couple of these "movies" were so well-worn that the work's fines seem relatively minor.

Spartan stickmen travel to Bowling Green today

By DAVE WEST
State News Sports Writer

The combined meet the challenge today when the MSU Lacrosse Team takes the field against Bowling Green in a first half scrimmage of the season.

The Spartans, who last Saturday, gave the MSU Athletic Council their word to remain in the Big Ten, will attempt to make a mid-season team members' exhibition into the bowl in 1969.

In the hopes of establishing a strong offensive attack, the bowling Green, new kid on the block, returns to the action. They have the new kid on the block with two important dates. Bowling Green has been an important factor in the Michigan State Division since the first half of the season.

Bowling Green has been under duress and they are tough. MSU Coach Earl Kaufman said: "I want the Athletic Council meeting Thursday night to hold that Bowling Green up and show some appreciation for the game!"

In order to get his team more experience, Spartan Coach Don Edling has set up a game with Eastern Michigan Thursday at Kates Field.

The Spartans will meet EMU Saturday at Tallmadge for a second game on Saturday.

Pitts not forgotten in Spartan grid picture

By MIKE MARLE
State News Sports Writer

Jack Pitts sat in the Spartan Stadium last Saturday watching his teammates break each other in the first half scrimmage of the spring.

Instead of wounding the Spartans white and silver, however, Pitts had on his Triple High Twenty jacket and orange sweater. As a result, he finished the afternoon as the highest scoring player. The interception by Pitts, a game winning quarterback, broke his neck, he was carried off the field on a stretcher.

On Oct. 7, 1947, Pitts, then a sophomore defensive back playing in his first college game, started a remarkable play. Pitts walked off the field under his own power.

...but carried with him a reputation. The injury required operation to his spine. Pitts and his mother met with Dr. James F. Feiring last Thursday in the Spartan Hospital. Pitts thought he might be able to return to the MSU grid.

Feiring explained to Pitts that it was too risky even to kick. However, Pitts consented to playing the letterman positions which occur during a season. Pitts should return to practice in the fall.

The line of Pitts was a severe setback to the MSU football fortunes because he was an ideal Jimmy Raye's quarterback backing job the following season.

"Jack would have been a great player for us. " Coach Don Edling said: "had he not had a great offensive at the right time."

In middle school activities with other teams, pit and us. The MSU was no match for a brand new athlete. Edling knew that Pitts would come back to the game and be better than ever.

All-star bowler to instruct clinic

The MSU bowling clinics will receive instruction from the All-time All-American bowler at Bowling Green. He is the only bowler in the world who has won a gold medal at the Olympic Games.

The MSU bowling clinics will be held on the 20th and 21st of this month. Mrs. Ludwig, from Grand Rapids, will appear at the盟 association meeting on the 21st and will be running through until afternoon.

Her appearance is sponsored by the woman's Physical Education Association and will be held at the 21st and 22nd of this month.

Many different bowlers will appear at the clinics to help out. Mrs. Ludwig will appear at the 21st and 22nd of this month.

The camps will be held at the USA, University of Michigan, and the University of Detroit. The camps will be held at the USA, University of Michigan, and the University of Detroit. The camps will be held at the USA, University of Michigan, and the University of Detroit.

Skiers face medal loss

MONTREAL—Sporting a turtlenecked turtleneck and sporting a turtlenecked turtleneck, the skier who bears the torch of the Olympic flame in his hand and who will light the Olympic flame in his hand and who will light the Olympic flame on Friday night in Montreal, is a man of the future.

The man is Jim Harding, the U.S. champion alpine skier, who has been named by the U.S. Olympic Committee as the torch bearer for the opening ceremony of the Winter Olympics.

Harding, 31, who won the Olympic gold medal in slalom last month in Grenoble, France, is one of the most versatile skiers in the world. He is also one of the most popular skiers in the world. His victories in the slalom, giant slalom and downhill are proof of his skill and versatility.

But it is his role as torch bearer that makes him special. Harding's selection for this honor is a symbol of the growing importance of skiing in the United States. It is also a reminder that skiing is not just a sport, but a way of life.

Harding's torch will be lit at the opening ceremony on Friday night at 7:30 p.m. local time. The Olympic flame will then be carried through the city to the Olympic Village, where it will be placed in a cauldron.

Harding was chosen from a field of four candidates by the U.S. Olympic Committee. The other candidates were:

1. Bill Haas, who won the World Cup slalom title last season.
2. Dan Foy, who won the World Cup giant slalom title last season.
3. Pat Morey, who won the World Cup downhill title last season.

Harding's selection was made on the basis of his past performances and his potential for future success. He is currently the leading candidate for the World Cup slalom title this season.

Harding's torch will be carried through the city of Montreal to the Olympic Village, where it will be placed in a cauldron. The Olympic flame will then be carried to the opening ceremony site, where it will be lit by Harding.

Groups join to oppose ABM plan

The nation wide dispute over President Nixon's proposed antiballistic missile system will come to the MSU campus tonight when the Lansing area organization meeting area at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Union to organize the members of the Lansing community opposed to ABM.

The purpose of the meeting will be to investigate all ABM-related problems, including those with free community groups already working against the defensive missile system.

ABA opposes the Nixon plan on the grounds that it will be almost as costly as war and that it will increase rather than decrease the funding to war projects.

The meeting will be a self-appointed liaison between the Lansing area and other communities associations. The need and the national and local security. There will be an open forum at the University at 8 p.m. to allow the interest and the local ranks in the community.

The goal of the meeting will be to be able to help the other groups in the area.

FIVE UNITS JOIN

MSU co-ops incorporated

By DELORAIS MAJOR

State News Hall Writer

The Student Housing Co-ops have just held their first full meeting to formulate plans involving the co-ops, the community, the students, and the army. The meeting was attended by representatives from all the co-ops, the administration, and the community.

The co-ops have been formed to provide a more efficient and economical way to house students and to provide a more enjoyable and comfortable environment for them.

The co-ops will be responsible for the management and maintenance of the housing facilities, as well as the provision of various services such as security, cleaning, and maintenance.

The co-ops will be able to pool resources and share costs, which will result in a more affordable and accessible housing option for students.

The co-ops will also be able to provide a more personalized and responsive service to the students, as they will be able to address the specific needs and concerns of each co-op.

The co-ops will be able to provide a more sustainable and environmentally friendly housing option, as they will be able to use resources more efficiently and reduce waste.

The co-ops will be able to provide a more democratic and participatory decision-making process, as the students will be able to participate in the decision-making process and have a say in the management of the housing facilities.

The co-ops will be able to provide a more diverse and inclusive housing option, as they will be able to accommodate the diverse needs and preferences of the students.

The co-ops will be able to provide a more accountable and transparent housing option, as the students will be able to monitor the management of the housing facilities and hold the co-ops accountable for their actions.

The co-ops will be able to provide a more secure and safe housing option, as they will be able to provide a more controlled and monitored environment.

The co-ops will be able to provide a more affordable and accessible housing option, as they will be able to reduce the costs associated with the management and maintenance of the housing facilities.

Volunteer Bureau

The Michigan Legislature created the Volunteer Division of the Department of Community and Rural Development in 1972. The Volunteer Division is responsible for increasing the awareness of the benefits of volunteering and encouraging involvement in volunteer services.

The Volunteer Division encourages all organizations, businesses, and individuals to provide opportunities for volunteer involvement. Michigan volunteer opportunities are diverse and range from assistance at local senior centers to national defense efforts.

In order to encourage volunteerism, the Volunteer Division has established several programs. These programs include:

1. Michigan Volunteer Action Program (MVAP)
2. Michigan Volunteer Action Program (MVAP)
3. Michigan Volunteer Action Program (MVAP)
4. Michigan Volunteer Action Program (MVAP)
5. Michigan Volunteer Action Program (MVAP)
6. Michigan Volunteer Action Program (MVAP)
7. Michigan Volunteer Action Program (MVAP)
8. Michigan Volunteer Action Program (MVAP)
9. Michigan Volunteer Action Program (MVAP)
10. Michigan Volunteer Action Program (MVAP)

In addition, the Volunteer Division provides training and resources to help organizations maintain and grow their volunteer programs. The Volunteer Division also works with community organizations to identify and address needs related to volunteerism.

This text is a summary of the Volunteer Bureau and its programs. For more information, please visit the Volunteer Division's website or contact them directly.
