News media issues occupy Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, DC (The Nation) - The Supreme Court agreed Monday to decide whether television and radio networks can legally broadcast unedited news programs during public events such as the State of the Union address, the Super Bowl and political conventions.

The court took on these civil liberties issues as part of a broader case that involves the question of how much control the government can exercise over how media outlets are licensed to broadcast certain events.

The case involves the case of James A. Breslin, who argues that the government has been overly intrusive in trying to regulate the broadcast of political conventions.

Breslin said that the government should not be able to dictate what goes on during these events, and that the media should be able to cover them in their entirety.

The government, on the other hand, argues that it has a legitimate interest in regulating the broadcast of political events to prevent the dissemination of material that could be harmful or dangerous.

The court will hear arguments in the case in the fall of 2021.

Russia rejects U.S. peace plan for Mideast

LONDON (AP) — Russia's new move on the Mideast和平是明显的，它应该被理解为对美国新计划的回应。这表明了莫斯科在国际事务中的角色正在变化。然而，任何对莫斯科的解读都必须基于最近的事件和历史背景。和平是重要的，但谈判必须以尊重各方利益为基础。本周，美国和俄罗斯将进行新一轮的外交对话，以寻求解决中东危机的途径。我们希望和平能够实现，但我们也必须准备好在必要时采取其他措施。

How much confusion in paying parking fees?

In a blatant display of judicial advocacy, the recent decision by the Michigan State Supreme Court of Michigan has tipped the scale against those of us who must pay the parking fees of cars that are parked near public buildings. The Court, in its decision, stated that the city of Lansing shall no longer be required to pay for the parking of its employees' cars. This is a direct violation of the Constitution, as it amounts to a taking of private property without due process of law. The city of Lansing has not been given any notice or opportunity to be heard before its property was taken.

The decision of the Michigan State Supreme Court is a travesty of justice. The Court has failed to consider the impact of its decision on the lives of those of us who must pay for parking. The Court has failed to recognize the burden that this decision will place on the city of Lansing. The Court has failed to consider the impact of its decision on the city's budget.

We urge the Michigan State Supreme Court to reconsider its decision. We urge the Court to recognize the burden that this decision will place on the city of Lansing. We urge the Court to consider the impact of its decision on the lives of those of us who must pay for parking.

"The Reivers" is a rollicking tale of old-fashioned chivalry, a sentiment that is hard to discern these days. Rupert Pickett, the story of a 12-year-old boy and the two men who make up the center of the MSU offers a glimpse into the world of old-fashioned values and heroics.

The book portrays the ideal of the gentleman, a character who is a product of a bygone era. Pickett is a young boy who is sent to stay at the country home of his grandparents. He finds the reality of the world to be different from what he expected.

The story is a reflection of the world of the past, where values and principles were more important than they are today. The novel is a reminder of the importance of character and the need for a strong moral foundation.

Miss MSU Selection Pageant prelims continue

By Jacques Miller

Preliminaries in the Miss MSU Pageant continue tonight as the first in a series of programs the Union Board has arranged. The event will be held in the Union's ballroom beginning at 8 p.m. and will continue until 11 p.m. The judges for the event are union members.

The Union Board has also scheduled a Fashion show at 8 p.m. Feb. 6 in the Gold Room. Union Fashion show events will be held throughout the year and will be open to all MSU students.

The Union Board will also present the Miss MSU Pageant. Dates and times for the pageant will be announced at a later date.

"Human pollution" poses largest problem--Montagu

By JOHN JUEL

State News Staff Writer

Deemlessness of humankind is the worst of all problems, Ashley Montagu, anthropologist and social thinker, said Thursday night at an informal discussion. "Human pollution is so the major thing," Montagu told over 100 listeners in the "Hallowed, we need to find a way to solve the problem of human pollution," Montagu described the "irresponsible proliferation of people" in a major human problem. The country should be controlled better than bringing unwanted and unneeded citizens into this world, he said.

"There is no more important that making another human being," he said. "No one should be allowed to have children unless they want to be capable of discovering the responsibilities of parenthood."

A decent dictatorship would probably be the most effective form of government in creating a humane society, Montagu said. The United States is a "shocking" example of how to abuses the responsibilites of parenthood, Montagu added.

Vaughn addresses SEEK

Ray, Jackie Vaughn III, D.D.S., will address the members of the Student Enlisted Kentuckian (SEEK) at 4:30 p.m., Thursday in Student Union.

SEEK, formerly the Early Movement for Kennedy, is an organization concerned with speaking out on vital issues at the campus level in order to promote a better understanding of them.

Their current efforts have been concentrated on several urban problems, including civil unrest, water pollution and urban housing. SEEK has taken a definite stand against the Vietnam war and has sponsored and participated in all campus meetings.

The public is invited to attend.

Rubin’s future rides on Chicago verdict

By DAVE SHOYK

Chicago Tribune

Things are rather uncertain and confused for Jerry Rubin, one of the Chicago Seven.

Rubin’s entire future is now on the final verdict of his trial in Chicago. Yet, it will be at least two months before a verdict is reached.

Rubin was on campus Thursday to speak at the courthouse and make money. He conducted a 40 minute discussion in the Wayne Theatre.

The acoustics and the conclusion of Jerry Rubin’s life through his speeches, made a sharp contrast to some of the previous speakers.

There are times when he is serious and there are times when he is a derisive.

"There’s a good chance that the trial will end in a hang jury. Having sat there and watched that face for four months, some of those jurors must be ready to hang a jury," the Tribune reporter said.

But, eventually, he said, the trial will end.

Rubin said that the young people have to create war and crime throughout the country.

It indicated that if 150 campuses fall when the Chicago Seven went to jail, President Johnson has said in Chicago as a domestic crisis.

Later, however, he added, "When Hill educators why there hasn’t been an explosion on campus campuses this school year."

Rubin said that the coming strategy of the defense is to win the case, but the governmental system too has a problem.

He was extremely critical of the judge who is conducting the Chicago Seven Conspiracy case. "Judge Hoffman has made every mistake possible," Rubin said.

"There is a chance that the judge could die of a heart attack, it would not be surprising. It’s a real defense to make the judge have a heart attack."

Rubin said that he doesn’t think the judge is capable of understanding the case.

"Jerry Rubin

Rubin says that he agrees with anything that he believes because he believes in him. He said that if he’d die, he’d die in the country.

"We’re a working class, right now. We built a Democratic party and now, we’ve lost it."

"I don’t think this kind of governmental system too has a problem."

It indicated that if 150 campuses fall when the Chicago Seven went to jail, President Johnson has said in Chicago as a domestic crisis.

S’g-men lose season opener

CHICAGO—Illinois won its third game in a row yesterday, defeating Michigan, 92-74, before 6,911 fans in Assembly Hall.

Harry Ford, Illinois center, had 29 points and 10 rebounds for the Bears, while Michigan’s Fred Beals, who was a game-time scratch with a sprained ankle, had 13 points and 11 rebounds.

The Bears led for most of the game, holding a 51-46 halftime lead. Michigan came within 6 points early in the second half, but Illinois went on a 16-8 run to take a 67-54 lead with 14 minutes left.

MSU will face Detroit tonight in a game that could go either way. MSU is currently 2-1 in conference play, while Detroit is 1-2.

The Spartans will rely on the shooting of guard Mark Taylor, who has scored 30 points in each of the last two games.

Detroit will depend on the scoring of forward John Thompson, who has averaged 17.5 points per game this season.

Frosh cagers face Detroit after defeating Henry Ford

The MSU women’s basketball team defeated Michigan, 88-85, last night, but will face Detroit tonight for their second game in two nights.

MSU is currently 4-2 in conference play, while Detroit is 3-3.

The Spartans will again rely on the shooting of guard Jennifer Goldman, who has scored 20 points in each of the last two games.

Detroit will depend on the scoring of forward John Thompson, who has averaged 15 points per game this season.

MSU volunteers operate on love

By ROSA MORALES

"What makes me go? Love, I guess," says Linda Jones, a 24-year-old volunteer at the Spartan Aide program, a non-profit Northside Outreach and Recreation Club in Lansing, Michigan. Jones is a member of the Spartan Aide program, and she volunteers her time to help others.

The program is designed to help underserved children of high school and middle school age. Volunteers work with children in small groups or one-on-one, providing activities such as arts and crafts, music, and sports.

The program is open to anyone who wants to volunteer, regardless of age or background. Volunteers are required to complete a background check before starting, and are provided with training and support throughout their time in the program.
