WASHINGTON (AP) – President Nixon asked the Senate Tuesday to allow Supreme Court Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. to sit in on court sessions as a temporary replacement until his successor is confirmed. Powell, a former governor of Virginia, was recommended by the Senate in 1971 but never confirmed by the full chamber.

Judge Powell, who is recovering from surgery to remove a cancerous tumor, was appointed to the Supreme Court by President Nixon after he was rejected for an earlier judicial post. Powell's appointment was confirmed by the Senate but has never been confirmed by the full chamber.

Nixon's decision to allow Powell to sit in on court sessions comes as the Senate is set to vote on whether to confirm his nominee, Justice Antonin Scalia, who is facing a tough battle from Senate Republicans. Powell's appointment was confirmed by the Senate in 1971 but has never been confirmed by the full chamber.

The Senate is expected to confirm Scalia's nomination this week, but it remains to be seen whether Powell will be allowed to sit in on court sessions as a temporary replacement.

CONGRESS BUDGET DEBATES

Washes. House and Senate leaders on Wednesday recommitted themselves to winning passage of a comprehensive budget resolution, even as they faced intense pressure from various constituencies. The resolution, which would set spending limits for the fiscal year, was expected to be voted on Thursday.

The United States has been involved in a conflict in Vietnam for several years, and the debate over the country's military involvement continues. The resolution would be a significant step in the ongoing discussions, as it would provide a framework for future budget decisions.

NOTRE DAME HERE

Simpson, Carr do battle tonight

By MIKE MANLEY
State News Sports Writer

An individual basketball battle between two of the most dazzling offensive players in the country will be the spotlight tonight when powerful Notre Dame, led by Austin Carr, comes to Assembly Fieldhouse. Carr is Notre Dame's leading scorer.

Aside from the intense, often heated rivalry between MSU and the Irish, the game will match two of the top scorers in the country — Ralph Hospodars and Carr. A talented outside shooter and a height of scores, Carr is also one of the nation's most popular players.

MSU's leading scorer. Hospodars leads the nation in scoring and is one of the top players in the country. He is a big man, and he is a big deal. He is a big deal, folks. He is a big deal.

Last week against DePaul he hit a career high of 12 points and scored 23 of 29 shots from the floor. But he hasn't been scoffing at his points against the weaker teams. Against that likesemester, he has scored 78 points in five games.

Despite the fact that he is a sophomore, Carr is expected to start his career with the No. 3 team in the country.

With those statistics, it should come as no surprise that Carr coach John Beile's builds his attack around Carr. The books is not as a "double-attack" offense with Carr and Hospodars.

The MSU defense will be in for a tough evening, Carr behind one of Notre Dame's monstrous forwards — either 6-8 old Galiet or 6-9 Coates Jones — and then, using them as a screen, break out for the pass. And then, things start to hapen.

Last year by Carr and big forwards, Austin and Galiet, Notre Dame is in eight place with an 8-5 average.

What do you get when you add two of the top teams in the country? Three of those games are in a row 10 day straight during which they will play the top three teams in the country.

The game comes at the wrong time for the Fighting Irish, who were defeated by Kentucky, with a 68-43 in overtime. In that loss, senior forward Danny O'Keefe was out with a broken hand.

The Irish are also without their top two guards to Notre Dame's出去. With Austin Galiet, the Irish are averaging 8.4 points.

With all that said, the Irish are looking for a win against MSU.

Trip to Acapulco

By ROSANNE BAUM
State News Staff Writer

Breaking into “yuppie break in the bank” isn’t easy. You need to be seen as a VIP, a jet-setter, in the making. And it certainly helps to have friends who are. But this time, it was all worth it, as the trip to Acapulco was a success.

A weekday trip to London is always a thrill. The mall is the perfect place to enjoy some retail therapy. And it was no different this time, with the Acapulco trip being a whirlwind of activity. The day started with a tour of the city, and then proceeded to the beach, where we were met by a private helicopter. The flight was a highlight of the day, with beautiful views of the city and the ocean below.

The evening was spent at a private dinner, where we were treated to an elaborate meal and a performance by a local band. It was a perfect end to a perfect day. And the Acapulco trip was definitely a success.

DAVIS APPOINTMENT

Stokes’ choice supported

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mayor Carl B. Stokes said Thursday he will appoint city director, John Trowbridge, as deputy commander of the U.S. Navy. Trowbridge, a 37-year-old former Navy officer, was recommended by Stokes as deputy commander of the U.S. Navy. Stokes said Trowbridge’s appointment would be effective immediately.
