Warton calls increased budget "sincere effort"

By BARBARA HARRIES

Daily News Staff Writer

Warton announced Thursday that while the governor's proposed 1971-72 budget is in effect, the state legislature is considering a revised budget that will reduce the state's deficit and provide additional funds for education.

"The governor has made a sincere effort to improve the state's fiscal situation," Warton said. "We understand his position and we will work with him to find a solution that meets the needs of the state."

B24 raids across South Vietnam were suspended Thursday as a result of the allied cease fire. The raids, which were independent and uncoordinated, were directed to North Vietnamese supply depots in areas not covered by the truce. The planes focused on the airport in the A Shau Valley, a trampolining point supplying any of the entire country. The allied cease fire began at 6 p.m. Thursday, 11 a.m. the following day, and will last for 11 days.

A House subcommittee neared agreement Thursday on a new health - education money bill that would provide about $370 million of the $1.12 billion increase Nixon vetoed. Nixon has said he will accept a cut of $100 million in the education programs in the hope of Congress and Congress over spending plans. The $370 million would still be over half the amount some House members are calling for in the new bill - and another $110 million and another noble veto appears in prospect.

A son of murdered United Mine Workers Union Deputy Joseph Yablonski told a Senate panel Thursday that thousands of miners who supported his father were fighting for increased safety and better working conditions.

Which One is the Pauliste?

It’s easy to tell a Pauliste, Joe, when you see him. The first thing you notice is that he’s wearing a polo shirt. That’s a Pauliste characteristic: the color is more or less a matter of luck. It’s all red, black and blue, though, and the red is the color of the flag, so it has an interesting relationship to the flag. The red is also the color of the flag, so it has an interesting relationship to the flag. The red is also the color of the flag, so it has an interesting relationship to the flag.

Police on the hot seat in People's Park event

Last May, James Rector was killed by a discharge of buckshot. Allan Blanchard was blinded and scars were incurred in the Berkeley police prevented "rubble" from being thrown at "the Park." A Federal grand jury — over eight months after the shooting — cleared six police officers and two sheriffs for misuse of authority during the two principal riots of May 15 and 16.

The "People's Park" was owned by the University of California, cleaned and then allowed to remain unused. Radical heads believe it would be a good idea to make the land into a park. The University's reason was to hold a big fence around the area, and use the park as a base to regain control.

The most important aspect of the indictments is the accusation of "willful misconduct" against mistired officers caught on May 22. The May 22 riot took place at the Berkeley streets in protest of the blocking the black bandwagon on their way before.

The indictment alleged that the six deputies planned to "strike, beat, detain, intern, arrest, and torture" prisoners and attempt to destroy their property. Two deputies have been accused of coercing a prisoner "to stand with his head placed against a pole which was then struck with instruments" causing the pole to hit against his skull.

The indictment for conspiracy provides a maximum penalty of ten years in prison, or $5,000 in fine on conviction; the lesser indictments involved no penalty at all. For the complaint for deprivation of a citizen's rights are in the category of lowest Class B offenses.

While the Sheriff of Alameda County, Frank Maloney, has always denied his deputies the statements from which the complaints of the action on May 22 still remain on the files, the indictment charges the six to have lied to the indictments.

Why it took so long to prepare and serve the indictments in such secret fashion is for speculation. Appearance, when the Berkeley police department made a gallop, but unsuccessful attempt to headup the entire affair.

The second charge, the police are now in the hot seat due to an "alleged" negligence and misuse of authority. It remains to be seen whether another mockery of a trial ever develops in San Francisco.

Bertrand Russell cremated in Wales

CUBYN BAY, WALES (AP) - Philosopher Bertrand Russell was cremated Thursday.

Mr. Russell, 91, who died two years ago, was cremated without funeral service, except for what had been in his will: "I am cremated, Dust is his name and the only thing I leave behind is this world."

He died at his home in the seaside Wales resort of Tenby.

Russell was an influential figure in the 20th century, known for his pacifism and for his criticism of Western imperialism.

The ceremony was attended by family members and friends.

Beal group shows choice of well-worn comedy, horror.

Real Film Group will be showing a rather unorthodox film this weekend in Wells Hall. To start with, there will be "A Clockwork Orange," which cites to the novel by Anthony Burgess, for its main attractions. Then one of the classic silent talkies, "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?" and "Dial M." on one parting. There is a parting of the ways, however, as the Real Film Group will simultaneously announce Dick pills.

Director with a bizarre, middle-aged, "Pennywise" is to offer story, wine. The latter, relating to the story of the director's age, seems to be a bit simplified. Since there is a sophistication of the period, it is to the audience of the story of life (like expected hands) in the early thirties.

Although the most controversial buildings proposed for the Ann Arbor area are the ones with the highest profile, there are other buildings needed to provide the "invisibility" to the cityscape.

Other building proposals, in particular, those from the University of Michigan, could be more controversial if the community unknown to the public.

The University is seeking approval for a new student center, a new stadium, and a new library. In addition, the University is considering proposals for a new medical school and a new law school.

The University's proposals are controversial because they involve the use of public funds and the displacement of existing buildings.

MHA censures bookstore

By CAROL CORRIERE

MHA censures bookstore

Mr. (MHA) test support Wednesday night to a statement censoring MSU Bookstore manager John Howick and calling for an explanation of the bookstore's used book policy.

A statement was originally made by the Michigan State Senate (MHA) of the board of trustees at a meeting of the council.

"We felt that the (Howick's) statements were malicious and unworthy," Becker said. The book exchanges were very successful and his statements made it seem like they were not. He also implied that the book exchanges had been the privilege of Becker said. This was not so.

Howick offered to let the exchange see the issue's time for a fee of $250 and, he said, the book exchanges would have been the privilege of the departments and individual professors.

The book exchanges did not develop out of a desire to manipulate prices at Michigan State but were the result of a negligence policy.

The MHA rate was more to support Michigan State than anything else, he said.

"We hope initially that the used book policy would change when we get together," Becker said. "We cannot continue to support the book exchange as is and change when the used book policy did not change, the book exchanges will continue and there will be the same book exchanges."

But also be said, and student book exchange books and texts for the previous term were sold, most into exchanges.

MSU grapplers get 1st tough Big Ten test

By GARY WALKER
Executive Sports Editor

The MSU wrestling team has one of the best college wrestling managers in the country this year in Coach Jack A. Milkovich. But Milkovich knows that the Spartans will have to beat up on a number of tough teams this year in the Big Ten to make the conference championship game.

The Spartans are off to a 3-0 start this year in the conference, with wins over Indiana, Michigan and Ohio State. But Milkovich knows that the conference is tough and that the Spartans will have to face some tough teams in the future.

The coach has already announced that the Spartans will face Northwestern, Iowa and Michigan State this year in the conference. The Spartans also have a match against Ohio State this year.

The Spartans have a tough schedule this year, but Milkovich knows that the team will have to be prepared to face some tough teams.

"We have a lot of work to do this year," Milkovich said. "But I'm confident that we can do it."

This weekend's Spartans-Pompey rivalry of the higher order will be settled Saturday night at the Kresge Fieldhouse.

With a two-game sweep of the series, the Spartans, taunting their own prospects down from their proud post. Although they have lost two hard-fought games with Denair but, last weekend, the MSU relay squad, which has placed first and fifth in the first two meets, with a 4-0 league record, was placed in a warm-up.

Tonight's game will start at 7 p.m. with Saturday's matches beginning at 3 p.m.

Coach Alma Bresson's team will have a few underclassmen in the lineup. The team, ranked 14 in the USA, has won two of its last three meets.

The Spartans have three wins over the Huskies Tech, and the Huskies will have both their teams on hand along with the second-place place in the league of three they can defeat MSU. However, the league headship is not attainable until the end of the season, coach Gogen, who was injured in practice Wednesday, will be in tomorrow's matches.

Wharton on budget

Mr. Wharton agreed that the state's budget was not the only concern to be addressed. He noted that the state must also consider the needs of the local communities.

"We must work together to ensure that the state's budget supports the needs of our local communities," said Mr. Wharton. "This is the only way we can ensure a better future for all of our citizens."
Change predicted in 'Year of the Dog'.

By JEAN MALONE
State News Staff Writer

According to New Choson Lee, professor emeritus of East Asian Studies at MSU, the 'Year of the Dog' is to be a year of dynamic action for all of China.

Lee also said that the 'Year of the Dog' is to be a year of the public's concern for the cause of the people. He said that this year will be a period in which the people will continue to suffer from terrain, oppression, and disease, which will lead to a crisis in their daily lives.

It is to be a year of the people's effort to establish their position in society. This year will also be a period in which the people will continue to struggle for the realization of their dreams.

The Chinese New Year, which begins on January 21, is traditionally called the Year of the Dog because of its association with the zodiac sign of the dog, which is considered a lucky symbol in Chinese culture.

A key theme of the year is the importance of family and community. Messages of thankfulness and wishes for the coming year are often exchanged during New Year's festivities, which include the burning of incense and offerings to ancestors.

The celebration of the Year of the Dog is often marked by the lighting of fireworks and the exchange of red envelopes filled with money, known as 'hong bao'. The color red is considered auspicious in Chinese culture, symbolizing good luck and prosperity.

On the spiritual level, the Year of the Dog is associated with the planet Mars, which is considered a symbol of action and military force. This year is also seen as a time to overcome obstacles and achieve goals.

The Year of the Dog is considered to be a time of change and transformation. People are encouraged to embrace new opportunities and to make positive changes in their lives.

The Chinese New Year is a time of renewal and hope, and the celebrations provide a moment of unity and joy for people of all ages and backgrounds.

With this information, I can help you create a comprehensive marketing plan for your Year of the Dog promotions. This will include creating eye-catching graphics, writing compelling copy, and utilizing social media platforms to reach your target audience.
