Army prosecutor to request set for Calley hearing

PT. BERINGO, Ok. (AP) - An army prosecutor is scheduled to reply at a hearing today to defense objections that President Nixon personally ordered Lt. William L. Calley Jr. charged with murder in the alleged My Lai massacre. Because of his personal involvement, Nixon is charged with murder in the My Lai massacre.

Calley's defense attorneys contend that the army court cannot give him the fair trial he is entitled to because Nixon, the United States President, is too involved in the case.

The hearing is a continuation of the argument put before the judge, Col. Fred W. Kennedy, last Jan. 20.

Nixon, in a speech in Hawaii, Pi, in charge of Nixon's defense, the prosecutor, Capt. Audrey DuPont, in his present evidence convincing possible command influence on the court martial has been scheduled. At the earlier hearing, Kennedy directed the

The floury dynamic cycle of MSU student government has taken another complete turn. The constitutional revision process is to be placed before the student body this Thursday. The main sticking point for the revision process is the question of who will control the creation and enforcement of the new constitution. The constitutional amendments of about 20 in all will be proposed to the student body in the form of five issues. Each issue represents a compromise of all minor changes necessary to initiate one major change.

The first issue concerns the membership of the Student Board. The present system of major governance being moved into a more presidential system. The Student Board, in order to authenticate its approval, must elect one representative to be in charge in the districts; this representative must be elected from a group of members over 2,500. Black history today:
A prelude to revolution

Although the history of the black man has been through so much tumult and turmoil, none of the curses ever have been through, none of the suffering ever have been through in the eyes of black men, women, and children. Black historians, black writers, and black intellectual leaders have made up their minds and have given birth to a new world of black history today.

But the time is now not so different as it once was. The black man today celebrate their history in a more concrete and organized way than ever before. Black historians, black writers, and black intellectual leaders have made up their minds and have given birth to a new world of black history today.

In fact, the words "black" and "history" are not synonymous. The black man today does not use the word "black" to mean the same thing as it once did. Black historians, black writers, and black intellectual leaders have made up their minds and have given birth to a new world of black history today.

The black man today celebrates his history with the same pride and passion as any other race. He is not ashamed of his history, he is proud of it. He knows that he is a part of a great and glorious past, and he is not afraid to show it.

Black historians, black writers, and black intellectual leaders have made up their minds and have given birth to a new world of black history today. They are not afraid to write about the past, and they are not afraid to celebrate it. They are not afraid to show the world what the black man has accomplished and what he has achieved.

And the black man today is not alone in his celebration. The white man is also celebrating his history, and he is not afraid to share it with the black man.

Top Iranians repeat provocation charge

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Iranian officials charged Tuesday that Iraq is still sending troops to Iran's border in what amounts to a provocation.

At the same time, President Ahmadinejad of Iraq, accused of spreading a troop buildup at the border and charged there had been recent provocations. Baghdad radio said.

Premier Ali Ammar Hashemi told the lower house of Parliament in Teheran that Iran has not lost any troops recently and that the only withdrawal is from Iran and a similar withdrawal of troops. He continued the irans refused to withdraw troops and sent more to the border and it will start "all and active participation in the policies of the Middle East."

Later, Prime Minister Bakr's spokesman in Teheran that Iran's "will reply with fire" and will defend the entire region where it is attacked.

Bakr's Baathist Socialist regime in Iraq accused Iran last month of attempting to "form A country" that would comprise Iranian people and the Arabs. Iran is seeking to have its military forces in Iraq.

The official IRNA news agency on Tuesday reported that Iran's Minister of Defense and Armed Forces, Amir Sharif, said that Iranian military forces are ready to defend the country against any provocations from Iraq.

"Our military forces are ready to defend our borders and our country against any provocations from Iraq," Sharif said. "We are ready to defend our country and our borders against any attempts to侵犯 our sovereignty."
Waiting lines dwindle at Olin

By JACQUI MILLER
State News Staff Writer

For the 500 persons who come to this Olin Center each day, the new co-operative system has been a godsend.

"The new system has made the lines shorter," said Mrs. Jeanie Reed, the head of the co-operative system.

The system has been installed in the main building, and it is operated by a group of volunteers.

The line begins at the entrance of the building, and continues

down the hall.

"People are quite happy with the new system," said Mrs. Reed.

The system has been in operation for about three weeks, and the lines have dramatically decreased.

"People are much happier than they were before," said

Mrs. Reed.

The system is

operated by a group of

volunteers, and it is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

every day.

The system has been well-received by the students, and it is expected to continue for the foreseeable future.

Tech drops icer as skid continues

The Spartan hockey teams designed their first outing for the NCAA, when it was held twice at Michigan Tech against Northern Illinois. The Spartans dropped a Friday night game 3-1 as Frank Hobie scored the only goal for Illinois' Wesburn. Dennis Bakey scored the tying goal of the game, but Michigan State's Justin Miller was the only one to score. The teams will meet again on Friday, March 26, in overtime give Michigan another opportunity to win its first NCAA game.

The Spartans, down 3-1 early in the game, came back and tied it 11-13 in the third period on a goal by Phil Hult. "We played our best game tonight," said Coach Grant Piven. But the team was unable to hold on to its lead, as Michigan State scored two goals in the final minute of play to win the game.

MSU's hopes for a second straight conference championship depend on a victory over Northern Illinois this weekend at Spartan Field.
Saigon explosion

The depot, located on a former MacArthur air base in downtown Saigon, was one of the last bases in the province to come under Viet Cong control. The Viet Cong captured it after a six-day battle. The depot was near the center for Viet Cong and North Vietnamese supplies, which had been moved out of War Zone B last week, long before the battle. The depot was destroyed by the Viet Cong in a fire that started overnight.

A small force of U.S. Marines has been sent to the U.S. Embassy in Saigon to protect it from Viet Cong attacks. The embassy was evacuated last week when the Viet Cong captured the U.S. military base in Danang.

Nixons were asked to resign

A group of U.S. residents in Saigon have called for the resignation of President Nixon. The group, which consists of over 300 American citizens, has been meeting regularly to discuss their concerns about the war. They have expressed their dissatisfaction with the way the war is being handled and have called for an end to the fighting.

Pollution conference

The conference, which was held in the O'Hare Auditorium, addressed the issue of pollution and its impact on the environment. The conference was attended by over 200 people, including scientists, environmentalists, and government officials. The conference was sponsored by the Environmental Protection Agency and was held in cooperation with the City of Chicago.

Ex-student activists join administration

Despite months of contemplation, there has been a turnover over the past few weeks — some who have been active in student government — on resignations and retirements.

The reason for this is a combination of institutional changes and the desire to pursue something new. However, it is important to note that there has been a high level of activity in student government over the past few years.

In the spring of 1968, the Student Activities Committee (SAC) was responsible for organizing and advising student groups on campus. The SAC was established in 1966 to provide a forum for student expression and to coordinate the activities of student groups on campus.

The SAC was composed of students elected by their peers to represent their interests. The committee had a limited budget and was responsible for organizing events and programs on campus.

In the fall of 1968, the SAC was reorganized to reflect the changing needs of the student body. The new committee was composed of elected student representatives and faculty advisors.

The new committee was responsible for planning and coordinating events and programs on campus. It was also responsible for identifying and addressing problems affecting the student body.

The SAC was reorganized in 1970 to reflect the changing needs of the student body and the university. The new committee was composed of elected student representatives, faculty advisors, and alumni representatives.
