White House service establishes precedent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Old political foes Bill Clinton and George H.W. Bush have found a way to work together. The two former presidents have agreed to speak at the same event, a rare occurrence for former political rivals.

With their families beside them, the President and former president met at an event in Washington to discuss their ideas on education and health care.

As president for special projects, Bush has been widely recognized for his work on educational projects for Native American children and minority students and for a national program of research in the field of education. In 1994, the two presidents met at an event in Washington, D.C., to discuss their ideas on education and health care.

The 51-year-old former president began work on his presidential library in 1995, with the help of his wife, former first lady Barbara Bush. The library, which houses the papers of both presidents, is located in the Washington State College in Maryland.

He has served on the boards of educational institutions in Kansas, Minnesota and Oregon.
Wharton, blacks laud Dr. King

By BARNEY C. YOUNG
State News Staff Writer

President Wharton Friday and Dr. Martin Luther King provided directives and leadership for black people. Wharton spoke at the memorial tribute to the late Dr. King held at the University Auditorium.

Black Liberation Front International (BLF) and Pan-African Student Organization in the Americas (PASA) also issued a statement honoring Dr. King.

The statement by the organizations, which included members of social and labor movements, began his speech with a message to King.

Wharton called Dr. King a dreamer who wanted results, and took steps to secure those results.

The Road Not Taken

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stared
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Sometime ages and ages hence.
Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And I— I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

Symbolic but sincere challenge to Vietnam

As most of us already know, the Vietnam war—America's longest and most controversial conflict—remains an unresolved question, a source of division and a symbol of our culture. This is precisely what the Vietnamese aim to call attention to in the upcoming war. They want to make it clear that the war is not only a military conflict, but a struggle for political and social change.

We should support the Vietnamese in their efforts to bring this war to an end. After all, it is our responsibility as citizens of a democratic society to ensure that our government is accountable to the people, and that the war is fought in a fair and just manner.

Charge for exam credits, unnecessary, not just

All University College courses, and in theory almost all courses, may be worse off by examination. If the student wishes to score sufficiently high on the examination, then he or she is eligible to take a second examination. Furthermore, Sargent has warned that the bill — which it requires in its developing stages — does not provide enough means to cover the costs of lower courts that have been ruled against the war resisters.

The function of tuition is to defray the costs of instruction and support, including the cost of material for the course and tuition for the course. It is only for this purpose that Sargent has raised the issue of the charge for examination.

There is no place for censorship

In our view, censorship is any form of intellectual or political interference. When censorship is practiced within the academic community, it is frequently employed to subvert the interests of the students, or to further the interests of the state. This is not acceptable, and we should work to ensure that there is no censorship in academic institutions.

Administration impersomal

It's not easy to get a two-bedroom apartment on Campus Housing. If your wife is expecting, the first rule is, you must prepare the apartment before you can apply for a two-bedroom apartment. You should make sure that the apartment is clean and in good repair, and that the furnishings are in good condition. It is also important that the apartment be suitable for a two-bedroom apartment.

I was told last weekend that I could get a room on Campus Housing. I prepared the apartment and moved in on the Friday, which was myself, the entire family, and the children. I was told that I had to move out on Sunday, which I did, but that's the rule of the procedures I face.

The way to cool ideas with which one disagrees — and the only way to do so — is to contradict the views of free speech, and to present your own views to the public. This is not censorship. This is the only way to ensure that the public is informed, and that the public is able to make its own decisions on the issues at hand. It is also important that the public is able to express its own views, and that the public is able to debate the issues in a free and open environment.

One recent prize and speech to which I have been privy is the Marlene D. Fierman Prize for Excellence in Communication. The prize is awarded to an individual who has made outstanding contributions to the field of communication.

It is the right of every citizen to participate in the political process, and to have his or her voice heard. This is a fundamental right, and it is one that we must respect and defend. Committee favors minority seats

By DELORES MAJOR

An Academic Council audit report recommends that 10 percent of the seats in all minority student bodies at state institutions be reserved for minority students.

The Attorney General's Office of State Attorneys requires that the basic framework for the following concept of the minority student body at Michigan State University be taken into consideration when the University enacts its policies for future minority student representation.

The council also said minority group membership is best decided by the individual. The council was reported to have indicated that it may be recognized that the University may, or may not, include or exclude applicants for admission to the University at the discretion of the University. The council also indicated that the University may define the University in any manner it sees fit.

Students affirm gay happiness

By PAULA BRAY
State News Staff Writer

The "gay world" can be fun and without fear. This was the consensus of four homosexuals interviewed, who said that they are at MSU.

"Not of them," he repeatedly replied.

"Well, when there are to be they call Gay," Cathy said.

"I think the reason that so many gay people don't find understanding with people is because of the ignorance and hostility society," Cathy said.

"Cathy and the other girl. They are in the same class in my sophomore year," said the third gay man.

"She and her friends and are the other one of those girls," the gay man said.

"If I find a woman to sit down with permanently and I know a gay... she married and in a gay way... the four of us would marry and have a gay family."

"As a rule, gay men usually aren't member of anything. You can't call them gay, unless they are gay---gay," said the gay man.

WINTER WEATHER

Thunderstorms: a rarity

By JACQUI MILLER

Snow and freezing weather early indicate that actual temperature has been experienced in the area since the morning when outdoor temperatures were near three degrees Fahrenheit. The coldest air has been in the area all day, with the wind chill factor bringing temperatures to near zero. The snowfall is expected to continue through tonight.

Engineers Dept. said that several thunderstorms will occur during the winter and spring months, and that some will occur during the spring and summer months. These storms will be caused by the rapid movement of warm and cold air masses, and are typically associated with high winds. The thunderstorms can cause power outages over the region and can damage property.

Tuesday night the Academy Awards Hollywood's "Oscar" night was presented in the December and surrounding days-themed annual event was the Oscar show. The film "face," to say the least, was presented by the Academy with no less than seven winners, as usual followed by discussing the winners.

The year, this particular awards goes Duke Wayne to be named best actor and "Anne of the Thousand Days" to be named best picture. The first goes Duke Wayne, the second to "Anne of the Thousand Days." Duke Wayne is expected to win both awards, but the film is written by the story of a man who has always been a favorite with the critics. He has a reputation for playing roles that are well received. "Anne of the Thousand Days," however, is written by the story of a woman who has always been a favorite with the critics. She has a reputation for playing roles that are well received. This, in turn, is expected to win both awards, but the film is written by the story of a man who has always been a favorite with the critics. He has a reputation for playing roles that are well received.

Richard Burton (pronounced "Burton") will not win for it without even trying. If a critical evaluation of work is needed, the best actor choice will be Peter O'Toole for "Goodbye, Mr. Chips." But "Anne of the Thousand Days" is expected to win both awards, but the film is written by the story of a man who has always been a favorite with the critics. He has a reputation for playing roles that are well received.

Does it hurt to chill beer twice?

Not that you'd want to. Sometimes it just happens... like after a picnic, or when you bring home a couple of cold 6-packs and forget to put 'em in the refrigerator. Does chilling goop up the taste or flatten the flavor? Relax. You don't have to worry. A really good beer like Budweiser is just as good as when you chill it twice. We're mighty glad about that. We hope you'll think of all our effort going down the drain just because the temperature has its ups and downs.

You can probably imagine what conditions all the extra trouble and extra expense that go into brewing Budweiser. For instance, Budweiser is the only beer made that's Beechwood-aged. So... it's absolutely okay to chill beer twice. Enough said. Of course, we have a lot more to say about Budweiser. But we'll keep it on ice for now.

Budweiser is the King of Beers.

One reason is that almost half of them are female. Another is that we don't participate in a we consider worthwhile programs to our campus.
