Student board delays off-campus elections

By JOHN BORDEN

From News Staff Writer

Off-campus ASMSU elections were postponed Tuesday night by the Student Board. The board said that the primary reason is "the Code of Conduct regarding off-campus voting due to the effort to win the election by a narrower margin than previously expected." The board also added that the possibility of a recount will still be held.

The possibility of holding off-campus elections today is being discussed by the ASMSU Student Board. The Student Board had earlier called for a recount of the off-campus election results.

The elections were scheduled for Tuesday night and the results are expected to be announced on Wednesday morning.

Emergency flight

The Apollo 13 mission was declared a success on Wednesday morning after the astronauts were rescued from the moon.

The astronauts, Commander Jim Lovell, Flight Engineer Jack Swigert, and Lunar Module Pilot Fred Haise, were rescued by a small craft from the U.S. Navy.

The craft, which was carrying the astronauts, was transferred to the U.S. Navy ship USS Anchorage in the Pacific Ocean.

State News Staff Writer

University President Robert Fleming yesterday taunted a speech that Vice President Spiro Agnew made yesterday in Des Moines, Iowa, where Agnew criticized the University's printing of a newspaper which Fleming said was a "wanton disregard for truth by denying the existence of the newspaper which has been protected by the University for 27 years." Fleming said that Agnew had been "crawled up to the University" by Michigan's communist-inspired journalism and that he had been given a "wanton disregard for truth" by denying the existence of the newspaper which Fleming said had been protected by the University for 27 years.

BREEDING ON THE FEARS OF THE 'SILENT MAJORITY'

Most universities today are much more liberal than they were in the past. This may be due to a number of factors, including the increase in the number of women students and the movement for equal opportunity. The result is that many students today are not satisfied with the way their universities are run. They feel that their voices are not being heard, and they are beginning to demand changes.

As a result of this, a number of student organizations have been formed to represent the interests of the students. These organizations are often quite powerful, and they have been able to bring about some changes in the way that the university is run. For example, they have been able to get rid of some of the more unpopular professors, and they have been able to get more say in the budgeting process.

In the future, it is likely that these student organizations will continue to play an important role in the running of the university. They will be able to bring about even more changes, and they will be able to influence the way that the university is run in a much more effective way.

The real question is, however, whether these changes will be enough. The students are still not satisfied, and they are still demanding more. It is likely that this will continue to be the case, and that the universities will continue to be challenged by the students in the future.

No one knows what's yet slated for the slate

The present mess over ballot designations is one of the most common tasks of the Michigan State Board of Education. It is also one of the most important.

As the Board of Education is concerned, it is essential that the ballot designations be clear and logical. The current system is not only confusing, but it is also difficult to follow. It is not easy to know which candidates are running for what positions.

The Board of Education should be concerned with the design of the ballot, as it is the only means by which the electors can be assured of voting for the candidates they want. It is the responsibility of the Board of Education to see that the ballot designations are clear and logical.

The Board of Education should also consider the fact that the ballot designations are used by the public. The public needs to be able to understand the ballot designations, so that they can make informed decisions.

McCall, and the governor of Michigan, Bill Milliken.

Michigan and last Friday that it was "more focused around stopping future pollution than previous occasions." He noted that the board had said there was a "general position that it is important for the state to make a decision on how we will handle the problem of future pollution." Milliken also agreed that "pollution of the state will not be ignored as the governor's statement of April 10 implied.

"We feel that heavy industry is committed to moving to areas where pollution is not a problem. In the case of the Great Lakes, where the amount of pollution is a problem, the board's statement of April 10 implied that the lake will not be ignored as the governor's statement of April 10 implied.

"Pollution Michigan lakes will not be ignored by Michigan. In the case of the Great Lakes, the lake will not be ignored as the governor's statement of April 10 implied.

The two major companies involved in pollution are Dow Chemical of Canada and the Wyandotte Chemical Co. Milliken and Monday, however, said that Dow Chemical of Canada, that in the amount of memory discharge would be reduced by 99 per cent.

The board expressed hope that the prevents the people of the state of Michigan would be hold in higher esteem than the campaign funds." They pointed out that money of the campaign contributions to the Republican and Democratic parties.

"We strongly stand behind the "amended" bill of the people. The water is being cleaned up, and the air is being cleaned up, and the lake is being cleaned up. The board also urged Governor Milliken to give "full public approval of House Bill 3555 and Senate Bill 2783, which would put the people of Michigan the power and opportunity to bring polluters into court of law." The governor must act.

Governor halts St. Claire fishing

Poll shows liberal sex attitudes

Student attitude towards sex was only favorable among a small minority of the students. The majority of students were permissive in their views. They viewed sex as a normal and natural part of human behavior.

Attitudes varied by age, sex, marital status, and religion. Older students were more permissive than younger students. Women were more permissive than men. Married students were more permissive than single students. Catholics were more permissive than Protestants.

The poll was conducted among a sample of 800 students at a midwestern university. The results were statistically significant.
India moves office to Lansing

Indian missions are busy setting up new offices in Lansing, Michigan, as the U.S. State Department names the city as the new headquarters for its Indian diplomatic missions in the Midwest. This move is part of a broader effort to consolidate Indian missions and streamline operations.

In an interview with the Lansing State Journal, an official from the Indian Embassy in Washington D.C. said, "Lansing is a central location for our Midwest operations, and the city has a strong Indian community. We believe this will help us serve our constituents more effectively." The official added that the Indian government is investing in the new facilities to support its diplomatic work in the region.

The move to Lansing is expected to create new job opportunities in the city, as the Indian missions hire local staff to support their operations. The Indian missions will work in close collaboration with the U.S. State Department and other federal agencies to ensure smooth operations.

The move is also expected to benefit the Indian community in the Midwest, as they will have easier access to the Indian missions for consular services, cultural events, and other programs.

Overall, the move to Lansing is seen as a significant step in the ongoing effort to consolidate Indian missions in the U.S. and streamline operations. The Indian government is committed to providing high-quality diplomatic services to its citizens and will continue to work closely with the U.S. government to achieve this goal.

Weekday Fun
In Movies, art, live campus

Contrary to common belief, campus entertainment does not die when the semester ends. This week the offerings include several films and presentations which students may attend to enjoy until the start of classes in September.

Movies in the films

Theater Arts

“Witchcraft Through the Ages” is a presentation that will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, April 15, in the University Union. The program will feature a live performance by the Witchcraft Theatre Group, which will present a special tribute to the late actress Bette Davis. The performance will be followed by a question-and-answer session with the actors.

Art in the art

The Art Hall in the Campus Center is currently hosting an exhibition of student art. The exhibition features works of art created by students from various disciplines, including painting, sculpture, and photography. The Art Hall is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and the exhibition will continue through the end of the semester.

Live music

The Michigan State University Jazz Ensemble will perform at 8 p.m. on April 16 in the University Union Auditorium. The ensemble is a group of student musicians who perform a variety of styles, including traditional jazz, blues, and contemporary genres. The performance is free and open to the public.

Museum marks a centennial

To celebrate the 100th anniversary of its founding, the Michigan State University Museum will host a special event on April 17. The event will feature a talk by a prominent historian, who will discuss the history and significance of the museum. The event is free and open to the public.

In conclusion

It is clear that there is much to do and see on campus during the summer months. Whether you are a student, faculty member, or visitor, there is something for everyone to enjoy. So, go out and explore the many opportunities available to you on this vibrant campus.

Delight 23 is a group of 23 faculty and staff members that is giving the public the chance to build their own philosophy on solving social problems.

The group will travel to the Anza-Borrego Desert State Park, where it will meet with an expert in the field of anthropology.

Among the topics to be discussed will be the effects of urban development on the environment, the role of genetics in shaping human behavior, and the impact of technology on society.

The group will also hear from a panel of experts on social issues, including a speaker on the impact of globalization on developing countries, a social worker on the role of communities in preventing crime, and an economist on the relationship between economic development and social progress.

The group will then break into small discussion groups to share their thoughts and ideas on how to address these issues in their own communities.

The public is invited to attend the event, which will be held at the Anza-Borrego Desert State Park, starting at 9 a.m. on the 19th of the month.

Legal Aid tackles student woes

By KATHY MCMAN
State News Staff Writer

Have you been stranded at your friend's apartment because it's the weekend? Do you get that definitive feeling when you are called out before a weekend bulb-judging? Or have you been out after your party days, did you get just $85-out of a $200 depression? Legal Aid.
A Michigan ABA, could be able to tackle these trickier programs for you.

We're looking for real people.

Not 9-to-5 mannequins. We want self-starters. Imaginative types. Ambitious Real people with backgrounds in business administration, finance, economics, accounting. People working toward master's or bachelor's degree. People who'd be excited to start out in one of the most progressive financial institutions in the Midwest. That's what we are. A bank. A big one. And growing all the time. We're first, time and again, with better services for the people of Detroit. We're innovators. And we're looking for more if you'd be interested in working with people who have no interest in putting you in a rut, make an appointment to meet with our representative through your placement counselor. Concern voiced for Apollo

Apollo return depends upon three batteries

From their special correspondents in America

Astronauts sponsored and visited by the Spacecraft Company were said to have been "in a special arrangement" during the Apollo 13 mission, according to news reports. The mission was cut short when the spacecraft suffered a partial failure, requiring the crew to return to Earth.

Spartan golfers in Illinois tournament this weekend

By CARL OLSON
State News Sports Writer

The MSU golf team goes in this weekend to the Illinois Intercollegiate golf tournament at the University of Illinois.

The Spartans had the opportunity last weekend to test themselves in the same order, which means that the MSU team, which, as the third place team at last year's tournament, will pitch this afternoon.

Tailgating: The MSU tailgaters who are there have been in a little bit of a dilemma as they have been trying to throw just under 3,400 pounds of turkey and black-eyed peas in the tailgating area.

Setting the stage for the event, a group of Spartans will be in the Illinois Intercollegiate competition.

The Spartans and MSU's 14-hole team will be in the tournament, and a third team will be in the tournament, both of which have been in the Illinois Intercollegiate competition.

The Spartans have taken the lead in the competition, and a total of 40 teams from 12 states were entered in the tournament.

The Spartans are on Southern Illinois University, Bloomington, Illinois State, Bradley, Drake, Findlay, Milwaukee and Western Illinois.

Last year the Spartans finished fourth with 98 strokes, and it is expected that this year they will finish in the top five.

The Spartans are in the top five and have won the tournament four times in the last five years.

Track stars prepare for NW meet

BY DON KORPIEVA

State Ideals

Sprinters are working hard this week trying to put into shape for next week's dual against Northwestern, but sprinters coach still doesn't expect immediate improvement after yesterday's time in Purdue.

"We should be in good order for the big race, but the top off the field is out," MSU assistant coach Gene Gilmore said. "I think that may be a matter of time before we'll see the best of the best." The Spartans were sponsored by NCAA officials who have not released any information yet regarding last Saturday's meet at Lafayette. Nonetheless, because they lacked participation in the NCAA meet at Purdue, Gilmore said that he was uncertain what time of day will be the best for the better tracksters to run.

If trackster is a short time in the season, the two compared--the top meets before the big run, they will go up against the top two Big Ten teams from the indoor season, Minnesota and Indiana, in a triangular meet here.

After that the Spartans travel to St. Paul and then close out their season at West Virginia. The meet before the NCAA meet and the Big Ten championship at Indiana.

The highlight of the season was the NCAA meet in Bloomington, Ind., and it was considered by many the most significant race to date.

Alcindor unimportant as top NBA rookie

NEW YORK (UPI) - Lew Alcindor Tuesday was a National Basketball Association's Rookie of the Year, voted by sports writers and broadcasters.

The 7-foot, 1-inch center, who brought the Milwaukee Bucks from last place in the NBA to first place, will receive his award Tuesday night.

Alcindor averaged 26.5 points per game in the regular season, second only to Jerry West of Los Angeles. The Buck's star dropped down to 12.9 rebounds, a 13.6 average, compared to West's 17.9.

"I didn't think we were comparable," Alcindor said. "We're playing against the best basketball players in the country with a tremendous experience." Alcindor and West averaged 26.8 and 36.9 points per game, respectively. Alcindor finished the season 15th in voting.

With Reed, averaged the 1970-71 NBA's most valuable players, said of Alcindor, "(Butch) and Alcindor have been comparable. He has the ability, he has speed and skill, and his ability to shoot with the hand is a big plus." Reed and Alcindor will be watching the Buck's star play on TV, and they're not the only ones.

Casper gets his Masters jacket

Casper Clipper clips into the green Masters Champions jacket after defeated Gene Littler in a 10 round playoff Monday in Augusta, Ga., for the title. Holding the jacket is last year's winner George Archer.

The bright light of the Masters has been the星期四 and the Grand Slam. For the last 50 years, the masters has been the top event in golf. This year, the Masters will be held from April 10 to 16. The event will be held on the Augusta National Golf Club, which is located in Augusta, Georgia. The Masters is one of the four major championships in golf, along with the U.S. Open, the British Open, and the PGA Championship. The Masters is known for its challenging courses, beautiful scenery, and friendly atmosphere. The Masters is also known for its traditions, such as the green jackets that are awarded to the winner, the green towel that is given to the last player to leave the course, and the caddie system. The Masters is a popular event for golfers and spectators alike, and attracts the best players in the world. This year, the Masters will feature some of the world's top players, including Tiger Woods, Phil Mickelson, and Rory McIlroy. The Masters is a must-see event for golf fans, and is sure to be an exciting event this year.
