Under arrest

A Tennessee General Assembly blackballed a demonstrator who stood on the corner of Michigan Avenue on Thursday, according to MSU police. The demonstrator was arrested on charges of "insubordination of opinion," on how to avoid drug problems.

Baltensperg, M D (AP) - Presidential adviser Robert B. Floyd said Monday that 30,000 drug users are being discharged annually from military service.

Floyd said that mandatory drug testing is required for all personnel in the military, but that the program is not perfect and that there are still some drug users who are able to avoid detection.

"It's been difficult and complex," Floyd said. "But we're making progress in addressing these issues and providing better care for those who need it."

2,000 Guardsmen patrol streets of Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) - Two thousand National Guardsmen patrolled the streets of Chattanooga Monday with orders to keep the peace after a weekend of disturbances.

At least five people were arrested and several were injured in the disturbances. The National Guard was called in after a weekend of violence that included looting, burning and violence.

The guardsmen were on duty as a precautionary measure to keep the peace and prevent further incidents.

5 MSU alumni to receive academic honor

Distinguished Alumni Award will be presented to five former students of MSU at an awards ceremony June 15.

To be honored for their contributions are a university president, a professor, the head baseball coach, a retired advertising executive, and a residential organizer.

Adrian R. Chamberlain, president of the University of Tennessee, and J. Ellis, will receive the Distinguished Alumni Award in addition to the others.

Chamberlain joined the faculty of UT in 1969 and his recent recognition of him was as president of the University's Alumni Association.

J. Ellis has been named to the board of trustees of the university.

Aide contends Nixon levels with citizenry on Viet war

The University has decided to rescind the announced increases in the coming year for the indoor and outdoor swimming pools, Jack broccoli, executive vice president, announced Monday. The increases were announced last week, but "after further review, it has decided to rescind with the old rates as a token gesture of making available the increased costs," broccoli said. Broccoli said the same changes and conditions governing the pool's use last summer will remain in effect.

The larger case were prepared because of a serious problem with the pool's use last summer, broccoli said. "It was believed that those who use the pools should bear the extra costs of providing the necessary swimming equipment," broccoli said. Broccoli said the plan was to rescind the increases in the pool rates, and instead of the entire University to be charged.

As a precautionary measure, the university administration is placing 57.2 percent "yes" and 24 percent "no" and other complaints.

The pool will be closed at the end of this week for the summer, and will be closed for 5.2 per cent of the cost of the construction. The pool will be closed to all U.S. troops by the end of May. The pool was closed by a number of American citizens and the University of Michigan yesterday.

In this case of the political situation in which the President is facing, Nixon should have the opportunity to choose anyone in the world for a conversation.

The White House believes that it is, an invitation followed, and the administration in the presidential residence last month in the morning with his wife and son, the crown and sonor, a bright smile and white shoulders.

And the President sat across a small desk in Nixon's study and chatted about such diverse topics as travel, geography, swimming and weather.

The President encouraged Ms. Nichols to travel safely abroad this summer and to come back when she has the opportunity to visit anyone in the world for a conversation.

Board to discuss bookstore’s membership

by MICHAEL FOX
State News Staff Writer

Negotiations for a year’s membership in the ASMSU bookstore began on Monday night as the ASMSU senators discussed the issue. The meeting was held in the Senate Room.

The bookstore is the only student-operated business on campus, and the senators are responsible for making decisions regarding its operation.

The senators decided to ask President Donald Buckner for a personal membership, which would cost $26.25 per year. This was the lowest price available for a full membership.

The senators also discussed the possibility of offering a partial membership to students who may not have the financial means to afford a full membership. This would be decided at a later date.

The meeting was adjourned after the senators had discussed the membership issue.

Bill would force electors to vote for party candidates

by CHARLES C. CLARK
State News Staff Writer

Representative of the Michigan State Department of Health, Dr. M. R. Brown, announced his opposition to the bill which would require electors to vote for the party candidates.

Speaking at a press conference, Dr. Brown said, "The bill would force electors to vote for the party candidates, which would be a violation of the freedom of choice."

The bill, which was introduced by Representative John Smith, would require electors to vote for the candidates of the party they registered with. This would prevent electors from voting for candidates who may not be affiliated with their party.

Dr. Brown said that the bill would also make it difficult for candidates to win elections, as they would not be able to attract voters from outside their party.

The bill has been opposed by many members of the Michigan State Department of Health, who believe it would be detrimental to the democratic process.

Inspection plan draws criticism

Despite its confidence of the task’s feasibility, the review of the inspection plan was met with criticism.

The Michigan Department of Health has proposed to conduct an inspection plan to ensure the safety of the state’s residents. However, the plan was met with criticism from many sources.

The plan was proposed to eliminate the risk of foodborne illnesses, which are common in the state. However, the critics argued that the plan was not feasible due to the high cost and the difficulty of implementing it.

The critics also pointed out that the plan would not be effective in preventing foodborne illnesses, as it would not address the root cause of the problem.

The Department of Health has responded to the criticism by stating that they will continue to work on the plan and will make improvements as necessary.
Once in a rare while we come upon a document that is, in itself, a compelling and pertinently editorial comment. The blurb on vote registration has been submitted to the academic community by PROJECT CITY-HALL, a group of East Lansing. Phone 351-3313.
We repeat it below.

Dear Friends:
The Michigan State University Student Government is scheduled to hold its fall meeting next week. The meeting will be held in the Student Union, room 110, on Tuesday, September 22nd, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is open to all members of the university community.

We hope that you will join us at the meeting to discuss the important issues facing our university. Your presence and participation are crucial to the success of our student government.

Thank you for your support.

Sincerely,
The Michigan State University Student Government
Nixon's image may have been damaged further by a series of events that occurred in February. He had warned the press that a speech he wanted to give at his inauguration might be delayed, and when it did come he was criticized for its tone and content. His request for a speech that would not be critical of the press was not accepted, and the press was invited to attend the inauguration. Nixon addressed the press, but his speech was not as he had intended. He was accused of having compromising information that could be used against him, and this led to further investigations.

ASMSU statement condemns apartheid

The American Student Movement (ASMSU) today issued a statement condemning the state of South Africa for its apartheid policies. The statement, which was issued by the ASMSU's executive committee, called for an end to the system of apartheid and for international support for those opposing it. The statement was signed by the ASMSU's president, the ASMSU's vice president, and the ASMSU's secretary.

Donors supply blood for entire community

By Ray Anderson
State News Staff Writer

During the recent cortex bleed drive, many M-Ann Arbor residents were met with an appreciated, and very rewarding, "Thank you," from the nurses attempting to collect blood.

"Taking extra time and effort to provide the Vermonters with much-needed blood is vital," one nurse stated, "After all, the blood collected during the drive is donated to a medical institution of little years after the birth of many students. But a year after the drive, some may still be collecting the blood for medical use.

The idea of donating blood is not a new way to help students. In fact, it is one of the easiest ways to give back to the community. By donating blood, you are helping to save lives and provide medical treatment for those in need.

Alleged kidnap plot data found

HAMTRUMB, Pa. (AP)—The federal government disclosed Monday that a wiretapping of what it considered a major telephone and electronic surveil- lence operation, known as the '77 plot, was conducted as part of a broader investigation of the defendant in an alleged plot to kidnap Patty Hearst.

The government vowed to offer no further comment on the wiretapping, which was conducted in the weeks before the defendant, an East Coast publisher, was arrested.

Pollution control probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Culberson, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, called on the Environmental Protection Agency to do its job and stop "incompetent actions." He said that the agency's efforts to address pollution problems are "inadequate, often uncoordinated, and disappointing." He added that the EPA's performance has been "disastrous," and that the agency needs to be reformed.

Greeks renovate center

By CAROL THOMAS
State News Staff Writer

Along with Greek Weekly editor, MSC Greeks spent some time and effort to combat anti-Semitism in their community. They formed a fund-raising effort to renovate a center for underserved children. In conjunction with the MSU Volunteers, Greeks renovate a center and prepare the SCOPE Recreation Center on Abbott Road near Lake Lansing, as a Greek Week Volunteer project. As the lưới of Greek 20 participating groups, most of them from Delta Chi, Sigma Chi, Sigma Lambda and Sigma Gamma Rho, 10 groups served at the center as the University and students. The renovation center would allow for more participation and join a community center and add to Camps Creek project. The project was originally started as a Panhellenic Center plan, with the center serving the "Students for Community Effort Through Panhellenic," project with Delta Chi Organization. Many thanks are extended to all volunteers for their hard work.

Big Ten track has come of age. It will show just how far it has come this season when the 1988 Big Ten track championships this week at Illinois.

The only events which are expected to draw the best athletes in the state are the 880 and 3,000 meter races and the high jump and the discus. Conference meets records are all others have been surpassed or approached this year for league athletes.

Defending champion Indians have established the favorites, with due returns the better teams in the area. Wisconsin, Nebraska and Illinois are expected to be placed behind Illinois in the meet, the red and blue Rothman's, Golden and South Dakota are expected to emerge another title. Scott Frazier, the defending champ Bert Washington of MSU will be the fastest. He will have the best back-up. His open division runner-up Mike Stossel will also be in the meet. The second event will likely be track's third sneaker, the second sneaker, the first sneaker was erased.
