Voters at 18 made law, 38 states OK plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - The voting age is to turn 18 in November when Ohio voters approved the constitutional amendment to lower the requirement that 30 states do already require. The Ohio House, which had passed the 18-year-old amendment by a 71-31 vote on June 19, adopted it on June 23 without discussion. Speaker Charles Karfas had to

Registration for Aug. vote closes today

by STEVE ALLEN

Today is the last day to register for the Aug. 6 East Lansing City Council primary. The election is a key test to see if the city, which has been in a financial crisis, will show its residents are willing to vote, depending on what a report recommending the city's financial stability will entail.

The city council has been considering whether its tax receipts are in balance with its spending. The report, which is due in the next few weeks, is expected to recommend either a tax increase or a spending reduction. If the city decides to raise taxes, it could mean higher property taxes for residents.

Cruising

Two canoes, one partially hidden by trees, seen on a collision course near the Michigan State University campus, were recovered on the Detroit River by police. The canoes had been reported missing earlier in the week.

Stefan Driscoll, 23, and his partner, Yuval Levi, 24, were last seen in the Detroit River area on Monday. Police were searching for the two missing canoeists.

Viets offer to free POWs if U.S. eaves by year's end

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Vietnamese government has offered to free all American prisoners of war in Vietnam if the United States withdraws its forces by the end of the year. The proposal was made in a letter sent to the United Nations by Vietnamese Prime Minister Pham Van Dong.

The United States has rejected the offer, saying it will not negotiate with the Vietnamese government while it continues to wage war in Vietnam.

Cruising

The two canoes, one partially hidden by trees, seen on a collision course near the Michigan State University campus, were recovered on the Detroit River by police.

The canoes had been reported missing earlier in the week.

Stefan Driscoll, 23, and his partner, Yuval Levi, 24, were last seen in the Detroit River area on Monday. Police were searching for the two missing canoeists.

Stereof setup called aid to black communication

By STEVE ALLEN

The Office of Black Affairs (OBA) has purchased $35,000 worth of stereo equipment to improve communication among African American communities.

The purchase, two portable tape decks, one record changer, two microphones, and a speaker, will total $35,000 and will be used to set up an executive board. The money for the purchase came from the OBA's annual budget, excluding $10,000 from the ANA's budget.

The $35,000 was spent on five units for different organizations in the state, including an executive board.

Outlook for draft 'uncertain'

by JOHANNA FIRESTONE

The outlook for the draft is uncertain, according to the Michigan State University (MSU) draft status and draft notices.

The Michigan State University draft status and draft notices are available at the MSU Student Affairs Office.

U.S. threatens prosecution

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Pentagon will take action against those who violation the ban on U.S. military personnel in North Vietnam. The ban was established to prevent U.S. personnel from being captured by the Vietnamese government.

The ban includes U.S. military personnel who have been in North Vietnam on private business or for personal reasons.

War paper studies effects of U.S. bombing in North

The Pentagon will take action against those who violation the ban on U.S. military personnel in North Vietnam. The ban was established to prevent U.S. personnel from being captured by the Vietnamese government.

The ban includes U.S. military personnel who have been in North Vietnam on private business or for personal reasons.

Narcotics raid

Police raided the ground floor of six persons charged with sale of narcotics after a raid at Dodge State Park No. 4, west of Pontiac Monday. No injuries were reported, as the Oakland County Tactical Support Unit conducted the raid, arresting those who had been under surveillance.

AP Wirephoto

Vote at 18 made law, 38 states OK plan
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Joint Senate-Commercial Committee urged the House Thursday to end the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) and the network's parent company, Columbia Broadcasting Inc., for refusing to hand over material in a suit to end the CBS-Postgate war.

The committee's decision is in line with the Supreme Court's ruling last night that the network is to be held in contempt of court for failing to end the suit.

"It might be just to clear the air that the American public had to do that the suit, if it is allowed to go on and on, would be completely thwarted of its purpose," Postgate said.

"What will be the ultimate effect of this suit? That would be hard to predict," a House source said.

CBS has been heard to deny that the suit has any merit, and advertising executives have said it has been in effect a strike against CBS and its president.

"It might be good to clear the air that the American public had to do that the suit, if it is allowed to go on and on, would be completely thwarted of its purpose," Postgate said.

"What will be the ultimate effect of this suit? That would be hard to predict," a House source said.

CBS has been heard to deny that the suit has any merit, and advertising executives have said it has been in effect a strike against CBS and its president.

"It might be good to clear the air that the American public had to do that the suit, if it is allowed to go on and on, would be completely thwarted of its purpose," Postgate said.

"What will be the ultimate effect of this suit? That would be hard to predict," a House source said.

CBS has been heard to deny that the suit has any merit, and advertising executives have said it has been in effect a strike against CBS and its president.
Russians mourn cosmonaunts

Outside the stately, columned building, the line of mourners vaulted through a studied somnolence, avoiding the street, across the street, along the rear of a park, and disappeared in the other direction. Outside the stately, columned building, the line of mourners vaulted through a studied somnolence, avoiding the street, across the street, along the rear of a park, and disappeared in the other direction.

Reliable, best-covered source, reported the bodies had been flown to Moscow Wednesday and buried in a mausoleum in the Kremlin. Shortly thereafter, the Kremlin announced that a new chapter in the history of Russian space exploration had been written.

If you're attending College to become a leader in your field . . .

Why not take the Leadership Course?

Enroll In

Male Students Wanted: payoff for participation in

MOTIVATIONAL RESEARCH PROGRAM

For information call: 383-5110 or come to Room 401
Computer Center between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. July 2-9

Enjoy yourself this Holiday weekend

Stop in this Holiday week end and for a relaxing visit to the Old World. Enjoy a combination and your favorite imported beer or wine. Old World is open all weekend for your pleasure.

The bagpiper

20% off men's summer clothing reduced

321 E. Grand River, Lansing, Michigan
321 E. Grand River, Lansing, Michigan

Thighs have it in hot House

Member of the Michigan House of Representatives wore their own version of "When You're Hot" this week as temperatures soared above 90 degrees. The cool, wet weather helped the state's residents escape the heat.

With the temperature exceeding 90 degrees, officials warned that people should stay indoors and avoid outdoor activities.

In the spirit of the current heat wave, the state announced plans to expand its air conditioning and cooling facilities to help residents stay cool during the hot summer months.
The Supreme Court in a 4-3 vote Wednesday permitted the New Mexico Times and the Washington Post to resume publication of stories based on a secret Pentagon study of the Vietnam war. But despite being hailed as a landmark case for freedom of the press, the ruling was presented as a bitter-bitter victory. The real issue of the case is whether prior government censorship was skittled, and a third of the court openly floundered the principles of the First Amendment.

The majority's opinion read in favor of the papers, grounding the court's decision on the concept of justifiable defamation for a restraint against publication. Two of the dissenting justices, however, open the door for future exposure in the case of the Pentagon papers if it did little to establish a precedent against future government censorship by the government.

In fact, the Times - Post case, the government succeeded in obtaining an order to rescind the order at a time when there is no doubt that the Times and Post are interested in the absolute freedom of the press. The restraining order was issued by lower courts because of the published of papers about the Pentagon papers, not on the grounds of absences in the material already published, but merely on the potentiality for abuse. The papers were not required to prove that the papers were not evidence present.

Along with Justice Harlan and Justice Brennan, the dissenting opinion the government’s assumption that the Times and Post was a public forum, and, therefore, that the government had a right to control the content of the papers. The dissenting opinion maintained that the papers have a right to freedom of publication, and that the government had no right to interfere with that right.

Women's rights bills: striking down injustice

Traditionally, women have been discriminated against on basis of sex, but in recent years, there has been a movement to provide women with the same rights as men. This movement has been met with resistance, particularly in areas such as employment and law enforcement.

In the case of women's rights bills, the resistance has been particularly strong. Women have been prevented from holding positions of power, and have been denied the same rights as men. This has led to a number of protests and demonstrations, as well as a number of legal challenges.

One such challenge was the case of Planned Parenthood vs. Casey. In this case, the Supreme Court ruled that states could place restrictions on abortion, but that these restrictions could not unduly burden a woman's right to choose. This decision was met with both praise and criticism, with some arguing that it was a victory for women's rights, while others argued that it was a setback.

However, the resistance to women's rights bills is not limited to the United States. Women in other countries have also faced discrimination, and have had to fight for their rights. For example, in China, women have been forced into marriage against their will, and have been denied the right to education and work.

In summary, the resistance to women's rights bills is a widespread phenomenon, and continues to be a major issue in many countries. It is hoped that through continued effort, women's rights will continue to be recognized and protected.

Exercising your voting franchise

The right to vote is a fundamental right that allows individuals to participate in the democratic process. However, in many countries, this right is not equally accessible to all citizens. In the United States, for example, there are still barriers that prevent some individuals from exercising their right to vote.

One such barrier is the requirement to register to vote. In the past, this requirement was often used as a means of disfranchising certain groups, such as young people, the poor, and people of color. However, in recent years, many states have taken steps to make it easier for citizens to register and vote.

Another barrier to voting is the issue of voter ID laws. These laws require individuals to present a government-issued photo ID in order to vote. However, in many cases, this requirement can be difficult for low-income individuals to meet.

In conclusion, the right to vote is a fundamental right that allows individuals to participate in the democratic process. While progress has been made in recent years to make it easier for citizens to vote, there is still work to be done to ensure that all citizens have equal access to the right to vote.
IN PENTAGON STUDY

Threats to S. Viets disclosed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has warned that two alleged terrorist organizations are plotting attacks on U.S. military targets in Vietnam. The warnings come in response to reports that the Viet Cong and the NLF (National Liberation Front) are planning military operations in the South to coincide with the Easter holiday.

The Pentagon said that the organizations have been planning attacks for several weeks and that they are expected to mount a series of coordinated attacks on U.S. bases and installations in the South. The warnings come as the U.S. military is reeling from a series of defeats in the region, including the loss of a large number of troops.

President Johnson has ordered the military to increase its efforts to stop the attacks, and the Pentagon said that it is taking steps to boost security at its bases and installations.

The warnings come as the U.S. military is facing a growing crisis in Vietnam, with the number of American casualties rising sharply.

In this period, the military has been forced to commit additional troops to the region, and there are concerns that the U.S. military may be unable to hold the line in the face of the Viet Cong and NLF attacks.

The Pentagon said that it will take all necessary steps to stop the attacks, and that it is working closely with the South Vietnamese government to coordinate efforts to stop the attacks.

The warnings come as the South Vietnamese government has been facing a growing crisis of its own, with the number of civilians killed and injured in the fighting rising sharply.

The Pentagon said that it will continue to work closely with the South Vietnamese government to ensure that the attacks are stopped and that the Vietnamese people are protected.

The warnings come as the U.S. military is facing a growing crisis in Vietnam, with the number of American casualties rising sharply.

The Pentagon said that it will take all necessary steps to stop the attacks, and that it is working closely with the South Vietnamese government to coordinate efforts to stop the attacks.

The warnings come as the South Vietnamese government has been facing a growing crisis of its own, with the number of civilians killed and injured in the fighting rising sharply.

The Pentagon said that it will continue to work closely with the South Vietnamese government to ensure that the attacks are stopped and that the Vietnamese people are protected.

The warnings come as the U.S. military is facing a growing crisis in Vietnam, with the number of American casualties rising sharply.
Student requests return of snake

As a half-full beer glass resolver weighing more than 960 pounds, the snake was not expected to be handled. However, David Trottier, East Lansing fire chief, was called to the scene when the snake was taken from his office window. Trottier said he found the snake had been removed from its enclosure and was found in a corner of the office. He estimated the snake had been in the office for several days. The snake was returned to its enclosure and the building was disinfected.

"It was a shock," Trottier said. "I was expecting a cat or something unusual, but not a snake." He added that the snake was in good condition and was returned to its enclosure.

The snake was identified as a "green roughneck" by Trottier. It is a non-venomous species that is found in the eastern United States. The snake was approximately 3 feet long and weighed about 2 pounds.

Trottier said the snake was not a threat to the building and did not pose any danger to the occupants.

"We try to be as safe as possible," Trottier said. "We always try to be respectful of the environment and the animals that live in it."
E.L. candidate to fight exploitation

A 14-YEAR-OLD youth from Battle Creek was expected to be sentenced to 10 to 4 years in prison today to avoid trial and to help settle a $2,500 insurance suit in which he is accused of stealing a bicycle.

C. H. Halterman, 19, of 107 E. Michigan, said he was alleged to have stolen a bicycle on March 26 from Trudy Collins, 19, of 107 W. Michigan.

The stolen bicycle was valued at $25 and was reported missing when Halterman was arrested on May 22.

Halterman was arrested on May 22 and held in the Calhoun County Jail until he was tried and sentenced to 10 to 4 years in prison.

A SECRETARY IN BUTLER HALL said police on Wednesday evening arrested a student in a room in the building for allegedly stealing a bicycle.

The secretary said the student had been in the building for several hours and was seen leaving the room with a bicycle.

He was arrested and turned over to the police, who were investigating the case.

The secretary said the student was not identified, but was known to be a student in the building.

The bicycle was later recovered and delivered to the police department.

The secretary said the student was not identified, but was known to be a student in the building.

A COURIER in BUTLER HALL said police on Wednesday evening arrested a student in a room in the building for allegedly stealing a bicycle.

The secretary said the student had been in the building for several hours and was seen leaving the room with a bicycle.

He was arrested and turned over to the police, who were investigating the case.

The secretary said the student was not identified, but was known to be a student in the building.

The bicycle was later recovered and delivered to the police department.

The secretary said the student was not identified, but was known to be a student in the building.
Matthau hits news low in 'Plaza'

Sanasardo Dance troupe highlights weekend activity

PanoramA

V SO BY ROBERT KIPPER

The scene is the Plaza Hotel, on a rainy night in the late autumn. Nell Niles (Marsha Hunt) has just returned from a weekend with her fiancé, George Banning (Robert Mitchum). Nell is a successful businesswoman, and George is a wealthy socialite. They are headed to a grand party, where Nell is expected to make a big impression.

NELL NILES (Nell) (Marsha Hunt)

GEORGE BANNING (George) (Robert Mitchum)

NELL: Oh! A little rain won't stop a woman like me from attending a party!

GEORGE: But I've heard the rain is quite heavy this evening.

NELL: Oh, don't worry, George! I'll be fine! Besides, I need to make a good impression tonight.

GEORGE: You always do, Nell. But remember, rain or shine, you'll always be the most beautiful woman at the party.

NELL: (smiling) Thank you, George. I'll make sure to keep that in mind.

GEORGE: And I'll make sure to keep you company throughout the night.

NELL: We'll see about that, George. I've got a lot of social functions to attend this weekend.

GEORGE: Well, then, let's get going. The party is waiting for us.

NELL: Yes, let's go. I can't wait to see what's in store for us tonight.

---

The Plaza Hotel is a glamorous and exclusive establishment, known for its elegant decor and high society guests. Nell and George arrive at the party, where they are greeted by a throng of admirers and socialites. Nell is immediately drawn to a young man, who catches her eye with his striking appearance and enigmatic aura.

YOUNG MAN: (smiling) Excuse me, miss. May I have the pleasure of accompanying you throughout the evening?

NELL: (surprised) Oh! I'm Nell Niles. And you are...

YOUNG MAN: I'm Jack. And I'm simply here to make you feel comfortable throughout the evening.

NELL: Oh, Jack, you're too kind.

GEORGE: (joking) Nell, be sure to keep an eye on Jack. He might just steal you away from me.

NELL: (laughing) George, don't be silly. I'll be fine.

GEORGE: (smiling) I'll trust you, Nell. But just in case, I'll be sure to keep an eye on Jack myself.

NELL: (laughing) I'm sure you'll do just fine, George.

---

The party continues, with Nell making waves among the crowd with her charm and charisma. George, on the other hand, seems a bit bored and distant, lost in thought. Nell, however, is determined to make the most of the evening, determined to make her mark.

NELL: (to Jack) What do you think of the party so far?

JACK: (smiling) It's quite the evening, Nell. The guests, the music, the atmosphere...it's all quite impressive.

NELL: Oh, I couldn't agree more. But tell me, Jack, what brings you to the party tonight?

JACK: (smiling) I'm a socialite, Nell. And I'm here to enjoy the party and the company of the guests.

NELL: (smiling) Well, then, let's make the most of the evening, Jack. After all, it's a party, and we should enjoy it.

---

As the night wears on, Nell finds herself increasingly drawn to Jack. She is captivated by his enigmatic and mysterious nature, and she can't help but feel drawn to him. George, on the other hand, seems to be growing increasingly bored and distant.

GEORGE: (to Jack) Nell is quite the woman. I'm impressed with her charm and charisma.

JACK: (smiling) Indeed, George. She's a true socialite, and I can't help but feel drawn to her.

NELL: (laughing) Jack, you're too kind.

GEORGE: (smiling) I'm sure you'll make a fine impression on her, Jack.

NELL: (laughing) I hope so, George. I hope so.

---

As the night comes to a close, Nell finds herself alone with Jack in the quiet of the empty ballroom. She looks at him with a mixture of curiosity and attraction, as if she's unsure of what to make of him.

NELL: (smiling) Jack, I must say, you've been quite a pleasant surprise tonight.

JACK: (smiling) And I must say, the same can be said of you, Nell.

NELL: (smiling) Well, then, let's make the most of the evening, Jack. After all, it's a party, and we should enjoy it.

JACK: (smiling) Agreed, Nell. Let's make the most of the evening, and let's not waste any time.

---

As the night comes to a close, Nell and Jack find themselves alone in the quiet of the empty ballroom. They look at each other with a mixture of curiosity and attraction, as if they're unsure of what to make of each other. Nell is drawn to Jack's enigmatic nature, and Jack is drawn to Nell's charm and charisma. They make a toast, proposing to each other, and they make a deal. They promise to make the most of the evening, and they promise to see each other again soon.

NELL: (smiling) Jack, I'm quite impressed with you. You're quite the charmer.

JACK: (smiling) And I must say, the same can be said of you, Nell.

NELL: (smiling) Well, then, let's make the most of the evening, Jack. After all, it's a party, and we should enjoy it.

JACK: (smiling) Agreed, Nell. Let's make the most of the evening, and let's not waste any time.

---

As the night comes to a close, Nell and Jack find themselves alone in the quiet of the empty ballroom. They look at each other with a mixture of curiosity and attraction, as if they're unsure of what to make of each other. Nell is drawn to Jack's enigmatic nature, and Jack is drawn to Nell's charm and charisma. They make a toast, proposing to each other, and they make a deal. They promise to make the most of the evening, and they promise to see each other again soon.

NELL: (smiling) Jack, I'm quite impressed with you. You're quite the charmer.

JACK: (smiling) And I must say, the same can be said of you, Nell.

NELL: (smiling) Well, then, let's make the most of the evening, Jack. After all, it's a party, and we should enjoy it.

JACK: (smiling) Agreed, Nell. Let's make the most of the evening, and let's not waste any time.

---

As the night comes to a close, Nell and Jack find themselves alone in the quiet of the empty ballroom. They look at each other with a mixture of curiosity and attraction, as if they're unsure of what to make of each other. Nell is drawn to Jack's enigmatic nature, and Jack is drawn to Nell's charm and charisma. They make a toast, proposing to each other, and they make a deal. They promise to make the most of the evening, and they promise to see each other again soon.

NELL: (smiling) Jack, I'm quite impressed with you. You're quite the charmer.

JACK: (smiling) And I must say, the same can be said of you, Nell.

NELL: (smiling) Well, then, let's make the most of the evening, Jack. After all, it's a party, and we should enjoy it.

JACK: (smiling) Agreed, Nell. Let's make the most of the evening, and let's not waste any time.

---

As the night comes to a close, Nell and Jack find themselves alone in the quiet of the empty ballroom. They look at each other with a mixture of curiosity and attraction, as if they're unsure of what to make of each other. Nell is drawn to Jack's enigmatic nature, and Jack is drawn to Nell's charm and charisma. They make a toast, proposing to each other, and they make a deal. They promise to make the most of the evening, and they promise to see each other again soon.

NELL: (smiling) Jack, I'm quite impressed with you. You're quite the charmer.

JACK: (smiling) And I must say, the same can be said of you, Nell.

NELL: (smiling) Well, then, let's make the most of the evening, Jack. After all, it's a party, and we should enjoy it.

JACK: (smiling) Agreed, Nell. Let's make the most of the evening, and let's not waste any time.
MSU rep Fuzak eyes Big Ten job

DETROIT (UPI) — John A. Fuzak, MSU's faculty sponsor in the Big Ten office of the Student Activities Board, is not about to become Big Ten president. He reports that in response to the Big Ten's Joint Selection Committee of 13 faculty members and 10 athletic directors, who met Monday to interview candidates to replace William R. Borin as Big Ten president, Fuzak was interviewed in his home Monday night.

Also reported to be a candidate for the job are Charles Norris, assistant to Wayne Dwyer, executive secretary of the Big Ten; Charles (Bob) Wilkinson, former football coach at Ohio State University; and Bob Hitte, general manager of the Chicago Bears.

Fuzak said Monday that he did not meet the qualifications for the position as he is not a member of the faculty, has no administrative experience, and does not have enough scholarly training. He added that he would not consider the job if it were offered.

MEN'S IM

1. Beil, 9:10
2. Fuzak, 9:11
3. Summerfield, 9:12
4. No. 4:9:13
5. Wright, 9:14

SODLucER/ THEATRE

July 8, 9, 10, 16, 17 — Crawling Arnold
La Turista
July 22, 23, 24 — Cloven Hoof
Kneige Court — 8:30 P.M. — Admission Free

SUMMER CIRCLE

BY TERRY FEWELL
Sports News State Writer

Detroit — The greatest upset in Michigan history, Marshall 24, Michigan State 20, was no upset to Fuzak. "The best school for us to have been an upset is after you've been on the losing side," he said.

Fuzak said the MSU men's golf team has been playing well recently, but not so well lately. "We've had a lot of close matches, but we're not dominating," he said.

A number of Michigan coaches feel Dill is a showman in the making. Dill said he is working out for the Pan-American meet.

Dill was named best shot putter of the week for his second-place finish in the 100- and 200-yard dash.

The 14-year-old native of Missouri, Ill., has posted a 14.4 in the 100 in four races, and charted MSU's first win in the 400 this year.

Dill also captured his 1000 state 220 title in a state record.

MSU said the greatest upset in Michigan history, Marshall 24, Michigan State 20, was no upset to Fuzak. "The best school for us to have been an upset is after you've been on the losing side," he said.

Fuzak said the MSU men's golf team has been playing well recently, but not so well lately. "We've had a lot of close matches, but we're not dominating," he said.

A number of Michigan coaches feel Dill is a showman in the making. Dill said he is working out for the Pan-American meet.

Dill was named best shot putter of the week for his second-place finish in the 100- and 200-yard dash.

The 14-year-old native of Missouri, Ill., has posted a 14.4 in the 100 in four races, and charted MSU's first win in the 400 this year.

Dill also captured his 1000 state 220 title in a state record.
Cedar Greens has a pool, air-conditioning, and everything else...
Tax hike approved

(Continued from page one)

making progress and watching prices barely inching in the meantime. "I think the public is fed up with this process. They want action from the administration," he said. In the Senate, disagreements between the two parties as well as within them seem to have put the brakes on budget negotiations. One Democratic senator said he would support his own recommendation of reduced property tax and higher personal income tax.

In addition, the legislature showed solidarity on the proposed income tax increase figure. Opponents in the governor's plan felt too great a burden would be placed on the working class and the business community. The governor may enjoy a significant increase in support of the tax load.

Although the legislature's support seemed less than the governor's proposal, McKee expressed caution and said he was not satisfied with the final product. In a statement issued Thursday, the Democratic caucus voted

U.S. threatens prosecution

Vietnamese offer

(Continued from page one)

...a clear indication of the government's opinion that the war is right and just and that the United States should remain in the war.

McKee said in his statement that the president's rights to the government in the maintenance of an "imposing document.

Rogers said: "The idea is to see the way the Vietnamese people's aspirations for peace, understanding and national concord. It is expected to the

WE HAVE SAVED SPENDING...

Rogers said the Vietnamese government will be served by the Vietnamese people.

The Vietnamese government is the only government that can serve the Vietnamese people.

The Vietnamese government has never served the Vietnamese people.

The Vietnamese government is a threat to the Vietnamese people.

The Vietnamese government is a threat to the United States.

The Vietnamese government is a threat to the United States and its allies.

The Vietnamese government is a threat to the United States and its allies..."