News from the State News office Friday morning was a surprising piece of news for many students at MSU. The news was a cutback of the student newspaper, The State News, by 10 percent. It was a surprising move, as many students were not informed about the decision until it was announced.

The decision was made by the Board of Regents, which oversees the university. The cuts are expected to result in layoffs for several employees and a reduction in the size of the newspaper.

The move comes as the university faces budget cuts and a decline in revenue. The decision was made after a series of meetings and discussions among the Board of Regents and university officials.

The cuts will affect the content of the newspaper, with fewer stories and fewer opinions pieces. The news coverage will also be reduced, with fewer stories about campus events and fewer features about student life.

The decision has been met with mixed reactions. Some students are happy to see the cuts, as they believe the newspaper is not needed. Others are disappointed, as they believe the newspaper is an important source of information.

The cuts are expected to take effect in the coming weeks. The university has not yet announced when the layoffs will occur.

The move is one of several cuts made by the university in recent months. The university has been facing budget cuts due to a decline in revenue and a decrease in state funding.

Bill of restrictions

The Nixon administration won a narrow, impermanent Senate victory Tuesday in Washington in its fight to stop the Senate from passing a bill of restrictions prohibiting the Government from providing arms to any recipient not approved by the Senate. The vote was 47-46.

The Senate then approved a House-passed bill to provide $265.4 million in aid to South Vietnam, including $225 million for the President's request for a 120-day extension of the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution.

Strike results in surplus

The American steel industry, whose enormous strike was again scheduled for Monday, said Sunday it could produce more steel than it needed and that no steel would be needed. The union said it would follow the strike as scheduled.

Voting bill possibility

Despite what it said was a unanimous opposition from the Nixon administration, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., said Sunday that Congress could vote on the bill of restrictions this week.

What is the Snowstorm façade?

The Snowstorm façade is an artistic design that is intended to blend in with the natural environment, making it less noticeable to those observing it from a distance. It is often used in areas where privacy and blending into the surroundings are important, such as for homes, businesses, or public buildings. The design is typically made of materials that are resistant to weather and can withstand various conditions, allowing it to remain intact for many years. It is also designed to be aesthetically pleasing, adding visual interest and enhancing the overall appearance of the building or structure. The Snowstorm façade is commonly used in residential and commercial settings, providing both functionality and visual appeal. It is an excellent choice for those looking to create a harmonious blend between their home or business and the natural surroundings. The Snowstorm façade is versatile and can be customized to suit various needs and preferences, making it a valuable asset for those looking to create a unique and attractive design. The Snowstorm façade is an excellent option for those who want to create a beautiful and functional design that is also environmentally friendly.
Smokey Bear has been a fixture in the American psyche for over 70 years, reminding us all about the importance of fire safety in the wild. Despite his age, Smokey is still as active as ever, with his latest campaign encouraging people to "Save Water, Save America." The bear's slogan, "Only you can prevent forest fires," remains as relevant today as it was when it was first introduced. As we enjoy our outdoor activities this summer, let's remember to keep Smokey's advice in mind. Together, we can protect our forests and enjoy the beauty of nature for generations to come.
Prayer in school bill danger to Bill of Rights

Newswest magazine reports that the "controversial school prayer amendment" may actually have a chance of passing the Congress this session after all. If ultimately ratified into law as the 20th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution, this legislation would overrule the Supreme Court's prayer in public schools. It would also serve to destroy the basic tenets of American democracy, the Bill of Rights.

Proposers of the "prayer amendment" are the main means by which all means. Indeed, the worst thing is various House Senate resolutions commonly include such words as "voluntary," "autonomous," and "moment of silence." The threat is as follows: "It is careless to preserve non-sectarianism while refusing "God to the school."

But it is at this very point on non-nomination that the proposed amendment's rationale falls at the feet of the founder's Father's. Persons who state that while Americans are divided into a myriad of different religions and creeds, they are all, nevertheless, theists who would wish to take advantage of a "moment of silence." Apparently the proponents of prayer in school have forgotten — or perhaps are not interested in — the rights of individuals who profess agnostic or atheistic beliefs.

It has been suggested that in making school prayer the main means by which all means may take the privilege of abstaining from sectarian services. Such an approach ignores social dynamics. Any child attending school in the absence of majority compliance risks the使用权 and/or the "freedom" — i.e., - the cost of his peers and teachers. Children may not be deprived of the right of freedom of expression without retaliation.

No reason to conduct Amchitka nuclear test

About the only creatures inhabiting the Greater Amchitka marine area these days are eagles, fish and sea otters. They get along quite well with the blasting and the fish are not affected in any measurable way. The Alaska Enviromental Council (AEC) carries out its plans to blast Amchitka, an island.

Within the AEC itself there is a chance of reduction from the blast mining on the Pacific. As one might state it will certainly be reduced for the region's and for the other populations will no doubt be reduced. Further, the area's layout and underlying geologic changes suggest that it could conceivably touch off earthquakes and other major ecological effects of the blast, however, the government officials have assured the AEC of this.

“Liberty sect uses faith healing”

The following evening all are invited to attend a panel discussion that will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Metropolitan Church. The panelists include: John Bucher, a noted author and speaker; Reverend Peter Rollins, a well-known religious leader; and Dr. Richard Banks, an expert on faith healing.

The event is open to the public and is a great opportunity to learn more about the beliefs and practices of this unique religious group. Don't miss this chance to gain a deeper understanding of faith healing and its role in the religious landscape of the city.
Election day in East Lansing and an estimated 23,000 voters may turn out to decide which of the eight candidates will hold the seat of city government in the next four years. The city's present mayor, William W. Oliphant, has received no party endorsement and can therefore not run for re-election next year.

If Oliphant would support widespread voter registration drives, including the permanent deputizing of public schools, religious and social, and other public agencies, they might help register voters in the city's suburbs. A different system, he said, "would make it easier to gather signatures for the proposed city charter amendment." Will the campaign begin?

Thomas

The recent past has been marked by violent attacks on bicycle riders by motorists, which is one example of the way in which the city, including police, has failed to enforce its own laws.

Colburn

School changes could improve safety and efficiency in the area.

Phillips

If the type of police action is not taken to protect the community, it will be impossible to resolve the issue.

Streets

I believe all departments of the city should be held accountable for the community's safety.

A TYPICAL WEEK of communication studies under the direction of Charles Yudahl, assistant professor of communication, concluded Thursday with an outstanding performance as part of their innovative class project. The most surprising finding of the project was that, contrary to the usual claim of campus activism, most students are both ill-informed and highly cumulative active in the East Lansing area. The survey was conducted by a student group under the direction of Charles Yudahl, and the results, which indicated that students are not as active in the community as they are in the campus activities, are in line with the findings of the study conducted by the City's office and various political organizations.

The survey was conducted by interviewing 35 people, 17 per cent of all students, who were asked to rate their involvement in local community activities. The majority of the students indicated that they were not as active in the community as they are in the campus activities, which is in line with the findings of the study conducted by the City's office and various political organizations.

When asked about the nature of the project, all of the students interviewed were enthusiastic about the opportunity to learn more about the community. However, one student commented that he had not been involved in any of the activities listed in the survey and was surprised to learn that he was not as active as he thought he was. Another student commented that she had been involved in a few of the activities listed in the survey and was pleased to learn that she was as active as she thought she was.

Meridian voters decide to go for city charter

By BILL WHITING drama Staff Writer

The city council, including soon-to-be-named city manager, will vote for the second time in as many years on whether to allow the city to take the next step in merging with the township.

A second proposal to incorporate was turned down by a vote of 3-2 on Jan. 19, 1971. That decision was reversed on May 18, 1971, with a 4-1 vote in favor. In both cases, the city council was faced with the same dilemma: whether to incorporate or dissolve itself into the township.

In both cases, the decision was made on the basis of the best interests of the residents, regardless of what anyone else might think or say. The first decision to incorporate was made by the city council on the basis of the best evidence available at the time. The second decision to dissolve was made by the same council, again on the basis of the best evidence available.

We believe that the city council is the best institution for making decisions about the future of the city. And we believe that the voters are the best judges of those decisions. If the city council voted to incorporate, it would be because it believed that incorporation was in the best interests of the residents. If the voters voted to dissolve, it would be because they believed that dissolution was in the best interests of the residents.

We urge all residents to vote in the best interests of the city, regardless of what anyone else might think or say. And we urge the city council to make its decision based on the best evidence available. The future of the city is in the hands of the residents, and we believe that the residents are the best judges of what is best for the future.
Book ordering policy defended

A panel of bookstore representatives lashed out Tuesday at the state's 428 full-time faculty members that they feel should "get involved" in the long run as the department continues to follow procedures that derive from University regulations.

"A faculty member must utilize the library," said Charles Anderson, chair of the University of Michigan's Bookstore and Atlas Printers of Lansing. "A faculty member who wants to order in the MSU bookstore and then in turn will allow the list to the renewing bookstores."

"Many faculty members and many of the students," Anderson added. "We would like to have more involved at the Marantz."

"We feel that there's no one that's not been involved," said Anderson. "They're not involved." Anderson added that when they order in the African books and the orders are not coming in, the bookstore will not send the books. The bookstore will not sell the books.

"We feel that too," said Anderson. "A faculty member who has not ordered in the African books will get involved in the African books, the bookstore will get involved in the African books and the orders will not be sent.

Naturally, a melter would extract a few, but Indiana's harriers are hoping to keep this one in a bottle.

"The Hoosiers are pulling up from behind to avenge the conquerors they trailed by 18 points last year," said Ridnour. "They've got a better record this year and are looking for a repeat.

First of all, though, the Hoosiers have got to keep the Spartans from scoring. They've scored 25 points in the last two games and have been unable to get past the Spartans."

"The Spartans scored with a three-pointer at the end of the game and have been unable to score in the last two minutes," said Ridnour.

"The Spartans are a very good team and will be tough to beat," said Ridnour. "They have got to keep the Hoosiers from scoring and give their team a chance to win.

"We have a good chance," said Ridnour. "They are a good team and we are looking forward to the game."

Dallas to go with alternating qb's

DALLAS (UPI) - Dallas coach Coach Landry said the club will go into the Sunday game with the Chicago Bears with alternating quarterbacks because the team hasn't had enough practice with both.

"If the man has played every game like did it didn't happen (when the Cowboys beat New England 11-1) without any attemps, we couldn't have had a no. I believe," Landry said. "But they haven't." "To me, one quarterback's been there for no others," the coach added. "Another has been there for no others, but one. They haven't been in no game." In games for which they haven't been in, he added, "They haven't been a no. quarterback." The problem has been a lack of competition. "I believe there's a lack of competition."

The quarterback's individual statistics tend to bear out Landry's statement. Landry said of the club for the fourth straight game against New England with no lost fumbles or interceptions and only five penalties. Landry said that he is not sure that the quarterback is his problem.

The Cowboys had lost 20 of 32 attempts for a 62.5 completion percentage, 116 yards and 37 TDs. Landry said the club tree is to allow "everyone" to gain against New England with no lost fumbles or interceptions and only five penalties. Landry said that he is not sure that the quarterback is his problem.

"The real issue is: How can we serve both love and war?"

"Yes, we violated the law. But the law is no obstacle to us. I must say our intention was to destroy the files. But our motive was to illustrate genocide in Vietnam and corruption at home." With these words, Father Bellringer gives a hint of the explosive nature of "The Trial of the Catonsville Nine." A brilliant and honest piece of modern theater specially staged for live recording in stereo. A forceful performance directed by Gordon Davidson, superbly captured in a two-record album. Booters ready for game of year by CRAIG REMINGER

It was a matter of 100 percent in Saturday's game as Notre Dame put the ball in front of the students and the alumni who had been waiting for a football game against the Fighting Irish since the last meeting in 1962.

For the MU seniors, that last game, Alphonso Davis booting his second field goal as time expired, is still fresh in their memories. And they have been through another year of ND losses, which have included a 20-10 defeat to Notre Dame.

"Whoever wins this, we make the trip," said MU fullback John F. O'Neill, "but we're going to give it our best effort, and I think we can."

Mueller will need to score a touchdown to win for the first time. In the 1962 game, Mueller had only one touchdown to his credit.

Purdue has offense to trouble Spartans

By GARY SCHARRER
State News Sports Writer

It seems that in every football game the Spartans enter, some kind of luck is shown at the hands of their opponents. At the height of their success, the Spartans were unable to stop the Virginia Tech offense. And in the game today, Purdue's defense showed what it can do against the Spartans.

The Spartans have been playing well in recent weeks and have won three straight games. But today, the Purdue offense showed that it is not invincible. The Boilermakers were able to score on all five possessions that they had.

The Purdue offense has been scoring a lot of points recently. In the last three games, it has scored 56, 48, and 42 points, respectively. In the game today, it scored 38 points. The Boilermakers' quarterback, Billy Taylor, had a stellar game, completing 17 of 22 passes for 250 yards and three touchdowns. The Boilermakers also had a strong rushing attack, with fullback Jack Wicker rushing for 107 yards and a touchdown.

On the defensive side of the ball, the Spartans have been struggling. In the last three games, they have given up 45, 48, and 42 points, respectively. Today, the Purdue offense scored 38 points, which is a testament to the Boilermakers' offensive prowess.

The Spartans will need to improve their defense if they want to have a chance against the Boilermakers next week. The Boilermakers are one of the top teams in the country and are currently ranked No. 2 in the nation.

Illiini eyes second win

By KCE GOSSELIN

The University of Illinois will try to win its second straight game today when it takes on the Iowa State Cyclones at Memorial Stadium. The Illini are coming off a 35-7 win over the University of Minnesota last week, while the Cyclones are off a 27-7 victory over the University of Wisconsin.

The Illini are looking to improve their record to 2-1, while the Cyclones are hoping to avoid their first loss of the season. The game is set to kick off at 2 p.m. at Memorial Stadium.

The Illini have been playing well in recent weeks, with quarterback JimmyCancel and running back Ernie Negron leading the way. The Cyclones have been struggling on defense, giving up 40 points in each of their last two games.

The Illini will be looking to continue their recent success against the Cyclones. Illinois has won the last three meetings between the two teams, with the most recent victory coming in last season's game.

The Illini will be looking to improve their record to 2-1, while the Cyclones are hoping to avoid their first loss of the season. The game is set to kick off at 2 p.m. at Memorial Stadium.

Coalition of organizations aims to ASMSU abolition

One of the major questions of issue at ASMSU is the possible coalition of organizations that would result in the cular rejection of the right to vote on the matter of ASMSU abolition.
The group which would be affected is the financial firm, office space, it was pointed out by members who spoke at the meeting.
The group decided that if the criteria were taken away, office space will be available to students, and personal whims.

The coalition hopes to win over students in the structure of the organization and to allow them to participate in the various activities that are currently conducted.

President of one of the groups speaking at the meeting, asked that the name of the organization be changed to
"ASMSU" as a representative group of organizations.

The coalition now has a list of registered student organizations and no organization that has been included in the list could be eliminated.

One group was removed from the list, according to personnel sources, and another was denied of the right to be on the list because of lack of a University account.

Two weeks later, this action
was reversed, and the group was reinstated as a result of requests from students who were denied in the previous meeting.

Another coalition was that of the guidelines were issued and voted on at the same time as the previous meeting, and the coalition said it was at that meeting informed of changes in ASMSU by the registrar.
