White, prof censured for releasing pay lists

By S. A. SMITH

A member of the MICH board of trustees at a public meeting last week said that the board of trustees had imposed new restrictions on the publication of the pay-roll list.

The board's action was taken in response to a request from the faculty, which had been seeking to have the pay-roll list published for several years.

The new restrictions include:
- The pay-roll list will be published only once a year.
- The list will be published only after approval by the faculty.
- The list will not include any identifying information about individual faculty members.

These changes were made in an attempt to protect the privacy of individual faculty members.

The board of trustees also noted that the pay-roll list had historically been a source of conflict and tension, and that the new restrictions were intended to address these concerns.

The board also acknowledged the importance of transparency in university governance, and noted that the pay-roll list had been a source of information for faculty and students for many years.

E. Pakistani independence urged

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi on Sunday promised to take all necessary steps to ensure the peaceful transfer of power to the East Pakistan movement, which has been campaigning for independence.

"It is the will of the people of East Pakistan that they should be given the right to decide their own future," she said.

The East Pakistan movement, led by Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, has been fighting for independence from Pakistan since 1971.

Nixon accepts bill for back pay hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard Nixon signed a bill Sunday that will provide raises for federal employees, including those in the White House.

"It is the will of the people of East Pakistan that they should be given the right to decide their own future," she said.

The East Pakistan movement, led by Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, has been fighting for independence from Pakistan since 1971.

The bill, which was passed by Congress last week, will give federal employees a 10% pay raise, retroactive to March 1, 1974.

The legislation, which was supported by both Republicans and Democrats, was seen as an attempt to address the growing discontent among federal workers.

"This bill is a down payment on the issues that matter to the American people," Nixon said.

The White House released a statement saying that the president was pleased with the bipartisan support for the bill.

Russian pannent on Mars

The Russian Mars 2 spacecraft fired a capsule containing a hammer and small penguin to the surface of Mars and went into orbit around the planet, Tass reported Tuesday. The Soviet Union thus became the first nation to launch a space probe on Mars.

The news agency said the salvaged craft started at 3:48 EST Saturday and went into an orbit with a maximum distance of 2,616 miles and a minimum distance of 555 miles. It gave no indication whether Mars 2 was taking pictures or would try to land.

The Soviet Union and the United States agreed earlier this month to cooperate on a joint mission to Mars.

Institute urges elimination

The United States dumped about 90,000 tons of chemicals, largely defoliant, over Vietnam between 1965 and 1970, an independent peace research organization said Tuesday in Stockholm, Sweden.

In an extensive report on chemical and biological weapons, the Swedish International Peace Research Institute said the risk is growing that such weapons, relatively cheap and easy to use, could be used for mass destruction unless effectively eliminated. It urged the United States and the Soviet Union to resolve their differences and seek a comprehensive disarmament treaty on chemical and biological weapons.

Thieu visits Cambodia

President Nguyen Van Thieu flew into eastern Cambodia Tuesday for a look at the three-day-old revolution there by 25,000 South Vietnamese forces.

At almost the same time, South Vietnamese paratroopers lifted 300 government parachutists onto the landing zone near Dui Br, about 20 miles from Phnom Penh.

Associated Press correspondents Roan Minh Trinh reported that E. U. bombers and South Vietnamese fighters-bombers softened up the landing zone before the combat jump. The parachutists encountered no resistance.

Nixon, Trudeau to confer

Proposed youth court will seek legal advice

WASHINGTON (AP) - A coalition of youth leaders announced Tuesday plans to seek legal advice in order to prevent the use of arrests as a means of gaining influence in the major political parties.

Dr. Joseph P. Draper, president of the National Association of State Government, said the movement to be deepened at an Emergency Conference for New Yorkers in Chicago the weekend of April 29 to 30 in order to escape the ravages of drugs and Woman's Cancer.

The purpose, Draper said, would be to minimize their strength in the 1973 presidential convention.

Meanwhile, the Youth Action Network, the major coordinating group of the organizations representing the 800,000 to 20,000 year-old voters, announced it would spend $400,000 to continue the work of the 1972 presidential convention.

Draper said a priority concern of the youth groups is to ensure that their plans are implemented in any convention state as they have been imposed by the Democratic National Committee. There are several young people in 18-25 convention seats awarded to the party.

"We are committed to the principle that the political parties must be open and responsive to all citizens and that the presidential nominating conventions of those parties are to be open to all voters," Draper said.

Draper said he also urged the young people to keep in mind that Congress is being advised by the South Carolina's Draper, said, "But they try to head off the 14-year-old and student voting rights; they reject the Senator données conclusions for not recognizing leadership."

FROM 6-9 MONTHS
'U' to extend program

By MICHAEL FOX
State News Sports Writer

President Whitman announced Tuesday that the Presidency Program will be extended to six months instead of the six-month terms the fellows have been serving.

The change was made of the length of participation for the fellowships, which will consist of a graduate student through the end of May and a graduate student through the end of the fall semester. The current fellowships for classes ending in 1979.

The final group of fellows under the $75,000 Rockefeller Foundation grant will begin their fellowship next fall and end next May, through the 1972-73 academic year. Originally, the final group, due to have begun their eighteen-month fellowship in March and end in May, was scheduled to end in November.

"We have been very satisfied and greatly encouraged by the fellows, especially in the way in which they have taken place during the course of the fellowship for the individual fellows. However, our experience has led us to conclude that perhaps six months is not an optimum period of time for the fellowships," Whitman said.

"We hope that extending the fellowship period from six to nine months will provide for an even greater and more enriching experience for the fellows without unduly interrupting their research or career plans," he said.

The president's office announced that applications will be accepted for fellows for the fall semester. However, applications will be limited to students who might wish to apply for the 1972-73 fellowship. The deadline for applications is Jan. 1, 1972, with selection to take place during winter term.

The fellowship program offers an intimate in the administration for those selected. A stipend is offered, which will be increased to account for the extension from its six to nine months of fellowships.

In the case of $75,000 only several fellows, with the group meeting next fall and end in 1973, under the current funding program, which began in September, 1972, is considered a pioneering effort at developing fellowships and faculty with the internal of the administration.

Applicants to the program are provided by the fellowship stipend. An application and file in the administrative building plus other prerequisites.

Peoples party move: insuring a Nixon win?

This past weekend the foundation for a fourth liberal-oriented political party was laid when the Peoples Party held an organizing convention with 200 people in 28 states participating. As yet there are no serious candidates in mind for ‘72, but the possibility of a Peoples party convention for the presidency is in at least some states seems strong. The political consequences of a move are obvious. A Peoples Party vote in ’72 would, in any event, be a Democrat by their definition. In states where the margin is close between Republican and Democratic candidates, a Peoples Party vote could be the deciding factor. In short, a significant Peoples Party turnout could destroy any chances the Democrats might have of reclaiming the White House in ’72.

The philosophical foundations of the establishment of the Peopel Party much coincide with the very existence of third and fourth political parties to some serious inadequacies within the two major political parties. The Republican and Democratic parties have shirked all issues of change in favor of the status quo.

The Bilderbergs at this moment standing at arms length to the Peoples Party. The Democrats immediately met their party urges demands of an end to racial discrimination in local party affairs have gathered in the Wallace camp.

Wharton tells plan for filling vacancy

By MICHAEL FOX

State News Staff Writer

President Nixon announced Tuesday afternoon that the special rating commission on student youth violence will consist of nine members, four of whom will be students. The announcement of the formal recommendations made to him is expected any time now. The news was announced shortly after the resignation of Milton R. Eisenhower, the Republican from Pennsylvania and a member of the Academic Council.

Wharton outlined how the three-man evaluation commission will be composed but did not specify any target date for the committee to make a recommendation in his time.

Three members of the committee will be elected by the Academic Council, with the two student members selected from a list of students and four to be appointed by the Academic Council.

The report of the special commission on student youth violence will be presented to the Academic Council, which will elect the student members, and to the three-man evaluation committee.

Wharton said that the committee's recommendation in the special commission is the best advice to the Senate, which should use it.

Furthermore, Wharton said that he would not make a decision in the Senate and leave it up to the people of the appropriate time.

New Orleans, La. (AP) - A new study makes it clear that diabetics—both good and bad—may die significantly longer than nondiabetics of comparable age.

This was reported Monday by a team of physicians from Georgetown University Medical School. They also believe that diabetics, including those with uncontrolled diets, may still significantly longer than nondiabetics of comparable age.

As estimated 1.5 million Americans are known to have a second heart attack, the study finds that patients with diabetes are at a significantly higher risk for developing heart disease. The government-supported report from a group called the University of Michigan Group Diabetes Program (UMD) reported earlier last year that the real risk for people with diabetes has never been this high.

BILLY JACK

“BILLY JACK,” a film about two young lovers, is currently showing at the State Theater. The making of the movie has been described as a struggle between two different visions of the story. One is the director’s, the other is the producer’s. The result is a film that is both ambitious and brilliant, but also rather confusing.

The story concerns a young couple who are involved in a series of events that lead to their eventual separation. The characters are well drawn, and the performances are strong, but the film as a whole is not as cohesive as it could be.

The music is by the late Bob Dylan, and is one of the film’s most prominent features. The songs are used to great effect, helping to create a sense of atmosphere and tension.

Overall, ‘BILLY JACK’ is a film that is worth seeing for its music alone. It is not without its flaws, but it is certainly a film that is worth the time it takes to watch it.

Gary Ganakas is a big man. I don't see what the program does with his size. It's a big man. He's gotta be to play basketball at a high level. If you're gonna bring a big man into the game, you gotta get the most out of him. There are a lot of kids who are overweight. Gary is overweight. He's gotta prove his roomed at Michigan State is a very, very physical addition, and he's gotta be able to play basketball.

To start out, Gary is a member of the 5'10, 150-pound team. Compared with the rest of the league, there is a fact that he is playing basketball in the toughest conference in the nation. But that's not to say that the conferences are excusable. Gary's being HUH Deal this season can't be too far off.

The same thing can be said of the two other conferences. The University of Illinois is one of the two that is being watched, and the Big EightConference is that. Gary is saying that he wants to be back. I don't want any talent. Students warned of business deceptions

Because of the right national economic situation, "money-making schemes" are spreading across China, according to Andrew Eiler, manager of the Michigan Department of Consumer Affairs, noting that many of these are known as "penny sales" or "bonanzas distribution" operations.

The basic component of a "money-making scheme" is the parent company to profit from, effect, in essence, blank checks in which a sales force of "bonanzas" is invited to pay an "investment fee" for the privilege of selling goods or services.

But retail products seen in the general area of secondary importance while emblems placed in distribution plans are released by "bonanzas" investors, according to the Michigan Consumer Affairs Department.

The Michigan Department of Consumer Affairs warning suggests that those involved in the business are "inexistent" or "bogus." But Eiler points out the investment expands the number of distribution personnel. By the sixth month, the retail plan is set up to take in at least 15,000 people and ten times the number of distributors.

Endorsed by the money-making schemes, Eiler said consumers, particularly college students, are often given deceptive or high pressure sales tactics for such products as "tax savings accounts" and "church magazines.

The dealers of the Michigan Department of Consumer Affairs have been guilty of outright misrepresentations in telling the customer what he is gaining, the real problem in that case, Eiler said, is the young people, really old investors, who are buying into organizations that sound like they would look for at least 15 months on the basis of many of them around magazine magazines.

AGAINT SOME MSU UNITS
Panel gets sex bias charges

By CHAD PETREK, State News Staff Writer

A list of complaints alleging that a number of MSU units are involved with sex discrimination on the campus was recently sent to the Committee Against Discrimination by Mary P. Sharp, department chairman of the Department of Psychology.

The complaint was made by Yvonne Slobin and Larry Gates of the Michigan Society for the Advancement of Women in Psychology, following a pattern of the AWP guidelines. The specific complaints, however, have yet to be investigated.

"If the committee can't read the complaints as valid, Ms. Sharp, "then we'll bring the complaints to the president's office and the equal opportunities coordinator," said Ms. Sharp, who was in her office in the Department of Psychology.

IFC expels 4 fraternities for lack of participation

Interfraternity Council (IFC) executives voted Monday to expel four fraternities for failure to participate in the last two years.

Alpha Phi Alpha, Kappa Alpha, Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Phi Epsilon were cited as the fraternities that have not met the IFC requirements for participation.

"IFC is essentially a student-administered organization and if a fraternity is not participating, the fraternity is responsible," said IFC President Ronald Ferrier.

"The fraternity has a lot of responsibilities," he said. "They have to maintain a certain number of chapters, they have to maintain a certain number of members, they have to maintain a certain number of activities."

"If a fraternity doesn't fulfill all of these requirements, then they are not allowed to participate," Ferrier said. "There is no way around it."

The fraternity's executive board was then asked to investigate the fraternities and report back to the IFC executive board.
