Board approves urban college plan

By BARBARA PARNES
State News Staff Writer

The board of trustees Friday approved by a 6-2 vote President Wharton's proposal for a College of Urban Development and named Robert L. Green, director of the Center for Urban Affairs (CUA), acting dean.

Trustees Warren Huff, D - Plymouth, and Frank Merriman, R - Deckerville, voted against the proposal.

Wharton, at a press conference following the meeting, said no timetable has been set for full implementation of the college proposal. An eight-man committee headed by the provost will begin work this summer to study certain "structural questions" related to the college.

The University Curriculum Committee will review existing urban-related courses and programs and recommend which should be included in the urban college curriculum. Wharton said a subcommittee might begin the review this summer.

"Even with the greatest degree of speed, the college couldn't possibly operate by fall, 1972," Wharton said.

A search and selection committee made up of 12 faculty members and three students will screen candidates for permanent dean. Wharton said the committee "will undoubtedly be diverse in race and ethnic backgrounds of the members."

The new college will include at the outset a Dept. of Urban and Metropolitan Development and a Dept. of Race and Ethnic Studies. The latter will be jointly administered by the College of Social Science. Other departments may be added as a result of study by the provost's committee.

Following the vote Friday, Green said he was "very pleased" with the board action. At the board's informal session Thursday evening, Green told the trustees he fully supported Wharton's proposal.

"It is the first urban college in the nation at a major university and MSU is in a leadership role. As acting dean, I pledge myself to work cooperatively with all segments of the University

AFTER LONG DELIBERATION

Board names VP, AD

The board of trustees Friday appointed J. Burt Smith as new director of athletics at MSU and Eldon R. Nonnamaker vice president for student affairs.

Succeeding Nonnamaker as dean of students will be Nolen Ellison, 31, formerly of MSU. He will also carry the title of assistant vice president for student affairs.

Smith was one of the three finalists selected for the position of the Athletic Council Search and Selection Committee. He replaces Clarence (Biggie) Munn who was forced out of the position last October by a stroke.

Smith, 55, has served in the Athletic Dept. in a number of capacities since 1954 and has held the position of assistant athletic director since April 1965. His initial appointment to MSU athletic staff was as an assistant football coach in 1954.

Nonnamaker, formerly dean of students at MSU, succeeds Milton Dickerson who resigned in June 1972. Nonnamaker formerly served as guest counselor in the Counseling Center, head dormitory adviser and assistant director of the men's division of students affairs.

He was named associate dean of students in 1963 and appointed dean of students in 1970.

Ellison is the first black to be appointed MSU's dean of students. He previously had served as administrative assistant to the director of the Center for Urban Affairs in 1969, and as assistant to the president from October 1970 to August 1971.

He is now assistant to the chancellor at the Metropolitan Junior College District, St. Louis, Mo.

$1 per credit tuition hike OK'd

By NANCY PARSONS
State News Staff Writer

The board of trustees Friday approved a $1 increase per credit hour for all student fee assessments for the 1972-1973 fiscal year effective fall 1972.

The trustees also sanctioned a migrant tuition plan proposed by President Wharton which would allow children of migrant workers to acquire Michigan residence for tuition purposes.

The tuition hike, which will represent net revenue of approximately $1.5 million for the University, was approved to meet the projected increases in fixed costs expenditures such as electricity, social security and protection.

"These are factors which are totally outside of University control," Roger Wilkinson, vice president for business and finance, said after the board meeting.

Wilkinson said the last-minute decision by the board to raise tuition was the result of an expenditure and revenue report he presented to the board at their Friday morning finance meeting.

Wilkinson said that because the University did not raise tuition last year the administration had to absorb operating budget cuts amounting to about $1.1 million which still have not been compensated for.

Normally tuition increases are approved after the Michigan Legislature has determined MSU's budget appropriations because the University was afraid legislators would alter the appropriations if a tuition hike was decided upon earlier.

Wilkinson explained that the board decided to announce an increase at this time after noting that other universities who announced tuition increases early last year did not lose any appropriations.

An undergraduate student qualifying for the new migrant tuition plan would pay $15 per credit hour instead of the $33 presently charged out-of-state students. Total savings during an academic year for each undergraduate student would amount to about $900.

Under the plan, applicants would meet the residency test if their parents or legal guardians were employed as migrant workers in Michigan for at least two months during three of the preceding five years.

In a press conference following the board meeting, President Wharton said that the new plan would probably become effective for the next school year and that currently-enrolled children of migrant workers may petition for a reclassification in order to qualify for the new tuition rates.

Merriman, R - Deckerville, and Kenneth Thompson, R - East Lansing, casting the only negative votes.

When the board proceeded to discuss other matters without considering the demand by demonstrators to institute a University policy against the war, a majority of the capacity audience in the Kellogg Center auditorium began chanting protest songs and marching down the aisles.

President Wharton adjourned the meeting saying that the board could not continue their discussions amid the disruption. The only remaining item on the agenda was the matter of residence hall contracts which will be taken up at their next meeting, Wharton said.

After approval of the formation of the ad hoc committee, representatives of the demonstrators presented Wharton with petitions containing 7,646 signatures of students, faculty and University employees urging the board to take an institutional stand against the war.

The petitions asked the board to "declare as a matter of institutional policy that this University strongly opposes all American involvement in the Indochina War and immediately

NIXON PLANS FOR MEET

Snags in arms pact hinted

SALZBURG, Austria (AP) — As a White House adviser reported possible technical snags on an arms limitation pact, President Nixon prepared Sunday for his Moscow summit meeting and "the most intensive negotiations I have ever participated in."

After an hour-long meeting with Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky and lunch at a mountainside hotel, Nixon returned to work because, he said, Soviet leaders "will be very well prepared" when he arrives in Moscow today for a week of talks.

"The possibility of some progress" in the talks "is perhaps greater... because both sides will be well prepared," Nixon told newsmen as he strolled the trim, green grounds, of the baroque, 18th-century Klessheim Palace where he is staying during his 36 hours in this Alpine city.

Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger said a number of technical issues remain unsettled on the proposed agreement to limit U.S. and Soviet nuclear weapons. Nixon has said he hopes to sign the agreement while in Moscow.

Both sides have agreed in principle to limit arms, Kissinger said, but he added there is a question whether the complex technical details can be ironed out during the week Nixon is in the Soviet Union. If not, Kissinger expressed confidence they would be settled soon afterward and the agreement signed. He would not detail the differences.

When Nixon reaches Moscow today at 8 a.m. and becomes the first American President ever to visit the Soviet capital, he will face Communist leaders unhappy about U.S. mining of North Vietnamese harbors.

The mining, which Nixon said was aimed at halting the flow of Soviet supplies fueling the North Vietnamese invasion of South Vietnam, threatened for a while to wreck the Moscow meeting.

But the Kremlin's response has been subdued. On the eve of Nixon's arrival, Pravda coupled an attack on the Communist Chinese with phrases welcoming "normalization" of relations with the world's "biggest capitalist country."

VanTassel given contract extension

By BARBARA PARNES

State News Staff Writers

A one-year contract extension for Ellen R. Van Tassel, asst. professor of natural science, was approved by the trustees Friday, allowing her, if necessary, to use the new grievance procedures also approved by the board at its monthly meeting.

Van Tassel is currently appealing her department's decision not to renew her contract, which expires in August. Her hearing before the University College Faculty Affairs Committee (FAC) set for June 3 has been tentatively rescheduled for May 31.

In approving the grievance document, the board urged the faculty to reconsider the process for choosing members of the appeal panel which hears grievances concerning nonreappointment of nontenured faculty in the tenure stream.

Trustee Patricia M. Carrigan, D - Ann Arbor, said the requirement that three nontenured members of the five-member panel come from the tenure committee sets up an unnecessary dichotomy between tenured and nontenured faculty." The two nontenured members will be chosen randomly by the faculty grievance official.

The contract extension approved by the board is a class action, applying to all faculty members "whose appeal of nonreappointment is formally underway within the University

Allies smash attack led by N. Viet tanks

SAIGON (AP) — Allied bombers and naval gunfire smashed a tank-led North Vietnamese attack on the "Street Without Joy" north of Hue at dawn Sunday but fighting continued into the day, military sources reported.

The South Vietnamese drive to break the 45-day siege of An Loc, 69 miles north of Saigon, appeared to have slowed again, though advance elements of the relief force were reported to be within a mile of their goal.

The push northward was being impeded by North Vietnamese harassing attacks on Highway 13 to the rear of the spearhead, field reports said.

The U.S. Command in Saigon reported that air strikes in Quang Tri Province in the last two days had damaged or destroyed a variety of North Vietnamese equipment including four 130mm artillery guns, a surface-to-air missile and a missile transporter.

The command said the air strikes destroyed one and damaged three of the guns, the biggest in Hanoi's arsenal. They have a range of 17 miles and have been used with devastating effect against South Vietnamese forces in the current offensive.

Military sources said a company-sized North Vietnamese force using tanks launched the predawn attack on the populated coastal strip called "Street Without Joy," crossing the My Chanh River in one of the most serious

Pieta gets damaged at Vatican

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A man wielding a 12-pound sledgehammer Sunday broke off the left arm and disfigured the face of the Madonna in Michelangelo's Pieta, the priceless statue in St. Peter's Basilica depicting the mother of Christ holding the dead Jesus in her arms.

Damage to one of the world's greatest works of art may be irreparable.

Seconds after the attacks, an Italian soldier seized a bearded, long-haired man as he tried to fight his way through a shocked and horrified crowd of thousands in the Basilica.

Vatican police identified the man as Laszlo Toth, 33, a Hungarian-born geologist now a resident of Sydney, Australia.

"He insists he is Jesus Christ," one Vatican source said. He was quoted as saying, "If you kill me, I'll only go to heaven."

Police said Toth had previously been expelled from Italy for creating a disturbance through his demands to see Pope Paul VI. After interrogation he was turned over to Italian police who said the vandal had concealed the sledgehammer under a raincoat carried over his arm.

The attack on it came as work was nearing completion on a huge plate of shatterproof glass to protect the Pieta. It was due to go into place in about a month.

Ferency to join faculty as criminal justice prof

By BARBARA PARNES
State News Staff Writer

Zolton A. Ferency, one-time Democratic candidate for governor, was appointed to a $16,500 post as associate professor of criminal justice Friday over the objections of MSU's two Republican trustees.

Kenneth Thompson, R-East Lansing, and Frank Merriman, R-DeKerville, voted against Ferency's appointment on the grounds that he is rumored to be a possible candidate for the Michigan Supreme Court in November.

Ferency was unavailable for comment Friday or Sunday.

In the midst of a routine discussion of appointments at Friday's board meeting, Thompson questioned Ferency's appointment and requested a separate vote on it. The trustees usually approve all faculty appointments with one vote. Provost John E. Cantlon told the trustees that Ferency will teach "specific courses" in the school of Criminal Justice, but did not specify which ones.

The provost told Thompson that if Ferency runs for statewide office, he will have to take a leave of absence from MSU. Ferency, now an East Lansing lawyer, is a former Democratic party state chairman and founder of the Human Rights party.

Cantlon said Ferency will be able to practice law, if he chooses, two days each month. The Faculty Handbook states that a faculty member may not do more than two working days or 16 hours of outside work for pay each month.

Merriman, in voting against Ferency's appointment, called him "a highly controversial subject whom we don't need to import to campus at this time."

In other appointments, the trustees named William C. Taylor, aide to Gov. Milliken, chairman of the Dept. of Civil Engineering. William J. De Sua, associate professor of Italian and comparative literature at the University of North Carolina - Chapel Hill, was named chairman of the Dept. of Romance Languages.

Both appointments are effective July 1.

Taylor succeeds Robert K. L. Wen, who resigned to return to full-time teaching and research. Taylor is executive director of the Interagency Transportation Council for the state. He was appointed by Milliken in 1969.

De Sua succeeds Charles Blend who died in 1971. Eugene Gray, associate professor of romance languages, has been acting chairman since Blend's death.

In other action, the board decided to review a proposal which would designate three undergraduate students and one graduate student as student advisers to the trustees.

The administration recommended that the proposal first discussed at the March 1971 board meeting, be reviewed to take into account "significant changes in student participation and student organizational structure on campus."

The proposed student advisers will be able to suggest items for future board meetings, attend all meetings and portions of the closed finance committee meetings which pertain to students. They will be able to speak at these meetings.

The board also directed the administration to study University buildings with regard to providing easy access for handicapped students. The motion was proposed by Warren Hugg, D-Plymouth.

The trustees approved a formal agreement affiliating the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital with the College of Osteopathic Medicine. MSU's two medical colleges are now associated with 23 hospitals in 11 Michigan cities.

A $130,000 grant for the study of traffic sign visibility and legibility from the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. was accepted by the board. The study will be conducted by Theodore Forbes, professor of psychology, and is a follow-up to a four-year project started by Forbes in 1964.

Riots tear Lithuania

Several thousands of youths battled police and Soviet soldiers in the Lithuanian city of Kaunas in a riot that developed after a young Roman Catholic publicly burned himself to death "for political reasons," reliable sources reported.

The informants, speaking by telephone from Kaunas, said one policeman, and possibly another, suffered fatal injuries in the street fighting. Several hundred youths were arrested, the account said.

It gave no report on casualties among the rioters. The sources said they could not elaborate on Talanta's motives.

UN meet breaks up

The biggest international gathering of the United Nations ended on a disappointing note Sunday after more than a month of meetings seeking to end the disparities between rich and poor countries.

Exhausted delegates representing 141 nations wound up 39 days of the third UN Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD III) at dawn in a weekend of all-day and all-night sessions.

Berlin Wall opened

West Berliners by the hundreds of thousands celebrated Pentecost reunited with relatives and friends in East Berlin and East Germany this weekend.

A massive Saturday rush normalized to a steady stream Sunday through nine wall crossing points. East German processing was controlled but polite for those on the way into the East.

Summit limits cited

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Sunday that he doubted President Nixon's journey to Moscow will result directly in an early end to the Vietnam War.

But he said Nixon might achieve trade and arms agreements with the Soviets that would give him the assurance to stop the war.

"Why should the Russians stop the war?" Fulbright asked. "They have no incentive to stop the war. We have to stop it."

Jews appeal to Nixon

More than 300 Soviet Jews appealed to President Nixon on Sunday for help in their efforts to emigrate to Israel.

They complained in a letter of official "vagueness and arbitrary action" blocking their departures, declared there was occasional persecution and said they hoped "the President and the people of such a great power" would not ignore their plight.

Wallace stays stable

Physicians at Holy Cross Hospital reported Sunday that the condition of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace remains stable and his temperature ranges near normal.

Blood pressure and heart action were stable, it was reported, and his kidney function was described as normal.

There was no reported change in the leg paralysis caused by a bullet lodged in his spine. Surgery to remove the slug and determine whether he will walk again is expected to be performed sometime this week.

Dept. approves antiwar petition

The Dept. of Television and Radio last week became the first department in the College of Communication Arts to pass an antiwar petition.

Robert Babe, instructor in television and radio, said the petition demands that:

- President Nixon discontinue all actions he announced in his May 8 speech.
- All U.S. forces in Vietnam be withdrawn.
- President Wharton form a committee of faculty, students and administration to search out MSU's implications in the war effort and to take action on them.

Babe said the department was approached last week by a member of the ad hoc committee on peace who asked the department to adopt the resolution.

Last Wednesday and Thursday Babe, along with Colby Lewis, professor, asst. professor John Abel, and John Walkmayer, graduate student, presented the proposed resolution to the department. The final vote on the petition was Thursday with four faculty members voting in favor and three against.

"Students could also vote and dissent if they chose to," Babe said. "The student vote was 87 - 2."

McGovern, HHH bid for votes in Ore., R.I.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. George S. McGovern and Hubert H. Humphrey campaigned Sunday on the West Coast looking ahead to Tuesday's presidential primaries in Oregon and Rhode Island, where a total of 56 convention delegates are at stake.

McGovern and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, who has dropped active primary campaigning, picked up most of the delegates selected by Democrats at weekend conventions and caucuses in five states.

Humphrey concentrated his campaigning in California where 271 delegate votes are at stake in the June 6 primary.

McGovern, favored in both Oregon and Rhode Island, spent most of his time in the northwest state, taking time out for a Saturday trip to Phoenix, Ariz., where he marched with Mexican-American farm workers and received the support of their leader, Cesar Chavez.

Muskie did well in the weekend delegate selections. He picked up all 20 national convention votes from his home state of Maine where McGovern forces had hoped to win at least two delegates.

Muskie and McGovern each gained five votes from Iowa, where delegates to a state convention chose the last 12 of their 46-member delegation. The rest of the delegates had been chosen earlier and the final tally stood at 18 each for McGovern and Muskie with 10 uncommitted.

Muskie got three delegate votes from Vermont and McGovern got nine.

McGovern forces in the state of Washington had been expected to take 12 of 46 delegate votes at stake in congressional district caucuses. But most of the votes went to Washington's senator, Henry M. Jackson, another candidate who withdrew from the primaries. The tally showed either delegates for McGovern and 44 for Jackson, though six of the Jackson delegates were in dispute.

McGovern picked up one committed delegate in Louisiana where the 40 delegates selected earlier chose the four at-large members of their groups.

The South Dakota senator led in the total of committed delegates. Going into the weekend, he had 412 of the 1,509 votes needed for nomination. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, shot and partially paralyzed last Monday, had 323 votes; Humphrey had 291 1/2; and Muskie had 132.

During his Arizona visit, McGovern joined Chavez in a Spanish-English mass held at a community center. He met privately with Chavez earlier in the evening and declared his support for the farm leader's efforts to organize Arizona lettuce workers and his call for a nationwide boycott on lettuce picked by nonunion labor.

McGovern also picked up some support from former Sen. Eugene McCarthy who said he would endorse him Monday for the California primary.

There are 34 Democratic convention votes at stake in Oregon where 11 Democrats, including noncandidate Edward M. Kennedy, are on the ballot.

Oregon is the first place where Kennedy's name is on the ballot, since state law requires listing all nationally recognized presidential prospects and there are no way the Massachusetts senator could withdraw.

ASK IMPEACHMENT

Antiwar protesters rally on Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 10,000 antiwar demonstrators rallied on Capitol Hill Sunday to hear demands for the impeachment of President Nixon while a few hundred rock-throwing militants broke windows and clashed with police.

The splinter group, calling itself the Anti-Imperial Contingent, peeled away from the preliminary march from the Washington Monument to burn an effigy of Nixon and break several windows at the Justice Dept. Building. At least two were arrested there.

Later the troublemakers moved to the Health, Education and Welfare Building near the mall and broke some eight windows and glass doors before being driven off by police.

They returned to an area just west of the Capitol grounds where they pelted police with rocks and bottles, numbering among their victims Washington Police Chief Jerry Wilson whose face was bloodied by a rock. Several other officers were hit but apparently none was seriously hurt.

The police replied with tear gas some of which drifted up on the hill where the speech-making was in progress.

Park police estimated the crowd at the monument at about 5,000 but many demonstrators went directly to the Capitol West lawn and it appeared to reporters that the original number had doubled, at least, when the rally began there.

By any calculations, the crowd was only a small fraction of the totals at similar demonstrations here in the past when estimates ranged from 60,000 to more than 100,000.

Nor was the violence as widespread as in other confrontations, notably last May.

Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., was one of the first speakers and drew cheers when she demanded the impeachment of Nixon — a move she already has launched in the House without attracting any widespread support.

Among the groups participating in the peaceful portion of the protest were the National Peace Action Coalition, the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice, Vietnam Veterans Against the War, the Communist party of Illinois, Students for a Democratic Society and a few organizations of homosexuals.

Stiff policies stem credit 'deadbeats'

NEW YORK (AP) — Credit card deadbeats are declining in number as a result of tightened operating procedures by card issuers and improving economic conditions, trade sources say.

Those who issue the bulk of the nation's 275 million credit cards — banks, retail stores, oil companies and travel and entertainment concerns — agree that the percentage of accounts which are uncollectable has dropped in recent months. For competitive reasons, however, most refuse to disclose the percentage of sales represented by bad debts.

Furthermore, some issuers report a recent increase in the percentage of card users who are paying their bills promptly.

In addition to a slow but perceptible strengthening in the economy, reasons frequently cited for the improved collection pattern include better screening of applicants, growing use of "point-of-sale credit" authorization, earlier review of delinquent accounts and expanded collection staffs.

Trustees reaffirm closed meet policy

by MICHAEL FOX
The State News staff writers challenged the trustees' policy of holding the closed sessions Friday by walking into the room where the trustees were having morning breakfast. The trustees usually meet on Friday morning beginning around 7 a.m. in a closed meeting before holding a public meeting to conduct formal voting at 10 a.m.

The 7 a.m. Friday meetings before the open sessions are referred to as "Finance Committee" meetings, but the meetings are formal and, according to at least one trustee, range in discussion beyond financial matters. Top University officers attend these 7 a.m. meetings which are always closed to the press and the public.

President Wharton approached the State News staff writers when they entered the breakfast meeting and informed the press that the session was closed. "We are trying to have breakfast now. As you can see, they're no papers on the table. After breakfast the trustees will have a Finance Committee meeting which by tradition and board policy is a closed meeting. I am asking you to leave," Wharton said.

The press contended that the trustees conducting a closed formal session was incongruent with the Michigan Constitution which sets up the MSU Board of Trustees. The staff writers told Wharton, Jack A. Breslin, executive vice president and the silent trustee and administrators at the breakfast table that they were testing the closed meeting policy as an alleged violation of the law.

The State of Michigan Constitution states, in Article VIII, Section Four, that: "Formal session of governing boards of such institutions shall be open to the public." The Bylaws of the Board of Trustees of MSU has a similar statement in its text.

Breslin was then told by the staff writers that they would not attempt to force their way back into the room because of a belief the board would only adjourn and meet elsewhere.

"I'm glad you didn't try to overrun me. I would have stepped aside. I have a secretary in here taking notes and we will have comprehensive minutes available for your inspection at my office and in the Library within ten days," Breslin said.

Trustee Don Stevens, D - Okemos, at one point came into the hallway and angrily asked the State News staff writers if they wanted to jeopardize Friday's passage of a new College of Urban Development.

Job hike for women urged

by CINDI STEINWAY
The Women's Steering Committee zeroed in on university employment policies last week, by recommending steps to strengthen MSU's affirmative Action Plan for women.

The committee examined the lack of role models within which women students can identify, because women have allegedly been denied many positions within the University. "Equal access to positions in which there are no known requirements based on any known or proven physiological differences of sex must become a reality," Roberta Smith, steering committee member, said.

The group also suggested that men and women be hired on the basis of their qualifications rather than on the basis of their sex. Group members said many University jobs are commonly believed to be suitable only for men.

including recruitment, advancement, in-service training, the personnel unit, grievance procedures, day care and benefits. Because the report is not final, many specific points that the committee will recommend to President Wharton and the board of trustees next week could not be released.

However, the committee outlined some basic principles to underlie the University's employment policies. They are:

• Consistency of practice and treatment, known to all concerned excluding biases, and based on clearly stated criteria.

• Emphasis on the developmental concerns for the enhancement of individual growth.

• Objective bases for decision-making.

MORRILL COLLEGE

Council rejects peace stand

by NATHAN KAUFMAN
The Advisory Council of Morrill College (JMC) voted Thursday against an antiwar stand. The council followed the overwhelming approval of a compromise resolution that was proposed by President Wharton.

Faculty members reached for comment Sunday who had voted against the resolution said they had done so for several reasons: either because they felt it was not proper for JMC to take an official antiwar stance, because the views of JMC faculty and staff had not been polled on the question, or because they thought it was not within the scope of the council to make decisions on political questions.

"The issue is not 'Do we support the war?' but 'Do we want the college to take an institutional stand against the war?'" said Tom Keever, a student council member who helped draft and voted for the resolution. He emphasized that faculty members who had opposed taking a stand were "overwhelmingly against the war" but thought it might be detrimental to the college to take an antiwar stand.

He said a student referendum on the resolution would be discussed at a student assembly meeting on council candidates at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday in Snyder cafeteria, and possibly placed on the ballot when students vote Wednesday.

He is also getting signatures from council members on a petition to bring the question up for reconsideration. Keever said he needed seven more faculty and one more student signature on it.

The resolution called for the establishment of a "task force" to identify and eliminate areas in the JMC budget where purchases were directly or indirectly supporting the war. It also urged the MSU Board of Trustees to adopt a policy of institutional opposition to the war and end war support in all parts of the University.

Chairman loses post on state Senate panel

Sen. Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, was removed from his position as Republican Caucus chairman last week.

Zollar lost the prestigious post after he voted with Senate Democrats earlier on a congressional reapportionment plan that would have given Democrats two more seats in the U.S. House at the expense of two incumbent Republicans.

The plans would also have given Zollar a clear shot at Congress this year by cutting up Rep. Edward Hutchinson's district in Southwest Michigan to favor Zollar.

The day following the Senate vote, U.S. District Judge Damon Keith ordered his own reapportionment plan into effect. This plan gives the Democrats one more seat and takes a seat away from Republicans. It also left Hutchinson's district reasonably intact, giving Zollar a much tougher race for Congress in the August primary.

Though lawmakers are constitutionally prohibited from running for state offices in midterm and Zollar's Senate term ends in 1974, they are not prohibited from seeking federal offices.

"He deserved what he got," a Republican member of the appropriations committee said. "We can't let our people go out and vote against the party's interest and get away with it."

Zollar denies he was ousted from the caucus post, saying he was going to resign soon anyway. He produced a letter written by majority leader Sen. Robert Vanderlaan, R-Kentwood, saying that Senate Republicans "would not be adversely affected should you be elected" to Congress.

I feel that county government has remained an invisible function long enough. The actions and issues facing the county board of commissioners have not been widely publicized; dates of board and committee meetings have been kept silent, and the services of county government to meet the needs of the community are hardly known.

Yet, the board of commissioners administer $10 million a year, which is predominantly property tax.

The solutions, so far, in dealing with county problems are hitting the symptoms and not the causes. Symptoms lead to a crisis situation where preventative measures could eliminate many burdens.

Racism and sexism could be dealt with by the board in a more effective manner since they create and fund federal programs such as the Emergency Employment Act. More community projects could be supported by the board such as the Drug Education Center, the Women's Center and Day Care Center. Preventive medical and dentistry care could be initiated and deal effectively with the communities' health problems. I feel that programs such as DEC meet more of the needs of drug addicts than the Metro Squad.

The community must have an opportunity to control their environment and enable them to take action, i.e. pollution and Lake Lansing. There are certain areas which an areawide form of government should take on responsibilities, such as sewage and the transit system, but still remain under the influence of the community. Right now there are too many overlapping jurisdictions in local government and a lack of accountability for problems dealing with sewage and the mass transit system.

The county commissioners are only as influential as the active district participants that make, support and guide them. Without this support, the county remains as a nebulous entity. Thus, the members of the community must take these opportunities to improve their environment to one they'd be satisfied living in. I am Pamela Stern, 20 - years - old, a junior at MSU. These are my major concerns and why I am running for county commissioner for the 7th District.

ASMSU can still save itself

Along with the incoming ASMSU Student Board comes the opportunity to redefine and reconstruct the goals of student government. The new board has the chance to overcome the personal power politicking which destroyed the last two sessions of ASMSU.

In fact, if ASMSU is to survive, a break must be made with the past. Less than 1,000 people were interested enough to vote in the recent student board election. One new board member was elected with less than 10 votes. ASMSU must find a way to generate more student interest than that if it is to justify its continuation as a $50,000 a year operation.

ASMSU in action over the past two years has left numerous areas in which the new student board can act. As a unified representative of undergraduates, the new board should work towards exercising more influence in the area of academics. Grade point systems, tenure processes, required classes and course content are of perennial concern to students. Student representatives to the Academic Council give undergraduates some input into decisions regarding those subjects. An active student board, though, can exercise still more pressure on the usually lethargic process of academic government.

Through the revised election procedures, members of the new board are elected from each college. Each board member should thus be better informed on academic affairs. This sort of contact can easily form the base for an intensive lobbying effort. ASMSU cannot make decisions concerning academic matters, but it can greatly influence those decisions. A more active role needs to be taken in this respect.

The board can provide a number of services to the students and the community which presently are being ignored. ASMSU can develop a consumer bureau to serve as headquarters for protection of student buyers. Close work between the existing Legal Aid Dept. of ASMSU and such a consumer bureau could yield significant results. ASMSU should also consider developing, or at least aiding, cooperatives. Food, clothing, and record co - ops have been discussed many times by past student boards, but nothing has ever been done. The new board can change that.

Existing services also need to be vitalized. Three years ago Great Issues was able to regularly bring the likes of Dick Gregory to speak on campus. It would be nice if they could do it again. Loan services and Legal Aid could also use a boost.

Such goals can only be accomplished, though, if the board gets off to a constructive start. Should personal feuding begin to dominate the board again, the board faces termination.

Students pay 50 cents per term to ASMSU. They deserve more than a weekly circus. Hopefully the new board will approach their task with a businesslike attitude and prove that student government can still be relevant.

Colleges call for recruits

WASHINGTON -- There was a time, not long ago, when parents lived in fear that their children would not be accepted in college. They made the rounds of colleges and universities with their offspring, submitting to countless interviews by hard - faced directors of admissions, who always told them, "Don't get your hopes up."

Well all this has changed, and most schools are desperate for students to fill their freshman class. Many colleges are now recruiting high school graduates in the same manner they used to recruit high school athletes.

I know a young man who has been applying to colleges this spring and the response has been phenomenal.

He wrote to one school asking for information and a brochure and received a response in two days: "We are happy to inform you that you have been accepted in the freshman class at Zig Zag College. The school term will begin on Sept. 13. Kindly send your deposit of $500 in the enclosed self-addressed envelope."

The young man and his parents thought there was some mistake so they sent off an inquiry to another school, Lieba Tech. A week later a man showed up at the door. He said he was an alumnus of Lieba Tech who lived in Washington, and had been asked to come over to speak to the young man about the school.

The alumnus said, "You're just the kind of man Lieba has been looking for."

"But," the boy said, "you don't even know me."

"What is there to know? You're a fine-looking student. I can tell by just looking at you that you would be a credit to the school. Here, just sign the application blank. The school will bill you later."

"I'd like to think about it," the young man said.

"Of course," the alumnus said,

"this is a very important decision. Think about it, and I'll call you in a couple of hours."

A week later a man who said he was director of admissions of Sara Lee University showed up at the door. "I just wanted to tell you personally how happy we are to have you as a student at Sara Lee."

"But I haven't applied to Sara Lee," the boy protested.

"We got your name from a spy in the Lieba Tech admissions office. You'd hate Lieba Tech. It has no student parking facilities at all."

"But," the mother said, "isn't Sara Lee a girls' school?"

"If your son agrees to go there, we'll make it coed."

"Do you have a soccer team?" the boy asked.

"You want a soccer team -- we'll have a soccer team. You can choose your own uniform."

"I smoke pot," the boy said.

"Who doesn't smoke pot?" the director of admissions said.

"Don't you even want to look at my school records?"

"School records lie!" the director of admissions yelled. "We want the all-around type of student who is interested in something besides studies."

"I don't know what to say," the boy replied.

Suddenly the director of admissions started to sob. "I don't want to beg, but I have a quota to fill. Give me a break. Come to Sara Lee. My job depends on it. I need you, boy. Why can't you understand that?"

"Please," the father said. "Get off your knees. I assure you we will give Sara Lee our consideration."

As the family led the sobbing director of admissions down the walk to his car, the director asked, "When will I hear from you?"

The boy shook the director's hand and said, "Don't call us -- we'll call you."

'U' cannot issue war stand

To the Editor:

Despite the noise of the protests against President Nixon's war policy and despite statements by many campus leaders, there are many on this campus who do feel that the right actions have been taken in Vietnam, and maybe should have been taken before. The president and trustees have chosen wisely in not issuing a university position against the war, for to do so would be a total violation of the opinions, rights, and consciences of many, perhaps a majority, of the MSU staff, students and faculty. The right of these or any other people to issue individual statements is beyond question, but it is not right to take any corporate stand on such an issue when it does not reflect nor even consult the thoughts of the entire population. When departments and other bodies on this campus make policies about the war and war demonstrations and state, as did the economics undergraduate spokesman in Monday's paper, that they wish to be sure protesters are not penalized, let them remember to allow for those who do not wish to participate. Especially in the case of nearly unanimous decisions by such entities, there is great danger that those who do not support the protest and/or do support the President will be coerced, intimidated, threatened or penalized for their stand. The rights of these people should not be trampled nor forgotten by anyone; however, the fear that those rights may be flaunted is amply demonstrated by the general assumption that everyone is in the same anti-Vietnam camp. It is apparently easy to ignore the "silent majority," to avoid having such viewpoints on University war-study groups, to pretend that these ideas do not exist or are too ill-founded to deserve consideration. Perhaps it is time for the rest of the population of the University to hold their own rally and to make their views and voices heard with equal vehemence and conviction throughout this institution. The right to speak is and must remain the prerogative of everyone.

Study war

To the Editor:

This morning an accommodating professor in my human ecology class, in accordance with President Wharton's suggestion, offered to turn the hour over to the discussion of the problems involved in the Vietnam War. The students rejected her offer. I was shocked by the attitudes expressed in the vote taken, and I have only one question to ask the human ecologists who chose "class as usual." When will the war become important to discuss? When there is no ecology to study?

Wonders' black group gives award to Green

By BILL TAYLOR
State News Staff Writer

The United Blacks of Wonders (UBW) presented their first Ujamaa award to Robert L. Green, director of the Center of Urban Affairs, for black community achievement involvement Saturday in Wonders cafeteria.

Green was deeply honored in that blacks have selected me for the award," Green said. "Many other blacks on campus that on the faculty have fully contributed to the growth and development of the black community and much credit should go to them."

Green added that he enjoys working with students and will do whatever he can to be responsive to their needs. Other faculty members in attendance were Thomas Gunnings, asst. director of the Counseling Center, and Dan Simpson, Flint senior, and Willie Cooper, graduate adviser in Wonders, presented a bouquet of roses to Beverly Holman, food service manager, and Grace Masuda, hall manager from the UBW.

Holman said that the program was beautiful because it showed that blacks are together.

Cooper said, "This event has given blacks participating a chance to become more actively involved with both University faculty and facilities as well as giving the University a chance to see what progressive blacks are doing."

Ballots for the Ujamaa award were distributed to blacks campuswide three weeks ago by UBW.

Don Coleman, director for minority groups, and Gunnings directed the program.

A larger model of the award will be preserved in Wonders showcase.

Shooting said mark of society

The attempted assassination of Gov. George Wallace is a reflection of the moral permissiveness which encourages those who resort to violence in this country, according to Sen. James L. Buckley.

Before the $100-a-plate dinner, Buckley told the press he supported and approved of the President's order for stepup in military action in Vietnam.

Buckley, elected to the U.S. Senate in 1970 as the candidate of New York's Conservative party, spoke at the Lansing Civic Center Thursday night before an audience of 1,000 Republican legislators and their guests.

"I wish we had done it a long time ago," he said. When asked about the possibility of the repeal of New York's abortion laws, Buckley said though he preferred to stay out of state and local affairs, his personal position was in support of the repeal.

Buckley said the President's trip to mainland China impressed him as "the desertion of old friend" — specifically Taiwan and Japan.

Another forum member suggested demonstrators change American society before they attempt to change Vietnamese society. "Why aren't the blacks, Chicanos and Indians with the movement?" he said. "We aren't going to do anything until we make a change. Before we do anything about the racist war, let's do something about this campus."

Several SDS members said they agreed that society must change, but said they felt people could work at ending the war and improving society at the same time.

Protests called copouts

By KATHERINE NEILSEN
State News Staff Writer

The head of the Black Veterans Assn. said Thursday he will not ask people to march in "symbolic protests" in which demonstration leaders "sell out all down the line."

Speaking at a forum on racism and the war sponsored by his organization and SDS,

Morris Conerly criticized "the mob on Grand River" during recent antiwar activities for being "ultrademocratic" and "lacking responsible leadership."

He also said that when he criticized demonstrators during the recent antiwar television broadcast, he was told by whites he did not understand what was going on.

"Well I know if black people had been out there, there would have been shooting," he said. "We have to get the message to people, especially white people, that liberalism will not work."

People should not support somebody like East Lansing Mayor Wilbur Brookover or Councilman George Colburn because

"liberals always cop out," Conerly said.

As examples of liberal copouts, Conerly cited the failure of East Lansing officials to make the city a draft resister haven, as proposed by demonstrators, and the failure of President Wharton to grant a full day's time for the antiwar broadcast.

"We must show the University that their concessions are bullshit," Brian Runonavaara, Saginaw senior, said. "The University has corporate responsibility, and plays a specific role in a political economy that rips people off."

Too many MSU blacks and whites are basically middle class and fair weather revolutionaries, Runonavaara said.

PAKISTANI WRITER

Rise of masses seen

By JOHN LINDSTROM
State News Staff Writer

The Bangladesh crisis last year was the culmination of Pakistan's political trauma that had lasted since the country's conception. Anizur Rahman, a renowned Pakistani leftist, said Thursday.

Speaking before a meeting of the Pakistan Student Union, Mirza said that in the 1960s the common man, head of the bureaucrats, was the important political force in Pakistan.

The first example of the rise of the common people is the present administration of President Bhutto.

Bhutto realized that the vote would be the important vote," Mirza said.

His campaign policy was to read, cloth, house."

"The common man will be getting on an empty stomach," she said. "When a poor man votes he doesn't forget it. He expects the promises made to be fulfilled."

Bhutto's election and the election of Sheik Mujibur Rahman from then East Pakistan in 1970 came as a shock to former leader Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan because he felt that the common people didn't have the stamina to vote after all that had happened, Mirza said.

"Yahya was dishonest because in 1970 he debated whether or not to hold the general elections until the last moment," she said. "He finally decided that no party would emerge in the majority and he therefore would still control the nation."

Yahya then tried to usurp the power of both Mujib and Bhutto, she continued. On May 25 Yahya called Mujib a traitor, and ordered him put in jail. He also ordered that Bhutto be put in jail, but Bhutto escaped by hiding. It wasn't until January 1972, following the India-Pakistan war and Bhutto's ascent to power, that Mujib was set free and the nation of Bangladesh established.

Since coming into power Bhutto has changed the bureaucracy in Pakistan by putting new younger men more responsive to the nation's needs into office.

"Older people in bureaucracy symbolize the decadence of Pakistani politics," she said.

Mirza said the bureaucracy first came into power following Liaquat Ali Khan's murder in the late 1940s. The bureaucracy then dictated politics, including the forming of the nation's constitution.

"A constitution must come from the people, not the bureaucrats," she said.

Now that Pakistan has gotten over its political crisis it should end the policy of confrontation it has with India and Bangladesh, Mirza said.

"India, Bangladesh and Pakistan should end the killing and get down to solving their problems," she said.

OCC adopts antiwar stand

The Off-Campus Council (OCC) went on record Thursday against the Vietnam War and any involvement by MSU and East Lansing with the U.S. military.

Intended to "voice the concerns of our constituents," the resolution demands an immediate end to all current involvement of the University with the war.

Copies of the resolution are being sent to President Wharton, the MSU Board of Trustees and the East Lansing City Council.

POLICE BRIEFS

AN MSU POLICEMAN, returning to his squad parked in the Phillips service area during the weekend, reported that the "police" sign on the side of the car had been in his absence.

THE HEAT WAVE OVER the weekend recently had some effect on animal life at MSU. Two people were reportedly killed by pets since Friday afternoon, a University Village resident police she was standing the doorway of her apartment holding her cat when she accidentally stepped on the feline's tail in a screen door. The cat was released from University Health Center for treatment for abrasions on the thumb.

AT THE UNIVERSITY OF KENNELS, an attendant spied a dog with a foot caught in a cage and, as he reached in to the dog, the animal bit his hand, police said. A kennel attendant treated puncture wounds on his index finger. He was released and released immediately from the kennel center.

A STUDENT TOLD police that he was attacked by five men as he was walking down the street near Williams Hall Saturday night. The men, he said, took his wallet and threw him down the steep river embankment near the Beal exit.

FRIDAY EVENING POLICE arrested two juveniles who were allegedly trying to steal bicycles near Brody Hall. The youths, police said, were carrying a hacksaw and wire cutter. They were released to their parents.

Seniors lead batsmen to near weekend sweep

By CRAIG REMSBURG
State News Sports Writer

MADISON, Wis. — Five seniors on the MSU baseball team closed out their collegiate careers with a flourish here Saturday, in spite of the oppressive heat at the University of Wisconsin's Guy Lowman Field.

With the temperature in the high 80s, the Spartans still had plenty of reserve in the second game of a twinbill to hand the 20-22 Badgers a 12-5 defeat. Wisconsin took the first contest 7-5.

Coupled with a 5-1 and 4-3 sweep in a doubleheader with Northwestern Friday, the 28-10-1 Spartans wound up their 1972 season in the runner-up position in the Big Ten race with a 10-4 record. Iowa had already taken the top honors with a 13-3 mark a week ago.

Seniors Shaun Howitt and Ron Pruitt combined for nine hits and 11 RBIs in the two-game set with the Badgers.

Howitt went 5-for-6 and clouted three home runs during the day, running his homer count to 12 for the season. His final round-tripper, a solo-shot to left in the fifth inning of the nightcap, broke the all-time MSU record of 21 career homers, set by Rob Ellis in the 1970-71 seasons. Howitt hit four home runs in his sophomore year and six last season.

His eight RBIs for the day gave him 45 for the year, which broke by one of the season RBI record set by Ellis a year ago.

"It was one of the best days I've ever had," Howitt acknowledged. "I'm glad I could close out my career with such a good day at the plate. I'm really happy about it."

Pruitt had a single, two doubles and a homer against the Badgers in eight trips to the plate. He went 1-for-7 in the doubleheader with Northwestern the day before.

Other seniors John Dace, Brian Liedkfelt and Jesse Turner all contributed to the Spartan effort.

Dace doubled his last time at bat, Liedkfelt (4-1) picked up the win in the second game with a fine relief job and even hit a long double, and Turner caught the last out of the season.

Elliott Moore suffered his first loss of the season in the 7-5 defeat to end up with a 7-1 record for the year.

Against Northwestern, a long homer to center by Dace with nobody on in the eighth inning of the second game gave Steve VanderLann his third relief win without a loss this year in the 4-3 Spartan victory.

VanderLann came on in the seventh after starter Brad VanPelt re-injured the middle finger of his pitching hand. VanPelt gave up five hits, six walks and three earned runs, but fanned eight.

In the 5-1 opener, Larry Ike picked up his seventh win of the campaign, as opposed to two losses, while allowing just five hits and no earned runs.

Howitt hit a three-run homer to center, Ike singled in a run and Rick Carrow knocked in another tally with a blooper single to account for the five Spartan runs.

IN EMU OPEN

Trackmen hit stride

MSU's trackmen held their Big Ten "dress rehearsal" Friday and turned in some eye-popping performances in the Eastern Michigan Open.

Both the 440 and mile relay units drew praise from coach Fran Dittrich, even though the efforts came in losing causes. "There wasn't too much incentive for this meet," explained Dittrich, "but we still had excellent times."

Herb Washington, Mike Holt, Bob Cassleman and Marshall Dill came within .1 of a second of first place in the 400 relay, but their time of 40.7 rates as second best among Big Ten schools. The Spartans previous best this year was 41.3.

Cassleman and Holt joined with Ken Popejoy and Mike Murphy to give MSU another second to EMU in the mile relay — the time, 3:12.1, was also a season's best.

Popejoy passed up the mile for some relaxation and breezed to a 1:48.2 in the 880, giving him the fastest times in two events in the Big Ten and qualifying him nationally for both.

Dill added a first in the 220 with his top time as a collegian in 20.7.

Cassleman also lowered his season's best in the 440 intermediate hurdles running away from the field in 51.55, added a 9.4 100, good for second place. Washington, who passed up the 100, placed third in the 220 in 21.5.

Del Gregory and John Ross went 1-2 for the Spartans in the long jump and Gregory added a third in the triple jump. Gregory's winning effort in the long jump was 24-5 1/2.

Marv Roberts picked a second for MSU in the shotput and hurdlers Dave Martin and Chris Villadsen added third places for the trackmen — Martin in the 120 highs and Villadsen in the 440-yard hurdles.

"I'd say this was a pretty good practice session for the Big Ten," Dittrich commented.

Spartan golf squad set for Big Ten tournament

Broadwell had the best score in the playoff, a 292 total, with Hyland three strokes off the pace at 295. Timyan carded a 297 and Dickens rounded out the top four with a 298.

"We had ideal weather for the playoff," Spartan golf coach Bruce Fossum commented. "This made everything quite equal."

"I'm firmly convinced that we will go to the Big Ten's with our best six players as of now," Fossum said.

Today will be kind of a day off as far as team practice is concerned for the MSU linksmen and the six will play 18 holes Tuesday at Forrest Akers before leaving for Minnesota Wednesday afternoon.

The Spartans will get their first look at the Minneapolis course Thursday in a practice round before the 72-hole two-day tourney gets underway Friday morning for the ten-team field.

Indiana will probably be considered the favorite because of his past performance against other conference schools but no Big Ten school other than Minnesota has played the course in recent years.

None of the Spartan golfers have ever played there and because of the unevenness of the teams and the unfamiliar course, the tourney could be quite unpredictable.

Burt is 'own man' in 'S' AD post

Two weeks ago in the dedication game for the post-Saginaw Civic Center, an MSU alumni hockey team Michigan had to offer.

J. Burt Smith, then acting athletic director at MSU and a 1938 graduate of Michigan, was given the ultimatum by Wolverine Coach Al Renfrew "to play for Michigan or no one at all." Smith reluctantly donned the maize and blue that accompanies the Wolverines. As a matter of fact, he opened the game for Michigan at left defense — and then sat out the remainder of the contest. He went as far as to discard the skates at the end of the first period and view the remainder of the contest from the stands.

But there was one item in Smith's attire that sort of made you feel that MSU really is his number one love. He was the only Wolverine on the ice that night with a green helmet adorning a Spartan figurehead on it.

"I had to wear the green helmet," Smith said in a belated explanation Friday. "That was the only way I could get on the bus back to East Lansing after the game."

But Burt has more than just a green helmet to wave now when asked where his loyalties lie. He was named to succeed Clarence (Biggie) Munn last Friday at the board of trustees meeting as the MSU athletic director. And it's been a long time coming.

Burt Smith is as qualified as any person could possibly be in assuming the reins at MSU. He came to MSU in 1954 as a football coach after a highly successful tenure as a prep grid mentor. He became offensive line coach in 1955 and defensive line coach in 1959. He moved out of an exclusive football capacity and up into the department in 1965 when he was appointed assistant athletic director. He filled in as athletic director for Munn when Biggie suffered a stroke before the Michigan football game last October. Until Friday, though, Burt had one handicap of having the term "acting" in front of his athletic director title. But now "acting" is discarded and Smith is the undisputed head of the MSU athletic machine. Burt also made it known that he alone would be the head of the department.

"I just want to be my own man," Smith explained Friday after his elevation. "It's difficult to make an on-the-spot analysis of what has to be done at Michigan State. There's a difference in your thinking when you think you have the job and when you finally get it."

Smith did hint at a few projects he would undertake at his earliest convenience. One is to evaluate the status of each sport and another is to assess the personnel in the department.

"I'm going to sit down with each staff and give my feelings on how that sport should be run," Smith commented. "I want to know what our people are doing in each sport. I don't want it just reported to me — I want it on a first hand basis. And when I say people, I mean ALL our people."

"I also want to evaluate the total program and I'll do this by circulating a survey. I want to explore the possibility of making the best use of our personnel. I don't think we've made the fullest or best use of our personnel in the past," Smith added.

Smith also threw out the idea of getting a professional football exhibition in Spartan Stadium. And possibly a professional basketball contest with the Denver Rockets (voila Ralph Simpson) as prime participants. He said that the athletic department would further build its counseling program so as to eliminate "any criticism that it may have heard in the past."

"I think I know what it takes to win in the Big Ten," Smith reported. "I believe I know how to run a Big Ten athletic department the way it should be run." For the first time since 1954, it's all yours Burt.

Van Tassel given contract extension

channels. The appeal must be beyond the department level, but beyond the University level.

resolution passed by the board that the contract extension "shall constitute a prejudgment of the outcome" of any appeal, or "a commitment by the University toward such a person."

Tassel began her appeal about years ago. In April 1971, the board gave her a one-year contract extension to allow her to use the new grievance procedures just recently approved by the trustees.

If Van Tassel's appeal before the FAC is denied, Provost John E. Cantlon said she will definitely be able to use the new grievance procedure for an appeal at the University level.

Van Tassel said Sunday she is pleased with the board action. "I am really pleased to see that the administration has been fair about this reappointment. It was good to see that the administration and the board were in agreement on this issue," she said.

Van Tassel said she is also pleased that FAC decided to reschedule the June 3 hearing.

"I think this gives me a better chance. Before it would have been too cramped in terms of time. But I'm wondering what will happen if the hearing runs over. I feel as though the committee hasn't made any plans in case it takes more than one meeting," she said. Approval of the grievance procedures by the trustees represented the last leg of a process begun last fall when the first draft was submitted to the Elected Faculty Council (EFC).

Since then, the document has undergone many revisions stemming from criticisms and suggested amendments from the EFC, Academic Council and the trustees. All three bodies had to approve the grievance procedure before it could become operative.

Cantlon said Sunday that Carrigan's suggestion would be presented at the next meeting of the tenure committee because the procedure was a compromise agreement worked out between the committee and the University Steering Committee.

The board of trustees considered the grievance procedure at their April meeting, but returned it to the faculty so that a provision covering grievances of nonreappointed nontenured faculty could be added.

The ensuing debate in the EFC and Academic Council was between council members who thought the tenure committee should handle such grievances and those who preferred a one-grievance procedure system.

The composition of the appeal panel — three tenured faculty from the tenure committee and two nontenured faculty selected randomly — was the resulting compromise between the two views.

Snags in pact hinted

Europe and the arms limitation agreement, the talks in Moscow are expected to cover trade and economic issues — including possible multimillion-dollar U.S. grain sales to the Soviets.

Nixon and Soviet leaders are also expected to sign an agreement for cooperation in space, aiming toward a joint orbital venture in 1975.

Just as he did when he made his historic journey to China in February, Nixon said he seeks in Moscow to build "what we all want — generations of peace in the years ahead, peace with progress for all people and peace with independence for all nations."

The words came in a luncheon toast to Chancellor Kreisky, whom Nixon praised "as one of the top statesmen in the world." From the dining room of the Kobenzl Hotel, Nixon accepted Kreisky's wish for "every possible good luck" in Moscow and responded:

"As we leave tomorrow on a meeting between the two most powerful nations in the world... one of our major purposes will be to try to make progress toward the time when all countries in the world, whatever their size, may have the right to independence, to whatever form of government they desire..."

Urban college plan OK'd

community to build an alternative approach related to the resolution of urban problems," Green said.

Huff said he voted for the college because of additional areas of learning and redefinition needed. He said the faculty did not remove fiscal pressures from the issue.

Maybe eventually we'll be up with a college that. In my own opinion, we have not yet achieved at the full articulation of the programs of the university," he said.

from my standpoint I would stay out of the realm of political and return to a more intellectual approach," he said.

Huff said many people in the urban college "as a way for giving degrees to people who are not academically qualified."

Huff said he favored the "office" model developed by the national policies

Committee (EPC). Under this plan, an Office of Urban and Metropolitan Programs and Studies, similar to the existing Office of International Programs, would have been established.

"As a layman, I believe this problem can best be handled in the method outlined in the office model. We need a cross-section of the University applied," Merriman said.

After the vote was taken, Huff announced that his negative vote was not directed against Green. Huff and Merriman were two of four trustees who signed a letter to Wharton winter term opposing the urban college proposal developed by CUA.

At the Thursday informal session, Lester V. Manderscheid, EPC chairman, said members of the EPC subcommittee which drew up office and college proposals for Wharton and the Academic Council Wharton's proposal "consistent" with their recommendations.

After the vote Friday,

Manderscheid said he was pleased with the trustees' action. EPC has been studying the urban college issue since December 1971.

"I am pleased that the board approved a college essentially as it was recommended by the EPC as a viable model for the University to fulfill its responsibilities in this area," he said.

Thursday evening Manderscheid questioned naming Green acting dean because he is viewed as a "logical candidate" for permanent dean.

"My personal perception is that naming an acting dean would be premature in timing and prejudicial with respect to process," he said Thursday.

On Friday Manderscheid said he thinks Green has the qualifications to be acting dean.

"My major concern was whether we needed an acting dean and if we didn't need one why put a person into the position," he explained.

breaches yet of the key defense line 22 miles north of Hue.

Field reports said at least 70 North Vietnamese were killed by the strikes but military sources in Saigon gave a figure of 165. There was no report on South Vietnamese casualties.

The air and artillery were believed to have broken the back of the attack, and most of the surviving North Vietnamese had been driven back, the reports said.

By midafternoon reinforcements still had not reached the marine position but the situation was "easing up," military officers said.

Military sources said the South Vietnamese killed 12 Communists and suffered light casualties in an unsuccessful attempt to retake Outpost Checkmate, which occupies a hilltop above Fire Base Bastogne 12 miles southwest of Hue. Bastogne was retaken last week after having been abandoned under fire earlier.

U.S. advisers expressed concern that the South Vietnamese forces moving on An Loc might lose momentum that could cause the push to bog down as it did earlier, farther south on Highway 13.

The highway itself was under North Vietnamese fire and therefore largely unusable the nearer the government forces move to An Loc. The city, which has been virtually destroyed by more than 50,000 rounds of shelling since April 20, was hit by about 700 rounds overnight, military action to terminate support for the war in all of the University."

ad hoc committee, which was unofficially approved by the city council at their last meeting, will begin work immediately compiling information on deans and administrators on current university policies with regard to the war and the constraints on the situation. A similar effort was made in relevant areas by East Lansing, Mich., representatives for demonstrators distributed a mimeographed list of their objections to the ad hoc committee criticizing it for having "no mandate, no philosophy and no guidelines by which to operate."

The list proposes that the recommendations of the committee should go directly to the board of trustees and the city council instead of going through normal channels for review.

The list also proposes that the membership of the University committee be equally divided between representatives of the administration and the demonstrators. The committee as approved by the board will include two members selected by the administration, six from the Academic Council, three faculty members, one graduate and two undergraduate students and three representatives from the demonstrators.

The demonstrators also proposed that the committee investigate University and city policies with regard to draft resisters and that the committee's report be considered at the June 16 board meeting and the June 12 city council meeting.
