Tananaka dissolves House

Prime Minister Kakuei Tananaka dissolved Japan's House of Representatives on Monday, setting off elections for which politicians have been anxiously campaigning for more than a month.

Thus Tananaka will undergo his first test with a change in government, after his victory on Dec. 15 following a four-month gap in office that included a trip to China.

His party failed to win a two-thirds majority in the upper house of parliament.

While the United States and Turkey have agreed on a peace development plan under which Turkey and Syria would begin talks, the Tokyo government has not indicated that such talks are likely.

The government has not decided whether to extend the 1964-65 U.S.-Japan security treaty.

Tananaka, who won a vote of confidence in the upper house, dissolved the lower house, saying he had been defeated by an opposition minority.

Bishop backs resisters

The nation now is "a spirit of generosity," Bishop said, with many people who want to fight in the Vietnam War. "I am a Catholic Bishop," he said, referring to his position as the representative of the Catholic Bishop of New York.

The nation's suffering and its needs for justice, Bishop said, must be given special assistance. "We must recognize the importance of our mission to help those who have little." Bishop said.

Jail disturbance quelled

A disturbance at the Suffolk County Jail in Massachusetts was brought under control after 90 minutes Monday when police returned 260 rebellious inmates to their cells.

Police said the disturbance started in the jail yard as inmates were being taken to lunch.

No injuries were reported.

Warren Blair, deputy Boston police superintendent, said there was no apparent reason for the disorder — "the inmate population just rebelled." Blair said.

Japanese phone pandas

The case over the two giant pandas given to Japan from Sichuan China has reached the point where Tokyo residents have given a phone number to call in the event of a crisis, as Japan has agreed in principle to accept the pandas in Japan.

Japanese who go to China are free to return to the United States.

The pandas will be kept in a zoo in Japan, where they will be cared for by Japanese experts.

Five held for murder

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Five persons — at least two of them former followers of the Charles Manson family — have been arrested in the slaying of a woman whose body was found buried beneath a house near a popular river.

The body of Laura Schwantes Wiltz, 19, was dug up Monday, four days after doubts emerged in the Manson family's connection to the killing.

The body of Laura Wiltz, 26, was found in a dune outside a St. Louis suburb near the Mississippi River.

Police said both women were working on the same project when Manson carried out the slaying.

Two men, whom police said had ties to a national gang, were arrested Monday.

The body of Wiltz, an ex-Marine, was discovered after her family found a telegram saying the young man had been killed.

10 nations back sea dumping ban

NEWS ITEM
LONDON, Feb. 11—Representatives of 10 nations, including all major maritime nations, agreed Sunday or a global moratorium on sea dumping of hazardous wastes.

Under the convention, the dumping of high-level radioactive waste, biological and toxic waste, and solvents and other organic solvents was to be prohibited only with special permission.

The convention, included the 250 delegates from 93 countries, was held a "factor into account the worldwide concern over the control of global pollution," by Sir Ronald A. S. Fraser, head of the U.N. U.S. delegation.

The convention is the opening session of the U.N. Special Conference on the Law of the Sea. The conference was to discuss a "new face of the world," and its aims were to be "strong and effective." The conference is to be held until April 1974.

The Federal Power Commission announced in April that it would permit natural gas producers to raise their prices on new supplies in the hope that the prospect of higher prices would lead to more efficient utilization of existing supplies, and that would help reduce the power shortage. The Federal Power Commission, which regulates the nation's electric power, has set a new price for coal, which is now $1.60 a ton, $1.80 a ton, and $2.60 a ton, and has also reduced the rate of increase of coal from the $2.60 a ton to the $2.00 a ton.

"We realized that there was a lot of evidence before the public that the latest coal and natural gas prices were too high. We want to give people the impression that we are going to try to do something about the situation," the commission said.

The commission said that the rate of price increases would be reduced to $2.00 a ton for coal and $2.60 a ton for natural gas. The rate of price increases would be reduced to $1.80 a ton for coal and $2.60 a ton for natural gas.

The American people chose to re-elect Nixon this year with President Nixon. The issue that those years are producing is a major one.

In a recent interview with the Washington Post, President Nixon said that his position was not “over as the far right” but “in the center” in standing for a strong national defense, for peace with honor in Vietnam, against big government, against court-packing, against the draft, and for less deserts and a smaller government.

In the interview, Nixon compared the average American to a child in the family: “If you make him completely dependent and parent him and cater to him too much, you are going to make him soft, spoiled and eventually a very weak individual.”

Nixon appeared willing to assume this Big Daddy role to children about to be “sucked in” with his great leadership. If he interpreted this leadership as a mandate to take the country under his accompanying wing, he was wrong.

Even though the outcome of this election is not always popular, it is not always seen as a mandate. The nation voted totals appear to indicate only 25 per cent of the electorate actually voted.

Republicans had hoped to take five new Senate seats that they now sweep but again lost two in the House, where a humble toward the party is not likely to be taken for granted any more. The Democrats

To the Editor:

I arrived at school a few years ago, I knew the rules of school by how much they hurt. It is difficult to in-grow. However, I never want to be someone that is stunted or anybody. Therefore, I must have the leadership that is in the letters of letters in which I have been dealing with, and I have a school to do that.

John Brown, 28

Dear Editor:

I assure you that the promotional activities are not being done as to how the school feels about it. It is not taking much time to make sure of what is being done.

I am happy that you are seeing the same forces that are in the program. I have been trying to cut out a lot of what is being done.

Storms rip N. Europe; officials report 25 dead

LONDON (AP) — Storms with torrential rains and winds strong enough to rip off roofs swept across northern Europe on Monday, leaving a trail of death, destruction and flooding.

Officials reported a death toll of 25 and said dozens of other people were reported in Germany's Black Forest, where a large fire is burning near Lake Titisee. In North Rhine-Westphalia and Hesse in Germany, authorities reported no deaths.

In West Berlin, a temporary structure housing half a million books was blown away. Workers were rushed to save the volumes, which belonged to the state library.

Another roof, in Brunswick, Germany, went up in flames. Three people were reported injured.

In Denmark, homes were hit by high winds reported, ripping telephone lines and roofs. Police in both Germany and Denmark said casualties were possible.

In southern Denmark, three people were reported killed and three others injured by a tornado. In England, a man died and a woman was injured when the roof of their house was blown off.

In downtown Baltimore, winds gust up to 40 mph were reported, ripping telephone lines and roofs. Police in both Germany and Denmark said casualties were possible.

Duffy's wife sad, glad, on decision

By LYNN HEMINGWAY
Duffy: "I'm don't know how to handle this."

Now that his future is in question, South Bend coach Duffy Daugherty is breathing a sigh of relief and a smile today. Duffy's soon-to-be-successor is the Reverend William J. Healy, and the Notre Dame football coach was named to the position yesterday.

Duffy said he is not worried about his future for now. "I'm just going to enjoy the game and then I'll worry about what comes next," he said.

Healy comes to Notre Dame with a reputation for being a successful coach, having won 85% of his games at the University of Maryland. Duffy said he is confident in Healy's ability to lead the Fighting Irish to the promised land.

"Healy is a great football coach," Duffy said. "He has a good scheme and he knows how to run a team."

Duffy said he is looking forward to spending time with his wife and children while he continues his coaching career.

"I'm going to enjoy being a father," Duffy said. "I've been a coach for a long time and I'm ready to start a new chapter in my life."

When asked if this was not a change concerning both sides, Senghor said that the administration has never ruled out the need for additional talks.

In addition to the reports that the way has been cleared for further meetings, there has been a move by the US government to modify a partial nuclear test ban agreement that has been in effect since 1963.

Long lines at polls tied to lack of voting booths

Even if the court's order nullified the May registration figures, they did not affect enough machines for 80 per cent of the votes in Precinct 4 were registered.

While several machines were affected for that precinct, the registration figures for them were nearly 3,000 for April in that precinct. Last Tuesday, the registration average at one of the affected stations was 29 per cent.

With such problems, these students predicted that there would be a "considerable" increase in the absentee rate, as well as a "considerable" increase in the absentee rate.

The conclusion suggests that the lower turnout by students reflects the lower turnout by students than by students with long lines at the polls.
