Blacks oust whites from talk; 'U' official plans investigation

By JAMES BAIRD

Black students at the University of Michigan are pressing for a site meeting with university president G. Mennen Williams to discuss charges that the university is a bastion of anti-black sentiment.

The university, which has a black population of less than one percent, is being criticized for its failure to act on the recommendations of the Michigan Commission on Human Rights in the wake of the death of a black student last year.

African-American students at the university have been seeking a meeting with Williams to discuss the issue for months, but the university president has been unable to find a suitable time.

The students have been critical of the university's response to the incident, and have called for the university to take stronger action to address the problem.

Eagleton's health known

Sin. George McGovern's top aides learned that Thomas F. Eagleton had been taken to hospital for an examination even before the Missouri senator was selected as the second running-mate to try to drum up national support for the ticket.

Eagleton's health known

Within hours of Eagleton's nomination, two top McGovern aides, Gordon Wolf and Frank Mankiewicz, received confirmations from Democratic Eagleton's administrative assistant, but failed to pass the word to McGovern into a few hours later.

Storm kills 63 in Europe

The death toll from storms that caused central and northern Europe to shudder hit at least 63 when rescuers set to work Tuesday clearing away the debris. Farmers were reported killed in Poland.

West Germany reported 33 dead from crashing trees, roofs and collapsing windbreaks and flooding along coastal areas.

In the Netherlands seven were dead. Three were killed in England and one each in Belgium and France.

Private innocent in frapping

But Pvt. Smith, 24 - year- old black soldier guilty of assassinating a military policeman who accused him less than two hours after the "frapping" grenade which killed the two officers, was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

In doing so, however, Finance Minister Y. B. Chavan announced that India might become self-sufficient in rice, wheat and seeds and wheat to bridge shortages, backtracking on Gandhi's declaration of last January that India need and import a single grain from any country.

Paron returns home

Joon D. Paron arrived in Rome on Tuesday and said he was returning home after 17 years in exile "for better or for worse to bring peace to the Argentine."

He called his people "traditionally resistant to dictators and the military.

In an interview with Italian television, the former secretary general of the Christian Democratic party, pacification can be successful. I don't know what I'll find in the Argentine but I can quiet down the people, mainly those who are in line with my inclinations, the Paronistas."

Belgians protest budget

Thousands of Belgian university professors and students marched through Brussels Tuesday to protest a budget squeeze on education.

Students say the new measures are hurting poor students. They say fines have been doubled to the franc equivalent of $120. Students are asked that study be made completely free.
Board considers new bike path signs

LANSING — The Lansing Traffic Commission will consider new signs for this fall along the Belt Line corridor.

The signs will be designed to discourage riders from parking their bikes on the bike path in the summer months.

The commission meets Tuesday on the fourth floor of City Hall. The public is welcome.

Parking questioned

East Lansing Traffic Commissioner is making a study of on-street overnight parking. Both the university and city fielded overnight street parking.

The average installation cost per permit holder is estimated at $1,200 per year.

The University has not received a request for a permit holder.

The Parking Control Authority is in all evidence fully at the disposal of the money is available.

The new permit holders will be asked to provide documentation on the safety which is a

Frampton's 'Wind' howling success

One would expect a solo album from a former member of Humble Pie to be an exercise in lead, raucous rock-and-roll with something added for good measure. Well, Pete Frampton has filled the aforementioned template and the opening result is anything but a letdown. In fact, it's quite the opposite. Frampton's latest offering, "Wind," is an album of some substance in today's musical climate, which is currently saturated with the same type of guitar-driven dreck. Frampton, however, has managed to keep his own creative juices flowing, resulting in a record that is both entertaining and enjoyable.

Record Review

By PETER ALLEN
State News Reviewer

Frampton's latest outing is a welcome addition to the rock genre, offering a diverse range of musical styles that cater to different tastes. The album opens with a powerful cover of the classic song "Zanzibar," which is a testament to Frampton's ability to bring old favorites into the modern era. The title track, "Wind," is a anthem that showcases Frampton's vocal and instrumental prowess. The rest of the album, while not as groundbreaking, offers a variety of songs that are both catchy and well-crafted.

"Folks" production blows masterpiece

By ALEX MAGUEE

The University of Michigan Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of John Hussey, has presented a number of innovative productions over the past year. One of these, the "Folks" production, is a case in point. The production was a collaboration between the orchestra and the Department of Theatre and Drama, and it featured a cornucopia of classical, popular, and folk music. The orchestral arrangements were conducted by Lestro Janetti, who also directed the opera. The result was a truly masterful production that combined the talents of musicians and actors to create a truly memorable experience.

The plot of the production revolved around the character of "Folks," who is a musician and a leader of a folk band. Throughout the performance, "Folks" interacts with various other characters, including a blues singer, a country singer, and a jazz musician. The production was a true celebration of the power of music to bring people together and inspire them to create and perform.
Astrologer trips among moon, stars

By KATHRYNE NIELSEN

"Part of your mind body or spirit is in that person," he said. "We are really nowhere as much."

For a child, for a spirit body, he said, they do not speak, they do not think, they do not feel anything else, they must desire and have them. The moon gives them before consulting their love. This thinking involves a visualization capacity that is not one of the important spiritual abilities, he said. You phrase something red or green, but it leads to having less thinking ability.

"Now we're going to talk about how you are feeling, just to get the people into the general area of feeling."

Then, stimulating a trip in a front of the room. They are in the inner circle who are looking for a feeling in the room, and then back down to the ground to get some control. Then back up slightly higher, in some cases.

"Now if the sign in the moon is the same as the many, we have a tendency to think, or we find a feeling."

The people nodded on the floor trying to obtain the "alphas" mental state needed for astral travel. Wolf told his participants that just because one person's mind is "alpha" tuning, it does not really mean that to them, but is a simple way of putting the people into a state of being in the moon light.

"You had the participants into the right kind of space, and further put a powerful flowering in the moon light on the cloud."

"As soon as you visualize, you're transforming on the psychic level," he said.

Guidelines for promotions under fire

By BECKIE HAMES
State News Staff Writer

Though not all colleges and universities do so, the Michigan State University faculty member for promotion, reappointment, or tenure must...be considered for recommendations for promotion to associate professor. The candidate is to have published works, and the committee should consider contributions that are not only significant but also standard for evaluation.

In some departments, the candidate's teaching qualifications are also considered, and their quality or service matters. The sometimes vague criteria is found in job advertisements, the department's bylaws, or other public communications. Their criteria are decided by a departmental committee, and bylaws usually include the following:

- Published articles in peer-reviewed journals.
- Teaching excellence, as assessed by students and colleagues.
- Service to the department and university, such as committee work or leadership roles.

In the case of Knapp's Ski Shops, the criteria for promotion and reappointment would likely include:

1. Quality and quantity of teaching evaluations.
2. Number of publications in refereed journals.
3. Service to the department and university, such as committee work or leadership roles.

The Department of Natural Resources at MSU, for example, could have different criteria for their faculty members, such as experience in the field, publications in refereed journals, and service to the department and university.

DEFENDS FACULTY

Prof backs research

By BECKIE HAMES
State News Staff Writer

The catch phrase "publish or perish" should not only be limited to the academic world, but also to the teaching profession. Professor Emeritus of Mathematics, John Kreinin, believes that "publish or perish" should be considered in the teaching profession. He said, "But in the teaching profession, we should not only consider the importance of publishing, but also consider the importance of teaching."

Detroit judge frisked

DETROIT (UPI) — The airlines' unofficial guide to potential hijacker cavities suggests two or three of the items carried by a sharpless executive to Detroit, Friday, as he was questioned by a U.S. officials who had already released him on parole.

Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Joseph A. Gills was picked out of a line of passengers last Dec. 21, waiting to board a Delta Air Lines, after having Detroit's Metropolitan Airport in Detroit, Friday.

"It's not our policy," the executive said, as he was charged with frisking the other items he had on, and he walked past the official with just a smile and an air pocket.

"It was a matter of our policy, sir," he told officers.

"It's not a matter of factual, we just want to cover our bases. We want to make sure he's all right, you know."
Krift's first gridiron try earns niche in history

By Rick Gosselin

State Farm became more than just insurance.

It takes the average college freshman a little time to get acclimated to the game for himself. It took Rich Krift a little longer. The Michigan State punter is a sophomore and might not have expected to find himself in the starting lineup for the Spartans this year.

Krift is the three-year varsity player who had been watching the Michigan State defense closely for three years. The.sigma with the most likely to be selected in the upcoming draft was originally a punter on the Michigan State defense but switched to kicker during the spring when the team's starting punter was injured. The move was successful, and Krift now finds himself in the starting lineup for the Spartans.

The move was a natural one for the Michigan State defense, which had been struggling to find a reliable punter. Krift was named the starting punter for the Spartans on Saturday, and he has been a consistent performer throughout the season. His strong leg has been a great asset to the Michigan State offense.

Krift's first gridiron try was a success, and he has earned a niche in the Michigan State football history books. He played a key role in winning the conference championship and helping the Spartans make a run at the national championship. Krift's performance has been crucial to the team's success, and he is expected to continue to be a key player in future seasons.

The kick that tied the game

An anonymous points to the football that sailed up and over the outnumbered bunch of State Ohio State defenders. The action came with nine seconds remaining in the first half of the Spartans 19-12 upset win over the Buckeyes Saturday. Setting up the potential tie for unbeaten Dick Krijt on the Michigan State field yesterday (192.00) was Del KOvalyshen (193.00).

The kick, which tied the game 12-12, was not without its problems. Michigan State place-kicker Bob Boyd, who had missed two field goals earlier in the game, was unable to put the ball through the uprights. After the kick was attempted, the ball was caught by the Michigan State defense and returned to midfield.

"The ball just didn't go in," said Boyd. "It was a tough day for us out there.

"But I'm happy for the team," he added. "They've worked hard all season, and I'm proud of them."
Marshall Dill quits MSU; headed for his choice, USC

By CHARLES JOHNSON State News Service

MSU sprint star Marshall Dill, 21, said he'll sign with USC tonight, ending five days of up-and-down negotiations between him and the high-water mark of the MSU track team.

Dill had been wooed by USC, UCLA, Stanford, Washington State and others, but he wanted to test himself against the best, and the Sooners provided the best opportunity.

"I am going to continue my career," Dill said. "I think that I'll be my best self. I'm going to look sharp through a season of training and active competition.

"I've been thinking about this for a long time, and I finally reached the decision," Dill said. "This is an individual decision, and I'm going to stay with the team of my choice, no matter what people think.

"I'm going to stay with the team that I believe in, and I believe in USC. I'll work hard and expect the best of myself in track and the current competition is what makes me happy.

"I think I'll be a better sprinter and a better person at USC. I've been seeing their track meets and I believe in their program. I think I'll be a better sprinter and a better person.

"I believe in USC, and I'm going to stay with the team that I believe in. I'm going to stay with the team of my choice, no matter what people think.
