Nixon reveals Viet peace pact

Officials pay tribute to Johnson

Washington (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon, who won his second term Monday, and the man who lost a hard-fought election against Lyndon B. Johnson in 1968, were among those Tuesday to express their sympathy for the family of the nation's 36th president.

President Nixon, putting at least some distance aside, said of Johnson: "It was a noble and difficult destiny to lead America through dark hours and to set us on the road toward a new day."

He said the former president was "the best president this country ever had" when it comes to war and peace.

The former president's widow was in Ohio and could not be reached for comment.

The Senate Democratic leader, Myrick Hammond, and House Speaker John McCormack, also paid tribute to Johnson in memorials they held in their parties in the House of Representatives.

The commemoration came as the Vietnam War was in its second decade and the U.S. was in its fifth year in the war.

Also paying tribute was Vice President Hubert Humphrey, who said Johnson "was a man of great integrity, a man of great courage, a man of great wisdom and a man of great compassion."

The Council of Graduate Students (COGS) at the University of Michigan announced Wednesday that their motion to delay the February trip to Vietnam was passed. The motion was proposed by Michael Clements, the council's vice president, at the council's 21 meeting on Wednesday. The motion was passed with 17 votes in favor and two opposed.

The proposed amendment would change section 2.6 of the graduate student body constitution. The amendment would add a provision that the council of graduate students must be consulted on any plans to send a delegation to Vietnam.

A federal judge in Chicago on Wednesday, December 31, 1970, upheld an order to release the Vietminh prisoners of war who have been held by the U.S. government since October 5, 1965. The judge's decision was upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court on Thursday, January 2, 1972.

The judge ruled that the U.S. government's continued detention of the prisoners of war was unconstitutional.

State working to set up regulations for abortion

"That would be my own way of counting," he said. "I don't think that if I were presence right now that I would jump into this without first waiting for the legal ramifications of the high court ruling on legally classified abortions.""'}

LANSING (UPI) - Dr. Robert Thomas, Michigan's public health director, and Thursday it will be at least a week before the state can put abortion regulations into effect in the wake of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision.

In the meantime, Reizen said we have to perform abortions under the 1972 law until the state can move forward with a new abortion law. Reizen said there must be some legal authorization that Michigan have as an abortion law of this nature.

"We are finding that the internal laws must be protected," Ms. Reizen said. "It's a situation where we are waiting for to be clear."'

The department already has a comprehensive set of guidelines covering illegal abortion which was set to go into effect on Thursday, Jan. 18, at the polls last fall.

"This is the time to go to the legislature," Ms. Reizen said. "They've been having a very busy legislative session and we think it will be sometime after the rules are passed before abortion rules are set.

"Something new is going to happen after the new session is started," Ms. Reizen said. "We are waiting for the new rules to be passed before going to the legislature."'}

Protesters somber at rally

By GERRY TUDOUX

At least 1,900 demonstrators gathered in Washington on a cold, blustery day in protest against war demands to end the war. In addition to the protests, there was a march in Steppe, Nebraska, for the end of the war. The march, organized by the American Friends Service Committee, was attended by about 4,000 people. The demonstration included a march around the Washington Monument. The marchers carried signs, including one that read, "The war must end now."}

Alle-Ey bar will offer more than 'rock, suds'

By STEVE ALLEN

Not too long ago, there was only one bar in central Lansing—Wellington Avenue. It was the old Wellington Hotel, the bar on the second floor, the place to be seen. That was 1927. Since that time, that bar has been called England's, Bill's, and is now called the Wellington Bar.

Allen's is a small bar, which is one of the reasons it is so popular. The atmosphere here is friendly, relaxed, and the music is always good.

Many people enjoy going to Allen's because they know they will have a good time. The staff is friendly and always ready to help.

The Wellington Bar has a long history and is an important part of the community. It is a place where people can come together and enjoy each other's company.

If you are looking for a place to relax and have a good time, then the Wellington Bar is the place for you.
blue movies' success keeps group's profits in the black

The MetroFramework East Lansing Newsmen reported on a full film slate for the Metro Group, which has two theaters in the Lansing area. The group's profits have been growing steadily, and it has plans to expand further in the near future.

The Metro Group boasts a diverse lineup of films, including hits such as "Blue Movies," which has been a steady performer for the group. The success of the film has helped drive profits for the Metro Group, which has seen a 20% increase in earnings over the past year.

The group's co-owner, Mike Johnson, said the success of "Blue Movies" and other films has allowed the Metro Group to invest in new equipment and improvements for its theaters. The group has also been able to increase its advertising budget, which has helped draw in more customers.

Johnson said the group is looking to expand further in the area, with plans to open a new theater in East Lansing by the end of the year. The new theater will feature a larger screen and improved seating, and will also offer a full bar and food service.

The Metro Group's success has been attributed to its commitment to providing a high-quality movie experience for its customers. The group has invested heavily in its theaters, with plans to renovate and upgrade all of its locations in the near future.

In addition to the new theater in East Lansing, the Metro Group has also announced plans to open a new location in Detroit. The new theater will be located in the heart of the city, and will feature a modern and upscale atmosphere.

Johnson said the group is excited about the future of the Metro Group, and is looking forward to continued growth and success in the years to come.

The Metro Group's commitment to providing a top-notch movie experience has been recognized by the film industry, with the group receiving several awards for its excellence in film presentation.

The group's success has also been reflected in its financial results. The Metro Group reported a 25% increase in revenue for the past year, with profits up by 30%.

Johnson said the group's success is a testament to its dedication to providing a high-quality movie experience for its customers. The group's commitment to excellence has helped drive profits and growth, and has positioned the Metro Group as a leader in the film industry.

Ike prepares for Tiger job

By LYNN HEWING
State News Sports Writer

It's difficult to be both an MSU fan and a Detroit Tiger fan, especially when you have mixed feelings when the name Larry Ike is mentioned.

The former MSU quarterback, now the quarterback for the La Junta (Colo.) High School football team, has been compared to Larry Ike but in a more negative way.

"I don't think he'll make it in the NFL," said one former MSU teammate.

"I think he'll be a good quarterback," said another.

Ike's former teammates say he has the potential to be a great quarterback, but they also say he has a long way to go.

"He's got the arm," one teammate said.

"But he needs to work on his footwork.

Ike has accepted the challenge of being compared to Larry Ike, but he also says he's not interested in being compared to the former MSU quarterback.

"I'm just trying to do my best each game," Ike said.

"I don't want to be compared to anyone.

But he's got the potential to be a great quarterback, and he's working hard to prove it.

"I'm working on my footwork," Ike said.

"And I'm working on my accuracy.

In 1970, the American multinational companies were increasing their economic power in Europe. They had invested heavily in European countries, and their influence was growing. This was due to the multinational corporations' strategies, which aimed to control the European market, and to benefit from the lower costs and access to raw materials.

Some multinational companies were criticized for their impact on the European economy. However, others argued that these companies were bringing new technologies and creating jobs in the region.

In conclusion, the American multinationals were changing the European economic landscape, and their impact was significant. However, the future of these companies in Europe was uncertain, and their relationship with the European nations was still evolving.
