Leading issue in dispute
over cutting trees shifts

By TERENCE RICHARDS

THE DAY more than four years ago when Nixon's critics, in an attempt to establish a public perception of the Watergate scandal, made public the tapes of the President's secret conversations, saw a public relations victory.

The public is tired of the Watergate controversy, a survey of public opinion shows, and Nixon is in no mood to let the issue come between him and his goal.

The President, who is busying himself with the problems of the nation, is likely to make a public statement this week, perhaps as early as today, on his plans for the future.

If his plans include a campaign for a third term, it is unlikely that any other issue will be allowed to interfere.

The President is likely to state that he is not interested in the issue, and that he will continue to work for the good of the country.

But if his plans include a campaign for a third term, the issue of Watergate is likely to be a major factor.

The President's record of the last four years will be a prime issue in the campaign.

Trustees now must consider allowing abortions on campus

It’s about time the board of trustees stopped fiddling around and considered allowing abortions to be performed at the University Health Center.

Almost eight months ago, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled 7-2 to recognize the right of women to have a medical abortion she desires to prevent an unwanted pregnancy. Since that time there has been an unrelenting speculation over whether such an option could be performed at the Health Center, but the trustees have remained silent.

Abortion is a simple surgical procedure and should be available at the Health Center as an extension of health care for students. The center has the necessary operation rooms, the proper equipment and the trained professionals. There would be no danger of an abortion being administered in a germ-infected back alley.

Give Spiro a point

Vice President Spiro Agnew made precisely the right move in offering to answer questions publicly concerning the Watergate financial records and the U.S. Senate’s role in conducting an investigation into charges of political corruption in Maryland when Agnew was governor.

Agnew’s speedy move to disprove the allegations of extensive kickbacks, tax fraud and possibly perjury is a good sign that the Watergate conspiracy is especially welcome against the background of the Watergate scandal that has exonerated President Nixon. The vice president apparently knows that administrative silence only makes the seeds of suspicion grow faster.

However, Agnew curiously failed to submit the president’s right to subvert his own administration to public trial while he serves as vice president by making these constitutional questions until later. Agnew dodged addressing the President’s fight with Congress over the Watergate committee and instead the special prosecutor Archibald Cox, after leaving the White House.

Too bad Richard Nixon doesn’t have a worse candidate from his vice president.

Rep calm after arrest for heroin possession

By PAUL VARIAN

United Press International

State Rep. Dale Bumpers stepped away from his desk last night to confer with his lawyer about the legal advice for his friend, state Rep. Howard Warner. "That's all right," Mr. Bumpers said. "Everything's going to be all right."

This was the message he passed along to a telegraph operator who was calling reporters in one of those unmethodical queries from criminal conspirators, as described in his recent book, "How to Be a Lover." He's the reporter's latest informal contact in his search for more information on the case.

GM: Mr. Bumpers, I'll be happy to come here whenever you need a call.

Mr. Bumpers: OK, whenever you like.

GM: Thank you.

Mr. Bumpers: No problem.

GM: Do you have any idea what Warner's been charged with?

Mr. Bumpers: Warner is accused of passing on information to a heroin ring, according to a police report.

GM: And he's been arrested?

Mr. Bumpers: Yes, he has been arrested.

GM: When?

Mr. Bumpers: Last night, around 10:30 p.m.

GM: Where?

Mr. Bumpers: At his home in Little Rock, Arkansas.

GM: Was he alone when he was arrested?

Mr. Bumpers: No, he was accompanied by several federal agents.

GM: And what are the charges against Warner?

Mr. Bumpers: Warner is charged with conspiracy to distribute heroin and with possession of heroin.

GM: Does Warner have a lawyer?

Mr. Bumpers: Yes, he does. His lawyer is Mr. James M. Brown, a prominent lawyer in Little Rock.

GM: How long has Warner been a representative?

Mr. Bumpers: Warner has been a representative for two years.

GM: And he's a Democrat?

Mr. Bumpers: Yes, he is a Democrat.

GM: What do you think of Warner's arrested?

Mr. Bumpers: It's a sad day for the Democratic Party. Warner is a good friend and a devoted party worker.

GM: Do you have any idea what Warner was doing when he was arrested?

Mr. Bumpers: I don't know what he was doing when he was arrested. He's a private person and he doesn't discuss his affairs.

GM: Did you have any contact with Warner before he was arrested?

Mr. Bumpers: Yes, I did. We talked on the phone a few days ago. He seemed to be in good spirits.

GM: Will you be attending Warner's trial?

Mr. Bumpers: Yes, I will. I will stand shoulder-to-shoulder with my friend and colleague, Howard Warner.

GM: Thank you for your time, Mr. Bumpers.

Mr. Bumpers: You're welcome. Goodnight.

CBS still intends to show 'Bones'

By JAY SHARBUtT

NEW YORK - The CBS Television Network says it intends to show "Bones" tonight, despite the fact that the show was not approved by the militant group of bitter Vietnam veterans who ultimately contributed to the suspension of the show.

Network president Robert S. Wood, who was kept by the network's legal staff to see if the show could be shown, will make the decision to carry it, it is reported in several reports.

The network says it's simply because CBS president Robert S. Wood, who was kept by the network's legal staff to see if the show could be shown, the network will carry the show to do so when they felt it's being shown because they didn't want to cause the cost of having put it on the air.

A network source said there were indications the stations were pressured by outside groups to reject the show. "I think they just heard the HRG's voice with referring to station management.

The show was rejected by TV last year by Joseph Papp's New York Shakespeare Festival, which produced the award winning Broadway version of "Bones & Bones." Papp, who says CBS paid $23,000 for the TV venue of the play, sharply criticized the network when the show was postponed. This week, he was less critical. "I won't say it's a loss to seeing well, this must be a show that they felt was not appropriate," he said. "I think it's being shown because they didn't want to cause the cost of having put it on the air."

Happy birthday to the first, and my good friend, the 1980s, on the verge of its 20th birthday Thursday, but sad to see it go. And the year after, I'm sure, will be a ringing in of the 1990s. But for now, let's talk about it. "It will last until I'm 90," she said.

Pharmacology society to hold session at MSU

The world's largest and oldest professional pharmacology society, the American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics, will hold its 50th meeting simply through Thursday. At least 1,500 papers are expected at the meeting, the largest ever held at a pharmacology meeting.

Organizers are predicting that at least 2,000 pharmacologists and students will be present at sessions and luncheons. Special accommodations, including a special seating section of the Hotel State, have been reserved.

The meeting is the first of several scheduled for 1981, and will be followed by the American Society's 50th meeting, which will be held in May 1981 in San Antonio.

Special topics covered will include immunity, infections, drug interactions, behavioral pharmacology, antifertility drugs, and new drugs.

Papers will be presented at 15 different pharmacology sessions, and the University of Michigan will be represented by Martin B. St. LX. He was named as president-elect of the society and will take it through 1982.

Thursday, Aug. 17, was the first day of the meeting, and it was devoted to business activities.

Survey shows sex attitudes becoming much more liberal

FREDERICK ROSEN

The latest Gallup Poll shows American attitudes toward premarital sex have changed dramatically in recent years, according to magazine editors. In 1969, there were just 12 per cent of those questioned who said they would be offended by AIDS in magazines. In 1979, there were 79 per cent of those questioned who said they would be offended by AIDS in magazines.

The rising circulation of topless magazines remains more popular than said attitudes. The poll showed that 72 per cent of those questioned said they would be offended by AIDS in magazines.

In Britain, a magazine full showed only 18 per cent of those people who would be offended by AIDS in magazines.

Fifty-five per cent of those surveyed in the latest poll said they would be offended by AIDS in magazines. In 1979, 90 per cent of the people who said they would be offended by AIDS in magazines.

Survey results, according to American magazine editors, show that the dollar's value has changed dramatically in recent years.

"I believe it is one of the major factors continuing to the democratic tone in the world," said Dr. John W. Simmons, an editor of the Agriculture Dept.'s magazine. "The dollar is at an all-time low from Social Security, that is the dollar may be.

The magazine's editor gives the latter a 50.50 chance of the next dollar being.

higher food bills occur

Effects of devaluations felt

The Agriculture Dept. has reported that U.S. food prices have climbed sharply in recent years. This is largely due to the dollar's value affecting the prices of farm commodities and rising living costs. The dollar's drop sharply affected U.S. agricultural products relatively cheaper compared. The dollar's drop sharply affected the price of food products, shipped up export prices, and reduced available supplies abroad.

The Agriculture Dept. has been forced to increase the price of food prices.
